G. B. YERKES WEDS IN QUAKER CITY

Takes Miss Grace Battles for His Bride at Church Ceremony.

MANY GUESTS ATTEND

Reception Follows at Bellevue-Stratford—Couple to Live Here Upon Return From Trip Through the South.

Miss Grace Battles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Battles, of Newtown Square, Pa., became the bride of George Burgess Yerkes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Yerkes, of this city, at a brilliant wedding in Holy Trinity Episcopal church, Philadelphia, yesterday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by the rector of the church in the presence of four hundred guests, including about fifty from this city.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Grover Coors, of Denver, Col., matron of honor, and these bridesmaids: Miss Anna Yerkes, of Plainfield, a sister of the bridegroom; Miss Clara Harmar, of Oak Lane; Miss Jeanette Reid, of New York; Mrs. John Jewett, Jr., of Chicago; Mrs. Harry Piper, of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Philippe Luders, of Wynnewood.

William D. Flanders, of Plainfield, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were William W. Battles, a cousin of the bride; Albert D. Converse, Le Roy Howe and Lyall Dean, all of New York; George Tuttle Fillins, of Ohio, and F. Russell Mosely, of Boston.

The bride wore a charming gown of white tulle embroidered with seed pearls and carried a bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. Her tulle veil was caught up with orange blossoms.

Pale yellow satin made in Russian coat style, with deep bands of white fur trimming the bottom of the coat and finishing the high collar, was worn by the matron of honor. Her hat was also trimmed with fur, and she carried a muff of satin trimmed with fur and orchids.

The bridesmaids wore frocks of light blue satin trimmed with fur, with hats to match. They carried muffs similar to that carried by the matron of honor. A wedding breakfast for 200 guests followed in the Rose Gardens of the Bellevue-Stratford, after which Mr. and Mrs. Yerkes left for a trip South. Upon their return they will live in their new home in Plainfield.

The bride has a large circle of acquaintances in Philadelphia, where she has been prominent in society. She has frequently visited in Plainfield, where she is well-known among the younger social set. Mr. Yerkes is a grandson of the late Rev. Dr. David J. Yerkes, who for nearly a half century was pastor of the First Baptist church, this city. He is engaged in the bonding busines in New York city.

COULDN'T TELL A LIE ON WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

By telling the truth, George Washington Townsend, 635 West Fourth street, this city, escaped a jail sentence in Elizabeth. Townsend was arrangned Tuesday evening, before Judge Owen P. Mahon, on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was arrested in North Broad street, Elizabeth, while addressing several hundred persons on the subject of preparedness.

"Don't disgrace your name on this day by telling a falsehood," admonished Judge Mahon.

"I never have," was George's answer. "I may be guilty of violating the city's ordinances, but I never departed from the example set by the man after whom I was named.'

Judge Mahon warned him that sentiment would not save him again.

FORMER PLAINFIELDER PASSES AWAY IN CLINTON

Lewis C. Batson, aged 73 years, formerly employed by the Pond Machine Tool Company, having come with that concern from Worcester, Mass., to this city, died at his home in Clinton on Tuesday. The funeral will be held at the late residence tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock

Mr. Batson's residence was on Grant avenue when he lived here. He was a member of the Congregational church, but during the latter part of his stay in Plainfield, attended the Monroe Avenue M. E. church. In 1899 he married Mrs. Caroline C. Cole, widow of J. Cole, of Clinton, his first wife having died, and two years later removed to Clinton, which had been his permanent home and where he lived retired.

SEWER BOARD TO APPEAL AT ONCE

Will Fight Middlesex Assessment But Not Verdict in Sebring Case.

Members of the Joint Sewer Board of Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen last night decided not to appeal the Sebring case, in which a court decision gave the property owner more money for property than was allowed by the condemnation board, but an appeal from the decision of the Middlesex County Tax Board is to be taken at once. Bills amounting to $7,691.24 were ordered paid by the board. It was reported that all rights of way had been secured.

BIRTHDAY SOCIAL GIVEN BY ENDEAVOR SOCIETY

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Netherwood Reformed church held a birthday social in the church Monday evening, the affair being largely attended. Horace G. Adams was the "master of ceremonies," his ready wit provoking much merriment.

Mrs. S. O. Rush presided at the piano and there were also piano selections by John Bolsterle and Mis Dorothy Adams. Miss Myrtle Louise Townley and Miss Mary Cooper were the accompanists. Wendel Glover also had a part in the program. The balance of the evening was spent playing games, prizes being awarded to Miss Naomi Fritts, Miss Elsie Saunders and John Cartwright. While refreshments were being served, Rev. Edward S. Ralston, the pastor, gave a short talk on the life of Washington. The committee in charge of the affair comprised Mrs. Ella Marsh, chairman; Miss Maud Disbrow, Miss Mary Cooper and Miss Madeline Leacock.

WEEKLY "ALUMNI NIGHT" ENTERTAINMENTS PLANNED

"Alumni Night" will be held in the Plainfield High School gymnasium every Thursday night, at which time "grads" may return to their alma mater and enjoy some of her many recreations. The class will start at 9 o'clock each week. Calisthenics and games will be the main events of every meeting. Invitation is extended to every young man graduate of the High School to report tonight at 9 o'clock in the gymnasium when the first get-together will be held.

Next Wednesday night, the Plainfield High School Alumni will play the second of the series of basketball games with the N. P. H. S. Alumni in the school gymnasium. Dancing will follow the game.

AUTO VICTIMS IMPROVE.

The condition of Robert Kraul and Fred Wagner, the two Plainfield men injured in an automobile accident at Westfield, Tuesday, was reported at Muhlenberg Hospital this afternoon as being much improved. There is still doubt as to whether or not Kraul has a fractured skull and an x-ray examination is to be conducted. He is now fully conscious. Wagner's injuries were not so severe as those of his friend and he will be able to leave the institution within a few days.

FROM CHAINS TO SOLITARY CELL

MANY DEAD IN MINE CAVE-IN.

Boulder, Colo., Feb. 24.—Twenty miners were entombed in the Marshall mine at Marshall, Colo., by a cave-in early today. Only four of the men have been taken out. They were barely alive. It is feared the other sixteen are dead. The Marshall mine is owned and operated by the National Fuel Company.

YOUNG PEOPLE GIVE TABLEAU IN CHURCH

American History is Portrayed by Seventh Day Baptist Members.

A tableau of American history was presented by the Young People's society of the Christian Endeavor of the Seventh Day Baptist church last night in the church parlors. Characters in the history of this country from the time of Indians until the present day were portrayed by the young people in strikingly realistic and dramatic style. The characters were: Indians, Miss Nellie St. John and Miss Stephana Shaw; John Alden, Roland Davis; Priscilla, Marion Warden; Betsy Ross, Mrs. Clarence Spicer; George Washington, Theodore D. Davis; Martha Washington, Mrs. William C. Hubbard; sentinel, Harold Spicer; Union soldiers, Ernest Stillman, W. Clawson; Woodrow Wilson, Raymond Burdick; Uncle Sam, Charles P. Tittsworth; Liberty, Miss Jane Greve. During the tableau there were instrumental and vocal solos and recitations. Mrs. Noel J. Evans played a violin solo, Mrs. Theodore G. Davis, Charles and Roy Tittsworth, vocal solos, and John Reed Spicer and Roland Davis rendered recitations. Miss Miriam West also took a part in the program here. The audience sang "America" and "The Star-Spangled Banner." Mrs. Roland Davis and Miss Ethel Titsworth made up the committee in charge of the event. Miss Helen Rogers was in charge of refreshments and Martha Washington and Betsy Ross poured coffee. The parlors were artistically decorated with flags for the tableau.

The candy booth was in charge of Miss Beatrice Cottrell and Miss Margaret Kimball, who served Washington taffy and chocolates. Mrs Frank Hubbard was accompanist for the vocal soloists.

FRANK P. STORR WEDS MISS TERESE HENRY

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Terese Henry, Brooklyn, and Frank P. Storr, of West Front street, this city. The ceremony was performed Monday evening at the home of the bride in Brooklyn, Rev. Andrew Hagaman, of the Ocean Hill Reformed church, Brooklyn, officiating. Miss Florence Henry, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, while Harold Storr, son of the bridegroom, was the best man. After a trip the couple will reside on West Front street, this city.

Mr. Storr, who was a widower, has been a resident of Plainfield for many years. He holds a position with the New Jersey Central at Jersey City. eH has two children, Miss Marjorie Storr and Harold Storr.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR BABY WELFARE WEEK

The Baby Welfare committee met at the office of the Visiting Nurse Association yesterday afternoon, when the program for Baby Week was about completed as follows: March 5, Baby Sunday in the churches; March 4-11, exhibit at the high school building and distribution of literature; window display in Plainfield stores; educational films at all of the city theatres; articles in the Plainfield Daily Press and Courier-News pertaining to baby work.

The exhibit that will be brought to Plainfield belongs to the Mothers' Congress of New Jersey. It will be here from March 4-11 at the high school and at some point on Plainfield avenue from April 15 to 20. From May 6 to June 3 it will be in the schools of Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen. It is hoped at the same time that there will be plays given by school children in connection with the exhibit and talks to the parents by physicians.

SUMMER INSTITUTE TO BE HELD AT ASBURY PARK

Officers of the Commercial Teachers' Training School have decided on Asbury Park as the permanent home for their summer institute, according to a letter received by Charles E. Brown, acting secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. J. C. Evans, of the commercial department of the Plainfield High School, has written for accommodations in the city high school for this year's session, July 1 to 28.

Probably only from 40 to 50 teachers will attend the 1916 session, Mr. Evans wrote, but he added that there is every indication that the school will grow in a few years to a much larger enrollment. The free use of a part of the high school is asked.

With arrangements made, Mr. Evans offered to inclose Asbury Park literature in the campaign of advertising the training school purposes to conduct among teachers for the 1916 institute.

BREWERS' HEAD IS SENT TO JAIL

Hugh F. Fox, Formerly of Plainfield, Guilty of Contempt.

U. S. COURT ACTS

Dramatic Day in Investigation Into Contributions of Brewers to Political Campaign Funds—More Arrests Expected Today.

Pittsburgh, Feb. 24.—Hugh F. Fox, formerly of this city, secretary of the United States Brewers' Association, is in jail for contempt of court in failing to produce before the Federal Grand Jury subpoenaed records of the association's contributions to politics. Similar action will be taken today, unless they reconsider their decision, in the cases of Edward A Schmidt, of Philadelphia, former president of the United States Brewers' Association, president of the Northwestern National Bank, of Philadelphia, and president of the C. Schmidt & Son Brewing Company, Philadelphia; John Gardiner, Philadelphia, president Pennsylvania Brewers' Association; Gustav W. Lembeck, Jersey City, treasurer United States Brewers' Association and president of the Lembeck Brewing Company, Jersey City.

The jail commitment of Secretary Fox by order of Judge W. H. S. Thomson of the District Court, with a new presentment from the Grand Jury immediately following, closed a dramatic day in the Government's inquiry into the alleged nation-wide brewery-political partnership.

The attitude of the brewers on the question of divulging the political affiliations of the three associations now under investigation was indicated today when Attorney James Scarlet, of Danville, who has been called into the case, said:

"The Government prosecutor is taking undue advantage of the brewery interests by using the press of the country to advocate his case. However, we think we can overcome such unfair tactics by having every officer of the brewery associations who is called before the Grand Jury refuse to answer any and all questions."

Secretary Fox, in tow of Deputy United States Marshal Thomas P. Campbell, was taken to jail shortly after 5:50 o'clock, searched, registered, assigned to a cell and locked up for the night, after United States Marshal Joseph Howell refused to listen to a suggestion of counsel that the prisoner be sent to a hotel in the keeping of a deputy marshal, for whom it was agreed to pay a month's salary in advance.

Enlivening the early afternoon proceedings, James P. Mulvihill, vice-president of the Independent Brewing Company, and reputed state leader of the liquor forces, surrendered at the Federal building and was served with a subpoena issued late Wedensday for his appearance before the Grand Jury. United States Attorney E. Lowery Humes directed Mulvihill, after the latter had sat in the corridor all the afternoon, to reappear at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when the Grand Jury reconvenes."

WILL BE GUESTS OF REV. J. MADISON HARE

Spanish War Vets to Hold Social Session at Parish House, Scotch Plains.

Ensign Worth Bagley Camp, No. 21, United Spanish War Veterans, will hold its meeting tomorrow night at the parish house of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, as the guest of Rev. J. Madison Hare, chaplain, who is pastor of that church. There will be some special features of interest, and it is expected that the meeting will be largely attended. Comrades are particularly requested to bring their women friends with them, as matters of interest to them will be discussed.

Instruction in the "secret work" of the organization will be in secret session, to which no visitors will be admitted, but will be made as brief as possible, in view of the large number of visitors to be entertained.

A full representation of comrades residing in Plainfield and vicinity, whether or not elsewhere affiliated, is strongly urged in view of the importance of the occasion. The matters to be presented are described as "Timely topics tersely treated. Terrific truths told trenchantly. Theories temperately tested, tolerantly and tangibly tried and tenable tenets tabulated by trained teachers." The Main Line trolleys will leave Watchung avenue and Fourth street at 8 and 8:15 o'clock. Jitneys may be secured in advance through usual channels.

WATCHUNG ICE CROP THE BEST IN YEARS

14,000 Tons of the Finest Quality Housed by the Local Company.

One of the finest ice crops harvested in recent years has been gathered by the Plainfield Ice and Supply Company from the lake at Watchung. A big force of workmen finished cutting the last cakes yesterday and the big houses at the edge of the dam are now stacked with fourteen thousand tons of the summer commodity. This is nearly double the tonnage secured last winter through a lack of good freezing weather. The supply gave out last August, and after that the company had to import from other places in order to supply the local trade.

The ice cut the past week was of an excellent quality and ran from eight to ten inches in thickness. The fourteen thousand tons will carry the concern through the entire summer in connection with its daily output of manufactured ice. The Watchung houses have a total capacity of 16,000 tons, but this amount has never been stored since the buildings were erected.

Reports from Lake Hopatcong and other New Jersey points indicate that the ice crop in those sections will be the best gathered in recent years. The cold periods lasting a week at a time gave a highly desirable quality to the ice, making it solid and not subject to porousness, a condition which arises when a warm day or two gets in before cutting in completed. At Lake Hopatcong fully 1,000 men have been at work the past week gathering in hundreds of thousands of tons for Brady Bros. in the upper section of the lake, and for the Mountain Ice Co. at the lower end of the lake. The Brady crop has been gathered under the direction of Daniel Ryan, manager for the company for the past twenty-five years, and he declared it is one of the best he had ever seen. Hopatcong ice is used extensively throughout Hudson county as well as at other points along the New Jersey Central road as far as Long Branch and Asbury Park.

WILLIAM WESTERVELT PASSES AWAY AT MUHLENBERG

William Westervelt, a resident of this city for the past six years, his last address being at 381 East Seventh street, died in Muhlenberg Hospital early this morning. His death followed a stroke of paralysis, which came upon him Monday, and was followed by heart trouble and complications.

Mr. Westervelt was born in New York city eighty-two years ago, and lived there practically all his life. In company with members of his family, he established a fruit importing house in the downtown wholesale section, which was one of the best known in the city for many years. He retired from active business about twenty years ago, removing to Bound Brook, where he lived until coming to Plainfield. His only near surviving relative is one brother, Charles E Westervelt, who also resides at 381 East Seventh street.

The funeral will be held at the undertaking parlors, 402 Park avenue, Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, and burial will be in the Bound Brook cemetery.

MISSING BOY IS LOCATED BY CHIEF OF POLICE HERE

Acting upon a request from Frank Ramsbottom, of Iowa, who asked that his son be located here, Chief of Police Kiely yesterday located the boy with the local branch of the Salvation Army. The son, Edward, is but nineteen years of age. He says he left home because he could not get along with his stepmother. He is willing to go back if his father will send money for a ticket, and Chief Kiely will watch out for him until the father can be notified.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING.

The next meeting of Plainfield High School Parent-Teacher Association will be held this evening in the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. All parents whose children are in high school are invited to attend this meeting, whether they are members of the association or not. The object of this meeting is to give all parents an opportunity to confer with the teachers of their children in regard to their work during the past semester, and to talk over the prospects for the coming semester.

The unanswered questions held over from the last meeting will be discussed. All parents without regard to present membership, are urged to come out to this meeting.

INVITED TO RETURN.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church; Rev. Dr. D. B. F. Randolph, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, and Rev. C. S. Gillespie, of Grace M. E. church, have each been invited by their respective congregations to return to their pastorates for another year. The annual session of the Newark Conference will, as usual, be held in Newark in March.

WOMAN AND GIRL ACCUSE ITALIAN

Boarder at Sandaro Home is Arrested on Three Complaints.

Joseph Casparro, aged 37 years, an Italian, was arrested by Officer Neylon last night on two charges of attempted assault and one of robbery and assault. Complaints against him were made by Mrs. Josie Sandaro and her step-daughter, Mary Dandra. The girl is seventeen years of age. Until yesterday morning Gasparro had been a boarder at the Sandaro home. It is charged that he attempted to assault the girl almost three weeks ago, but he was not prosecuted until he repeated the offense against the stepmother. The case will be heard before Mayor Calkins in the police court tomorrow.

MAKING FINAL PLANS FOR COLUMBUS BAZAAR

The final meeting of the Columbus Bazaar committee was held in the club house last night. Chairmen of the various committees reported everything in readiness for the grand opening on Monday night, and reports gave assurance of one of the most successful affairs of the kind in the city. The spacious auditorium has already begun to be transformed, the decorators starting work yesterday.

Booths will be put up today and tomorrow, and a professional decorator will put the finishing touches on Saturday. Announcement was made at the meeting last night that Wednesday night, March 1, would be observed as "mask night" at the bazaar and committeemen, assistants and attendants will all appear masked. A door prize will be offered every evening of the week.

TRADE JOURNAL SCHEME PROVES TO BE A FAKE

Acting on complaints made by a number of local business men, Business Agent William Lunger, of the Building Trades Council, has learned after an investigation that a so-called trade journal proposition exploited in this city is a fake. A young man canvassed among the merchants shortly before Christmas for subscriptions and advertisements at $1 each, meeting with response in a large number of cases. The paper was supposed to be published by W. A. Buckridge but a person of this name could not be located.

Business Agent Lunger has been in communication with Trades Council secretaries in various parts of the State and received definite information from Essex county that the young man's scheme is one that has been worked successfully in a large number of cities. No such paper as he described is printed and no home office can be found. The local men who subscribed one dollar each have come to a realization that they were "stung" and are in hopes of some day coming up with the suave young stranger who separated them from their money.

"LADIES' NIGHT" AFFAIR.

"Ladies' Night" at the Columbus club last night, was one of the most enjoyable of those yet held by the club members and their women friends, about seventy-five of the latter being present. Bowling was the principal pastime of the evening, while billiards, cards and dancing proved ample recreation to those who did not care to try their hand at the more strenuous exercise. An orchestra, consisting of piano, guitar and banjo, rendered popular selections for the dancers. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

ELKS ATE ROAST PIG.

Following the regular business session last night, the members of Plainfield Lodge of Elks enjoyed a roast pig supper. A fine young porker was donated the lodge by a member, and was fixed by the club steward, Erwin Y. Neighbour, together with plenty of "fixins." The initiatory degree was conferred upon one candidate. At the next regular meeting, Wednesday night, March 1, the annual election of officers will take place.

Scuttled by Prize Crew.

The British steamer Westburn, which was taken to Santa Cruz Teneriffe by a prize crew from the German commerce raider that captured the liner Appam and sank many other British steamers has been scuttled outside that port by her Teuton captors, according to a despatch received by Lloyds today.

CHARGED WITH CRUELTY.

Matthew Jeroloman, of 9 Steiner place, was arraigned before Recorder Hand this morning on a charge of cruelty to his wife. The charge was made by Mrs. Jeroloman, who was represented by W. L. Hetfield, Sr. The alleged act occurred on Washington's Birthday. Jeroloman admitted that he was guilty, expressed his sorrow and promised to do better. Recorder Hand therefore released him after a reprimand under a suspended sentence.

GERMANS RISKING ALL ON ASSAULT

Paris is Objective of Newest and Most Desperate Offensive of War.

STILL GAINING GROUND

If This Effort Fails Kaiser Will Abandon War, Says Officer—Portugal Siezes 36 German Ships—Italian Transport Sunk.

Amsterday, Feb. 24.—A German officer informs the Dutch frontier correspondent of the Central News that the desperate struggle begun at Verdun has for its object the opening of a way to Paris, and that nothing will be spared to ensure its success. The military authorities, he says, believe that if this supreme effoort fails of a victorious end the war will be abandoned.

Germans Still Gain.

Berlin, Feb. 24 (wireless).—The following statement was given out at German headquarters today:

"Western theatre—Our success on the east bank of the Meuse has been increased by further exploits. We have captured the villages of Brabant, Haumont, Samogneux. The entire wooded district to the northwest, north and northeast is in our possession as well as Beaumont and Herbebois. South of Metz we surprised an advanced French post. The entire garrison of 50 men were taken prisoners."

French Fight Fiercely.

Paris, Feb. 24.—The following official communique was issued by the French war office today: "In the Artois district there was a conflict with grenades to the east of Souchez.

"In the region to the north of Verdun the battle continued all night with the same intensity from the right bank of the Meuse as far as a point to the south of Ornes. Owing to the violence of the enemy's bombardment of the advance position of Brandantsur, Meuse, our troops evacuated that village under cover of the night and protected by the flank fire from our positions on the left bank of the Meuse. An attack directed against Smogneu was repulsed. Another strong attack by a force consisting of at least a brigade lost was against the Bois Des Caures. There were some patrol engagements to the east of Reillon yesterday. In the course of the night one of our bombarding squadrons threw 45 projectiles, of which many were of large calibre, on the station of Metz, Sablon and on the gas factory near which there was immediately observed thereafter a large fire."

Swedish Steamer Sunk.

London, Feb. 24.—A dispatch from Copenhagen published here announces that the Swedish steamship Roland has been sunk in the North Sea. The crew was rescued. The Roland was on her way from Norway to Hartlepool, an English port. Her displacement was 4,227 tons.

Belgian Steamer Sunk.

Amsterdam, Feb. 24.—A German submarine yesterday sank the Zeebrugge, a small Belgian steamship, off the Dutch coast. The crew was warned first to leave. After they had taken to the boats the vessel was blown up by bombs placed aboard her by the Germans.

Thirty-Six German Vessels Seized.

Lisbon, Feb. 24.—A Portuguese naval division today seized thirty-six German merchant vessels which have found shelter in the Tagus river since the beginning of the war. The Portuguese flag was hoisted aboard the vessels seized, and the warships saluted the flag with twenty-one guns. The Portuguese foreign minister, when interviewed, said that the seizure of the German ships was not a belligerent act, but was made necessary owing to the lack of transport. All the Germans aboard the vessels were landed with their belongings, some of them offering protests.

Italian Transport Sunk.

Vienna, Feb. 24.—The Admiralty announces that an Italian transport carrying troops to Durazzo, in Albania, has been sunk in the harbor there by an Austrian aeroplane.

Wilson Remains Firm.

Washington, Feb. 24.—President Wilson sent word to the Congressional leaders today that he saw no reason for any further conference over the submarine issue. He told Representative Flood, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, over the telephone that he intended standing pat on his original demand to Germany that it agree scrupulously to observe international law in any new submarine campaign that may be undertaken and that he would not consider any legislation designed to keep Americans off armed beligerent vessels.

Gore Resolution Killed.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Swift end was put to Senator Gore's defiance of the policy of President Wilson respecting the rights of citizens of the United States to travel on armed merchantmen, in the Senate today, when he attempted to introduce a resolution on the subject. Senator Brandege promptly objected to its introduction, forestalling for the time being the threatened fight on the administration's relations with Germany.

QUESTION VALUE OF WATER METERS

Dunellen Board of Trade is Divided Over the Prospective Benefits.

FEAR RATE INCREASE

George W. Day Expresses Opinion That Majority Would Suffer at the Expense of the Minority—Matter to Be Investigated.

Addressing the members of the Dunellen Board of Trade at the monthly meeting in the Borough Hall, last night, on the matter of compelling the Watchung Water Company to install meters, George W. Day asked whether anyone present had stopped to consider whether there was not a probability that the minority would be benefitted at the expense of the majority if the proposition was adopted. Mr. Day said that if applications were made to the Public Utilities Commission for meters and these applications were granted it would mean, according to his understanding, that the water company could force all of its customers to install meters. As the minimum charge per annum per meter is $10, and as the charge for a hot and cold water faucet is only $6 per annum, Mr. Day was of the opinion that the majority of the boroughites would suffer by such a Board of Trade victory.

Mr. Day read a timely article from a 1913 issue of the Bound Brook Chronicle, which stated that the Public Utilities Commission had granted the Bound Brook Water Company's application for an increase in rates to take effect January 1, 1914, the increases being as follows: Hydrant rent per year from $15 to $20; minimum charge per meter from $10 to $15, and the rate per 1,000 cubic feet from 25 cents to 30 cents. Mr. Day pointed out that this application for an increase in rates had been made following the general installation of meters in Bound Brook, and hinted that the Watchung Water Company, which is controlled by the same interests as the Bound Brook concern, might make an application for an increase if ordered to install meters.

In presenting the chances of the local water company being granted an increase in rates if applied for, Mr. Day stated that the company had never been in a position to pay a dividend and furthermore that no officer had received a cent salary. He then presented statistics from the 1913 issue of the reports of Public Utilities Corporations which showed the physical valuations of the Bound Brook and the Watchung water companies to be about the same, with it costing the Watchung Water Company more to serve its patrons. Mr. Day said that one reason for the latter fact was that the Watchung Water Company must pump its water while the Bound Brook concern has its water supplied by gravity.

Prior to Mr. Day's remarks W. S. Frederick, of the executive committee, stated that his committee recommended that a proper form of application for water meters be prepared and that these be passed among individuals to be filled out and presented as individual applications before the Public Utility Board. Mr. Frederick stated that his committee felt that action should be taken upon the matter at once as there are those who are paying $20 a year for water and using very little, while others are only paying $15 and using ten times as much.

This recommendation of the executive committee would undoubtedly have been carried, but for Mr. Days expressed view of the matter. He gave the members another idea of the case and as one member said the question was whether the water company, upon being forced by the Public Utilities Board to install meters for certain applicants, could or could not compell all other patrons to install meters as it is said was done in Bound Brook. Another question was whether the water company could make application to increase its hydrant fee. It was voted to write the Bound Brook Board of Trade for a copy of the city ordinance granting the water franchise so as to compare the franchise with that granted by the borough.

Reporting further for the executive committee, Mr. Frederick said that the matter broached by Edwin H. Dean of better lighting and larger racks on the cars of the New Jersey Central was being taken care of and that progress is being made.

The next subject presented by Mr. Frederick was that of improving the streets of the borough which can be seen from the railroad. He said that this could be done at a nominal cost and would be a good investment inasmuch as a good many thousand people pass through the borough daily and the first impression is always the more lasting. Mr. Frederick said that the curb lines of these streets were not uniform and that the sidewalks were in an irregular condition. He pointed out that it would not be necessary to run up a large engineering bill to attend to the matter as the lines were already established. He asked that the matter be taken up with the Council.

As for the report that the borough was to have a new railroad station no member had been able to verify it. Speaking of new depots a member told how the residents of Baldwin, L. I., succeeded in having the "shanty" which marked their town replaced with a modern structure. After asking in vain for some time for a new station a sign was put up asking the railroad public not to judge the town by the station.

G. Sumner Smith called the attention of the members to the condition of the seventh grade exit to the fire escape of the Whittier School. He said that under present conditions it was necessary before the exit was opened for the monitor to go up three steps, let up a shade, open the blinds, unlock the window and then raise it before the pupils could file out. Furthermore each pupil going out of this exit was obliged to drop twenty inches from the window sill to the fire escape. In the event of a fire Mr. Smith greatly feared that there would be a loss of life.

Mr. Frederick, who was a member of the Board of Education at the time the fire escape was built to the school, said that the Board had been "up against it good and hard" and had made conditions as safe as possible. Mr. Smith said that he couldn't see why the window could not be taken out and the brick removed so as to make a door entrance flush with the escape. Mr. Frederick didn't think it could be done, but Lewis Schneider, a local contractor, said that such a proceedure would not be difficult at all. Upon motion of W. P. Deering, G. Sumner Smith and Lewis Schneider were appointed a committee of two to take the matter before the next meeting of the Board of Education.

A letter was received from the New Jersey Central containing a list of 109 names of those who wanted information concerning towns located along the Central. It was voted to hold the matter in abeyance until literature was prepared for distribution.

President Arthur Cockburn reported that he had represented the Board at the annual banquet of the Real Estate Board of the State Chamber of Commerce held at Newark recently. Mr. Cockburn further reported that the Real Estate Board of the State Chamber of Commerce had spent $500,000 in booming New Jersey and that a real estate bureau had been opened in New York for the purpose of furnishing data on all towns and cities in the State.

W. S. Frederick, W. P. Deering and Lewis Schneider were appointed a committee to audit the books of the treasurer. The resignation of J. Arthur Bogardus as vice president was accepted with regret. It was moved to defer the matter of electing his successor until the next meeting. George H. Richter was admitted into the membership of the organization.

ENTERTAINED ON THEIR WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Miss Margaret Fuller tendered her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fuller, a surprise party Monday evening in honor of their twenty-seventh wedding anniversary at which sixteen guests were present. The home was attractively decorated with American flags. The evening was spent in playing games and dancing. A supper was served during the course of the evening. The table was attractively decorated with small flags and a large vase of red tulips. In addition there were two large cakes, one of which was decorated with twenty-two red candles. Favors were red carnations tied with red, white and blue ribbons. Mr. and Mrs. Fuller received many nice presents in honor of the occasion.

MID-YEAR CAMP.

The Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church has made arrangements for a unique entertainment in the basement of the church next Thursday evening. It will be known as the "Mid-Year Camp." The room will be fitted up as near as possible to represent the woods and there will be a tent and a camp-fire. The attendants will circle around the fire and tell tales and in addition there will be music and recitations, etc. The committee in charge comprises Miss Lila Stites, chairman; Miss Viola Bowlby, Howard Townley and William Gangloff.

Cornelia and May Wagner, whose brother William was taken ill with diphtheria about a week ago, have also contracted the disease.

A meeting will be held in the Baraca class room of the Presbyterian church tomorrow afternoon for the purpose of organizing a missionary sewing band. All girls under ten are invited to attend.

NEW TRADE BOARD AWAKENS BOROUGH

Live Civic Body is Being Formed in Middlesex—Officers to Be Elected.

The organization of a Board of Trade in the Borough of Middlesex has proved to be a great success, and never in the history of the young borough have the citizens been so enthusiastic about anything of the kind. There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Board held in the Beechwood Heights fire house on Wednesday evening last, and the charter member list was more than doubled.

A large delegation is expected from Dewey Park at the next meeting, and it is said that the property-owners and residents of that section are going to do their part in this movement.

It was decided to hold the next meeting in the Lincoln hose house on Wednesday evening, March 15, at which time the general election will take place. It is understood that the Lincoln hose house will be the permanent meeting place, providing enough interest is represented in that section and Dewey Park.

The object of the organization is for the promotion of trade, the giving of proper direction to commercial movements, the encouragement of intercourse between business men, the improvement of facilities for transportation, to encourage the locating of manufacturing industries, to patronize home trade and home merchants; the co-operation of this with similar organizations in other boroughs and cities—and, in general, the promotion and development of commercial, industrial and other interests of the Borough of Middlesex and vicinity.

Applications for membership may be sent to the secretary of Board of Trade, Middlesex Borough (O. A. La Pointe), at Lincoln, and same will be received at the next meeting, Wednesday, March 15.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The High School Glee Club is making arrangements for the staging of a comic opera, "The Nautical Knot," in High School Auditorium, some time in April, and at a meeting held this afternoon plans for the affair were made. Rehearsing will start shortly in earnest, and with Charles Lewis as coach the effort of the club should turn out to be a success.

David Fitch, a Junior at the High School, left yesterday to enter business. His going will mean a vacancy at left end on the football team, besides the loss of one of the best hockey players in the school.

Miss S. L. Bass returned to her position as teacher of French in the language department today after a three weeks' absence on sick leave. During that time her place was filled by Miss Hardwick.

A meeting of the Friday afternoon dancing class will be held in the auditorium tomorrow afternoon for the first time in two weeks.

RECREATION NOTES

It was erroneously stated yesterday that roller skating would be enjoyed in the Washington school last night. The class will meet tonight and only those having fibre rollers on their skates will be admitted on the gymnasium floor. Other activities which will go on in the Washington school tonight will be as follows: dancing in the auditorium; glee club, under direction of Mrs. Edgar, will meet in the kindergarten room; dressmaking class under Miss Scarborough will meet; and pool tables will be open in the library.

Tomorrow night the Dunbar dance will be held. The Dramatic club will also hold a rehearsal tomorrow night in the Washington school.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

The triple wreck on the New Haven was of the most inexcusable sort—a rear-end collision. Because of deaths of the engineer of the colliding train and of the rear-end brakeman, who lost his life trying to stop it, exact knowledge of how it happened may never be reached. President Elliott has, on the whole, made a heroic effort to lift the road out of the horrible demoralization that attended its Morganization. It has become more of railroad-run road than a financier-run road. Unless it is definitely established to the contrary, the belief will be hard to down that the ultimate cause of the wreck will have roots running back to its era of financial debauch, some roots that Mr. Elliott has not yet managed to destroy.—Newark Evening News.

CAROLYN WELLS IN COURT.

Elizabeth, Feb. 24.—Carolyn Wells, poet and author, was in the Rahway police court yesterday afternoon to tell why she should not be fined for not removing snow and ice from her sidewalk. Her lawyer, David Armstrong, said that Miss Wells's hired man had tried in vain to clear the walk, and the writer was discharged.

—The party that was to have been held at 815 West Fourth street on Saturday has been postponed on account of illness in the family.

JOE GALLAGHER SENDS IN A DIME

Wants to Contribute to Fund for Building Battleship for Navy.

Urging that all the children of Plainfield and vicinity give a dime to the fund started by Marjorie Sterrett for the building of a big battleship for the United States Navy, Joe Gallagher has sent in his dime and with it a letter telling why he thinks the movement would result in good not only for the country but for the children who contribute.

The letter follows:

Editor Plainfield Daily Press: The plan of Miss Marjorie Sterrett to collect from each school child one dime towards the building of a battleship to be called "America," is a most patriotic enterprise and deserves the support of everyone. This idea, no doubt, came as a result of much discussion relative to the matter of adequate "preparedness," and seems more like an inspiration than anything else. At a time when the United States, our country, is in the midst of heated debates on this all-important question, the step taken by Miss Sterrett is certainly a most patriotic one. There can be no doubt but that thousands of adults would be glad of the chance to contribute something towards the erection of a whole new navy if necessary. No one doubts the sincerity of the grown-ups. Very few trouble themselves with statistics and, consequently, let the matter go. How many of us think of the future?

A dime from each school child would enlarge the fund to immense proportions, and would be beneficial in three respects. First, it would greatly increase the strength of the navy; second, it would inculcate in the youthful mind the careful usage of money; third, it would bring to the fore the fire of patriotism, the flame of which is so easily kindled yet so readily extinguished. If I understand correctly, it is not the desire of the organizer of this movement to have each child contribute more than ten cents. It can, naturally, be expected that more will not be refused. However, the idea is to have the children, citizens of the future, build, with their dimes, a monster sea-fighter. Men may say that the very plan encourages a fighting spirit—and some men hate to fight, even though the cause be just. We are not "too proud to fight," and the fact that we are not always adverse to a fight does not mean, at all, that we want to fight. Pacifists and advocates of preparedness should join hands in this movement because a patriotic spirit as shown by the founder of this enterprise should be fostered. Pacifists may console themselves with the knowledge that if we are prepared sufficiently now, the addition of one more battleship will not pronounce our policy as "pugnacious." Of course, to those who advocate preparedness, the idea means much as it is a needed "spoke in the wheel."

In this lengthy discourse, one would naturally suppose that I, a schoolboy, enclosed a dime. He who so surmises is a good guesser.

As a finale, I have two wishes to make. The first, that the plan will be most favorably received and that the Plainfield Daily Press, which, if you note carefully, is always first to foster any worthy enterprise, be it local or national, will continue to serve local people in the future as faithfully as it has in the past.

Yours respectfully,
JOSEPH GALLAGHER.

GRACE CHURCH NOTES.

The Men's Bible Class will hold a business meeting at 8 o'clock this evening in the parsonage. Following the transaction of business an hour will be devoted to Bible study.

The regular quarterly conference will be held tomorrow evening. District Superintendent F. J. Hubach will preside.

The "Every Member" canvass will be launched Sunday. The purpose of the canvass is to increase the interest in the church and to secure the budget for next year.

An anti-saloon meeting will be held in the church Monday evening. The speaker will be Julian Belchanko, of Elizabeth, one of the field secretaries of the league.

LAST DEMONSTRATION.

The last public demonstration in connection with the jubilee celebration of the Young Women's Christian Association will be a religious service to be held Friday night, March 3, at 8 o'clock, in the First Baptist church. During the meeting, Miss Harriet Taylor, secretary of the national board, will make an address, and Miss Leontine de Ahna will sing "A Psalm of Thanksgiving." A large chorus of association members will lead the hymns. March 3 is the actual birthday of the organization of the Y. W. C. A. in America, and this service of dedication will be the most important in the month with the local association.

PASTOR'S AID ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Pastor's Aid of the First Presbyterian church will be held in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. All members are urged to be present as officers will be elected and other important business transacted.

Indian Fighter Dead.

Fall River, Mass., Feb. 24.—Brigadier General Henry Clay Cook, U. S. A. (retired), a veteran of the civil war and an Indian fighter of note, died at his home at the age of seventy-nine years. Death followed an illness of three months.

METHOD EMPLOYED BY COUNTY REGISTER

F. H. Smith Explains System of Accounting Used in His Office.

In view of the considerable amount of talk of late regarding methods of accounting employed in city, county and State departments, Frank H. Smith, register of deeds and mortgages for Union county, makes the following statement explaining the system used in his office:

"From comments that I have heard, from time to time, I judge that the public may be interested in knowing something of the method of accounting in use in my office.

"Papers of all kinds are entered in books called 'daily entries' and given numbers, which numbers run consecutively, and at the close of business for the day, the fees are entered in a cash book, which shows the kind of paper recorded, its number and the fee received for recording the same, and also shows whether the fee was paid in cash, or charged against attorneys' accounts, as hereafter explained. At the end of the month, a statement is prepared and submitted to the county collector, verified by affidavit and certified as correct by the county auditor, showing all of the above and is accompanied by a check to the order of the county collector for the entire month's receipts. Attorneys, and others who desire it, are accorded the privilege of depositing money with me, against which fees may be charged.

"These amounts are deposited in the bank in a separate account called 'Other People's Money' account. The cash fees received each day are deposited in another account called 'Register's Account.' At the end of the month, a check is drawn to the order of Frank H. Smith, register, from the 'Other People's Account,' for the fees charged against attorneys' deposits during the month. This amount, together with the daily cash fees received during the month, make the total amount received from all sources. In this way the register's account is balanced and closed each month, and the total amount sent to the county collector. The average balance remaining in the 'Other Peoples' Account' is about $1,000.

"This is not a new method, but on the contrary, is the system that has always been in use in this office. At no time has any public money been deposited in my private account. My books are open for inspection at any time during business hours and I should be glad to explain to anyone, my method of keeping accounts, or the system in use in any other department of the office."

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.—Adv.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

The Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, N. J., will receive sealed bids at the Board room in the High School building, corner West Ninth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at a meeting to be held on Monday, February 28, 1916, at 8 p. m., for the construction of a school building on Emerson avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

Plans and specifications can be obtained by bidders on application to Messrs. Wilder & White, Architects, 50 Church street, New York City, or at the office of the Board of Education in the High School Building, by depositing with the architects or with the Clerk of the Board a certified check for $15.00, payable to the order of the Board of Education of Plainfield, which check will be held until the return of the drawings and specifications.

Plans and specifications may be examined at the Board rooms in the High School Building.

The work will be let in four (4) contracts. 1st: For the General Construction. 2nd: for the Heating and Ventilating work. 3rd: for the Plumbing work. 4th: for the Electrical work. Separate bids will be received on each contract.

All bids are to be on forms furnished with the specifications and accompanied by a certified check on some solvent bank or trust company, payable to the order of the Board of Education, Plainfield, N. J., or a surety bond of a company authorized to do business in the State of New Jersey, in the amount of five per cent. of the estimate submitted.

All bids or proposals are to be in writing and sealed, and addressed to the Secretary of the Board.

Each bid must state explicitly upon what portion of the work it is based.

Upon the receipt of bids, or proposals, the Secretary will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce their contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided such parties or their agents choose to be then and there present, and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

No bids will be received by the Board previous to the hour designated and none will be received thereafter.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any or all formalities.

(Signed) A. A. TILNEY, Secretary,
Board of Education, Plainfield, N. J.

LOCAL OPTION TO BE MAIN ISSUE

Record's Candidacy Makes a Sudden Change.

MANY ARE IN THE FIELD

New Jersey Republican Leaders Upset by the Latest Development—Hudson Man Also Favors Home Rule and Municipal Ownership of Public Utilities and Tax Reform.

Trenton, Feb. 24.—A great change has taken place in the fight for the Republican gubernatorial nomination because of the entrance of George L. Record into the contest. Mr. Record at present has the advantage and distinction of being the only candidate who was selected by a political convention or conference and who cares little whether or not he is nominated at the primaries in September.

Last week the announcement by Dr. John Dyneley Prince of Passaic county that he was an aspirant was taken to mean that Senator Edge would win the Republican nomination, because Prince would divide the north Jersey vote with Senator Colgate, and Prince's entrance was charged up to former Governor Stokes by those who believe in the existence of a Stokes-Edge combination against the Murphy-Colgate alliance.

But Mr. Record's candidacy has wrought a sudden and mighty change in the situation. He will make his fight on a platform demanding local option, home rule, municipal ownership of public utilities and tax reform, all of them state issues which every voter will understand and in the fate of which all will be interested.

Local option will, of course, be the main issue because of the prominence that has just been given to it when twelve of the twenty-one senators and nineteen of the sixty assemblymen voted for the Gaunt bill. To the disinterested observer that would seem to indicate that practically one-half of the state is in favor of local option, for it is taken for granted that no temperance candidate could be elected to either the senate or house unless the sentiment of his county was in favor of temperance.

Senators Edge and Colgate are on record as having for two successive years voted against local option, and former Senator Prince was on the same side four years ago. That leaves to Mr. Record a clear field as champion of the temperance cause unless Senator Gaunt can be prevailed upon to get into the contest as the only original and genuine advocate of temperance.

The chance of Gaunt getting into the governorship fight as a prohibitionist is rather remote. At present he is engaged in other suits in which the same issues are involved in Hudson county.

MAY BE WANTED FOR MURDER

Negro In Belvidere Jail Committed on Assault Charge.

Phillipsburg, Feb. 24.—Charles Coleman, a negro, who claims Maryland as his home, was committed to the Warren county jail at Belvidere by Justice of the Peace Oliver Van Billiard to answer charges of assault on Alfred Strothers of Camden. It is said he is wanted in Baltimore in connection with a murder.

Coleman, who is a strike breaker in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad, was arrested at the company's bunkhouse after Strothers' cries for help had brought other strikebreakers, who overpowered the negro. Strothers was held as a witness.

WIDOW FOLLOWS HUSBAND.

Grippe Claims Woman While Husband Is Being Buried.

Dover, Feb. 24.—Death claimed Mrs. Jesse M. Gerard, seventy-six years old, whose husband was buried in Locust Hill cemetery Tuesday. A daughter, Mrs. William S. White of Sanford street, was so seriously ill from grippe that she was unable to attend the funeral of her father. Mrs. Gerard's death was due to pneumonia.

East Orange Solon Weds.

East Orange, Feb. 24. — Riveting more closely their family ties, Mrs. Lillian Thorpe became the bride of Councilman James G. Barradale in the Elmwood Presbyterian church. The bride's daughter, Mrs. James G. Barradale, Jr., is wife of the bridegroom's son. Mr and Mrs. Barradale, Jr., were best man and matron of honor, respectively, at the wedding.

Rector Changes His Creed.

South Orange, Feb. 24.—Having embraced the Roman Catholic faith the Rev. Charles D. Meyer of Montclair, formerly an Episcopal clergyman, will be ordained subdeacon on Friday, his thirty-first birthday, by Bishop J. O'Connor, at a mass in the private chapel of the bishop's residence.

Rabid Dog Bites Boy.

Vineland, Feb. 24.—The family dog nearly bit the ear from the head of five-year-old Walter Rose. The boy's father killed the dog and sent the head to the state laboratory at Trenton and was amazed to learn that the animal had the rabies.

Survived Plague Eighty Years.

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 24.—Frederick W. Meddell, eighty-six years of age, who when a mere baby was found with his two brothers, the eldest of whom was ill, beside their dead mother and father, plague victims to the cholera epidemic more than eighty years ago, is dead.

FINAL ACCOUNTING OF LARGE ESTATE

Plainfield Women Among Heirs of Theodora Bailey, of New York City.

MANY BEQUESTS MADE

Mrs. Mary Bailey Lawrence and Mrs. Mary de Peyster Charles Are Also Beneficiaries of Their Father's Will.

New York, Feb. 24.—The first and final accounting of the estate of Theodora Bailey, aunt of Florence Bailey Lawrence, of Hillside avenue, and Mary de Peyster Charles, of Belvidere avenue, Plainfield, made by Katherine J. Whipple, a niece, of Massapequa, L. I., and the Fulton Trust Company, as the administrators, was filed today in the surrogate's court.

Miss Bailey, who was a daughter of the late Rear Admiral Theodorus Bailey, U. S. N., died at White Plains, N. Y., February 14, 1913. A few days later a large envelope was found which contained her will, bearing the endorsement "last will and testament of Theodora Bailey made in Portsmouth, N. H., June 14, 1883."

The document was finally admitted to probate May 27, 1913, and directed the estate to be distributed as follows:

The two Plainfield nieces and Theodorus Bailey, the New York nephew, are the issue of Edmund Smith Bailey, the pre-deceased brother. To this nephew and the two Plainfield nieces, the rest of the personal effects, valued altogether at $40.90. The distribution of the $60,123.25 to the beneficiaries include the following: Mrs. Lawrence, the niece, $6,667.50; Mrs. Charles, the other niece, $6,690.00.

In signing the decree for the distribution of the remaining $4,702.60, Surrogate John P. Cohalan has directed that each of the administrators take $452.73 for commissions; that they then give Mrs. Tredick $1,236.79; Mrs. Whipple, $1,304.29; Mrs. Lawrence, $434.77; Theodorus, $409.02, and Mrs. Charles, $412.27; and, after that is done, they can consider themselves discharged from their duties of trust.

Records today on file in the Transfer Tax Department of the Surrogates' Court show that Edmund Smith Bailey—deceased father of Mrs. Lawrence and Mrs. Charles—who died in his sixty-seventh year on November 8, 1908, leaving these two Plainfield daughters; Theodorus, the son; Edmund S. Bailey, another son, of No. 53 Washington Square, and Susannah Gibson Bailey, his widow. That, in August, 1909, under the direction of the court by one of the State appraisers, his estate was appraised at the net value of $1,036,596.45.

Five hundred dollars each was given to his two Plainfield daughters to buy a watch or some other remembrance of him. His sons received numerous remembrances and several friends were given small bequests.

Mrs. Bailey, the widow, was given all personal property and during her life the use of the house at No. 118 West Seventy-fourth street, and the country home at Bayside, L. I., together with $20,000 yearly. The rest of the income the decedent directed be given equally between his four children and at the death of their mother, the principal of the residue of $1,038,596.45, was to be divided equally between them.

Want Ads Become Necessary

You lose a job, or you lose an employe—you lose a tenant—you're in a hurry to sell property—you MUST have a backer—whatever the "incident," whatever the upset, whatever the stress, want advertising adjusts things once more in your "personal world."

"TIZ" FOR TIRED AND SORE FEET

Use "Tiz" for puffed-up, burning, aching, calloused feet and corns.

Why go limping around with aching, puffed-up feet—feet so tired, chafed, sore and swollen you can hardly get your shoes on or off? Why don't you get a 25-cent box of "Tiz" from the drug store now and gladden your tortured feet?

"Tiz" makes you feet glow with comfort; takes down swellings and draws the soreness and misery right out of feet that chafe, smart and burn. "Tiz" instantly stops pain in corns, callouses and bunions. "Tiz" is glorious for tired, aching, sore feet. No more shoe tightness—no more foot torture.—Adv.

PETROLITE NOTE IS IN HAND

Austria Asks For More Information Regarding Attack on Standard Oil Tanker—Hearing on Appam Case Is Fixed For March 3 by the State Department.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Secretary of State Lansing received Austria's reply to the American request for an explanation of the attack on the Petrolite by a submarine.

Although the text was not made public, it is known that the government at Vienna has requested further information from the United States concerning the American version of the attack and has intimated that the evidence submitted by this country is somewhat at variance with the statements made by the Austrian submarine commander.

Following the receipt of the communication Secretary Lansing directed that immediate steps be taken to get in touch with the crew of the Petrolite, which when last heard from was at Liverpool.

According to the American version, the Standard Oil tanker was hailed by an Austrian submarine in the eastern Mediterranean and ordered to stop, but that when the order was obeyed the submarine continued firing shells, one of the shots exploding in the hull of the vessel and wounding a member of the crew.

President Finds Opposition.

A grave turn in the submarine controversy came when formidable opposition flared up in congress to President Wilson's determination to force a showdown with Germany.

The president finds himself confronted with a threat from important Democratic leaders in the house that a resolution will be put through over his opposition warning Americans from traveling on armed merchantmen.

Democratic leaders in the house, who seem to have worked themselves into a high state of excitement over the submarine situation, were predicting that the president's determination to insist upon the right of Americans to travel with immunity on armed merchantmen will eventually lead this country into the war. So firmly have the house leaders convinced themselves of this that they moved without delay to warn the president of the growing sentiment in congress.

On the senate side also there was evidence of intense feeling on this subject, and notice was served of the intention of certain Democratic senators to press for the passage of a resolution regardless of the president's stand. In the senate, however, the administration forces seemed to be in better control than in the house.

Not since the submarine issue was raised has the president found himself in such a discouraging predicament as today. At the moment when he needs the strongest support to carry his issue with Germany to a successful conclusion he finds himself deserted by many of the influential leaders of his own party, who are asserting openly that congress will not stand behind him in a course that will bring a rupture with Germany. The curious spectacle is presented of Republican leaders, such as James R. Mann, standing loyally by the Democratic president and appealing to congress to support him.

Appam Hearing March 3.

Secretary of State Lansing will announce on or before March 3 the decision of the state department regarding the status of the prize ship Appam, now at Newport News. On that date the libel proceedings before the federal court at Norfolk instituted by the original British owners of the ship are scheduled to begin.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, in a formal communication protested on behalf of his government against the court proceedings and asked that the state department request the court through the department of justice to release the ship from its jurisdiction.

As the ambassador raised the point that the Prussian treaty of 1828 exempted German prizes brought into American ports from legal processes, the reply which the state department makes to the protest, it was admitted at the department, will have to pass on the whole question of the binding effect of the treaty.

The decision, it was stated, would be announced before March 3, there being no disposition on the part of the department to leave the question of treaty interpretation to the court.

In view of the strong positions taken by both Germany and Great Britain concerning the proper disposition of the ship the announcement is being awaited with extreme interest. While Germany has insisted that she has the right under the Prussian treaty to bring her prizes into American ports for shelter, Great Britain has insisted that under The Hague convention it is the duty of the American government to give notice to the ship to leave the port and should the notice be disregarded to turn the vessel over to her original owners.

COMPARES SUNDAY WITH BIEDERWOLF

Writer in Pennsylvania Newspaper Says Latter is a Better Preacher.

The following editorial from the Evening Star and Record, of Bradford, Pa., on June 9, will be read with interest by those who are to engage in the Biederwolf evangelistic campaign in this city in April:

"Everybody in Bradford and vicinity has read after him, or read of him. Everybody has heard him or heard of him. Some people praise him for his work. Some people knock him and his sermons.

"Among those who boost him are bound to be a few who are radical and narrow-minded, ready to condemn all those who do not identify themselves with the revival campaign.

"Among those who knock him are bound to be a few who are radical and narrow-minded, ready to laugh and blame those who help in the campaign he is leading or who even attend the tabernacle meetings.

"Honest, broad-minded criticism never hurt any man or any cause, but down-right indifference and an apathy of interest either for or against, will overwhelm any question or movement or individual.

"Whether you boost or knock, don't be radical nor narrow-minded therein. Keep your mind and your judgment poised whether the other fellow does or not.

"Let the booster realize that many will honestly disagree with him and that no man is above criticism. Let the knocker also appreciate the fact that regardless of his honest contrary opinion on the subject, no man can be as earnest and devoted to his work and have the co-operation of hundreds of men and women, many of them your neighbors, without accomplishing something worth while and of lasting value.

"There are no short cuts to achievement and success in any line of effort in this world. They come only by good, hard work and an earnest devotion and consecration to your work no matter in what sphere of usefulness you may be.

"That Biederwolf is a hard worker and a devoted, consecrated man, none can deny, and his career has been marked with notable progress as a preacher and evangelist. His horizon of activity has steadily widened from the confines of a little mission work in Scranton, over twenty years ago, to that of one of the leading evangelists of the United States.

"The writer has heard Dwight L. Moody and 'Billy' Sunday at their best. Biederwolf is more spectacular and sensational than Moody, but he is far more scriptural, religious and logical than Sunday.

"Moody was particularly known for his knowledge of the scriptures and the power of secret prayer; Sunday is characterized most of all for his ability as an actor, splendid story-teller and keen business ability as a manager and organizer.

"Dr. Biederwolf is a better actor than Moody and a better preacher than Sunday."

MARTIN, EDITORIALLY, MAKES AN ATTACK ON WITTPENN

Union Hill, Feb. 24.—Once more Hudson county's Democratic "Harmony Dove" sustains a jolt. In his newspaper, the Hudson Dispatch, yesterday, Secretary of State Thomas F. Martin attacks Naval Officer H. Otto Wittpenn, one of his rivals for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination. The attack is based on Mr. Wittpenn's recent refusal to accept Senator Charles O'Connor Hennessy's invitation to a joint stumping tour.

Editorially Mr. Martin's newspaper says that Wittpenn is trying to avoid the issue and is hanging an excuse on a slippery peg when he declines to accept Hennessy's invitation on the ground that it would jar the polite side of political campaigning. While he is about it, Mr. Martin, through his newspaper, says that Wittpenn's manner of declining the Hennessy invitation is "little short of silly."

During the last few days it has been apparent, from Mr. Martin's side, that the harmony pact is a thing of the past. Like other harmony pacts of Hudson county, the latest one hasn't been able to stand the warmth of the start of a campaign.

Prominent North Hudson politicians believe that the primary battle this year will be one of Hudson county's bitterest.

Raymond Smith, once of the borough firemen, who had a narrow escape from contracting pneumonia as a result of exposure at the H. M. Gnatz fire, returned to work this morning.

Mrs. A. T. Runyon, 109 East Fifth street, is entertaining her sister-in-law, Mrs. Eva Green, and little son, of Bradley, Ill. Mrs. Green is a former resident of this city. She and her son will spend three weeks here.

The Prices Prompt You

As evidence of our ability to do things out of the ordinary, witness the radical cuts we have made on hundreds of suits and overcoats from our regular stock. The prices prompt you, urge you, almost impel you to buy. A new suit or overcoat at one of the prices mentioned in this announcement will net you a considerable saving. The loss is our own—the saving yours.

OVERCOATS at $14.75
Were $20.00

Our overcoat assortments are cosmopolitan. By that we mean that we appeal to no one class of men; we cater generously to all. We have coats that will appeal to men of every build and every walk of life. These coats were selected with the idea of making them appeal to separate corps of individuals. And as to materials—they are too numerous to mention.

SUITS at $18.75
Were $22.50 & $25.00

We cannot say that the cosmopolitanism is exclusively associated with the overcoats, for the suits are equally cosmopolitan and metropolitan as well. Remember we have all sizes in both assortments, as well as a wealth of materials and styles from which you (no matter what your taste) will find it easy to select just the garment you have your heart set on.

THE FORUM

Editor of the Daily Press: We are already deeply indebted to the kind offices of the Daily Press, both in anticipation and during the nation-wide Preaching Mission just concluded at Grace church, and I desire to convey our thanks for these services.

May I now place myself under further obligation by asking sufficient space in your columns to express to the people of Plainfield our appreciation of their sustained interest throughout the Mission, and for their generous expression of appreciation for which no other means of acknowledgment is available. To the liberal Christian spirit of all denominations the Mission is in no small degree indebted for success. We wish to recognize also their part in the splendid offering at the closing service for the work of the church in the diocese of Kentucky.

Our great hope is that the whole community may find a lasting benefit from this undertaking.

On behalf of the Central Committee.

E. VICARS STEVENSON.

An Open Letter to Rev. Dr. C. A. Eaton.

Editor of the Plainfield Daily Press: I have read your words on "Preparedness" in our local newspapers of the 21st, with much pleasure and thank you for them. How true your words are when you say: "One cannot make a wide appeal from the pulpit because the Christian churches are all (not all, brother!) wrapped up in the clothes of sectarianism, and the Catholic listens only to the Catholic, the Jews to the Jew, and so on. You ask, "Is it any wonder that spiritual life has become a dreary desert." I think you have answered that question when you say: ". . . and we hire a preacher to do our preaching." "Yes, we have hired them to do just what we paid them to do, 'preaching in the clothes of sectarianism.'" I think you must admit, my dear brother, that you have been guilty of that which you find fault with in others, "preaching in the clothes of sectarianism," as a Baptist preacher placing yourself in that class of which our Saviour speaks: "But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men" (Matt. 15-9). Let us all from this day call ourselves "Christians" only. Can we find a better name. By so doing we will break down unscriptural fences which do so much to divide God's people one from the other. We are all brethren in Christ; let us be one in Christ. "That they all may be one; as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us; that the world may believe that thou has sent me" (John's Gospel 17:21).

J. W. HARRISON.
February 24, 1916.

Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

I am greatly interested in the discussion being carried on at the present time regarding selling methods, and I would like to inquire how it is that stores which claim to be selling at actual cost do so when "overhead" expenses of more than 20 to 30 per cent. must be allowed for in figuring the margin between the actual cost and the selling price.

When a merchant with a 30 per cent. "overhead" advertises goods at 10 per cent. below cost, does he not lose 20 per cent. instead of 10 per cent. on the transaction.

If a business house continued this policy toward the consumer, as many of them claim they do, their stores could not last more than from three to five months at the most, as I am informed that the most these stores can hope to clear is 5 per cent., which is usually taken from discounts, and not by increasing the marginal difference between the actual cost and the selling price.

Is not such a merchandising policy bad for the consumer? Most of the cutting is done on standard trade-marked goods well known to the public. Does not this practice encourage the substitution of inferior merchandise, which is urged upon the consumer with the claim that it is "just as good?" On what are these losses made up? Are widely advertised brands used as "bait" to lure the public into such an establishment to sell them something else at a compensating profit?

Yours faithfully,
SAMUEL ROTHBERG.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

Blanche Sweet one of the most popular and talented photoplay stars of the United States, will be the featured star again today at U. S. Astor Theatre, where she is appearing in the engrossing Paramount subject, "The Secret Sin." Miss Sweet portrays two parts in this picture, roles of twin sisters, one of whom is addicted to the use of narcotics. It is about the adventures of the drug fiend and her doings in Chinatown, and the efforts of the good sister to save her from a fate worse than death that the plot centers, and action is continuous. Tomorrow and Saturday Plainfield folk will have an opportunity to see that once popular musical play, "The Yankee Girl," on the screen of the Astor Theatre, with Blanche Ring, who played the leading part in the stage version, in the role of the young woman who causes a revolution in an unnamed South American country. Coming next Monday and Tuesday will be "Temptation," with Geraldine Farrar, the opera singer, in the leading role. She will be supported in this production by Pedronde Cordoba and an excellent cast. This picture in point of artistic merit transcends even "Carmen," in which Miss Farrar—now Mrs. Lou-Tellegen—made her screen debut.

Among the recent arrivals at Asheville, N. C., was Mrs. James R. Blake, of this city. She is registered at Grove Park Inn.

Perfect Perscription Service
"PUT US TO THE TEST"
Perfection is a word that we would not use indiscriminately, especially in connection with prescription work.
We have most everything prescribed by physicians and our compounding is conducted with skill and care.
Notwithstanding the superior character of our service our prices are always reasonable.
We are anxious to have you put us to the test.

SALE OF RED CROSS SEALS NETS $32,856

Of Which Amount Plainfield Contributed the Sum of $870.

The sum of $32,856.11 has been realized from the sale of 3,285,611 Red Cross Christmas seals at one cent each in New Jersey in 1915, of which amount Plainfield contributed $870, or 3.5 per capita. The individual organizations, listed separately, sold 2,892,373 seals. They have retained 85 per cent. of the gross sales for work in their respective communities, 15 per cent. having been sent to the national and state associations to cover the cost of seals, advertising material and furthering the work of the national and state association.

In addition, 393,239 seals have been disposed of in communities where there is no organization, the net proceeds from which sales are used by the League in furthering the work in those localities. Also from these sales, the New Jersey Anti-Tuberculosis League has engaged two field secretaries, Miss Emily Halsey Suydam, formerly secretary of the Elizabeth Society, who will work in North Jersey, and Miss Stella Weeks, who has charge of South Jersey.

In addition to the program of education which the League has adopted in reaching the press, the clergy, teachers, etc., it has introduced a bill enabling counties to employ visiting nurses who may make surveys, find the tuberculous cases and secure hospital facilities.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Members of the association who will take part in the singing at the special service to be held in the First Baptist church, on March 3, will hold a rehearsal in the association tomorrow night.

Today and tomorrow will be observed as "Days of Giving" in Y. W. C. A.s throughout America. The local association will endeavor to rouse enough interest to organize an association paper which will be edited by members of the association, who will give of their time and effort.

A new swimming class will be organized in the association tomorrow night. Application for membership can be made to Miss Winifred Mann, the physical director. Classes are held in the Plainfield High School pool.

H. J. BIDDLE TO SPEAK.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Franklin-Stillman School will hold a meeting in the Franklin School auditorium, this evening. At that time, H. J. Biddle will deliver an address, and refreshments will be served. A large attendance of parents is desired.

POWDER FACTORY BLOWS UP; 2 DEAD

Third Explosion in Plant Within Ten Months.

Kane, Pa., Feb. 24.—Two men were killed and several had a narrow escape from death in an explosion which totally destroyed the nitroglycerin plant of the Aetna Explosive company at Emporium. The dead are Victor Suderland, aged thirty-two, married, and John Yocum, aged twenty-one, single.

The explosion, which was the third fatal explosion to occur at the Emporium plant since it was erected ten months ago, could be heard for miles, and windows were blown out of the adjoining buildings.

Many of the employees at the plant, fearing for their lives, quit work. So great was the force of the explosion that the building was almost blown to atoms, and only parts of the bodies of the two men who were in the building were found. This explosion, like the other explosions which occurred at the Emporium plant, was of a mysterious nature.

WRECK JUST AVERTED.

Piston Rod on Engine of New Haven Express Breaks.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 24.—While swinging through Yalesville, in Wallingford, a New Haven express running from Boston had a narrow escape from derailment that scared the 200 passengers.

The piston rod of a locomotive broke, and before the engineer could stop his train it had bumped along for a quarter of a mile, ripping up the ties and roadbed and throwing some of the women passengers into hysterics. The engine stayed on the rails.

WRITES NOTE, SHOOTS SELF.

Man Asked That Body Be Embalmed and Mother Told.

Perth Amboy, N. J., Feb. 24.—The police received a letter signed by Albert Murray of Gloucester, Mass., asking that his body be embalmed and sent to Providence, R. I., and that his mother, Mrs. Albert Murray of Booth Bay, Me., be notified. Half an hour later Murray was found in a boarding house with a bullet wound in his right temple.

FARMER KILLED BY TRAIN.

Victim Was Former Proprietor of Nanticoke News.

Berwick, Feb. 24.—David Ferrell of Beach Haven, forty-five years old, former proprietor of the Nanticoke News, latterly a farmer near here, was killed when the wagon he was driving was struck by a D., L. and W. passenger train.

CONGRESSMAN URGES PEACE.

Washington, Feb. 24.—The Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives will today give a hearing on the bill introduced by Congressman Meyer London, the only Socialist member of Congress, calling on the President to convene a congress of neutral nations to talk peace. peace.

It is said that the Dutch and German Socialists are especially interested in the outcome of the hearing and the fate of the bill in Congress.

Class No. 2 of Trinity Reformed church will hold its postponed social tonight.

COUNTY FEDERATION URGES IOBST BILL PASSAGE

Elizabeth, Feb. 24.—The Union County Federation of Patriotic Societies has requested Senator Carlton B. Pierce to support the Iobst bill, which provides for the reading of the Bible in the public schools. The request was made in the name of the organizations comprising the federation, which include the Jr. O. U. A. M., P. O. S. of A., O. U. A. M., L. O. L., D. of L., D. of A. and other patriotic orders.

Congressman Capstick has been requested to suupport the Burnett immigration bill as modified to meet the Jewish objection regarding persons fleeing from religious persecution. The bill also meets President Wilson's objection regarding political exiles seeking asylum in this country. The bill is stronger in regard to the exclusion and deportation of paupers, criminals and the insane. At the end of the war there may be tremendous quantities of defectives, cripples, etc., who will wish to come to this country, and this new bill will safeguard against this. The bill includes the literacy test.

Opposition has been requested against the Siegel and Fitzgerald bills, which are aimed, it is claimed, at the freedom of the press; also the Indian appropriation bill.

MANY WOMEN ENJOY LUNCHEON AT HOLY CROSS

Over 150 were present at the luncheon given Monday afternoon by the Ladies Guild of Holy Cross church in the parish house for the benefit of the general work of the guild. The side walls of the room were draped with American flags and the tables with small flags. All of the Episcopalian clergy of the immediate vicinity were present.

The menu was very attractive, consisting of soup, roast lamb, scalloped oysters, fruit salad, jelly, rolls, ice cream, cake and coffee. The members of the committee in charge were Mrs. Charles Smith, chairman; Mrs. J. L. Van Mater, Mrs. K. O. Stevens, Mrs. F. O. Sill, Mrs. S. O. Ball, Mrs. Herbert Langford, Miss L. A. Davis, Miss Ida Davis, Mrs. J. H. Carman, Mis. Laura Long, Miss F. A. Stevens and Mrs. Coddington.

PERSONAL.

Brockholst K. Miller, of Kensington avenue, is confined to his home seriously ill from an attack of pneumonia.

Miss Frances Newman, of Duer street, is visiting her cousin, Miss Marguerite Kress, of Brooklyn, for a few days.

Mrs. Clayton M. Nagle, of West Front street, who recently underwent an operation, is steadily improving.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, FEBRUARY 24, 1916.

ONE CONGRESSMAN'S HONOR.

Among the relics in the National Museum at Washington there are few objects more replete with historical interest than the Deringer rifle used by Col. David Crockett, of Alamo fame. This same weapon was used by Congressman William J. Graves, of Kentucky, in the duel which he fought just 78 years ago today, with Jonathan Cilley, Congressman from New Hampshire, resulting in the latter's death.

The old gun is a .44 calibre muzzle-loading sporting rifle. The octagon rifled barrel is 45 inches long and fitted with a full stock of curly maple, plain open sights, a percussion lock and a "set" trigger.

John C. Rives, who was one of the editors of the Congressional Globe, now the Congressional Record, knew many congressmen, several of whom he was accustomed to take out for rifle practice to a field. Among his friends was David Crockett, pioneer, hunter, soldier and congressman, who later lost his life at the Alamo in the Texas struggle for freedom. "Davy" Crockett was proud of his rifle, and often joined the shooting parties to keep himself in practice.

Early in February, 1838, Henry A. Wise, of Virginia, presented to the House of Representatives a copy of the New York Courier and Enquirer, charging a member of Congress with corruption, and asked for an investigation. He stated that the author of the article was vouched for by the editor, and that the House was called upon to defend its honor.

Jonathan Cilley, member from New Hampshire, opposed the resolution, and in debate said he thought it was the same editor who once made charges against a certain institution, and later received facilities amounting to $52,000 from the same institution, which he then gave his hearty support. A few days later, Col. James Watson Webb, the editor of the paper, addressed a note to Mr. Cilley, asking if he were the editor referred to, and, if so, demanding an explanation.

This note was directly responsible for the duel between Mr. Cilley and Hon. William J. Graves, of Kentucky, who undertook its delivery on the floor of the House for his friend Webb. Mr. Cilley refused to receive the note, declaring he chose not to be drawn into any controversy with Col. Webb, stating that by so doing he meant no disrespect to the bearer. He refused to affirm or deny anything in regard to Col. Webb's character.

Mr. Graves was not satisfied, however, and several notes between them were exchanged, with the result that Mr. Graves finally challenged Mr. Cilley because he would not say whether he refused the note on the grounds of any personal exception to Col. Webb as a gentleman and man of honor.

Mr. Cilley denied Mr. Graves the right to demand an absolute "yes" or "no" answer, and accepted the challenge. It was to be a combat under the duello or code, upon a mere point of honor, there being no real difficulty between Graves and Cilley at any time.

Their seconds, George W. Jones, delegate from Wisconsin Territory, for Cilley, and Henry A. Wise, of Virginia, for Mr. Graves, arranged the details of the duel, which was fought with rifles at a distance of about 90 yards, near the road to Marlborough, in Maryland. Mr. Wise experienced some difficulty in securing a rifle, but finally succeeded in borrowing Mr. Rives' Deringer rifle which is now in the section of gunnery of the National Museum.

The duel was scheduled for 3 p. m., February 24, 1838, and the two parties met near the boundary line of the District of Columbia. A party of friends accompanied each of the principals, also their seconds. The ground was paced off and the contestants took their places with rifles cocked and triggers set.

Mr. Jones, of Wisconsin, gave the word. Cilley fired first and Graves a second or two after him, but both missed. Despite the efforts of their friends to adjust the matter after each had been exposed to the fire of the other, no satisfactory arrangement could be made, and the parties resumed their positions and exchanged shots again, also without effect. Still being unable to agree after further entreaties, they went to their positions for the third time. This time they fired very nearly together. Mr. Cilley was shot through the body and expired a few minutes later.

The Congressional Committee found Mr. Graves guilty of a breach of privilege in the House, but held that Mr. Cilley had remained within his rights. They recommended the expulsion of Mr. Graves from the House, and that the seconds and friends be censured.

While no one regrets the passing of the duello, most all Americans would rather that their congressmen of today evidence more of the pride that brought about the duel of 78 years ago. The honor of a congressman should be just as sacred today as it was when Cilley and Graves were in the House.

There are not many police chiefs who have courage enough to advocate manual training for boys who show signs of waywardness. Chief Kiely says that the present method of conducting the Rahway reformatory, and practically every other reformatory, is all wrong. He urges that the boys sent there be educated for a life of usefulness, instead of being treated as criminals. The only objection to this plan that we can see is that it would soon result in the elimination of the criminal, as a class, and there being no criminals, Plainfield and other cities would not need the services of policemen. It would be sad indeed to part with our police force, and Chief Kiely should be the last to suggest anything that might lead to such an end.

If Old Man Booze has ignored the lesson of the past few years and neglected to prepare, he is in dire straights for war is upon him. After enjoying a peaceful season of rule in New Jersey the whiskey gang must now fight for its right to control the State. There is one champion of local option in the field for governor already, and another may be expected to declare himself candidate at any time. Both men are opposed to the liquor interest privately and politically and, while they run at the same time they will arouse public opinion against whiskey rule and will make some of the old gang work hard enough to sweat a month's consumption of booze out of their systems.

A Newark man bought a "money machine" with the hard earned savings of a life-time. He should have given it to a broker to invest in war stocks. It would have disappeared as promptly and there would have been left the satisfaction that he was not lonesome in his damphoolery.

And now the Germans are accused of having secret wireless stations in the United States for diplomatic correspondence. The main objective point of the Kaiser, when his campaign is viewed from this angle, is American neutrality.

On the Spur of the Moment

by Roy K. Moulton

I've sworn off reading war news
A hundred times or more;
I'm sick of expert war views,
They make me good and sore.

But still I grab the paper
When it is off the press;
It is my certain caper
To delve into the mess.

I eat up every battle.
I must know what they do;
Although my brains may rattle.
I'll see the blamed thing through.

It is getting so the cost of living kin go up with or without provocation.

Our definition of the Grip.

A more contemptible ailment never beset mankind that the so-called "grip." Even the name is a misnomer. It is anything but "grip." It is first the absence of grip and the presence of a weak nothingless. It is not legitimate enough to be called a disease. It's a plague, a scourge—an unclassified bug from hades—that hangs itself on normal beings and makes them akin to dwellers in the inferno and a nuisance to their contemporary kind. It's a precursor of cussedness and progenitor of all the evil that was ever fished out of human depths. It takes everything and leaves nothing.

One by one your vertebrae, from the medulla to the pelvis, become infested with a Satanic palsy that prostrates and paralyzes every organism in the human system. You become a cachexytic slave to a morbid atrophy, a toxic narcotic, a cankerous contaminate, a "magni nominis umbra," an envenomed deleterious zymotic that fills the atmosphere with a putrid, lubrious blue.

It sneaks on you like a white-livered midget and strikes you in the back. Like the craven lowbrow that it is, it bites where you can't reach it and once its venomous fangs are embedded in your membrane, you lose faith in things for a week. It leaves you a wreck by day and several wrecks by night.

It is not a sportsmanlike disease that gives you a fight and leaves when it's licked. It hangs around like a yellow dog after it's been licked, looking for the opportunity of getting in one more nab at your achilles tendon, hoping you will forget your rubbers and leave it exposed. It is an illicit cross between some viviparous and oviparous form of being, venting its curse on us high, developed humans. If there is anything we have overlooked in describing this curse from the unknown, you will please apply it as further reasons why we do not want it to cross our path again.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME--

IF HE'D ONLY CHOKE

- Proctor's Theatre -

At Proctor's Theatre Today.

Theatregoers in this vicinity will be given a final opportunity tonight tonight to see Theda Bara in her greatest picture, "The Serpent." Miss Bara, who is known all over the world as the greatest of vampire actresses, is at her best in "The Serpent," and runs the gamut of emotions. The story is an exceedingly interesting one, and grips the spectator intensely. Miss Bara appeared in this production under the direction of Raoul A. Walsh, the famous producer of "Carmen." Tomorrow, at the request of many of the patrons, Pearl White, the heroine of a score of screen successes, and who will appear here soon in "The Iron Claw," will be starred in a vehicle admirably suited to her personality entitled "Hazel Kirke," adapted from the famous stage success of that name that has appeared before the public for years. Miss White is assisted by an extraordinary cast of stars, including Bruce McRae, Creighton Hale and William Riley Hatch. In addition, on Friday the latest episode of that thrilling adventurous serial production, "The Red Circle," will also be shown. On Saturday afternoon the kiddies will enjoy their usual toy bazaar, and the grown-up folks are invited to bring the children, for each child attending will receive a handsome toy from the management. On Saturday the dramatic photoplay production will be a Triangle Play entitled "The Conqueror," featuring Willard Mack, the versatile star of many stage and screen successes. This feature will prove interesting to all classes of film fans, as it tells a story that is being daily enacted in many parts of our great cities. In addition to the above dramatic features, the management will present daily a pleasing program of comedy creations, including the world-famous Keystone productions. There is also presented daily a polite vaudeville entertainment, which is changed twice weekly, on Monday and Thursdays. Some of the new attractions appearing here in the near future are "The Iron Claw," "The Strange Case of Mary Page," "The Yellow Passport," with Clara Kimball Young; "Madame X," with Dorothy Donnelley; "New York," with Florence Reed, and a score of others equally as great. There is no other theatre in this section of the country that gives as big a refined and varied entertainment as the local Proctor Playhouse, a fact that is becoming more and more appreciated by the numberless film fans living in this vicinity.

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

A spectacular scenic revue, entitled "Under and Over," will headline the vaudeville program for the last half of the week at the Plainfield theatre, commencing today. "Under and Over," presented by Frank Gardner and company, has a half-dozen startling surprises, including an airship that really flies, a real wireless station and torpedo in action. It is one of the greatest novelties Manager Shannon has ever booked at the local house and will undoubtedly draw capacity crowds.

Other numbers on the big bill will be the Dancing Adonis, presenting a dancing novelty; Johnson and Bradbury, comedians; Haggerty and LeClair, in the comedy skit, "Father's Pajamas"; Lew Davis, comedian, and McLinn, Sutton and Gordon in a comedy bar act.

Beside one and two reel comedy pictures every day, and the Pathe semi-weekly on Tuesdays and Saturdays, Manager Shannon has secured a number of big feature photoplays. Among these are "The Strange Case of Mary Page," the sensational serial just issued by the Essanay company and featuring Henry Walthall and Edna Mayo. This is to be given at the theatre every Friday afternoon and night, commencing on Friday, March 2. Miss Pearl White, the Pathe star, who is a great favorite in Plainfield, has completed posing for a new Pathe serial, "The Iron Claw," which will also be shown at the Plainfield theatre commencing in the near future. Watch these columns for other big features which the Plainfield theatre management is to announce shortly.

Everything will be new in the "Golden Crook" company with the exception of its name and its versatile funmaker, Billy Arlington, as its lead, when that well-known Jacobs & Jermon burlesque production opens at the Plainfield theatre next Tuesday (matinee and night).

The management promises an entirely new entertainment and one thoroughly in keeping with the advanced policy of the Columbia burlesque circuit. The company will be larger than in previous seasons, the chorus will be more numerous and the costumes and stage settings will be more elaborate than ever before.

Eleanor Cochran, with "The Golden Crook," Plainfield Theatre, Next Tuesday, Matinee and Night.

The chief feature of the performance will be a musical revue in two acts, entitled "The Midnight Club." Reports have it that there will be real music and real comedy in this skit, with the heavy comedy burden on the shoulders of Billy Arlington, the humorous tramp, whose funmaking is always appreciated by the patrons of the Plainfield theatre.

Assisting the star comedian will be such well-known people as Frank Dobson, the dispenser of mirth; Eleanor Cochran, in songs and dances; Alva McGill, the statuesque vocalist; the Beau Brummel Trio, dealers in up-to-date melody; Hite and Reflow, exponents of the modern dance; and, as a feature de luxe, the Russian ballet, with Sam Raskin, will offer a high-class terpsichorean diversion.

CLOSING UP ACCOUNTS.

D. Fred Aungst, supervising principal of the North Plainfield High School, was unable to address the members of the North Plainfield Republican Club at their meeting, Monday evening. Mr. Aungst is spending the week in Detroit, where he is attending an educational convention. The meting was taken up with routine business. The committee in charge of the recent banquet to the past Mayors of the borough reported all but $20 of the ticket money in sales of tickets for the banquet totaled $225. The caterer was paid $275, and other expenses bring the deficit up to about $60.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Harry Got Caught In a Big Snowstorm.

"It's daddy's rope stretched to guide me."

"TRUE story night, daddy!" cried Evelyn and Jack.

"Out west on a big farm lives a boy by the name of Harry!" daddy told them. "One winter day, when the sky looked all gray and heavy, his father said to him: 'Son, it looks like snow. Here's a note to give your teacher, so she will excuse you early if it begins to storm.' So Harry put the note in his arithmetic and started off on his long, long tramp to school. For his home was far from other farmhouses, and the way to school led past a swamp and through a deep grove.

"The morning passed, and big clouds began to form in heavy banks along the horizon. About 2 o'clock great blinding swirls of snow began to sweep over the little western schoolhouse, and Harry remembered about his note. But before he got it out of his arithmetic his teacher said: 'Harry must start for home at once, before the blizzard gets under way. His parents will be worrying about him. Come, let me tuck you into your overcoat.' So the light hearted boy set off for home early, while King February hourly hurled great sheets of blinding snow and the north wind howled and blew flakes into thick white walls a man could hardly push his way through."

"How far did Harry have to walk, daddy?" asked Evelyn.

"About three miles. Meanwhile his mother was watching the snow leap across the road that Harry came home along, and his father was telling her how glad he was about that note for the teacher. Meanwhile, too, the teacher had realized how terrible the storm was going to be and had let all the children go home early. But none lived so far from school as Harry did, and, while they soon flashed through the white clouds past shut doors, Harry still plunged his breathless way through the open by the swamp, with the grove still between him, home and safety. Then a tragic thing happened. The early night began to close down on him, and he lost his way.

"But about 4 o'clock," daddy went on, "Harry's mother grew frightened. 'I know what I'll do,' she told his father. 'I'm going to get my long clothesline, tie one end to our gate, then to the maple tree and so on far as it will go. Then you bring me the one up in the attic, and we'll try to reach the grove with it.' So they strung the rope between death and their son, and just as Harry was stumbling across the grove, his strength almost spent in the terrible storm, he fell against what felt like a rope and heard a far 'Hello! Hello!' 'It's dad's rope stretched to guide me,' he whispered to himself and with new strength stumbled on—right into his father's arms! And, oh, how glad they all were when Harry lay safe from King February on the sofa before a warm fire!"

Marrying for Money

BY MRS EVA LEONARD

Madam Morton Imparts Some Good Advice to Jacob Townsend.

"Why, how do you do, Jacob Townsend?" exclaimed Mrs. Morton as she overtook him on his way to the store the first day he felt able to go downtown. "I am glad to see you are able to be about again, even if you do look as if you had faded in the wash." The old lady smiled at him rather grimly.

"I am feeling better than I should have thought possible Tuesday night, and as to not being fast colors, I am rather relieved to find the color has washed out somewhat. I felt that my hue was indigo, warranted not to fade." Jacob laughed.

"Tut! Tut! What is this about being blue? You should be getting younger and gayer every day. You will have to, to keep pace with that handsome young wife of yours." Madam Morton peered at him over her glasses.

"I am out of the race. You see, I begin to realize what most folks were aware of years ago, that I am growing old." He made a wry face.

"Nonsense! Never admit it even to yourself. You were a mere boy when I married and I am not old. You are not well just now, and have lost your grip." The old lady was marching down the street as erect as a telegraph pole, but there was a hopeless droop in Jacob's shoulders.

"It is all a matter of the quality of your thoughts. If they are slack fibered, if you have lost interest or hope, why, you're old if you have only seen twenty summers," continued Mrs. Morton, as Jacob did not reply.

"I guess that is about it. I've lost interest and hope," repeated Jacob.

"I am glad Marian can't hear you say that. She would be ashamed of you." The tone was stern and accusing.

"Yes, Marian was like that," he agreed. "No man could feel that way with Marian for a wife. How she could pour in the courage. She'd hold up a man's hands whatever happened."

"Of course she would. That's what women are for, to bolster men up in hours of gloom and keep them from toppling over when they are hard hit. Men get the credit for doing things, but it has been my private belief that few of them ever made any great success without a woman to ease up the strain, or put on the brakes; in short, to keep the machine up to its capacity. That's what women are for."

"That's what women are for," repeated Jacob under his breath.

"So when I see a man all frayed at the ends I think, 'Some woman isn't onto her job.'"

"Isn't that a rather large order, keeping all of the men fit?" Jacob's laugh was not whole hearted.

"Now you are not as stupid as you try to make believe." The old lady bobbed her head energetically. "Every man could be properly managed by some woman, but half of them haven't found the right one. For instance, I never succeeded in doing anything but stirring up Dick to do the thing I didn't want him to do. Along comes Nell, and Mr. Dick is made over. She touched the right springs. It's part instinct and part bringing up," concluded the woman. "Now imagine what Marian would want you to do and do it. Don't slump into yourself. You get too gummed up to be of use." They had reached the store.

"Were you coming in?" asked Jacob. "No? Well, thank you, neighbor, for your interest." He extended his hand.

"Come out to the farm in your new machine sometime. It is a lovely drive, they say; good roads all the way." The eyes that looked over the spectacles had a friendly gleam. "Good-bye."

Jacob sighed as he turned to enter the store.

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

London—The death of Miss Trehawke Davies, the first woman aviator to "loop the loop" and to cross the British Channel, has been announced. She had many exciting experiences in the air, and in this respect no other woman has equaled her. It was in 1912 that she crossed the English Channel, accompanying Gustav Hamel from Hendon to Paris. In 1913 she was the passenger in the flight which broke the altitude record for a pilot with one passenger. Before her death Miss Davies presented her monoplane to the Royal Navy.

White Plains, N. Y.—Mrs. Joseph S. Wood, wife of a prominent lawyer, of Mount Vernon, and vice-regent of the Daughter of the American Revolution, was selected recently by Justice Morschauser, of the Supreme Court, to address a hundred newly naturalized citizens in the naturalization court. This is the first time in the history of this county that a woman has been allowed the privilege of telling newly made citizens what their oath of allegiance to the United States means. Mrs Wood occupied a seat on the bench beside Justice Morschauser.

Northampton, Mass.—Caps and gowns will be eliminated as a commencement week costume at Smith College in 1917, according to action taken by the junior class. The girls took a vote on the question, which had been agitated by the class members for some time past.—Miss Madeleine McDowell, of Cambridge, Mass., is the winner of the competition for a Washington's Birthday ode, which was rendered yesterday

Washington—Tenessee is the latest State to take up the fight for the Susan B. Anthony suffrage amendment, and is the twenty-seventh represented in the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage. Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the Union, has returned from a trip South, where she organized branches in three States. Mrs. Harriett Stanton Blatch, of New York, will direct the work being done by the Union in the enfranchised States to obtain the passage of the amendment during the present session of Congress. The States invaded by her organizers are Illinois, Kansas, Montana, Washington, Arizona, Nebraska and Wyoming.

Topeka, Kan.—It is a big job to set out to fairly regulate the hours of work, the wages and the working conditions of the women and girls of Kansas, so that the girls and women will be satisfied and industry will not be injured. This is the task which Miss Linna Bresette has tackled. When the Kansas Legislature created an Industrial Welfare Commission, Miss Bresette was chosen as its secretary. She had been a factory inspector for the State, and before that was a school teacher. She has sympathy with all sorts and conditions of people, and her success is phenomenal. She is a little woman with a big job.

EUCHRE AND "500."

Arrangements have been completed for the euchre and "500" which is to be given by the Women's League tonight in St. Joseph's Hall. Miss Catherine Howe is chairman of the committee in charge of the affair, and she has been ably assisted by the many members of the league. Following the playing a social time will be enjoyed. The proceeds of the affair will be donated to charity.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.

Mrs. Joseph Smith and Mrs. J. L. Evans.

Mothers' Association.

The Plainfield Mothers' Association voted at an executive meeting to donate ten dollars from the treasury for the furtherance of the child welfare week and to favor the Federal child labor law. The secretary was instructed to write the Senators from New Jersey, asking them to vota in favor of the law.

Monday Afternoon Club to Help.

The civic committee of the Monday Afternoon Club has voted to use ten dollars for baby week, and to secure and maintain the child welfare exhibit during that week.

Nature's Food for Baby.

It is very important that the baby be nursed regularly because the act of suckling causes the milk to come to the breasts, and increases the supply. The following things also influence the supply; Peace of mind is necessary for the mother; she must not worry; she should not get overtired; she should eat freely, and the total quantity of fluid taken should not be less than two quarts—in hot weather more. Stuffing, however, should be avoided.

Why Children Should Eat.

A child must be fed to grow, to be well, to be active. The body needs, beside food, pure water, fresh air, sleep and exercise.

Right kinds and proper amounts of food must be eaten. Some children are fed too little, others too much; wrong foods or wrong amounts of food can starve a child very much as would no food.

If children eat what they need, they are strong and well formed and can resist inherited tendencies and disease.

Children intelligently fed during infancy, childhood, youth, may hope for normal health in adult life, with natural physical strength, endurance and buoyancy.

Colds and Their Cure.

A mother should try to protect her baby from taking colds, colds being due to a germ and very contagious, easily passed from one person to another by coughing or sneezing.

A nursing mother with a cold should tie a thin cloth or veil over the mouth and nose while nursing the baby, and should be careful not to sneeze or cough in his face or to kiss him on the mouth. She should not use her handkerchief for the baby or sleep with him while the disease lasts. It is well, too, to keep the baby from visitors who have colds and who may be likely to kiss him. The reason for taking such precautions is that a cold is often the forerunner of pneumonia and bronchitis, diseases which cause the death of thousands of babies every year.

Fresh air is the most effective weapon for fighting the disease of the respiratory tract. This does not necessarily mean cold air, for cold air may be stale and warm air may be pure. The ventilation of most American houses is faulty, since in order to keep them warm enough to suit us we shut them so tightly as to make the air unfit to breathe after a few hours. To counteract this tendency mothers should see to it that all the occupied rooms of the house are thoroughly aired at least twice every day in the coldest weather, while in moderate weather there should be as nearly constant a suppy of fresh air throughout the house, night and day, as can be managed. When the temperature outside is very low the baby should be taken into a warm room while his nursery is being aired, and at night his bed should be shielded from a direct draught. If there is a communicating room the window in that room may be opened if there is danger of chilling the air of his sleeping room. If the cold is excessive, or if there is a raw, damp wind blowing or rain or snow falling, the baby should be given his daily airing in a room with the windows open, or on a protected porch, he being dressed warmly.

What Happens in Childhood.

Childhood is the only opportunity children have to grow. Everyting else can come later. Growth will not. Growth requires food and care.

Children cannot eat food that needs to be chewed before they have teeth. Hence the early need for liquid food; solid food must wait for teeth.

Digestive juices that make the food of use to the body are, like the teeth, not all ready for use in the little child. The absence of teeth is more visible but no more real than that of the substance needed to digest starchy food. This is not formed until the child is about nine months old.

If the food needed for teeth is lacking when teeth are forming, the teeth will be inferior, not sound, not durable. The same is true of the bones in general and all the organs.

Health and strength of organs and body depend not alone on food, but also upon activity. The digestive tract needs exercise as do arms and legs, but over-used, the digestive tract wears out—health goes with it. When food is not thoroughly chewed, teeth and digestion are both weak and usually diseased.

Habits are being formed as children are themselves. Habits that will ensure proper removal of waste products are those the child needs to form.

CAMPAIGN WILL BE WORLD-WIDE

Every Section Will Take Part in the Baby-Week Movement.

LOCAL PLANS DECIDED

Various Civic Bodies Will Co-operate and Theatres Will Run Appropriate Films Advertising the Cause.

Plans for the nation-wide Baby Week, proposed by the General Federation of Women's Clubs for March 4-11, have extended beyond the United States. A woman's club in the British West Indies has just written to the Federal Children's Bureau for information about what Baby Week means, and expects to initiate a local campaign. Several Canadians have been heard from, too, including the Saskatchewan Commissioner of Public Health.

The Philippines will take part in the celebration if the plan of a Manila woman's club is carried out. By special request the Children's Bureau has sent its Baby Week bulletin to Valdoz and Nome, in Alaska, and to two of the Indian reservations in Western States.

The local plans for Baby Week vary in the 2,029 communities from which the Children's Bureau has had inquiries. For instance, Wisconsin has initiated a state-wide campaign in which especial emphasis is placed on adequate nursing care and instruction for prospective mothers. In Nebraska, a child welfare exhibit is being prepared by the women's clubs of Omaha and Lincoln, which will travel about among the clubs throughout the state after the Baby Week in those two cities is over. One town in Maryland which is going to have a birth registration day announces that an enterprising merchant has promised to give a tooth brush to every mother who goes to the city hall to find out whether her baby's birth is registered! Another community is having a competition for the cleverest window plan for Baby Week publicity.

What are the plans in our city? The committee has asked the merchants and druggists to display in their windows all the goods that they have for sale that are best for the babies, and will run a voting contest—a friendly one—to decide which merchant has the best window.

The Board of Health will stand ready throughout that week to find out for any parent whether the birth of their baby is properly registered, and if not, will register the baby at once. Without this Board of Health registration, the child will have a good deal of trouble getting working papers, applying for citizenship and other papers. If the mother should become a widow, it is necessary for her to have certificates from the Board of Health as to the exact date of her child's birth before she can apply for the widow's pension. Any mother that is attended by a physician at the time of her baby's birth can be sure that the birth is registered, just as she may be sure that all precaution against blindness has been taken if she has the services of a physician.

NEW YORK SOCIETY WOMEN WEAR STRIKING GOWNS AT BALL

Two of the most striking costumes seen at the "Ball of the Gods," the greatest social event in years in New York, were those worn by Miss Angelica Brown and Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas. Miss Brown's costume, which received the most praise, was a marvelous creation of heavily embroidered velour, so arranged that when she raised her arms it appeared as if she had wings

PISCATAWAY TOWNSHIP OFFICIALS ENTERTAINED

Annual Dinner Given by Steward P. P. Waldron at the Industrial Home.

The annual dinner given by William P. P. Waldron, steward of the Piscataway Township Industrial Home, to the officials of the township, was held at the Industrial Home Monday. Among the officials present were Township Committeemen Frank Faulks, Abram Nelson and William Fitz Randolph; Township Clerk Charles S Day, Tax Collector William Hamilton, Township Physician William Nelson, Overseer of the Poor John M. Dayton, Township Council R. P. F. von Minden, William Osborne and John Sullivan. Mrs. Waldron, stewardess of the farm, had a most delightful and appetizing dinner prepared, for which a vote of thanks was extended.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldron invited the guests to make an inspection of the farm and both were warmly congratulated on the discipline and cleanliness of the institution. It is customary for the committee to talk over matters pertaining to the welfare of the farm; also the re-engaging of the steward. The committee voted to make several improvements and to purchase numerous necessary tools for use on the farm. Mr. Waldron has been steward of the farm for two years and has succeeded in turning what was known as an annual deficit of $800 into a balance in favor of the township. In view of this good showing made by Mr. and Mrs. Waldron, the committee unanimously voted to re-engage Mr. Waldron for another year and to increase his monthly salary from $60 to $70.

BOROUGH COURT CASES.

The borough court was active over the holiday. Herbert Mundy, 35 years old, of 20 Manning avenue, was sent to the county jail for 60 days on a charge of disorderly conduct, preferred by his sister. Edward Gray, Jr., of Dunellen avenue, was released under a suspended sentence for being intoxicated. He was arrested in Saengerbund Hall, Monday night, by Officer Hermann. J. L. Cato, 28 years old, of 68 Grove street, arrested by Special Officer Sheats, Monday night, while driving his car on Mercer avenue, without lights or a driver' license, was also released under a suspended sentence. John Adams, who operates a bus between the end of the Somerset street trolley line and Watchung, was arraigned for operating his car without a license number. Adams was released upon his explaining to the court that he had just had his bus repainted and had neglected to replace the license number.

"ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC."

"The Army of the Republic," a musical comedy, will be given under the auspices of the North Plainfield Parent-Teacher Association, in Columbus Hall on the evening of of March 6.

FROM PLOUGH TO EDITORIAL CHAIR

One-time Farmer Boy Now Edits the Woman's World Magazine.

Hiram Moe Greene, once a country boy from Fremont, Ohio, today occupies the editorial chair of Woman's World, a magazine with a circulation of more than 2,000,000. The success of Hiram Greene is a noteworthy example of the value of work and study. Starting out with only a common school education the future editor of Woman's World worked in a bank until he had saved enough money to help him through college. Here he studied medical jurisprudence and supported himself by writing stories for magazines.

So successful did he become as a writer that a few years later he gave up his profession and engaged in the publishing business, being connected with the Bobbs-Merrill Company for several years and later becoming editor of the Illustrated Sunday Magazine. It was while in this last position that the publishers of Woman's World, casting about for a successor to Charles Dwyer, picked out the former country boy as the one man suited through experience and keen sense of editorial values to edit the magazine.

Astor Theatre, Thursday and Friday.

Household Hints

THAT HALLOWEEN PARTY

It's time to send out Halloween "invites." Make them a little out of the ordinary, such as a short note written on a scrap of yellow wrapping paper, adorned with a black cat, a witch or an owl.

The house decorations should correspond with the notes. Candles stuck in bottles may have black cat shades. Black kid gloves stuffed with wet bran could be placed where the guests would come in contact with them, while skulls and long bony hands could be cut from black paper and hung from walls and chandeliers.

Paper cloths and napkins with appropriate designs can be bought in the shops, also inexpensive favors, as horseshoes, rabbit fobs, four-leaf clover, black cats, witches' brooms, and wishbones. An ingenious girl could fashion many of these favors at home.

The menu should be simple. Deviled oysters or deviled lobster, sandwiches, deviled eggs, devil's cake, angel cake, nuts, ice cream, and cider or iced tea, with plenty of leaves left in for fortune telling, will be ample.

Jolly Games.

Among Halloween games try fortune telling by saucers. Seven small saucers are placed in a row, their contents respectively a bit of scarlet cloth, a handful of moss, a scrap of blue cloth, a branch of thorn, a cord tied in a double knot, some clean water, and a twig with forked ends. The person whose fortune is to be told is blindfolded and touches a saucer with the left hand. The interpretations are as follows:

Moss—A life of luxury.
Thorn—Unhappy love.
Red Cloth—The army, military husband.
Blue Cloth—The navy, naval husband.
Forked Stick—Marry a widow or a widower.
Clean Water—Single blessedness.
Double Knot—Marriage near.

Something New.

Another game not so time-honored as many others is played with a tin dipper and a wooden washtub filled with water. The hostess sprinkles a handful of soup paste letters on the surface of the water. The player closes his eyes and scoops up some water. If he or she gathers in any letters they are the initials of the future life-mate.

A log open fire adds much to the success of a Halloween party, because the nut test can be tried. Two hickory nuts, one named for the maiden and the other for the lover, are laid in the fire side by side. If they burn quickly a happy courtship and marriage is assured, but if they fly apart there is trouble ahead.

Another nut test determines the faithfulness of a lover. Three nuts are named and placed side by side on the ashes. The nut that cracks stands for an unfaithful lover, the one that blazes bespeaks a high regard for the maiden, but the one that burns steadily she will wed.

STORE VEGETABLES

These suggestions for storing vegetables and fruits for winter use will probably be of interest to a great many readers:

Green tomatoes, wrapped up in paper and put on a board in a cool place, will ripen and be nice for slicing at Thanksgiving time.

Sweet potatoes will keep until January if rubbed clean and dry and packed in chaff without touching one another.

Cabbages placed in barrels, with roots up, keep fresh and crisp.

Celery should be packed, heads up, in boxes and covered with dry earth. Should not be washed or trimmed.

Apples should be wiped dry and placed on shelf with as little crowding as possible. The best apples may be wrapped in tissue paper.

Oranges and lemons must be wrapped in soft paper and stored on shelves.

Pears may be kept this way or stored in sawdust.

Potatoes should be kept in a cool, dry, dark place and sprouts rubbed off in the spring.

Carrots, parsnips and turnips keep fresh if placed in earth or sand filled boxes on the cellar floor.

PICKLED PUMPKINS

Cut off rind of pumpkin, then cut in cubes about one inch in diameter, cover with vinegar for twenty-four hours, then drain and make a syrup of sugar and water (quite sweet) and boil until tender. Can and seal.

IMPORTANT DECISION OF PARK GOLF CLUB

Oakmont Cup Played for Last Year Will Be Put up ffor Competition Again.

An important decision has just been announced by the board of trustees of the Park Golf Club, awarding the Oakmont Cup to Harold E. Blazier. The trophy was put up for the season selected score competition last year, and went to William P. Taylor, the golf committee announcing that Blazier, although he had the lowest selected card, was not eligible for the prize, having already won the Hydewood Park Cup for the club championship. The rule that one player could not win both scratch competitions was not included in the rules announced last spring, however, and did not become generally known until after both cups had been won by Blazier, and for this reason the trustees acted favorably on the latter's protest.

Owing to the misunderstanding arising from the unusual state of affairs, Mr. Blazier has announced that he will not retain permanent possession of the cup, but will put it up for competition again this year. The trophy, the largest and one of the most valuable played for at the borough links, is offered by Louis K. Hyde. It is likely that the cup will be put up for some other competition this year, as interest in the selected score competition lagged last year because it was a contest between only two players.

The board of trustees is composed of John A. Steiner, Ray M. Smith, William P. Taylor, Ralph G. Morse, R. V. Carpenter and Frank W. Thompson.

NO CUP FOR CHAMPION HIGH SCHOOL QUINTET

For the first time in many years, the winner of the boys' basketball series between Plainfield and North Plainfield high schools will not receive a cup this year. Heretofore some local follower of the sport has shown enthusiasm enough to donate a cup, but such was not the case this year, and the members of the P. H. S. championship team will have to be satisfied without one. The Boys' Athletic Association, however, is going to give them the choice of a medal or a basketball watchfob as an emblem of their victory.

FAST PATERSON ELKS' TEAM IS HERE TONIGHT

Paterson Elks and Plainfield Elks will match hooks on the local Antlers' alleys tonight. The Silk City men are practically out of the race, and one defeat tonight will end all their chances; but they are, nevertheless, a bunch of clever bowlers, and are popular at the Watchung avenue club. The Pats are going at 923 clip, and have a star of the first water in Anderson, who is Jack Speary's nearest rival for first honors in the singles. The veteran captain, Harry Taylor, is up among the leaders, as usual, and Hausuin is not far behind. A victory tonight will give Plainfield a chance to finish in the money.

BASEBALL NOTES

Joe McCarthy, who held down second base for the Bisons last season, has been signed by Manager Billy Clymer, of the Louisville Club. McCarthy jumped the Bisons to sign with the Tip Tops.

Fred Toney, premier hurler of the Cincinnati Reds, has signed a contract for the season of 1916. Toney was holding out for a salary of $6,000, while the club officials announced that he would be paid but $4,000. No announcement was made of the salary decided upon.

The affairs of the Federal League will be wound up Saturday at a meeting in Chicago. All of the players still controlled by the league will be offered for sae.

Harry Swacine and Cy Barger, who jumped the Indians to play with the Feds, are on the reserve list of the Redskins. It is likely that contracts will be forwarded these players before March 1.

Robert McRoy, it was announced yesterday, would buy stock in the Cleveland Americans, and that he would become secretary of the team.

The salary limit of $3,500 a month in the International League, according to a dopester, will mean an average of $218 a month for the regular player and an occasional $250 for a star if the full seventeen limit number is now carried. A few years ago it was nothing for an International League player to draw $300 and $350. Jake Gettman and Jack Kelly, on the old Newark team, were $400 a month men.

EVEN P. H. S. FRESHIES HUMBLE BOROUGH RIVALS

The Plainfield High School basketeers are handing it to the N. P. H. S. quintets from all angles on the court this season. The Freshmen took a hand in the business yesterday afternoon on the Ninth street court, and thrashed the first-year men from over the brook in a runaway game by a 51 to 14 score.

The Plainfielders rolled up point after point, and by the end of the first half had the game on ice. Nearly everybody took a hand in the scoring, with Snyder and McAfee in the lead. Snyder specialized more in fouls, while McAfee dropped in field goals. Townley, although he did not go in until after the first half had started, led in scoring for the visiting Freshmen with two field goals.

P. H. S. PASSERS PLAY AT ROSELLE HIGH TOMORROW

The Plainfield High School boys' basketball team will journey to Roselle tomorrow night for the second game of the series with the high school of that place. With one verdict under their belts the locals expect to repeat, but they will be handicapped by the very small court the Roselle team uses for its home games.

INFORMAL BOWLING.

The next meeting of the Metic Club of Grace church will be held at the Park Club bowling alleys, Tuesday evening, February 29, at 8 o'clock. This meeting will be of a social nature, and a large attendance is desired. Refreshments will be served during the evening.

PLAINFIELD GIRLS IN NOTABLE MATCH

Local Basketball Players to Play at Hartford, Using Form of Men's Rules.

Miss Clara Barton Smith, manager of the Plainfield Five girls' basketball team of this city, has completed arrangements with the manager of the Susquehanna Girls of Hartford, Conn., whereby the Plainfielders will oppose the latter aggregation at Hartford on Saturday night, March 4. The players who will represent Plainfield are the Misses Helen Hummel and Helen Bryniarski, forwards; Mildred McAulife, center; Clara Smith, Theresa McCullough and Elsie Debele, guards. The Plainfield girls will leave here early Saturday afternoon and will remain the guests of the Hartford young women overnight, returning to Plainfield Sunday evening. Mrs. Frank Linke will chaperone the local players.

Playing under modified 1916 boys' collegiate rules the Susquehanna girls have won every one of their contests, thus far, and are the acknowledged champions of the East at boys' rules. While the locals have restricted themselves entirely to the feminine code, they expect to give a good account of themselves in the "nutmeg" state, and give the Hartford girls a hard run for another victory. The Plainfield Five has been holding weekly scrimmages under the new code of rules, and has shown surprising dribbling and team-playing ability. The engagement is considered a notable negotiation on the part of the two managers, inasmuch as it will be the biggest game either quintet has ever played, and it is probably the first time in the history of local sportdom that a basketball team has traveled so many miles to represent this city.

CITY LEAGUE LAURELS AT STAKE THIS EVENING

The last match on the City Bowling League schedule will be decided tonight on Gates' Somerset street alleys, between the Eagles and the Imperials. The latter team needs all three games to tie the Birds for first place and make an extra series necessary to decide the championship.

The games tonight will probably also decide the individual average championship. Jim Mahoney is leading Harry Radin by ten pins, and the contest is likely to narrow down to these two pigners, with Art Voorhees standing an outside chance.

LIKE TY COBB IN ONE WAY, AT LEAST

Dave Bancroft.

David James Bancroft, youthful shortstop of the champion Phillies, might be called, without faking, the Ty Cobb of the National league since, like the Georgian, he ranked first in his organization in being stopped by the catchers when he tried to steal.

Unlike the great Tyrus, however, who was a .716 sack snatcher, Bancroft had a low baserunning average, only .357. He set out to pilfer on forty-two occasions in his first year in fast company and was turned back without achieving his design twenty-seven times.

Tom Griffith of the Reds, an ex-Brave, had little success in outwitting the catchers, for the backstops turned him back twenty-four times and he only got away with six successful burglaries, making him a .200 baserunner. George Cutshaw of the Superbas was frustrated in twenty-three of his attempts at base burglary; Hi Myers, also a hireling of Charles Hercules Ebbets, in twenty-two, and Bob Fisher of the Cubs and George Burns of the Pirates, each in twenty. Max Carey of Pittsburg, who topped the National in thefts, was nipped by the catchers on seventeen occasions, and Charles Herzog of Cincinnati, the second best baserunner in the Tener community, on sixteen.

Only one National leaguer of 1915 who stole twenty-five or more bases got by without being kept from stealing ten or more times. He was Victor Sylvester Saier of the Cubs, and he was stopped on nine occasions.

THIRD P. H. S.-N. P. H. S. GIRLS' GAME MARCH 10

That third tilt between the P. H. S.-N. P. H. S. maidens for the city championship will be staged in the Y. M. C. A. on March 10. As the first game was played at P. H. S. and the second at Saengerbund Hall, the managers of the two teams decided on the association court instead of flipping a coin.

ROLL-OFFS NECESSARY IN GATES' TOURNAMENT

Two roll-offs were necessary in the Gates' individual tournament games rolled last night. Howe won three games from Judge, Lewis copped a trio from Van Zandt, and Smalley missed a clean sweep over Smith by losing the second game by one pin. Smalley's 220 was high.

Schedule.

Tonight—Eagles at Imperials.

The Tabs and the Knights of Columbus finished their City League season on the former's alleys last night, and the Tabs had the pleasure of administering the final beatings that left the Knights in the cellar.

The Tabs won the first game, 843 to 769; lost the second, 844 to 873, and took the rubber, 868 to 828.

Jim Scott was high man, with a tally of 232 and an average of 205.1. Scott advanced his average for the the league season from 181.2 to 185.3, and is certain to be one of the prize-winners.

REPORT FORTY-ONE CASES OF MEASLES

Health Board Urges Precautionary Measures Against Spread of Disease

The prevalence of measles is Plainfield is indicated by the bulletin issued today by the local Board of Health, which shows that already two deaths have been caused by the disease in this city. The health department statement follows:

"Measles still continues to be epidemic here, forty-one cases, resulting in two deaths, having been reported during the past week. Whooping cough, also, claimed five victims, death resulting in one instance. To allow children who are affected with these or any contagious disease, to mingle with others and thus expose them to infection is nothing short of a crime; and when such carelessness results in death the one who permitted the exposure to infection is as truly guilty of murder as if the death blow had been inflicted by violence.

"There is no disease more contagious than measles, and because its first symptoms so closely resemble an ordinary "cold," it is very difficult to control by the health authorities. It is also during this early period before the rash appears and the exact nature of the trouble can be determined, that it is most "catching." The burden of responsibility then, rests very largely upon the parents in the case of children, and upon non-immune adults who have been exposed to infection. Those who have been thus exposed should avoid close contact with other people for at least twelve days in order to make sure as to whether or not they are "coming down" with the disease.

"The first sign of a 'cold' should be regarded as suspicious and certain precautions taken to prevent spreading infection. These measures include a continuation of isolation until all symptoms disappear; a shielding of the mouth and nose when sneezing or coughing; the proper care of soiled handkerchiefs so that they will not be allowed to lie about the house and be used by other people (handkerchiefs should be boiled in soap and water or rags burned); the washing of the hands and face after handling soiled handkerchiefs; the use of a separate drinking glass. A drinking glass used by all the family is a good way to spread infection.

"A cold should not go untreated because, even if it does not prove the beginning of measles, it weakens the system and opens the door for the entrance of the more severe diseases, such as pneumonia. Never use the advertised cures, but get good medical advice; it will be cheaper in the end."

MAYOR FAVORS THE NEWLAND PROPOSAL

Writes Letter Urging Congress to Keep Washington Beautiful.

In an effort to bring about the passage of the Newlands bill, which is for the careful planning of the new Washington lighting plan with regard for art and beauty, Mayor Leighton Calkins has written a letter to the Congressmen and Senators from New Jersey. His letter follows:

"The beauty of Washington is a national asset, as well as a local asset of great importance to the residents of Washington. That beauty is the result of expert planning and advice. It was created by men who knew what they were doing, because they had given their lives to the study.

"It is a matter of astonishment that Congress, in connection with the location of a lighting plant, should not give the most serious consideration to the advice of the experts as to the proper and improper location of such a structure and its effect on the beauty of the city. A refusal to heed expert advice in this connection would be little short of barbarous. It would be a particularly heinous repetition of the costly mistakes so many American cities have made as contrasted with European cities.

"I respectfully urge you to give your heartiest affirmative support to Senator Newland's proposal, or any other proposal, which will permit due consideration of the advice of the Federal Art Commission or other qualified persons interested in preserving and developing the beauty of Washington. In the long run the citizens will be with them, and against careless and ignorant disfigurement of the capital city."

—If your furnished room is so desirable that it will appeal to the tenant who is looking for "something better," advertise.

TRIAL OF OSBORNE IS AGAIN DELAYED

Former Warden's Attorney Wins Fight For Postponement.

White Plains, N. Y., Feb. 24.—Although Assistant District Attorney William J. Fallon of Westchester county insisted that Justice Morschauser of the supreme court force ex-Warden Thomas Mott Osborne of Sing Sing prison to go to trial next Monday under the indictment for perjury found by the Westchester county grand jury, the court announced that he would give the defendant ample time to take an appeal from the order sustaining the indictments for neglect of duty and perjury.

This action followed the statement of ex-Judge M. J. Tierney of New Rochelle, who said he had been instructed by Osborne to state that he was not ready to go to trial, but intended to take an appeal from the decision of Justice Morschauser to the appellate division. "Mr. Osborne is anxious to be tried," said Judge Tierney, "but at the same time he claims that his constitutional rights were violated in connection with the finding of the indictments."

"The defendant has been securing adjournments ever since Jan. 7," said Mr. Fallon. "In view of the persistent statements of Mr. Osborne that he is anxious to be tried I think that he should be forced to trial."

"I see no reason for undue haste in this matter," interjected Justice Morschauser. "I will not force the defendant to try the case now. I am glad that I am able to escape the trial at this time."

The appeal means that the trial, should the decision be adverse, cannot be placed until April, when Justice Morschauser will again preside at White Plains.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also is the most effective way to break a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Adv.

MEAT CAUSE OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.—Adv.

PLEADS FOR UNION OF ALL CHURCHES

Fred Smith Gives "Live Wire" Address at Annual Banquet of Y. M. C. A.

UNITED CHRISTIANITY

Emphasis is Laid on Fact That if the World is to be Saved Separate Bodies Must Be Brought Into One Large Congregation.

"No man can properly value the work of the Y. M. C. A.; in fact, no history has yet been written which would adequately describe its world-wide influence," declared Fred Smith in a "live wire" address at the annual meeting and banquet of the Plainfield association last night. Mr. Smith presented some twentieth century religious ideas, and before he concluded his talk the one hundred or more men present were deeply impressed and afterward expressed approval of the opinions of the speaker.

In making a strong plea for the union of churches of all denominations into one great body, Mr. Smith prophesied that within the next ten years rapid progress would be made toward that end. He hailed this as the "new prophecy of the twentieth century." He declared that there is a small handful of prophets, such as Graham Taylor, Jane Addams and Walter Ritterbush who are advacates of this union, and because of their advanced ideas some of the more conservative ones are ready to put them out of the evangelical church.

"What we need is a united christianity," continued Mr. Smith. "That should be the outstanding, ringing note. The twentieth century man don't give a rap for denominational differences. There are now 115 members to every preacher in the Protestant church, and by way of contrast there are 970 members to every priest in the Catholic church. We have a seat for every four persons, while in the Catholic church there are four persons for every seat. The average pay for a Protestant minister is $12.81 a week. I want to tell you that the Protestant system for getting a minister is a colossal blunder. The church must co-ordinate, unite and become one if it would accomfuture."

Referring to the work of the Y. M. C. A., Mr. Smith emphasized the importance of moral responsibility. He declared that the association is helping to accent religion and doing its best to disabuse the mind of the man on the curb that because a man is religious he is not a weakling.

"We get too many soft duties from our pulpits," said Mr. Smith, "and wonder of it is how the ministers manage to 'get away with them.' Nearly every Sunday their sermons reach from the cradle to the grave, but they lack the ring of masculine emphasis. Jesus drove the gamblers out of the temple by main force, which proves that there are times when a strong arm and a piece of gas pipe is needed to do the job.

"Prevention and not reclamation is what is needed. I'll tell you that the rescued man has lost a great deal in his life. I believe in trying to prevent a man from going wrong. It is far easier than trying to save him after he has fallen into the depths of sin.

"While card playing, dancing and going to the theatre may be silly things, I do not class them among the cardinal sins that will send a man to perdition. There are far greater sins that we must battle with as Christians. The social message of

PROSPERITY DOLLAR DAY PLANS NOW TAKING FORM

Plans for Prosperity Dollar Day, which will be held by the merchants of Plainfield next Tuesday, are now being completed and indications are that the event will prove an even greater success than was originally anticipated. The committee of the Plainfield Business Men's Association, headed by J. J. Varley, has been active all this week in advertising the affair and people living in all the suburbs surrounding Plainfield have been acquainted with the fact that the business men of this city will celebrate the National Bargain Day with the dollar sale.

Yesterday afternoon another automobile was sent into the suburban districts bearing a huge advertising placard and this feature will be continued daily, weather permitting, up to next Tuesday. The rest room for visiting shoppers, which will be located in a store on West Front street, is being fitted up and will provide for every convenience. The Business Men's Association is the promoter of the project and nothing is being left undone to make it a record breaker.

A. C. ESTES TO SPEAK.

Alfred C. Estes, general secretary of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A., will address the Young People's Christian Endeavor Society of Hope chapel Sunday evening, at 7 p. m. Mr. Estes will tell about the Biederwolf campaign to be conducted here in April.

PARENTS PLAN FOR SCHOOL REST ROOM

Teachers Are to Be Provided With a Much Needed Convenience.

Tentative plans for a teachers' rest room were made by the members of the Franklin-Stillman Parent-Teacher Association at a meeting held in the auditorium of the Franklin School yesterday afternoon, the introduction of the subject by the president, Mrs. S. Frederick Smith, being the cause for the awakening of considerable enthusiasm over the idea. Mrs. Smith's suggestion called for the furnishing of a room in either the Franklin or Stillman schools where the teachers of these two institutions could rest during vacant periods and it was finally agreed to locate the innovation in the Stillman school building, there being a room at that place which could be devoted to the purpose.

Inasmuch as the Board of Education will make no appropriation for such a feature, the members of the organization will take it upon themselves to suitably furnish the room and provide every accommodation for the comfort of the instructors. With a view to securing some of the essential furnishing needs, the association will hold a shower on April 5 in the auditorium of the Franklin School. An urgent appeal was made to the parents and relatives of children in these two schools for their co-operation toward making the rest room a reality, and it will be necessary that all assist in the work of making the shower a success. A committee, composed of the organization's members, will select a list of needed articles, and special attention will be devoted to this list in arranging for the shower.

It was reported at the meeting yesterday that Miss Noel J. Bullock, principal of the Franklin School, was still in the South, but hopes are entertained that her health will be sufficiently improved in the near future to warrant her resuming her duties here.

Harold F. Biddle, head of the history department of the Plainfield High School, was the speaker at yesterday's meeting and he took for his subject the selection of books suitable to boys and girls. He urged the parents to be particular regarding the literature they allow their children to read and he furnished a selected list of reading matter. Mr. Biddle has devoted considerable time and attention to this subject and his lecture was both interesting and instructive.

Following the program light refreshments were served and an informal social hour enjoyed. During this latter period the parents present took occasion to confer with the teachers having charge of their children in the daily school work, this feature being one of the principal objects of the association.

CHARMING SCOTCH TEA AND MUSICAL

Many Guests Enjoy Annual Affair Held at the First Presbyterian Church.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church the annual Scotch tea and entertainment was given in the parlors of the church yesterday afternoon. While the affair was given chiefly for the Scotch women of the congregation, there were many others present who enjoyed the novel program.

Covers were laid for seventy-two, there being twelve separate tables. The decorations comprised jonquils, daffodils and the thistle so familiar to many of the guests. The menu consisted of Scotch dishes cooked and served in the genuine Scotch style.

During the afternoon there was a delightful program of music and recitations, the vocal numbers being furnished by Mrs. David Patterson, Mrs. E. W. Poinier, Mrs. Charles E. Herring, Mrs. Freeman Shotwell and Mrs. William Thorn, while Miss Elizabeth Doig gave two fine Scotch recitations. All the numbers were enthusiastically received and in conclusion all joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne." Mrs. Alexander Campbell was chairman of the committee in charge of the affair.

JAMES E. CHURCH WILL SPEAK AT ANNIVERSARY

The forty-fifth anniversary of Mountainside Sunday-school will be observed Sunday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock, at Mountainside Union chapel. James E. Church, of North Plainfield, secretary of the Union County Sunday-School Association, will make the address. While Mountainside Sunday-school is really much older than this, it had its beginning in 1821; but has been in continuous existence forty-five years.

Belgian Relief Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the Plainfield Belgian Relief Society on Monday, February 28, at 10:30, at 996 Hillside avenue. No postal cards will be sent out. 2 25 2 •••

YOUTH'S CONFESSION CLEARS UP BURGLARY

James Fosbre Admits Entering the Home of Mrs. Lanning on Tuesday.

Following his arrest by Captain Flynn, of the local police department yesterday afternoon, seventeen-year-old James Fosbre, of 661 Essex street, this morning confessed to breaking into the home of Mrs. Frederick Lanning, of 1341 South Second street, on Washington's Birthday and stealing $20. When the robbery was reported to the authorities yesterday afternoon the informant stated that young Fosbre was seen coming from the Lanning home and he was immediately sought, being located while working at his trade as a mason's helper on a West Front street house.

Efforts to break the youth's story that he had lost the money gambling proved futile until this morning, when Lieut. Maurice Higgins, Captain Flynn and Chief Kiely subjected him to a severe examination. He finally admitted that he had hid the stolen money under the matting in his room and the police will investigate the story.

When arrested by Captain Flynn, the accused youth denied all knowledge of the crime, and it was not until several hours after his arrest that the police captain secured a partial confession from him which warranted holding Fosbre for examination this morning. Owing to the fact that there was no session of the city police court this morning he was remanded to a cell until tomorrow, when he will be arraigned before Mayor Leighton Calkins to answer to a charge of larceny. Although Mrs. Lanning has expressed a desire not to have the case pressed, it is likely that a state complaint will be made against him and this will probably result in his commitment to the Union county jail at Elizabeth to await the action of the grand jury.

WANT MORE ROOM FOR SERVING LUNCHES

Parent-Teacher Ass'n to Petition Education Board for Adequate Quarters.

Declaring that the Plainfield High School lunch service is being crowded into the smallest possible room, the Parent-Teacher Association of the school at a meeting of that body last night, appointed a committee to frame an appeal to the Board of Education to grant them larger and more adequate quarters. A committee recently visited a number of other high schools and reporting on their investigation stated that these others were far superior to the local equipment, which is being crowded out by the manual and industrial training departments.

Mrs. S. H. Voorhees, chairman of the lunch counter committee at the High School, reported that an average of 600 lunches are served to the High School and grammar school pupils each day. At present they are using the old gymnasium as a serving room for the children. Mrs. Voorhees particularly emphasized the smallness of the kitchen room at the school and urged better accommodations for this feature.

The meeting last night was one of the best held by the association, there being about two-thirds of the teachers of the school present for conference with the parents of pupils. Mrs. S. St. John Fitch, president of the association, was in charge of the meeting.

L. Z. WEISS TO ENTERTAIN BORO BASKETBALL TEAM

Louis Z. Weiss, pharmacist, of the borough, will give a dinner Monday evening to the members of the basketball team of North Plainfield High School in the manual training building. The dinner will be prepared and served by the members of the Parent-Teacher Association. Other guests at the affair will be Mayor W. L. Smalley, H. C. Krebs, county schools, and the members of the faculty of the borough schools. Following the dinner there will be short addresses by the members of the faculty and some of the players.

The floor will then be cleared for dancing.

SOCIAL CLUB DANCE.

The Vaterlandfschilfe held its monthly meeting in Saengerbund Hall, last evening. Plans for the concert to be given in Columbus Hall on March 7 were discussed. The affair is given for the benefit of the women and children of the soldiers of the Central Powers.

WILL PROTECT EMPLOYES.

Ansonia, Conn., Feb. 25.—It was announced today that the doors of the mills of the American Brass Co. would be opened Monday morning. Several hundred men have indicated that they will return to work and the company has promised protection.

The Klever Klover Klub will hold its second dance of the season in Debele's Hall, this evening. Music will be furnished by an orchestra from Bernardsville.

UNITED STATES IS NOT PREPARED

Miss Janet Richards Says War Would Find United States in Great Muddle.

THE NEED OF DEFENSE

Speaker Declares There is a Growing Feeling in Administration Circles That Country Should be Adequately Prepared for Any Conflict.

Miss Janet E. Richards gave another of her popular "Current Events" talks in the Hartridge Auditorium yesterday afternoon. The spacious hall contained one of the largest audiences yet attendant at ony of the lectures. Miss Richards dwelt principally on the late developments in the Wilson administration, and took as her opening topic a resume of the newspaper reports of the break in Wilson's cabinet, and the pros and cons of the resignation of Secretary of War Garrison. The reason for the resignation is still a matter of much controversy among pacifists in Washington, said the speaker, although there is getting to be a more general feeling of opinion that there is a greater need of added defense in our country. Although we are held in recognition as having the third best navy in the world, and the fourth or fifth best army, we are in no way prepared for war should such a condition arise, and we would find ourselves in as great a muddle as did the British.

When President Wilson read his message to Congress last December, all the fine points of our inadequacy were brought out, some of which were the railroad facilities for transportation, the navy and army increase, the last named to be a volunteer organization of men which would be known as the Continental Army. Since his speech and utterance of the last clause, the President has changed his mind about the Continental Army idea, and is strong for the Federalization of the National Guard. It was on this point that Secretary of War

JUDGE VOSELLER REBUKES JUROR FOR BEING TARDY

Somerville, Feb. 25. — District Court Judge Voseller gave Harry Burd, a stubborn juror, a severe rebuke yesterday when he failed to appear in the case of Mrs. Julia Hamilton against Harry New and A. B. Cline.

Constable Edgar Farley was sent after Mr. Burd and brought him into court. Burd informed his honor that he had forgotten about serving on the jury.

Judge Voseller informed him that if any juror shows signs of not wanting to serve on jury he would impose a fine of $20. R. J. Southwick, another juror, came in late, but was excused, as was Burd.

JOHN GEDNEY BEST MAN AT MOUNTAINSIDE WEDDING

Announcement is made of the marriage of Alfred Heckel, of Mountainside, and Miss Minnie Toms, of New Providence township. The ceremony was performed Sunday afternoon last at 2:15 o'clock at the home of Mrs. H. L. Parkhurst, in Mountainside. Miss Florence Heckel, of Mountainside, and John Gedney, of Plainfield, were the attendants. Rev. Percy Pemberton, pastor of Mountainside and Branch Mills chapels, officiated.

ENDEAVORERS URGE THE PASSAGE OF IOBST BILL

The good citizenship committee of the Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union has sent the following letter to State Senator Carlton B. Pierce:

"In behalf of the Christian Endeavorers of the Plainfield Local Union, we take pleasure in communicating with you, urging that you support the Iobst bill providing for the reading of at least five verses from the Bible in the public schools each day. Your voice and vote in the past has always been on the side of civic righteousness and we feel sure you will not disappoint us."

WILL RETURN NEXT WEEK.

City Judge William G. DeMeza, who has been spending a month's vacation in the South, is preparing for the return trip and will probably return to Plainfield the early part of next week. Postal cards received by friends in Plainfield indicate that both he and Mrs. DeMeza and their little daughter are in the best of health and have had a pleasant trip. During his absence Mayor Leighton Calkins has been occupying the city police court bench and he will resume his duties immediately upon his return.

MAYOR CALKINS BETTER.

Mayor Leighton Calkins, who has been suffering with a severe cold at his home on West Ninth street, is better today, but owing to the inclement weather he will not attend to the duties of his office until tomorrow.

MRS. W. C. SQUIER HAPPILY SURPRISED

Forty-eighth Anniversary of Her Wedding Marked by a Family Dinner Party.

On returning to her home at 13 Pearl street, the borough, after a three months' visit with her daughter in Claremont, Va., Mrs. Warren C. Squier was tendered a complete surprise gathering in honor of the forty-eighth anniversary of her wedding, Wednesday night. Mr. Squier assisted in making the arrangements and was also the recipient of congratulations during the evening. A feature of the affair was the serving of an old fashioned supper, at which there were sixteen diners, all being relatives with one exception. The latter was Claude Elphee, of Auburn, N. Y., a close friend of the family. The wedding anniversary really occurred on Washington's Birthday and it was intended to have the celebration at that time but Mrs. Squier was unable to reach Plainfield on that day. She arrived home by train at 7:30 and on entering the house found the group awaiting her. The surprise was complete, but Mrs. Squier entered into the spirit of the occasion and enjoyed every moment.

Decorations appropriate to Washington's Birthday predominated in the dining room and parlor. The table was resplendent with red, white and blue combinations and masses of cut flowers. At the conclusion of the supper an informal program of vocal and instrumental music was enjoyed until a late hour. Mr. and Mrs. Squier were married in North Plainfield on February 22, 1868. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Allen, of Race street, by the late Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, for many years pastor of the First Baptist church. Mrs. Squier's maiden name was Mary Allen. The Allen homestead has since been torn down to make way for other buildings in that vicinity. The wedding was a quiet affair, only a few relatives and intimate friends being present. With the exception of a short time spent at Basking Ridge, soon after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Squier have always resided in either Plainfield or North Plainfield. Nine children blessed the union and of these eight are living today. It was intended that all of them should be at the gathering Wednesday night but circumstances prevented in several cases. The eight sons and daughters are: Mrs. Charles D. Wheeler, of Mountain avenue; Miss Grace Squier, of Pearl street, and Miss Nellie Squier and Mrs. M. D. Sweeney, of New York; Mrs. Aaron S. Brouwer, of Claremont, Va.; George Squier, of Springfield; Monroe Squier, of Newark; and Allan Squier, of West Fourth street, this city. Mrs. Squier also has one sister, Mrs. C. O. Morse, of Westfield.

Those who attended the surprise gathering were: George Squier, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Wheeler and children, the Misses Ida and Ruth Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Martin; Mr. and Mrs. Allan Squier and children, Adria, Clare and Charles; Claude Elphee, Miss Grace Squier, and Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Squier.

ADDRESSES PARENT TEACHER ASSOCIATION

Miss Helen Lovell Interests Borough Organization in Baby Week Plans.

Miss Helen Lovell, secretary of the Plainfield Bureau of Nurses, addressed the North Plainfield Parent-Teacher Association meeting in the Somerset School yesterday afternoon on the State-wide Baby Saving Campaign to be conducted during the week of March 4-11, with the object of interesting the association in the campaign and extending the work to the borough. Miss Lovell told the members that the exhibit of the Mothers' Congress in connection with the work which will be in Plainfield High School during the week of March 4 will be placed in North Plainfield High School during the last week in May. Miss Lovell's talk was interesting and it is very probable that the association will decide to furnish the necessary funds for the establishment of two milk stations in the borough by the Bureau of Nurses during the coming summer. Mrs. A. E. Willard was present to demonstrate the victrola, which the association plans to purchase with the proceeds of its entertainment to be given in Columbus Hall on Monday evening, March 6.

The report of the committee in charge of the basketball games played under the auspices of the association in Saengerbund Hall on January 29, showed that $123.50 had been cleared. This money will be turned over to the Boys' Athletic Association. Following the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed during which refreshments were served. The March meeting of the association will be held in the Harrison Avenue School. This meeting will be held in the evening to give the fathers an opportunity to attend.

PLAY FOR CONCERT.

The Ellenwood Social Club will hold a dance in Saengerbund Hall this evening. The place was decorated this afternoon by Laggren & Green, the local artists. Salvatore Scawazzo is chairman of the committee in charge of the affair.

MYRIAD OF SURPRISES FOR COMING BAZAAR

Columbus Auditorium Has Been Transformed Into a Perfect Fairyland.

Extensive changes have been going on in the Columbus Club Auditorium for the last few days, and the spacious hall is being transformed into a fairyland of surprises, in preparation for the opening of the Columbus bazaar, on Monday night. The affair will continue throughout the week, special features being arranged for the entertainment of the attendants each night. Professor Squiers' orchestra will dispense the music each night for the dancers, and the entertainment committee in charge have secured professional talent from New York city to appear on various nights, alternating with local talent. The sun parlor of the club will be converted into a pretty garden, where dainty refreshments will be served by a large number of young women.

W. H. Schaefer is chairman of the entire bazaar committee, assisted by F. J. Blatz as vice-chairman, and A. H. DesNoyers and A. A. Cannon, secretary and treasurer, respectively. One of the features of the week will be the invitation of various local lodges on different nights, and Wednesday night will be known as masque night. Every attendant will come to the bazaar in costume, for which handsome and useful gifts will given to the wearer of the most unique costume. Door prizes will be awarded the holder of lucky numbers each night of the bazaar. A children's matinee will be held, and the afternoon will be announced later. The final meeting of the women will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m.

The various chairmen are assisted by the following women—wives and friends of the members of the club: Mrs. George Moore, Mrs. Robert McCormack, Mrs. J. J. Varley, Miss Katherine Powers, Miss Catherine McCauley, Miss Annabele McAfee, Miss Catherine Roache, Mrs. F. P. Burke, Mrs. John Keeley, Mrs. Joseph Brandt, Misses Molly Traynor, Mary Wilson, Helen Hagen, Mary McCormack, Tessie Murray, May McAfee, Helen Hogan, Gertrude Blimm, Betty Mara, Marion Harrington, Nora Callahan, Mrs. H. FISH APPEALS VERDICT IN CRIMINAL LIBEL CASE

By Telegraph to the DAILY PRESS

Trenton, Feb. 25.—A writ of error was today taken out here by counsel for Mayor Harwood E. Fish, of Roselle, carrying to the Supreme Court for review the latter's conviction for libel in the political campaign of last fall. Fish is the only Progressive party Mayor now in office in New Jersey.

NEW REVOLT IN SENATE AGAINST FOREIGN POLICY

Washington, Feb. 25.—A fresh revolt against President Wilson's foreign policy broke out in the Senate today from unexpected quarters. Senator Jones, Republican, introduced a resolution protesting against one-man government and forbidding the President in face of threatened war to issue any ultimatum to belligerent power or to sever diplomatic relations with any power until after the advice and consent of the Senate.

WILSON EMPHASIZES STAND.

Washington, Feb. 25. — President Wilson today emphasized his stand that he would permit no abridgement of the rights of American citizens, in the conference held with Speaker Clark, Leader Ktchin and Representative Flood, chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs.

QUIETER ON THE VERDUN FRONT

French Statement Says No Attack Was Made by Germans Last Night.

RUSSIANS MAKE GAIN

Petrograd Reports That Turks Are in Full Retreat at Kermanshab—German Banks in Trouble?—Austrian Submarines Are Sunk.

Paris, Feb. 25.—According to the official French war statement today, no attack was attempted by the Germans last night, and calmness prevailed to the north of Verdun. The French have fallen back to the rear of Beaumont and it is officially known that they have established themselves on a line of defense organized behind Beaumont on the heights stretching to the east of Champneuville and to the south of Ornes. Intermittent artillery activity has been in progress between Malincourt and the left bank of the Meuse.

Germans Capture Towns.

Berlin, Feb. 25.—German war statement:

Western theatre — On the right bank of the Meuse the successes already reported have been exploited in different directions. Yesterday the fortified villages and farms of Champ, Neuville, Cortellette, Marmont, Beaumont, Chambrettes and Ornes were captured. In addition, all the enemy's positions as far as the Louvemn ridge were captured.

According to the Telegraaf, the German losses on the Ypres front during the last three weeks have totaled 17,000 men.

The German SS. Nochenfeldt, which fled Funchal, Madiera Island, to escape seizure by the Portuguese authorities, Tuesday night, has returned. This step, it is believed, is due to lack of coal.

Russian Troops Victors.

Petrograd, Feb. 25.—Russian troops have won another great victory over the Turks, this time on Persian territory, according to the official report issued here today. The Ottoman forces are in full retreat toward Kermanshab. The Russians are pursuing.

German Bank Troubles.

London, Feb. 25.—Swiss newspapers continue to publish reports of German bank troubles. They say that the Rheinische Bank of Essen has failed, and hundreds of the Krupp workmen lost their savings. The Mittel Rheinische Bank of Coblentz is in liquidation, according to Swiss reports, and the Rheinische Kredit Bank is said to be in a shaky condition. The Bavarian Commercial Bank has postponed its balance sheet for six months. General anxiety is felt over the financial situation, the Swiss accounts say, and the possible effect of the coming war loan.

The British bark Inverclyde, bound from New York to Adelaide, Australia, has been damaged, it was announced today.

Austrian Losses.

Rome, Feb. 25.—Three Austrian submarines have been sunk in the Adriatic since the middle of December, the Ministry of Marine announced today. The enemy also suffered the loss of a hydroplane.

STOPS A RUNAWAY.

Dashing out of the borough police headquarters this morning, Street Commissioner J. Y. Barrett hurled himself at the bridle of a horse belonging to Laggren & Green which was starting to run away from in front of Saengerbund Hall. Barrett obtained a "half nelson" on the bridle and brought the steed, which had been made restless by the steady down pour of rain, to a sudden halt. Outside of being drenched to the skin and bespattered with mud, Barret was little the worse for his act.

ELKS' ST. PATRICK'S DANCE.

The entertainment committee of Plainfield Lodge of Elks has announced that it will conduct another reception and dance in the Watchung avenue clubhouse on St. Patrick's Day eve, March 16. It will be a novel affair in a number of respects, and the committee members are now working out the details.

STEAMERS ARRIVED.

New York, Feb. 25.—Steamers arrived this morning: Kansas City, British, from Bristol; California, French, from Havre; Matoppo, from London; Wilhelmina, from Cienfuegos; J. D. Rockefeller, from Tuxpan; Luz Blanca, from Tampico; Manna Hata, from Balitmore; Kina, from Glasgow.

WILL RETURN HOME SOON.

Councilman and Mrs. A. D. Edgar, of East Front street, who have been spending a few weeks at Palm Beach, will leave that place for home on Monday. During their sojourn in the south they have enjoyed exceptionally fine weather.

PRICE OF OIL ADVANCED.

New York, Feb. 25.—The Standard Oil Co. of New York this afternoon advanced the price of gasoline for export one cent a gallon, all grades and packages.

GREAT SLAUGHTER IN VERDUN BATTLE

Germans Lose Heavily In Attack on French Forts.

London, Feb. 25.—The German drive against the French fortress of Verdun won further successes with the capture of the four villages of Brabant-sur-Meuse, Haumont, Samogneux and Ornes. The capture of Samogneux brought the Germans within five miles of the nearest fort of the Verdun group, Fort Sauville, and at Ornes they are about the same distance from Fort Douamont.

The battle line, which the recent German gains had bent in the center in the wooded country north of Beaumont until it resembled a loosely drawn letter M, straightened, the French withdrawing under pressure from Brabant-sur-Meuse, Haumont and Samogneux on the western flank and from Ornes on the eastern.

The Germans are now in positions from which their artillery fire might reach the Verdun forts, and at the same time they are within range of the French fortress artillery. The country, however, is so hilly that effective bombardment would be difficult, if not impossible. They have been within range of the Verdun forts before, earlier in the war, and the guns of the Verdun fortifications were then in action.

A Paris report said that the German attempt at Verdun has developed into the most serious battle since the battle of Ypres, in the autumn of 1914.

"It is estimated that the Germans have concentrated about 500,000 men between the plains of Champagne and the Woevre," the correspondent says. "The veteran Field Marshal Count von Haessler is acting as adviser to the crown prince in conducting the offensive.

"The plan with which Field Marshal von Hindenburg succeeded in Russia is being followed. Two hundred thousand men are massed on a narrow front of seven miles between Brant-sur-Meuse and L'Herbebois, advancing in close formation, twelve deep. They are mown down by machine guns, but others take up the advance again, their heavy artillery active all the time."

INDIAN PRINCESS BECOMES LOBBYIST

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY.

TO FLOYD W. STILLMAN:

By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the day and the date hereof, in a certain cause wherein Ingeborg A. Stillman is petitioner, and you, Floyd W. Stillman, are defendant, you are required to appear and plead, answer or demur to petitioner's petition on or before the twentieth day of March next, or, in default thereof, such decree will be taken against you as the chancellor shall think equitable and just.

The object of said suit is to obtain a decree of divorce, dissolving the marriage between you and the said petitioner.

New Spring Favored Fashions Are Continually Arriving--At TEPPER'S

Great attention will be shown these latest styles by women and young women who dress with particularity, and therefore choose their apparel and hats only from showings that are unusual and of unquestioned correctness. Although the selection of styles are large, they by no means pretend to be a full exposition of all the Spring Fashions. There are many yet come. These will be presented after the same careful examination that preceded the introduction of those now offered. The pricings is just as interesting as the fashions.

PROTEST AGAINST FERRY REGULATION

Bill Limiting Ferryboat Traffic is Condemned by Railway Heads.

Marine managers of three railways maintaining ferry service in the Port of New York, commuters from more than twenty towns and villages in New Jersey, Long Island and Staten Island, and representatives of civic and commercial associations, signed resolutions adopted at a public hearing in New York yesterday requesting the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries in Washington to refer back to Secretary of Commerce William C. Redfield the bill introduced in Congress limiting the number of persons to be carried on ferryboats. The bill limiting ferryboat traffic was condemned.

The resolutions will be presented to the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries in Washington today. They were signed by every person save one at the meeting yesterday, and were as follows:

"First, that the bill be so amended as to exclude ferryboats, as in the existing law.

"Second, that your committee refer back to the Honorable Secretary of Commerce the entire question of ferryboat operation and regulation, with a view of the department holding hearings at which the entire question shall be thoroughly considered and the very best possible law recommended that will look to proper regulation for the safety and convenience of the traveling public."

"There is no desire to oppose any reasonable measure of regulation which increases the safety or convenience of the traveling public," said Dock Commissioner Smith. "The proposed legislation provides no adequate machinery for its enforcement, and would only lead to interminable inconvenience, delays and confusion to the traveling public, and subject the Government to useles and enormous expense by providing a large number of Federal officials to count the passengers as they go on board the ferryboats. This is the rule of the Federal Government with respect to other classes of steamers, such as excursion boats.

A committee representing the Dock Department and the marine departments of the railroads affected left New York last night to attend the meeting of the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries in Washington today.

BOARD WILL HIRE RATE EXPERT, COMMUTERS HEAR

Trenton, Feb. 25.—President Ralph E. Donges, of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, has informed Counsel E. G. C. Bleakly, of the South Jersey Commuters' Association, that the expert to wade through the mass of testimony submitted by the West Jersey & Seashore Railroad and the Atlantic City Railroad, in the attempt to raise rates, but the expert wil continue his work to assisting the Utility Commissioners.

The utility president suggested that if an expert had been employed by the commuters, he would not only have been able to analyze the testimony of the railroads for the commuters, but could have assisted Counsel Bleakly in the preparation of briefs.

Experts employed by the Utility Board cannot give this special service to the commuters, the utility president said.

A mass meeting will be held in Camden this afternoon by the commuters to devise some means to combat the voluminous figures handed in as evidence by the railroads.

COLLEGIANS TALK MISSIONS.

Greenville, Pa., Feb. 25.—Delegates from thirty Lurtheran colleges and seminaries in the United States are taking part in the sixth annual convention of the Lutheran Student Missionary Conference, which opened today at Thiel College here. Prominent theologians and mission workers will speak, and the conference will end on Sunday with special services.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY LUNCHEON

The mid-winter session and luncheon of the women's branch of the New Jersey Historical Society was held in the Old Barracks, Trenton, yesterday afternoon. Supreme Court Justice Francis J. Swayze delivered an address.

ONE LAWYER IS DISBARRED, SECOND UNDER SUSPENSION

Trenton, Feb 25.—Rules were entered in the Supreme Court yesterday disbarring Robert L. Eaton, of Elizabeth as an attorney and counsellor of the court, and suspending Arthur D. Colyer, of Perth Amboy, from practice for two years.

The action was the outcome of disciplinary proceedings brought against the lawyers in the Court of Chancery. Both were debarred from practicing as solicitors in that court.

The men were charged with retaining fees in divorce proceedings which they failed to prosecute. Colyer did not appear in the proceedings in the Court of Chancery, and in seeking to have his case reopened after the Supreme Court proceedings had been instituted, his counsel contended his timidity was responsible for failure to put in a defense. The action of the Supreme Court in the Colyer case is a modification of the penalty imposed by the Chancellor. Both cases were conducted by the Attorney-General's office.

The branch of the court ordering the suspension and disbarmen was composed of Justices Garrison, Trenchard and Black.

ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS CHURCH.

Battle Creek, Mich., Feb. 25.—Work will begin in the early spring on the construction of the first "anti-tuberculosis church." The new style of edifice is to have the "dim, religious atmosphere," but it is to be nearly all windows, and according to the Rev. Marion H. Garrard, the pastor, these windows will be open most of the time. The new idea in church building is the result of the campaign being waged in Michigan against the white plague.

TRACT BELONGS TO CITY.

James Dabb, for more than fifty years a resident of Elizabeth, will inform the Board of Works this afternoon that a valuable tract of land to which title is held by a score or more taxpayers rightfully belongs to the city. It was originally a street, and he insists that the city never vacated the thoroughfare, and therefore those on the ground are "squatters."

PRESIDENT FIRM ON U-BOAT ISSUE

No Surrender of American Rights, He Says.

HAS FAITH IN GERMANY.

No Reason to Believe She Will Not Keep Promises—Wilson Declares No Nation Can Change Law While War Is on In Letter to Senator Stone.

Washington, Feb. 25.—In a statement ringing with determination President Wilson emphatically announced he will forget any attempt made in congress to abridge the rights of Americans to travel the high seas.

The president declared that such a yielding as is now proposed by the leaders of the revolt in congress will amount to conceding "the impotency" of this nation and of surrendering the independent position of the United States among the governments of the world.

President Wilson set forth these remarkably strong sentiments in a letter to Senator Stone, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee.

Hopeful of Peace.

At the same time the letter showed that the president is hopeful of obtaining an amicable settlement of the submarine controversy and that he is confident of his ability to keep the country out of war.

In the communication he served notice on congress that he will refuse to consent to the abridgment of a single right now possessed by American citizens.

"We covet peace and shall preserve it at any cost but the loss of honor," was one of the impressive sentences in the Wilson letter.

The president declares that for the United States to yield to an abridgment of the rights of its citizens as regards armed merchantmen would be a "humiliation" and would amount to an acquiescence in a violation of the rights of all mankind. He declared further that such action would make everything that this government has attempted and achieved "meaningless."

The president predicted that if a surrender is made of the right to travel on armed merchantmen it will be but the beginning of humiliations for the United States and will threaten the fabric of international law throughout the world.

The president took occasion in this letter to express for the first time his confidence in the good faith and fidelity of the German government in regard to the promises already made. The president's letter to Senator Stone follows:

The President's Letter.

My Dear Senator—I very warmly appreciate your kind and frank letter of today and feel that it calls for an equally frank reply.

You are right in assuming that I shall do everything in my power to keep the United States out of war. I think the country will feel no uneasiness about my course in that respect.

Through many anxious months I have striven for that object, amidst difficulties more manifold than can have been apparent upon the surface, and so far I have succeeded. I do not doubt that I shall continue to succeed.

The course which the central European powers have announced their intention of following in the future with regard to undersea warfare seems for the moment to threaten insuperable obstacles, but its apparent meaning is so manifestly inconsistent with explicit assurances recently given us by these powers with regard to their treatment of merchant vessels on the high seas that I must believe that explanations will presently ensue which will put a different aspect upon it.

Can't Question Faith.

We have had no reason to question their good faith or their fidelity to their promises in the past, and I, for one, feel confident that we shall have none in the future.

But in any event our duty is clear. No nation, no group of nations, has the right while war is in progress to alter or disregard the principles which the nations have agreed upon in mitigation of the horrors and sufferings of war, and if the clear rights of American citizens should ever unhappily be abridged or denied by any such action we should, it seems to me, have in honor no choice as to what our own course should be.

For my own part I cannot consent to any abridgement of the rights of American citizens in any respect. The honor and self respect of the nation is involved. We covet peace and shall preserve it at any cost but the loss of honor.

To forbid our people to exercise their rights for fear we might be called upon to vindicate them would be a deep humiliation indeed. It would be an implicit, all but an explicit, acquiescence in the violation of the rights of mankind everywhere and of whatever nation or allegiance. It would be a deliberate abdication of our hitherto proud position as spokesman even amid the turmoil of war, for the law and the right.

It would make everything this government has attempted and everything that it has achieved during this terrible struggle of nations meaningless and futile.

Fears More Concessions.

It is important to reflect that if in this instance we allowed expediency to take the place of principle the door would inevitably be opened to still further concessions.

Once accept a single abatement of right and many other humiliations would certainly follow, and the whole fine fabric of international law might crumble under our hands, piece by piece. What we are contending for in this matter is of the very essence of the things that have made America a sovereign nation. She cannot yield them without conceding her own impotency as a nation and making virtual surrender of her independent position among the nations of the world.

I am speaking, my dear senator, in deep solemnity, without heat, with a clear consciousness of the high responsibilities of my office and as your sincere and devoted friend. If we should unhappily differ we shall differ as friends, but where issues so momentous as these are involved we must, just because we are friends, speak our minds without reservation.

Germans Expect No Break.

It had become more apparent that the sudden flareup in congress had already had a damaging effect upon President Wilson's cause against Germany. In German quarters the demonstration in congress was accepted as convincing evidence there could be no break between Germany and the United States over the question of armed merchantmen.

In these quarters the conclusion was accepted as a fact that President Wilson would not think of carrying the issue with Germany to the breaking point with a badly divided congress on his hands.

This view was accepted as foreshadowing the one that the German government itself will take, and it is expected the developments of the last few days will at once be reflected in a firmer stand by the Berlin authorities than they have yet taken on the submarine issue.

The feeling in the house against the administration was intensified for a time by what some members feared was a deliberate exhibition of indifference on the president's part to the activities of his party leaders in the house.

Speaker Clarke telephoned to the White House and asked for an appointment with the president for himself, Majority Leader Kitchin and Representative Flood of the foreign affairs committee to explain the situation.

They waited for several hours without any satisfaction from the White House, and then left the capitol. It developed later, however, that the president had retired to his library for the purpose of drafting his letter to Senator Stone and had left strict instructions that he was not to be interrupted.

Fear was expressed by conservative members of congress that the controversy between the administration and the house will result in the formation of a faction distinctly hostile to the president and his policies.

Will Defy the President.

A leader of the house, whose position gives his opinion great weight, made this statement tonight:

If Germany fails to postpone the effective date of her order that she will fire on armed merchantmen and the president fails to modify his present position, which in our opinion would result in war, the house before March 1 will pass a resolution expressing it to be the sense of that body that if Americans travel on the vessels of belligerent nations they do so at their own risk.

It is my belief that such a resolution of warning in the circumstances that I have outlined would be passed by a big majority. The president should not permit himself to be deluded as to the temper of the house on this question. The house is firmly convinced that unless there is a change in the situation adherence to his position will inevitably lead to war.

Both at the state department and in German embassy circles there appeared to be a strong belief that Germany and Austria would postpone the effective date of their new submarine campaign from March 1 to April 1.

Whether or not this belief, backed by more or less definite information from German sources, was responsible for Secretary Lansing's assurances to Chairman Flood of the house committee on foreign affairs that the situation "was improved," it is known that Count von Bernstorff told his government that such an offer would be advisable.

Senate Blocks Gore's Plan.

Senator Gore was blocked in the senate in his attempt to introduce a bill forbidding the issue of passports to Americans for travel on armed merchantmen of belligerent nations and also in his effort to introduce a concurrent resolution expressing it to be the sense of congress that Americans should not take passage on belligerent ships.

Senator Brandegee of Connecticut, Republican, objected to the introduction of the two measures, for which unanimous consent was necessary.

Vice President Marshall ruled that the measures should not be introduced except "in the absence of objection" and that debate was not in order.

Senator Gore is not hopeful of passing either of them through the senate, but he explained that he believed in the principle and felt it his duty to go on record by offering them.

Commercial Sin

Bernard Shaw says that Poverty is the greatest sin. It may be a great sin, but certainly it cannot be ranked higher than the one of misrepresentation. To state falsity is, to us, the hobgoblin of business. It is only a bit more polite than the baser acts of dishonesty.

U. S. NOT PREPARED

Garrison said he could not agree, and thereby followed the Secretary's resignation from the cabinet.

Miss Richards at this point analyzed the proposition from two sides—the difficulties and the good points. Owing to the fact that this country is a free country, the army does not offer much attraction to the men of the nation in times of peace, and as there can be no conscription, naturally the question arises, how can the government get the men to come into active service. Up to January 27 the President sided with Garrison in the belief that the State militias could not be brought into governmental control and act as the first line of defense in times of war, but since then he has come to the conclusion that some step can be taken whereby the Constitutional right of each individual militia can be overcome and the National Guards brought in one great national officered army should it become necessary. Persons well up in military and political questions disagree with the Executive on this popint and say that change cannot be brought about favorably, inasmuch as there would probably be a lack of co-ordination among the several States.

Miss Richards concluded her talk by summarizing the latest developments in the theatre of war.

WANTS UNION OF CHURCHES

the church is fixed and it cannot escape from its responsibility."

During the forepart of the evening the association members and their guests, which included John T. Sproull, president of the Coal and Iron Bank, New York and state president of the Christian Endeavor Society, and Charles R. Scott, state secretary for boys' work, enjoyed an excellent dinner. At the conclusion, President Murray called for the report of the nominating committee. The following were chosen directors for three years: H. O. Newman, James Everett Kimball, Joseph W. Sandford, George M. Rittenhouse, John G. MacLaughlin, George E. Hall and Charles A. Rice.

President William D. Murray presented the following interesting resume of the past year's work:

"The close of the year 1915, the forty-ninth of our history, finds the Plainfield Young Men's Christian Association with more members than it ever had before, for this we rejoice.

"But when we contemplate the equipment with which we seek to meet the expectations of 746 men and 570 boys, we are surprised that so many should care to join us. In addition to this membership we have 402 unassigned boys' memberships. This great increase in membership is due, of course, to our recent 'Membership Campaign,' in which the people of our city said so emphatically that they were friends of the Young Men's Christian Association. We hope that we are proving worthy of this confidence reposed in us. As in the past, so this year, our physical work under our excellent physical director, Mr. Meermans, has been satisfactory; and this notwithstanding of our need of proper equipment. In an effort to meet this need we have turned over our auditorium to the physical work committee. The attendance has totaled 13,937, 167 physical examinations were given, and 266 swimming tests. Fifteen regular classes are conducted each week. A fair proportion of this physical work has been for the boys, a department of our work which has appealed strongly to the fathers and mothers. Three groups of boys have been dealt with, the smaller boy, the employed boy and the High School boy. Of the latter 63 have been enrolled in our Friday evening Bible classes, when the Woman's Auxiliary furnishes the supper. We can never thank the women enough for their unselfish service. For the employed boys various educational classes are conducted and we are seeking in every way to help them help themselves.

"A most interesting group is what we call our 'Boys' Club.' These most needy boys cannot afford to be members and yet are given certain privileges which they greatly enjoy. In addition to these Bible classes the boys conduct a Sunday gospel meeting, which has had an attendance of fifty.

"Socially the building has been the home of good-fellowship, our game rooms have been well patronized. Some sixty men have secured work through our efforts and a number have been directed to the right kind of boarding houses. A very interesting social gathering was the Father and Son Banquet, where there was exhibited the companionship which we strive to bring about between fathers and their own boys.

"Our moving picture exhibitions had to be given up. We could not successfully compete with existing places of entertainment. Such a feature is needed, but can only succeed when subsidized. A number of social events have occurred and here again we are deeply indebted to the women.

"Nor do we wish to omit to express our appreciation of the kindness shown us by the newspapers of the city; their columns are always open to us.

"Last July the pastors of the city at our request came together and after conference decided on an evangelistic campaign. From that time until now our building has been the campaign headquarters; here an office has been opened in charge of a secretary and our own employed force has given a great deal of time to the details. We expect to continue to render this service and the fruits of Dr. Biederwolf's meetings are gathered by the churches.

"Here again we have felt the great need of an adequate building adapted to the needs of our young men, but also fitted to be the headquarters for the interdenominational religious work of Plainfield. Our board of directors has fixed the date, November 12 next, when our building campaign will be launched. We need some big conditional subscriptions to insure the success of such an undertaking.

"Our religious work has been especially manifested, aside from the Bible classes, in occasional gospel meetings and a successful teacher training class at which nine different Sunday-schools were represented. Our aim and desire is that all our work shall be religious. This work has cost Plainfield about $12,000 for the year, the details of which are shown in the treasurer's report.

"In closing we would extend to our sister association, the Young Woman's Christian Association, now celebrating the jubilee of the organization of the first Woman's Association, the heartiest good wishes of an elder brother. May we always pull together for the uplifting of the young people of our fortunate city."

Somerville

At a meeting of the Somerville Realty Company in the Gaston building last night, former Sheriff Selah Schoonmaker purchased a large tract of land on East Main street, from Codington place to Culver street, from the concern. Mr. Schoonmaker expects to improve the holding by erecting up-to-date dwellings.

The five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cramer, of Hampton, was operated on yesterday by Doctors L. Ely and W. L. Stillwill. The operation was performed at the home of Winthrop Hardgrove, Davenport street.

Aaron Kline has sold his cigar business to Peter J. Haberle. Kline conducted the business for seven years.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Ogden are the proud parents of a boy.

Petitions for Joseph S. Frelinghuysen for United States Senator are out today.

"A RAMBLE ABOUT THE WORLD" PICTURED

Former Senator E. R. Ackerman Gives an Entertainment at Hope Chapel.

Although the miserable weather conditions which prevailed last night, were enough to discourage any but the most determined, a large audience gathered in Hope chapel for the purpose of hearing former Senator Ernest R. Ackerman give an illustrated lecture on "A Ramble About the World." The affair was conducted under the auspices of the Men's Club of the chapel and with a supper served afterward fully repaid all those who braved the elements to be present.

Most Plainfielders are aware of the fact that Senator Ackerman has visited practically every country on the globe. In the course of his numerous travels he has secured an invaluable collection of scenic photographs which enabled him to lecture clearly on foreign parts not visited in ordinary touring. From the best of his pictures he has selected a series used to illustrate the "Ramble About the World" address and it has proved to be the most entertaining and instructive he has ever given.

The illustrations displayed on the screen last night, included views in China, Japan, Corea, India, South America and California. Each one was described in the Senator's thorough and comprehensive manner and with the touches of personal experience which he injects at intervals, the address kept the tense interest of the gathering from start to finish. In a number of cases the pictures are wonderful when thrown on the screen, especially those of the Flowery Kingdom with its wealth of horticulture. Other scenes that were greatly admired were those showing the course of Mr. Ackerman's trip over the Andes Mountains from Argentine to Chili and recent photographs were taken last year at the San Diego and San Francisco Fairs on the Pacific coast. The stereopticon was handled by A. V. Searing, Jr.

Robert Baillie, president of the Hope chapel Men's Club, was master of ceremonies during the evening. He introduced the former senator and afterward extended the gratitude of the club for his kindness in giving the lecture. An assisting committee of young women aided in preparing and serving the supper given in conclusion.

JACOB W. COSE DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Well Known State Roofing Contractor Passes Away at Home of Daughter.

Jacob Winsor Cose, a resident of Plainfield for the past thirty years, and until eight years ago, a prominent roofing contractor, died at noon today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James Penny, of 128 East Seventh street. Owing to the fact that he was past eighty-seven years of age and had been failing for a long time, a paralytic stroke which came upon him yesterday brought about his demise. His condition was seen to be hopeless last night, and as many of his relatives as could be summoned were at his bedside when the end came.

Jacob W. Cose was born in Devonshire, England, in 1829, and came to this country when he was twenty years old. He located at Bangor, Pa., operating a slate quarry. The best slate deposits in England at that time were located in Mr. Cose's native shire, and he was an expert in the business when he first came to America, despite the face that he had not yet reached his majority. After spending seven years in Bangor, Mr. Cose removed to Annandale, Hunterdon county, where he engaged in the work of slate roofing. He did a wide contracting business in that section for more than a quarter of a century, and many roofs put on by him are still to be seen throughout Hunterdon county.

In 1885 Mr. Cose removed his family to this city and continued slate roofing, finding that the local field for that style of house covering was an excellent one. His belief found verification in numerous large contracts, and all the time he continued in active work he kept a large force of men busy. Some of the finest roofs in Plainfield and North Plainfield are the result of Mr. Cose's experience in selecting the proper slate and the method of putting it on. Twenty years ago he took into partnership his son, Councilman John H. Cose, who had learned the trade under parental guidance. The firm then became known as J. W. Cose & Son, but was re-established under the name of John H. Cose when the father retired in 1908. Since that time the elder Mr. Cose had been enjoying private life in visiting with his sons and daughters and other relatives.

Fifty-four years ago last Tuesday Mr. Cose married Miss Mary Connolly, of West Portal, Warren county, and she survives him. Beside his wife, he also leaves five daughters and two sons, as follows: Mrs. Joseph Brown, Mrs. George Radford and Mrs. James Penny, of this city; Mrs. Thomas Bird, of Easton, and Mrs. Harry Lister, of Philadelphia; Councilman John H. Cose, of Plainfield, and George B. Cose, of Schenectady, N. Y. Mr. Cose was a charter member of Stewart Lodge, F. and A. M., of Clinton, and always retained his membership in the Methodist church at Lebanon, although during his residence in Plainfield he attended service in Hope chapel. The funeral will be held at Mrs. Penny's house, on East Seventh street, Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, and burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

COMRADES CARRY BODY OF FRANK SWEENEY TO CALVARY

The funeral of Patrolman Frank Sweeney, whose death occurred at his home on East Seventh street Tuesday night, was held in St. Mary's church this morning. A solemn requiem mass was said in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, which included delegations from the Plainfield police department and the Independent Order of Foresters. Rev. Father B. M. Bogan was master of ceremonies; Rev. Father McGrath, deacon, and Rev. Father McDonald, subdeacon.

The floral tributes were numerous and handsome, among them being set pieces from the Patrolman's Benevolent Association and Court Plainfield, I. O. F. At the conclusion of the church service the body was taken to the North avenue station and thence to Calvary cemetery, Long Island. A detail of patrolmen from th elocal police force in charge of Sergeant Charles Flynn, acted as an escort from the home on East Seventh street to the church and later to the station. The detail consisted of the following officers: John Kelly, Fred Bader, James Saunders, Charles Wicht, George Muir, John Wirth, Thomas Bebout, Charles Messmer, Samuel Kriney and Joseph Dunlap. The pall bearers were selected from the patrolmen who knew Mr. Sweeney best and they accounted the body to the cemetery. These were D. J. O'Keefe, Tobias Nolan, Thomas Flatley, Richard Birmingham, John Neylon and Roy Martin.

THOMAS FLATLEY.

Thomas Flatley, a former resident of this city, died last night at Wilmington, Del. Details of his death were not given in the telegram sent to local relatives. Mr. Flatley leaves a brother and sister in Plainfield, Samuel Flatley, of West Fifth street, and Mrs. Patrick Harrington, of West Fourth street. Another brother, Martin Flatley, resides in Newark, and is quite ill at the present time.

The Dunbar dance will be held in the Washington School tonight. The Dramatic Club will hold a rehearsal in the kindergarten room of the Washington School. The library will be open for game playing and billiards.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, FEBRUARY 25, 1916.

ROUT OUT THE FAKERS.

That there are certain Plainfield merchants who need a little "checking up" regarding the methods they employ in advertising wares is the opinion of several active members of the local Business Men's Association and if the suggested crusade against "fake" advertising is to become a reality in Plainfield it should be accorded the hearty support of every fair-minded merchant and every individual who has occasion to patronize Plainfield trade. One local business man has come forth with the announcement that he has proof in his possession that at least fifteen merchants doing business in the heart of the city are not giving consumers value for value received and inasmuch as he is known to have the best interests of the municipality at heart, both as a business man and civilian, it would seem that his statement is worthy of investigation. If the public has been fooled in the past there is absolutely no reason why it should continue to support the storekeepers who have been guilty of this contemptible practice and it is high time someone pulled the wool from the consumer's eyes. As a class Plainfield merchants are on a par with those of any other city whose business interests are run on the highest plane of excellence, but like any other community it is likely to have its black sheep and the quicker the dishonest merchant is run to earth the better it will be for city, dealer and customer. It is to be hoped that the Plainfield Business Men's Association's suggestion will prove more than idle talk and the committee appointed to assume charge of the problem needs the co-operation of the community in rooting out the merchant thief.

NO MORE SENTENCE DODGERS.

When Mayor Leighton Calkins inaugurated the "installment" plan for the collection of fine money in the city police court he solved an issue that has been troubling the local authorities for years past. Oftentimes the levying of a fine on a defendant guilty of a misdemeanor that cannot be unpunished would work a hardship on those dependent upon him if the court demanded the fine in a lump sum and in some cases where heavy punishment has been meted out the prisoner has been forced to accept a jail term as an alternative, and in the meantime his family becomes dependent upon the municipality for support. The mayor's innovation compels the guilty individual to report to the police chief each week with his installment, thus giving the authorities a chance to keep tabs on him and at the same time affording him an opportunity to ponder over his wrongdoing; inasmuch as he will be likely to keep his offense ever in mind while his pocketbook is being touched weekly for fine money. To date no one has violated the confidence of the court and the plan will no doubt be continued.

NATURAL ICE PLENTIFUL.

Local ice dealers have admitted that this year's crop is the largest harvested in years but the consumer daily anticipates the announcement that the chief asset to the making of many palatable summer dishes will be advanced in price in the early spring. It is only reasonable to expect that Plainfield will be well supplied with natural ice this summer, however, and the iceman may forego the annual "jump" story. One local company has already housed 14,000 tons of the finest quality and if present weather conditions are to be taken as a criterion it is likely that considerable tonnage will be added between now and the time the summer birds arrive. Although there has been no crying need for labor by Plainfield men this winter the few that are out of work have been given a chance to earn a daily stipend as ice harvesters and big squads have been busily engaged in gathering the commodity that has at times past been reported to be almost as scarce as radium.

CHANCE TO TEACH PATRIOTISM.

One red-blooded young American who takes pride in being a pupil in the Plainfield High School has forwarded his dime to the fund started by little Marjorie Sterrett for the building of a big battleship for Uncle Sam's navy. It is not too much to expect that every other Plainfield scholar follow his example and help swell the fund for the worthy and patriotic cause. Marjorie Sterrett has given the education directors of the country an opportunity to put to a real test their efforts to inspire the country's youth with genuine patriotism and little Marjorie need have no fear that her object will not be realized. Pupils of Plainfield schools should be told more of this plan, which is worthy of a brain much more mature than little Miss Sterrett's, and when they come to realize that they will be able to have a share in one of the United States' big dreadnaughts it is safe to predict that the response will be ready and quick.

Let those who do not think Americans are a prosperous people keep watch upon a certain star of the motion picture world who is in New York this week seeking bids for a new contract. This well known movie actor, whose chief claim to fame is the possession of an old pair of shoes and a small ten cent mustache, has been drawing more than $2,000 a week and he refused to sign a new contract at this figure. He has written one for the next three years which he says he will accept and it calls for more than $10,000 a week, with a percentage of the profits in addition. He will probably get what he demands and the people of this country will be paying a clown at the rate of a half-million a year. That cannot be twisted so as to sound like "hard times."

Next Tuesday Plainfield will be the mecca for hundreds of visitors from the suburbs who will come to the city for the special purpose of taking advantage of the bargains offered by merchants who celebrate Prosperity Dollar Day. Aside from the fact that they will doubtless get bargains they will also be shown the advantages of living in Plainfield and Prosperity Dollar Day is likely to prove another advertising step for the municipality. Then again, we are likely to entertain several thousands of outsiders here on May 30, when the Plainfield postmen will act as hosts for the annual convention of the New Jersey State Letter Carriers' Convention. Two excellent chances to boom the city's good points and gain some new inhabitants.

One evidence of German efficiency that is now before every American is the remarkable versatile personality of the present ambassador to this country. In addition to being an astute statesman and something of a general in the handling of an army of plotters against munition makers, Von Bernstorff is also one of the best and busiest press agents that has ever visited Washington, and when we remember that the Colonel had his residence there for a short time this is praise indeed.

Whether or not the audit of the late County Clerk's books produces any startling revelation, it has already stirred Union county's "official" circles to a degree that is likely to bring about some radical reforms in some quarters.

Faithful.

You may dine on raw onions,
Consume lemon peel,
And coughdrops and peanuts
You may make a meal.
You may shampoo your head and
Use hair oil that's stout,
And bathe till you're too weak
To amble about.
You may rub on strong perfumes
And change your attire,
And throw all your old clothes
Right into the fire.
You can stand in the wind at
The top of Pike's Peak
And let the winds whistle
About you a week.
You may gargle your throat with Pure formaldehyde,
And may take any other
Precaution beside.
You may try every treatment,
And do what you will;
But the scent of the cocktail
Will stick to you still.

The Hickeyville Clarion

T. Egbert Peavey, the Beau Brummel of our midst, has accepted a lucrative position as night clerk in a hotel down to the city, and it must be a warm place to work, as he says he has to be right over the register all the time, and his mother is afraid he will catch cold when he goes out. T. Egbert has to keep track of what time the 9:17 train leaves every day and also the best places in the town where visitors can buy picture post cards. Egbert says a well-known actress spoke to him the other evening. She said: "Why in thunder didn't you send that ice water up to my room, you red-headed little galoot, you?" Egbert expects to get acquainted in the theatrical profession quite rapid.

Elmer Jones says travelin' around the country selling wringers is a great way to learn things. He has already learned that every family has got one.

J. Tibbs, who plays the drum in the Silver Cornet Band, has caught a dreadful cold, which may develop into la grippe. The bunghole in the base drum is right under his face when he has the drum strapped on, and every time he hits her a smash with the drumstick the wind shoots out'n the vent and hits him like a tornado. When he plays fast music it is just like standin' in a stiddy draft. He is going to hook the drum on different after this, so the wind will hit the feller that is marchin' ahead of him.

Just the Same.

They may turn the rascals out and may put new rascals in,
But the cost of living rises just the same;
They can monkey with the tariff from
"bananas" down to "tin,"
But the cost of living rises just the same.
They can jail the malefactors of great wealth for money lust;
They can probe the ways of Wall street and dissolve most every trust;
They can shout for equal liberty and rights until they bust,
But the cost of living rises just the
same.

The statesmen can get busy, wave the old flag and orate;
But the cost of living rises just the same;
They may threaten, they may bluster, they may scream and paw
the air;
They may plead and they may grovel
and in madness tear their hair;
They may tell of real conditions and the awful truth lay bare,
But the cost of living rises just the same.

Who Believes in Signs?

In front of one of the filum theatres this week there was a sign advertising the show:

"THE WOMAN PAYS."

But we noticed that the men had to buy the tickets. Didn't see a woman dig up a cent. Ho-hum! Always thus, Clarice.

Ever Notice It?

Most great men do not look the part;
You'll notice every day
That when a man is very smart
He never acts that way.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME--

WATCH HIM GROW

- Proctor's Theatre -

The dramatic photoplay attraction at Proctor's today is an adaptation of that favorite old stage success, "Hazel Kirke," the play that has amused thousand upon thousands of theatregoers in the past generation, and has finally been adapted to the scheen. The Pathe Co. are the producers, and employ an extraordinary cast of stars, one of whom was picked to suit the particular part. The cast is headed by Miss Pearl White, one of the most successful of photoplay artists, and a favorite of millions of film fans. She plays the part of Hazel Kirke with the utmost ease, and her winning personality and winsome expressiveness win for her new laurels. The supporting cast is an admirable one, and includes Bruce McRae, the idol of many a theatregoer; Creighton Hale, whose acting is usually so good that it does not appear like acting, and William Riley Hatch. In addition to "Hazel Kirke," an added attraction in the way of the latest episode of "The Red Circle" will be shown, and will attract the numerous fans who are following this wonderful story each week. Tomorrow is set aside for the presentation of the latest Triangle Play. It is "The Conqueror," with Willard Mack, one of the most versatile of Triangle stars, assuming the lead. "The Conqueror" deals with the rise of an implacable Wall street magnate, who meets all the cajoleries of society with frowns and insults. Willard Mack is supported in this characterizations by dainty Enid Markey and a splendid Triangle cast. A feature tomorrow afternoon that will particularly appeal to the children will be the celebration of the weekly toy bazaar, and in addition to the numerous presents given away to the lucky ones from the stage, the management will present each child with a handsome toy upon leaving the theatre. On Monday one of the most interesting pictures yet produced will be the feature attraction. It is "The Rack," a William A. Brady production, with Alice Brady in the leading role. Next Wednesday will see the debut of "The Iron Claw," in Plainfield, the new Pathe serial production, which will appear at Proctor's every Wednesday, and in which Pearl White, Creighton Hale and Sheldon Lewis assume the principal roles. The management of Proctor's are continually on the lookout for new and original features which will cause a sensation when announced from time to time. The vaudeville entertainment presented the latter half of this week is particularly enjoyable, and alone is well worth the admission.

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

Alva McGill, with the Golden Crooks, at the Plainfield Theatre, next Tuesday, matinee and night.

The management of the Plainfield theatre takes pleasure in announcing that the first instalment of the fascinating new serial film, "The Strange Case of Mary Page," will be presented at the playhouse at all performances this afternoon and tonight. Succeeding episodes will be presented each Friday hereafter, and lovers of thrilling photoplays of the continued style should make it an absolute point of seeing the beginning. The film has made a tremendous hit in New York, Chicago and other large cities. It is put out by the Essanay company, with Henry Waithall and Edna Mayo in the principal roles. These two excellent artists are supported by a cast of players selected from the best movie actors in the country.

The new vaudeville bill which began yesterday proved to be a winner, every one of the seven numbers is a "crackerjack," and the spectacular, scenic production, "Under and Over," made a big hit. It has enough mechanical effects to fit out a three-act melodrama, among the startling novelties being an aeroplane in action, a wireless telegraph station and torpedo flying to an objective point. There is a variety in the bill and, taken as a whole, the show is one of the best of the season.

Every performance at the Plainfield theatre includes one- and two-reel photoplays with specialties almost every day. The Pathe semi-weekly "animated newspaper" is shown Tuesdays and Thursdays, and beginning March 2, the management will offer the newest Pathe serial, "The Iron Claw," featuring Miss Pearl White.

Jacob and Jermon's "Golden Crook," the burlesque attraction which has for years been recognized as one of the leaders in its class will be seen at the Plainfield theatre next Tuesday (matinee and night), for the benefit of [illegible] urer of the theatre. The management has [illegible] vanced style of entertainment, and "The Golden Crook" is said to be a most worthy exponent of the new epoch in burlesque. While the change has not been so radical as to make the performance unfamiliar to local patrons, the musical revue will be found more attractive in its comedy, music, costuming and stage setting than in previous seasons, while the vaudeville department will be found equal to the best offerings of the two-a-day. "The Golden Crook" has, for its comedian-in-chief, Billy Arlington, who is known to be the most amusing of tramp comedians. His talents will be particularly well displayed to advantage in the new two-act revue, "The Midnight Club," which is the main feature of the performance.

The return of one of America's most popular dramas, "In Old Kentucky," is scheduled for an early date in this city. Since "In Old Kentucky" had its first performance many fads have come to the American stage, as they have to other arts and cults. Melodrama has had its fling, farce comedy arived, departed and returned again; the problem play had its inings and the show girl has romped in musical comedy; sex-drama has worn itself out and the evils of the white slave traffic have begun to pal as a topic for stage discussion. But, through it all, and even in opposition to the most wonderful of all recent factors—the film drama, "In Old Kentucky," like Tennyson's brook, has gone on forever. The name means three hours of spirit, stirring entertainment—with its exciting race scene, its merry little pickaninnies in songs, dances and band music, its vigorous story of real men and women and its abundant dramatic moments. The same fine company and splendid scenic equipment provided for the Boston Theatre engagement will be seen here at the Plainfield Theatre on Wednesday, matinee and night, March 1st.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How the Grenadier Guard Carried the Little Belgian Girl.

Put Her on His Shoulder and Marched On.

"IF both you children will keep still as mice I'll tell you a true, beautiful story of the cruel war in Europe," daddy began. "When thousands of British soldiers fell back from Mons, a city south of Brussels, the capital of Belgium, thousands of old people, sick folks and tiny children wanted to go with them."

"Why?" shouted Jack and Evelyn.

"Because war had destroyed all else," daddy explained. "So, homeless, hungry, afraid, this small army of helpless ones tagged the English army till their feet got swollen with tramping and many fell by the roadside for lack of food and failing strength. Many met a happier fate, for the kind soldiers shared their food with many starving ones, and hundreds of children caught rides on the army baggage wagons. Now, along with this human stream flowed a lovely little golden haired Belgian girl just six years old. Her papa had been killed, and in the terrible tide of misery her mamma had been parted from her. But, although her shoes were worn through and her poor little feet were cut and bleeding, she toddled on beside the English soldiers till her strength, too, gave out and she could go no farther."

"Oh, then, daddy, what happened to her?" cried Jack.

"Then," cried daddy, "oh, then a great big strong Grenadier guard espied her sitting there so forlorn on the roadside! And because she reminded him of his own little girl back in England he picked her up, put her on his shoulder and went on marching. Now, you children must know that this soldier already carried ninety pounds, his rifle and his kit. And when he had carried the little girl six miles after fighting so long and hard his strength, too, gave out."

"Oh, daddy, did he put her down by the roadside to die hungry?" Evelyn wanted to know.

"No, indeed! He planned it better than that," said daddy. "He passed her over to the soldier who marched beside him, who carried her till his strength failed, and he passed her on to his chum.

"So mile after mile south, almost to the gates of Paris, these kind men carried this little war waif. Then, when they met the French soldiers and the terrible battle began again, the Grenadier guard left the little Belgian with some kind nuns."

"Oh, where is she now, daddy?" cried Evelyn.

"Who knows?" said daddy. "Is she still safe with the good nuns, or did she get back to her mamma? Anyway, she knows how kind a Grenadier guard may be," daddy finished.

Marrying for Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

One More Form of Extravagance Suggests Itself to Ortrude Townsend.

"J. C., I received a letter from an old friend today. She is going to Atlantic City to spend a few weeks and wants me to join her there. I should like very much to go. It is insufferably hot here in Kansas. It would liven me up to get away from this tiresome place a while." Ortrude paused for a reply, but none came. Jacob had never been rude to her, never refused to answer her politely. She could not believe he had heard.

"J. C., may I have your attention a moment?" Her husband put down his paper, and she repeated her request.

"I am sorry that I cannot let you have the money," he answered coldly, and retired behind his screen.

"It would not be such a very expensive trip," began Ortrude with heightened color.

"No? Then you might charge it." Jacob glanced at her over the top of the paper and their eyes met like two swords crossing fire.

"I can't see how a business man of standing cannot raise money when it is needed." Ortrude's tone was spiteful.

"Business details always bore you, you know, so we will not enter into a discussion of anything so sordid." Jacob's tone was a creditable imitation of Ortrude's, when he had desired to explain business matters to her shortly after their marriage.

Ortrude looked at the drooping eyelids with their level gaze and saw that she was confronted not with revolt but siege, and she involuntarily caught her breath in surprise. She brought forward her big guns and prepared for assault.

"If economy is what you are after, I assure you that it will be cheaper to send me east. I will agree to confine myself to any reasonable amount you may say. I can do it, you know——"

"You surprise me," came calmly from behind the paper.

"And this awful weather! Really——"

"It is a pity you are not well and strong like the rest of us; then you would not feel it." Ortrude remembered with something like a blush his recent illness.

She relapsed into silence, and Jacob, glancing around the edge of his paper, saw her brows contracted in thought, and he realized that the battle was not over; that she was rearranging her forces for another attack. He made a hasty mental calculation of all the possible things she might do, realizing that it was the unexpectedness of her attacks that made them successful.

"Well," he thought, "she has no checking account at the bank. I do not see what she can do." Nevertheless he was uneasy, and when she rose and left the room he caught a glimpse of her firm little chin and wished he could see the clockworks under the elaborately combed hair. He listened to her footsteps overhead. At last they were silent. Jacob began to go over his business affairs, trying to plan some way to meet the demand for money for his fall stock of goods. One of the stores in the business block that he owned was vacant and with business so dull there was little prospect of renting it soon. From what he could gather from the renter on his farm, there was not much to be expected from the crops in the fall. He had depended on the farm to put Marian through school that year. He sighed wearily and dropped his head on his hand.

Twenty years ago today the country girl first began to come into her own, when the first county association of Fillmore county, Minnesota, was organized in 1898.

The first world's conference was held in London, June 14-18, 1898.

In 1900, the national committee of China was organized.

Miss Martha Berninger, the first secretary to China, sailed in 1903. Her support was furnished by the associations of Detroit and Grand Rapids, Michigan, and a college association of Wisconsin.

In 1901 the first Young Women's Christian Association building in Asia was dedicated in Bombay.

Miss Alice Newell, a Radcliffe graduate, went to India as the first student secretary from the United States in 1903.

The first division of conferences into city and student conferences was made at Silver Bay in 1902.

The Woman's Missionary Conference of Tokio, Japan, sent an appeal to the World's Committee for secretaries to organize Young Women's Christian Associations in Japan, both for student and city girls.

In 1903, Miss Theresa Morrison began her work in the Young Women's Christian Association in Japan.

In 1905, Count Okuma gave a garden party to present the work of the Y. W. C. A. to the people of Tokio, saying, "I count it a privilege of a lifetime to have a part in inaugurating a work which will mean to the young women of Japan what the Young Men's Christian Association has meant to the young men.

In 1904 the first permanent institute for secretarial training was opened in Chicago.

Swimming was first started at the Buffalo pool in 1905.

February 22-28, 1916.

Today there are fifteen county Associations made up of 56 branches in 11 states. The membership is now 4,420. There are a national secretary and 22 local secretaries for county work.

The Fifth World's Conference was held in Stockholm, Sweden, in 1914. 782 delegates representing 22 countries, were present.

China now has 18 secretaries in five cities.

Today there are 15 Association buildings in Asia.

One general, one county, five city and eight student conferences will be held this year. Last year, 4,589 were in attendance in summer camps and conferences.

Japan has now twenty Associations with six American secretaries.

In October, 1915, a beautiful new and capacious Y. W. C. A. building was opened in Tokio; Miss Ruth Emerson, the Tokio general secretary, writes that the joy in the girls' faces as they view their new quarters is beautiful to see. They feel that the building really belongs to them and that they are a part of it. She says it quite takes away one's breath to try to eliminate the difference this building will make to the work in that city.

Today the National Training School has a class of 51 students for a full year's course, who come from every state in the Union, as well as from Finland, Norway, Japan, Canada, Australia, Switzerland and Armenia. There are 23 colleges represented.

Fifty-three Associations now have swimming pools, and 15,420 girls had lessons last year.

ESTABLISH SMALL TRACHOMA HOSPITALS

This Has Been Found Best Solution of a Most Difficult Problem.

The establishing of small trachoma hospitals in localities where this contagious disease of the eyes is prevalent, presents the best solution of the trachoma problem, according to the statement contained in the annual report of the Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service. The service now has five trachoma hospitals in the three states of Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia, and so great has been the number of applicants for treatment that a waiting list has been established. In the past fiscal year, 12,000 cases of trachoma have been treated, the larger proportion of which were cured, while those in which a cure was not effected have been greatly improved and rendered harmless to their associates. The great majority of these trachoma patients were people who lived in remote sections far removed from medical assistance, and who, but for the hospital care and treatment provided, would have remained victims of the disease practically the remainder of their lives.

"When it is considered," the report of the service states, "that thousands of persons suffering with trachoma, a dangerous contagious disease, would otherwise remain untreated, it is realized how far-reaching results have been obtained through these trachoma hospitals and the other public health work done in this connection. It would be impossible to estimate with any degree of accuracy the number of people who have been saved from contracting this communicable disease by thus removing these thousands of causes of infection.

In addition to treating persons with the disease, the hospitals have been used for educational work. Doctors and nurses have visited the homes of the patients and have explained how to prevent the development and recurrence of the disease. One thousand three hundred and eight such visits were made during the year in Kentucky alone. "It has taken some time," the report continues, "to educate the people afflicted with this disease to the importance of cleanliness and the use of simple hygienic measures in their daily life." That results have been obtained is evidenced by the noticeably better observance of hygienic precautions by those among whom the work has been done.

In addition to the hospital work, surveys were made in sixteen counties in Kentucky, especially among school children. Eighteen thousand and sixteen people were examined, seven per cent. being found to have trachoma. Similar inspections in certain localities of Arizona, Alabama and Florida resulted in finding the disease present in from three to six children out of every hundred. Periodic examination of school children for the disease and the exclusion of the afflicted from the public schools, are two of the recommendations the Public Health Service lays emphasis upon.

One of the special features of the trachoma work was the giving of lectures and clinics before medical societies in various counties where trachoma hospitals could not be established. Patients were operated upon in the presence of physicians, and the most modern methods of treatment demonstrated. Throughout, the purpose has been to stimulate local interest in taking up the campaign to eradicate trachoma.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion.

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion is nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases, which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids, and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescing, and, furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

Schedule.
Tonight—Newark at Elizabeth.

A new high score record of 269 for the Elks' Senior League this season was set on New York lodge's alleys last night by Wessell, of the New York team. The former record was 261, held by Albright, of the Rahway team.

In the three matches decided last night, Paterson won two games at Plainfield; Rahway lost two at New York, and Rutherford lost a pair at Hoboken.

Plainfield's Lone Win is Close.

Plainfield avoided the whitewash brush at the hands of Paterson, by taking the last game by four pins, 91 8to 914. The locals lost the first game by 29 sticks, 937 to 908, and the second by 93 points, 1018 to 925.

Blatz lost ground in his fight for an average prize. His first two scores were 149 and 153, his last game being 201. Vail rolled 223 and 199. For the visitors, Hausin had 224, O'Gorman 237, Armitage 202 and 199, and Taylor, 202 and 214.

The scores:

LOCAL ELKS WILL SEE BIG ELIZABETH MATCH TONIGHT

Many local Elks are expected to be spectators at the big match between the Newark and Elizabeth teams, at Elizabeth, this evening. The Essex and Betsytown teams are having a close race for first place, and tonight's series is certain to be one of the most hotly contested alley fights in the history of the league.

ORGANIZE BASEBALL LEAGUE.

Perth Amboy, Paterson, Reading, Easton, Lancaster and Pottsville are in the Atlantic Baseball League, which was organized in Philadelphia yesterday. Two other towns will join the loop.

TOWNSEND HARRIS TANK TEAM HERE TOMORROW

Swimmers of Townsend Harris, a New York private school, will appear in the local school tank tomorrow afternoon in a meet with the P. H. S. swimming team. The locals, as shown from last Saturday's performance against the Boys' High, have struck their stride and with the New Yorkers credited with having a good team, the meet should be a good one. If Brower repeats his work of a week ago, Plainfield's chances will be very good.

In the 160 yard relay, Lehrman Campbell, Summer and Broomes will swim for the visitors, while Brower, Johnson, Snyder and Fullerton will sport the Red and Blue. Cowen and Cohen will race for Townsend Harris in the 40 yard dash, with Brower and Snyder representing the locals. In the 100 yard swim, Summer and Lehrman will be pitted against Brower and Snyder, while the plunge for distance will bring out Thuor for the visitors and Johnson for P. H. S. Cohen and Merrick will dive for the New Yorkers in the plunges, and will be pitted with Condit and Brownlee.

BASEBALL NOTES

Gene Packard, former star hurler of the Kansas City Feds, is to be sold to the highest bidder tomorrow.

H. Clay Smith, who is said to be behind Fred Tenney in the deal for the Newark Indians, is recovering from an attack of grip.

The National Commission expects to settle the question of taking over the lease on Peps' Park, tomorrow, at a meeting in New York.

Max Flack, who was a member of the Chifeds last season, is the only member of the Cubs who has not signed for this year. Flack was offered an increase over last year, but is holding out for a higher figure.

Now report has it that Harry F. Sinclair is to be sued by James McGill because of the loss of Bennie Kauff. Bennie was a member of the league before P. T. Powers landed Sinclair. Steve Harter, former secretary of the Peps, was the man who secured Bennie's signature to a contract for the Indianapolis Feds.

Tommie McMillan is coming back to the International League. The "Little Reb" has been sold by Indianapolis to the Richmond team. Claude Derrick will get Tommie's old job in Indianapolis.

Beals Becker is trying to land with Frank Chance, who is now manager of the Los Angeles club.

Cleveland has secured Ivan Howard from the St. Louis Browns. Howard will play first base for the Sixth City aggregation.

A protest entered by Jim Hogg, a hurler, has been sustained by the National Commission. The Cubs transferred Hogg to Memphis and the commission holds that the transfer is void unless Memphis assumes the full contract.

The Federal League players who have not been disposed of will be put on the block tomorrow, following the final meeting of the league.

SOMERS SELLS OUT.

Charles W. Somers yesterday sold his interest in the Cleveland American League club.

DAILY PRESS GIVES CUP TO BASKETBALL CHAMPS

The Plainfield High School basketball team, which has won the interscholastic championship of the city, will not be without a trophy, after all. Following the story in yesterday's Daily Press that the winners, for the first time in many years, would have no mug to add to their trophy case as evidence of their heard earned victory, the Daily Press takes pleasure in announcing that it will award a handsome silver loving cup to the P. H. S. team, as a token of recognition of its successful efforts.

WILLARD IN NEW YORK; SEAT SALE AMOUNTS TO $78,000

New York, Feb. 25.—Showing no signs of his recent illness, Jess Willard arrived in New York this morning from Chicago, to train for his coming bout with Frank Moran. The heavyweight champion said that he was feeling well and would get down to training at once. The fighter was accompanied by his manager, Tom Jones, and several members of his retinue. The party was met by Tex Rickard, promoter of the match with Moran. Rickard said that Willard appeared fit, and that all doubt of the match taking place had been removed. From the station, Willard and his party drove to the Hotel Wallick, and then to the Pioneer A. C., where the champion will have his training quarters. After Willard arrived, it was announced that the advance sale of seats for the fight already amounted to $78,000.

CRANFORD HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS HERE TOMORROW

Cranford High School's girls' basketball team will appear at the P. H. S. gym tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock for a game with the local maidens. Irma Good, the Red and Blue captain, will appear in the locals' line-up for the first time in several games.

TO PICK CLIMAX TEAM.

At the Climax Gun Club shoot tomorrow, a team will be picked to represent the club in the inter-club match at Flemington.

OLDSMOBILE vs. STUTZ.

An Elks' Club house tournament match between the Oldsmobile and Stutz teams is scheduled to be rolled tonight.

PERDUE RELEASED.

It was announced yesterday that the St. Louis Cardinals had unconditionally released Hub Perdue and Arnold Hauser.

MURNANE PRESIDENT.

Tim Murnane was yesterday elected president of the Eastern Baseball League.

LEACH CROSS THROUGH.

Leach Cross has announced his retirement from the fight game.

FUNERAL BY JITNEY BUS.

In Newark yesterday the first jitney bus funeral ever held there took place, the occasion being the burial of John Gruisch, who was knocked from the running board of his bus on Tuesday and killed under the wheels of a trolley car. Fifty of the jitney men, each with his bus and carrying the friends of the dead man, formed the funeral procession. Each bus was draped in black.

SAY BRITON'S WIFE AIDS U. S. PLOTTER

"Dr." J. Grant Lyman.

"Dr." J. Grant Lyman, who is being sought by the federal authorities on a charge of swindling investors in mining stock out of $300,000 or $400,000 by illegal use of the mails under the name of John H. Putnam, has been engaged in German propaganda, according to a statement made by postoffice inspectors. It is charged he has been supplying Berlin with information obtained from the wife of an English army officer, said to be a member of the British general staff serving in France.

FOOTBALL RULES COMMITTEE IN SESSION IN NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 25.—The annual session of the Intercollegiate Football Rules Committee is being held here today and tomorrow. While there are a number of matters that will be suggested and discussed, it is not believed that any radical changes will be made. One of the important questions is the further defense of the player receiving a forward pass. As the defense against the forward pass has been developed, there is a marked inclination to put the receiver of the throw out of commission by violent body blocking. The ten yard penalty has not proven a sufficient protection, in the opinion of some of the prominent rule makers.

The old question of requiring the ball actually to be touched down behind the line to constitute a touchdown has come up again, from the disputes of spectators following two instances in the major games of the East.

NEW PROVIDENCE GUN CLUB FAVORS COMMUNITY MERGER

New Providence, Feb. 25.—The first definite action by any of the organizations recently invited by the Community Club to consolidate into one organization was taken Wednesday night by the New Providence Gun Club, which voted unanimously in favor of merging with the clubs and societies. The meeting was held in the Community Club rooms. As a committee to act with committees from other bodies, Councilman Jarvis J. Badgley, Edward Miller and Donald Badgley were appointed.

The club decided to hold a prize shoot March 4, to which a number of the country's crack shots have been invited by the president, Leon G. Parcell, himself an unusual good shot.

The question of consolidation will be taken up at a meeting of the New Providence Athletic Association, to be held Sunday at the home of Otto F. Adams, of South street.

BURSTING SEWER PIPE HALTS SUBWAY TRAFFIC

New York, Feb. 25.—Service in the subway was stopped at 9:50 o'clock this morning because of water leaking in at the vicinity of Times Square. Pumps were put to work at once and it is expected that the operation of trains will be resumed shortly.

It was said at the office of the Public Service Commission that the trouble had been due to the bursting of a sewer in Forty-sixth street, which flooded the new B. R. T. subway in Seventh avenue, this being a continuation of the subway at Broadway. Besides flooding the subway in Seventh avenue, the water ran into the old subway at or about Forty-third street.

ALL ON BOARD DAMAGED VESSEL REPORTED SAFE

Baltimore, Feb. 25.—The Merchants and Miners' Transportation Company has received word that the steamer Cretan, which was in collision near the Diamond Shoals off Cape Hatteras with an unidentified vessel, is coming to Norfolk. The passengers and crew are safe.

The company said that the damage to the vessel was not serious. The revenue cutter Onondaga reported to headquarters at Washington that all the certain passengers have been transferred to the Dorothy, which also is expected to put in at Norfolk.

Imperials	11	7	.611	970
Tabs	8	10	.444	944
Knights of Col.	6	12	.333	902

A roll-off to decide the City Bowling League championship was made necessary last night, when the Imperials, bowling at home in the last match on the schedule, won three games from the Eagles, and tied the Birds for first place. A special meeting of the league will be held in the Daily Press building Sunday afternoon to arrange a date and conditions for the roll-off.

Although the team championship still remains at stake, all the other prizes were decided last night. The individual average champion is Arthur Voorhees, of the Imperials, whose mark for 15 games is 186.3. Harry Radin, of the Eagles, is second, with 185.7, four pins ahead of James Scott, of the Tabs. James Mahoney, of the Eagles, finished fourth, with 183.1.

The fact that neither Mahoney nor Radin won first prize was a genuine surprise last night. They had an average of 189.6 and 188.11, respectively, up to last night, Voorhees being thirty pins behind, with 186.7, while Jim Scott, who had rolled all his games, finished with 185.3. Both Mahoney and Radin fell away off last night, Jim dropping six points and Harry three, and enabling Voorhees, who maintained his 186 pace, to finish on top.

First prize for high score goes to George Lewis, of the Imperials, with 257. Voorhees won second prize, with a tally of 241. He is the only man to win more than one prize. The individual champion is the only bowler in the league who is not a resident of the city or borough. He lives in Dunellen.

The Imperial team finished the schedule with the best team total, a mark of 970, and every man who rolled for the Imps in that game will get a prize. The Imps, by virtue of the big fall the Eagles' average took last night, also finished with the best average. Their mark increased last night from 871.3 to 874.9, the Eagles falling from 880.5 to 867.11.

Deafening rooting marked last night's engagement. A great delegation of members of Plainfield Aerie crossed the brook with the F. O. E. team, but the Plainfielders neither outnumbered nor outnoised the borough fans. There was no more shouting than there has been at some of the other exciting series — that would be impossible—but the noisemakers didn't depend upon their voices for thundering encouragement to the bowlers, and completely drowned their own vocal efforts by incessant hammering and stamping. The din was so great at times that the bowlers could not hear the contact of ball against pin, and pin against bunker.

Ernest Luthman was back in the Imperials' line-up, and was the star of the series, having 210 in the second game and 211 in the third. Voorhees had the biggest count of the night, a tally of 223.

All the pinners on the Eagles' team had rough sledding. None of them except Smith hit the alleys as well as they were expected to, much less as well as they generally shoot at home. When they weren't smashing the head-pin full, they were sliding by without touching No. 1, or running into nasty splits. Jaeger barely got over the century mark in the first game, and Mahoney, who generally does well on the borough lanes, turned in totals of 154, 159 and 141. Bill Smith was the only member of the team whose work didn't fall off, Radin and Miller being other sufferers.

The Imps led all the way in all three games. They were 55 pins to the good in the fourth frame of the first game, and 92 ahead in the sixth frame, winning by 110 sticks, 899 to 789. They were about forty to the good most of the way in the second, and when Luthman stuck in four strikes in a row, and Voorhees had wallops in the seventh and eighth and two in the tenth, they accounted for 889, the Eagles stopping at 812.

The third game was closer, the homesters being about thirty pins ahead in the fifth. They increased their advantage towards the end, and wound up with 885 to the Eagles' 811.

The scores:

NATION SETS ASIDE ONE FULL WEEK TO PAY TRIBUTE TO AMERICAN BABIES

"Baby Week" to Be Observed In Hundreds of Cities and Towns March 4-11.

Idea, Originating In Chicago Two Years Ago, Now Fostered by All the States.

THIS is "baby year" and during the week March 4-11 practically 2,000 cities and towns throughout the United States will pay homage to his majesty the baby. Promoted by the children's bureau, department of labor, and sanctioned by women's clubs, civic organizations, state boards of health, the entire medical profession and by countless thousands of mothers, baby week this year will surpass all others in scope and in beneficial results.

The object of baby week is briefly stated by Miss Julia C. Lathrop, chief of the children's bureau, who says:

"Health authorities unite in saying that public interest is now needed to put into operation methods for infant welfare which are well ascertained and tested. The observance of a baby week is an expedient for securing attention to facts about the needs of babies which are well known by scientific authorities and which if popularized will greatly reduce the loss of infant life throughout this country."

Parents Taught Infant Care.

The federal children's bureau believes that baby week will give more parents a chance to learn the accepted principles of infant care and will awaken every American to his responsibility for the deaths of the 300,000 babies who, according to the census estimates, die every year before they are twelve months old.

The letters about baby week come in from every state in the Union and from every type of community, such as a Colorado settlement forty miles from a railroad, a club of women on one of the government reclamation projects, a Montana coal mining town with a large foreign population, a southern mill village and a club of farm women in a middle western state.

"Baby Health Is Texas Wealth."

Texas has its own baby week slogan—"Baby Health Is Texas Wealth"—and Mississippi has started a competition to secure a slogan for that state. North Dakota reports plans for a state wide essay contest in the public schools. In some state campaigns the State Federation of Women's Clubs, the state university extension department, the state health officials and those who are especially interested in education are all co-operating in the baby week campaign.

Many large cities are going to have a baby week. Definite plans are under way in Albany, Baltimore, Boston, Cleveland, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Philadelphia, Richmond, San Francisco, Washington and other cities. New York had a successful baby week in 1914 and will probably hold another this year in the late spring.

In its suggestions for baby week observance the children's bureau lays special emphasis on the opportunity it affords for extending permanent work for infant welfare, such as infant welfare stations, visiting nursing, special nursing and instruction for prospective mothers, city inspection of milk, special work for the prevention of blindness and little mothers' classes and home nursing instruction for schoolgirls in the upper grades.

Origin of the Week.

How did baby week happen?

It is a long story in which many persons and many organizations have had a part.

Before ever a baby week was thought of the baby shows of a few years ago had been developing into baby health conferences and the community's responsibility for baby welfare had been taken with increasing seriousness by various elements in the community. Then Chicago, in the spring of 1914, through the co-operation of public authorities and volunteer organizations, set apart a week for discussing the needs of the babies in the newspapers and at meetings and by every modern method of publicity.

New York held a baby week in June of the same year, when a citizens' committee, with representatives of business men and of women's clubs, of the city board of health and of various infant welfare and charitable organizations, put through with characteristic enterprise and speed a campaign of popular education with the slogan "Better Babies, Better Mothers, Better City." Last year Pittsburgh had a baby week, and Topeka and Grand Rapids and Indianapolis and perhaps half a dozen other cities.

These baby weeks were epoch making. They led to permanent results in extending the work for babies in their own communities, and, perhaps most important of all, they gave an example of effectiveness which led the General Federation of Women's Clubs with its 2,000,000 members to say last autumn, If a baby week is a good thing here and there, why not everywhere?

The federation laid its plan before the children's bureau of the United States department of labor, a federal bureau which is concerned with all matters relating to the welfare of children and which has devoted special study to the problem of infant mortality. The children's bureau believed in baby week and pledged its co-operation. It compiled a special bulletin of detailed practical suggestions for baby week and undertook to supply information about infant welfare to all who were interested in the movement.

Idea Popular at Once.

The idea was instantly popular. Newspapers all over the country gave it generous publicity, and the number and variety of organizations that indorsed baby week and promised to help were surprising.

It is perhaps not surprising that forty-seven state departments of health approved of baby week and gave it such assistance as they could, referring to it in their official bulletins, writing public letters of indorsement, advising in local campaigns or lending slides and exhibits and giving leaflets on infant welfare. In a few states and cities the departments or boards of health have a special division of child hygiene, but the others have also been actively interested in baby week.

The co-operation of national organizations interested in children's health problems was assured immediately—such, for example, as the National Congress of Mothers and Parent Teacher Associations, the Association of Collegiate Alumnae, the Association For Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality, the Association For Public Health Nursing, the Association For the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis and many others.

Then forty-four state universities, through their departments of home economics or their extension divisions, promoted the observance of baby week, especially in villages and rural districts.

Women's clubs of all types or city or county health officers or volunteer associations doing infant welfare work or visiting nursing have, one or the other of them, taken the initiative in the actual planning of a local observance.

The Baby's Weight.

In order to know whether a baby is developing properly it is necessary to weigh him at regular intervals. The average weight of girl babies at birth is seven pounds, while boys are a few ounces heavier. There will usually be a slight falling off in the first few days of life, while the mother's milk is getting established, but this is quickly regained.

During the first month he should gain about three-quarters of an ounce each day, after this from four to six ounces a week up to the sixth month and from the sixth to the twelfth month two to four ounces a week.

At three months the average baby weighs twelve to fourteen pounds, at six months fifteen to sixteen pounds, at nine months seventeen to eighteen pounds and at one year twenty to twenty-two pounds. The baby thus usually doubles his weight at five or six months and at the end of his first year weighs three times as much as at birth. Most babies do not gain quite steadily week by week. There may be short periods during which, owing to the excessive heat, when the food is reduced or the baby is cutting a troublesome tooth, he will show no gain and may even fall off a little. This should be very temporary, and he ought to begin to gain as soon as the disturbance subsides.

Bottle fed infants do not gain as rapidly during the first months as breast fed babies do, but after the ninth month they are apt to gain rather more steadily, because they do not lose weight as breast fed babies usually do at the time of weaning.

Babies Often Too Fat.

A very fat baby is not to be desired. Although mothers are prone to believe that a fat baby is a healthy one, this is not necessarily true. An exclusive diet of certain of the proprietary infant foods, consisting largely of sugar or of starch, is apt to produce excessive fat and give a false impression of abounding health, since bones and muscles may thus be deprived of their proper nourishment. Overfat babies are uncomfortable in the summer from prickly heat and other ills.

A healthy baby has a well rounded body, without wads and cushions of fat or pendulous cheeks and pudgy legs. He has springy muscles and is alert, active and full of life and motion.

Most families in the country have a household scale of some sort which can be used for weighing the baby. Ordinary grocery scales having a balance are best, as it is hard to weigh accurately on spring scales, but if carefully used the latter kind are far better than none.

It sometimes happens that a nursing baby does not thrive, and the mother concludes she must wean him. In such cases the quantity of breast milk is probably at fault, and the baby needs some supplementary feeding. To determine this the baby should be weighed, immediately before and after each nursing, for twenty-four hours. The baby must be dressed in exactly the same clothes both times. If this is accurately done the mother will be able to learn just what quantity of breast milk he is getting and to what extent it may need to be supplemented with cow's milk.

A city mother in reach of infant welfare stations may have at all times a trustworthy record of her baby's weight if she will take him there to be weighed at regular intervals.

Health Conferences Planned.

Children's health conferences are to be held during baby week in many communities. This modern health conference for well children marks the passing of the old idea that a mother's instinct is an unerring guide to the wisest and best way to care for her child. It is a recognition of the fact that there is a great body of scientific knowledge which can save from blunders and from suffering.

There was a day not so long ago when we ridiculed as a wild notion of the antipodes the idea that a physician's function was not primarily to heal the sick, but to keep well people well. Now a periodic physical examination to discover hidden signs of possible trouble is recognized by physicians and laymen as the surest way of conserving health, and many busy men and women submit to such examinations as a matter of course.

The children's health conference applies this principle to babies and children. There are several types of conferences, all having in common the following features: Thorough physical examination of the babies by competent physicians according to some definitely outlined plan, a record of the examination being given to the parents, and personal interviews between physicians and parents, in which the needs of the baby are pointed out and the general hygiene best suited to the baby under consideration is dwelt upon.

Views of Leading Women.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, said of baby week:

"We have asked every individual club and every individual woman to join in what I feel will be one of the greatest concrete accomplishments upon which we have ever united our forces, that of setting aside seven days, beginning March 4, 1916, for the especial study and consideration of the welfare of the child."

Mrs. Frederic Schoff, president of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent Teacher Associations, said of baby week:

"The Congress of Mothers rejoices over every new participant in this movement for the protection of babies. The General Federation of Women's Clubs has asked all its members to celebrate a week in March as baby week. * * * More and more is there a recognition that in the better care and guidance of children rests the future of the nation."

MISS JULIA C. LATHROP

Chief of Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor, Leading Baby Week Sponsor.

The Baby

By MARY MILLS WEST.

What does the baby ask of you,
Passerby in the street?
Only the gift of a thought from you,
Only the gift of a look from you,
At the road before his feet.
Is it smooth and clean and fit, say you—
Fit for a baby's feet?

What does the baby say to you,
You who pay no heed?
He begs for the right of living with you,
Begs for the help of a hand from you.
What he begs is but his meed.
Will the hand and the help be ready from you,
Serving the baby's need?

What does the baby give to you,
Men whose vision is dim?
He gives you the sun to lighten your way;
He gives you new hope for each dark day.
Have you paid your debt to him?
Have you smoothed his path and guided his way,
Guarded and shielded him?

What does the baby keep for you,
You whose need is vast?
He keeps faith and hope and joy for you,
Comfort and love and home for you,
In his tiny hand held fast.
Are you earning the gifts he is keeping for you,
You who are going past?

Will Hughes Want to Change Seats.

In spite of his repeated refusal to be a candidate for the Republican Presidential nomination, there is a persistent nudge from many quarters that Justice Hughes step forth and be the Republican standard-bearer. At this writing it is reported that Hillis, chairman of the Republican National Committee, favors Hughes. In the meautime Hughes sits on the Supreme Court bench wearing the look of one who is saying, please let me alone. I walked into the Supreme Court room in the Capitol, and seeing Hughes in his accustomed place the third seat to the right of Chief Justice White, I wondered if Old Public Clamor (or is it the clamor of politics?) would finally get him to leave the least criticizable seat in the government for the one most critized.—Art Young in the March Metropolitan.

GEOGRAPHY AND THE GERMAN MIND.

"For many centuries the Briton has regarded his boundaries with comfort. The contemplation of that 'silver streak,' the sea, has made him serene. Gone from him was the fear of the foreign enemy. Hence he could look out for himself, wrest liberties from his own rulers that he might be freer to live his own life in his own way, which is the great object of democracy. Meanwhile, during all these centuries, the German has been taught by the sure and merciless teacher, experience, to look upon his open-landed boundaries with horror, for across them at any time might come the invading and desolating enemy.

"Since he could not, as did the Briton, look to the facts of geography for protection, he had to band himself into governments that were strong, not free; governments that protected rather than emancipated. The thousand castles on the German hills have been the home of an aristocracy that was revered and obeyed by the dwellers in the villages below because, through governing aristocracy came the only protection that was to be had from a multitude of enemies who had a habit of coming from anywhere. Thus, while authority was hateful to the Briton, because it had no good reason for being, the German came to be grateful for it, because it was a by-product of the all-important protection. Through centuries of necessity he has become respectful and submissive to the defensive group. That is the stuff of which such organization is made."—J. Russell Smith, in the March Century.

CHILD LABOR IN YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD.

"How much child labor is there in your town? Do you know?" Helen Dwight asks.

"Do you know what legal right the small boy on the corner has to sell you a paper? Is he a licensed vender? Is his schooling going on in spite of his selling?

"Do you know how many children work in factories or stores or offices in your town? Do you know during what hours they work? Do you know how many children work at fruit stands, in bowling alleys, at soda fountains, as messengers, as delivery boys?

"Do you know how your state child labor law is enforced? How your juvenile courts enforce it? Do you know whether the factory inspector, board of education, or superintendent of schools issues work permits in your town? Do you know what a work permit looks like?

"Child labor has come to be too much an abstract problem with us," Miss Dwight points out. "We are apt to regard it as a Cause—something uplifting, and worthy, but remote from us. We may believe in the principles of child labor reform, but we are not likely to apply them to the children who live about us."—The Living Church.

DECISION RESERVED IN AMERMAN WILL CASE

Somerville, Feb. 25.—Judge Daniel H. Beekman heard testimony yesterday in the matter of a caveat filed by Mrs. Margaret Scully against the probating of the will of Alvah Amerman, her grandfather. Mr. and Mrs. Urish Coleman, whose names appear on the will as witnesses, testified that when they signed their names as witnesses, that the deceased had not signed the will in their presence. Mrs. Scully, the nearest living relative, was cut out of sharing in the estate, which is estimated to be between $30,000 and $40,000.

After several attorneys, representing interested parties, had cited different cases bearing on the action involved, the court reserved decision. John P. Reger is counsel for Mrs. Scully.

AUNT OF MURDER SUSPECT ELOPES

Mrs. Tetoflea Sulocka Alleged to Have Departed With F. Wilchenski Taking $800.

Somerville, Feb. 25.—Added interest has been given to the recent arrest of Felick Garginski and John Szuboy by Mrs. Tetaflea Sulocka, aunt of Garginski eloping with Frank Wilchenski, a few days ago at Bound Brook. Garginski and Szuboy were arrested at 216 Talmadge avenue, Bound Brook, for the murder of S. S. Parker, a farmer of Trumbull, Ohio.

The Sulocka woman on the morning of the elopement gave her nine-year-old son to a friend of Wilchenski and later met them at the Bound Brook railroad station, where they boarded a train for Boston, Mass., and on the way was met in the Grand Central station, New York city, by Wilchenski. The woman's son was wearing a small silver watch which had been owned by Parker, the murdered man.

Szuboy was to have married a young girl of Bound Brook, but was arrested before the ceremony was performed. This girl came to Somerville and notified the prosecutor's office of the elopement, and it has been found that Garginski had given his aunt, Mrs. Sulocka, between $600 and $800 to keep for him. This she took, leaving a letter telling that she was going away with a man whom she felt would be a beter husband that the one she had, because he would not drink all his money up.

The Ohio authorities charge Garginski and Szuboy with murder and robbery as it is said that Parker had a large sum of money at the time he was murdered.

Mrs. Sulocka and Wilchenski did not go to Ohio on their elopement, as stated by another newspaper.

The prosecutor's office is taking steps to furnish the Trumbull, Ohio, police authorities with the true facts relative to the evidence found here.

"Stirring news" today—war news, local news, store

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The Junior Class will present "The Deacon's Entanglement" in the early part of April. Tryouts were held yesterday and today to decide upon the cast. Miss Irene Duschesne, head of the English department, will coach the young thespians. The proceeds of the affair will be used to give the members of the graduating class the customary banquet.

Mr. Earley has been making the chapel exercises more attractive since it became compulsory for every member of the Senior class to appear on the platform and give a selection. This morning LeRoy Adams and Earnest Pruden gave a brief talk, dealing with the question of "Preparedness."

The quartet, which has not appeared before the high school for a long time, will be heard soon. Helen Thompson, soprano soloist, is also rehearsing some selections.

The question now uppermost in the minds of the Seniors is that of "Senior Essays." Before graduating, each member of the outgoing class is compelled to write an essay on some topic.

Mr. Earley will announce the winner of the prize essay on "International Conciliation" soon. Only members of the Senior class participated, they being Emily Pleydell, Sherman Chandler and Lawrence Robinson.

Only a few girls of the high school are preparing essays on any historical subject relative to the war of the Revolution. A prize of five dollars has been offered by the Daughters of the Revolution for the best composition on any one of these numerous topics.

The recent basketball games between the faculty and pupils, and the girls' and boys' alumni teams were an overwhelming success financially. The proceeds amounted to $135, of which $125 will be turned into the treasury of the Boys' Athletic Association.

'WETS' AND 'DRYS' IN A MERRY FIGHT

Revive Camp Meeting Law to Block Liquor.

HAS MILE RADIUS CLAUSE

Tabernacle to Be Erected and Evangelistic Campaign to Be Launched. Prospective License Holders Buy Up Building. For Hotel and Saloon Sites at Fancy Prices.

Pennsgrove, Feb. 25.—By organizing and incorporating the Pennsgrove Camp Meeting association the "dry" forces here have dealt a "sockdolager" to the "wets," making applicable to Pennsgrove a state statute which prohibits the sale of intoxicating liquor within one mile of a duly organized and incorporated camp meeting association.

Having purchased the carnival grounds, the camp meeting association has put the entire borough within the one mile radius, and by holding two camp meetings, one on the borough's southern boundary, it could extend the one mile radius that distance in Upper Penn's Neck township. Since the Du Pont villages are private property the "wets" cannot invade them.

Credit for this strategy is given S. Rushing Leap, attorney for the "drys," who filed articles of incorporation at Trenton.

President Ballard of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting association assisted him. The Pennsgrove Camp Meeting association was organized ten days ago, but the "wets" did not know that the project was "loaded." All the Protestant churches will co-operate. A tabernacle seating 1,700 will be erected, and a union evangelistic campaign will be opened.

It is said the "wets," thinking they would obtain liquor licenses easily, have bought buildings and land for hotels and saloons at fancy prices.

French's hotel was a "bonanza" until closed. The property was estimated to be worth $30,000, and it was stated the liquor license was capitalized at $70,000. The license was rescinded last fall.

The "wets" were encouraged when Magistrate Duffy was granted a wholesale liquor license, but his license was speedily rescinded, as his judicial position barred him.

Renewed activity was exhibited by the "wets" last month, twelve liquor license applications being filed in the Salem county court by Pennsgrove speculators. Since the coup of the "drys," it is said, the applicants will have no standing in court.

Tomorrow---Last Saturday in the "Half-Price Days" Closing The February Sale of FURNITURE

It will be a great day for home-makers.

We have arranged to facilitate family parties by putting the furniture at half price in groups fronting the Ninth Street elevators. You will be able to see it quickly. You can make your choice without delay.

There Will Be

Hundreds of pieces of furniture for all rooms; Furniture Wanamaker-selected and guaranteed; Each piece at half its normal this-season price.

And There Will Be

Thousands of other pieces at 10 to 40 per cent. less than normal prices; all that remains of the great assemblage of furniture—nearly one million dollars' worth—with which we began this Sale.

Many Hopes Will Be Realized.
Many Difficult Problems Will Be Solved.

We cannot give specific details of the furniture at half price. The pieces are but one or two of a kind. People are buying today. But there are hundreds of pieces. There will be plenty of half priced furniture for Saturday.

Prices will go back up to normal on all the furniture remaining on our floors next Tuesday evening, the end of February—the end of the February Sale of Furniture.

"A Week-End Box of Flowers!"

I do not know when a small thing has given me so much pleasure as a "Week-End Box of Flowers," from Wanamaker's, which arrived yesterday afternoon," writes a woman.

"First of all" she continues, "the packages were unusually attractive—a gray box tied with a flat, gray string—and as carefully put up as any I ever had from anywhere. The contents were the prettiest of surprises. Fresh roses, tulips, pink carnations, some yellow jonquils and narcissus, an immense bunch of frezias, with asparagus thrown in. When I rang up to thank my friend, she said it cost $1.

"I have paid a $1 for not so many frezias alone.

"Each one was fresh and strong stemmed. They are still in perfect condition in a steam heated apartment on a cold day; which is a good test."

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

THE PRESS' SPECIAL OFFER TO PLAINFIELD

THIS is one of our big achievements, of which we are justly proud. Every reader of this paper—yes, every family in the city and in its environments—can this year enjoy either of these two nationally famous magazines, or both of them, with this paper, for but little more than the price of the paper alone. These two great magazines with approximately 1,500,000 subscribers, are known and loved the whole country over. At 15 cents a copy, $1.80 a year—$3.60 for the two, purchased by the month—they are unquestioned leaders in their respective fields.

How We Did It

We went to the publishers of these magazines and told them about this city. How its population has increased! How its wealth has increased! How its trade has increased! How its bank clearings have increased! We showed them how desirable it was for them, and for their advertisers, that they should have a large circulation here! Then we showed them how this paper was the one paper in this city to make this offer, and how we knew that the citizens of this city would welcome this opportunity enthusiastically.

Woman's Home Companion

Splendid Serial Novels Woman's Home Companion is famous for the excellence of its fiction, particularly its full-length serial novels. There will be at least four novels this year, by Margaret Deland, Fannie Heaslip Lea, and others of equal power. Hundreds of thousands will later pay $1.50 each for them, when they are published in book form, but readers of Woman's Home Companion will have had them first.

Fifty Splendid Short Stories By distinguished authors whose work you are always eager to read, will fill the pages of the Companion. Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, William J. Burns (the great detective), Zona Gale, Mary Heaton Vorse, Juliet Wilbor Tompkins, Grace S. Richmond—these are only a few of the popular favorites whose stories will appear during the year.

The Finer Things of Life Inspiration, ideals, culture, the things that lift us above the commonplace and the monotony of living—these have an important place in the program for 1916. The Rev. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson has prepared a series of intimate sermons for the Companion family on the duties and privileges of family life and the real meaning of family ties.

Laura Spencer Porter will help those who love pictures and want to know the best. Anne Bryan McCall, in The Tower Room, will continue her popular department for girls.

The New Fashions Fashion's new ideas, the chic touches that distinguish the smartly dressed woman of Fifth Avenue will always be found first in the Companion. Grace Margaret Gould, the Companion Fashion Editor, keeps her readers in constant touch with the great creators of fashion in Paris and New York.

For the Little People The Cherubs are coming! The cunningest, funniest little people you ever saw—drawn and versified by Olive Rush. Also stories, puzzles and prizes, plays for school and nursery, plans for kites, aeroplanes and boats, doll dressmaking lessons—all kinds of things to interest and amuse the little Companion readers.

Helpful, Home Departments The Companion is famous for its practical departments. Every month it offers new ideas for cooking, for serving, for entertaining, for fancy work. Hundreds of ideas every month! Practical, really helpful ideas. Companion readers find these departments most valuable.

The American Magazine

aims to be, and is, a magazine for the whole family to share, each with the other—full of the new things, the interesting things, this month, next month, every month!

George Ade
William Allen White
Ellis Parker Butler
David Grayson
Ida Tarbell
John Sharp Williams
Ray Stannard Baker
Hough Fullerton
Stephen Leacock
John Taintor Foote
Walter Pritchard Eaton
James Montgomery Flagg

These, and scores of other favorites, will contribute the timely and interesting articles, the stories, the striking illustrations, the departments. You will find The American Magazine always full of the things you are interested in; the things you want to read about.

The Effect of the War on America New industries have been created; old industries have been given new life; new cities have sprung up full sized in a month; men have become millionaires over night—these are some of the effects of the war on America. These articles tell a wonderful story of problems met, difficulties overcome, and successful achievement. They give a splendid, true picture of the war industries, the war fortunes, and the men that made them.

Being Better Business Men An intensely interesting series of practical, back-bottom articles about the Retail Business, Real Estate, Advertising, Selling, and other important lines of business. Other articles for young men will take up the problems of young men—going into business in his own town; going into business with his father; going to the large city. It will be a very interesting and really valuable series.

Stories—Short and Long There is always a generous measure of stories in The American Magazine. Stories of city life; of country life; home stories; dog stories; love stories and adventure stories—a real feast of fiction. Important, too, no suggestive or unclean story has ever found its way into The American Magazine. Its stories are wholesome and cleverly told, that the whole family can, and does, enjoy.

The Big Saving

If you bought either of these magazines by the month you would pay fifteen cents for it. If you bought both of them you would pay thirty cents. One magazine purchased this way for the year would cost you $1.80. Both magazines $3.60. Our plan will give you the magazines each month by mail at your home, promptly on publication date for but a few cents more than this paper alone would cost. It is a big, big saving in convenience and in money.

PORTUGAL SEIZES 36 TEUTON SHIPS

Action May Bring Her Into the War.

ONE HAD MADE ITS ESCAPE

Confiscated Vessels May Be Used as Transports — Capture Made Under Guns of Portuguese Warships in the Tagus River at Lisbon — Throngs Cheer Action.

ZEPPELIN CAPTAIN'S LAST THOUGHTS OF HIS FAMILY.

Copenhagen, Feb. 25.—A farewell message from Captain Uhl of the Zeppelin L-19, wrecked while returning from the last raid on England, was picked up in a bottle by the Swedish vessel Stella and brought here.

"Expect to be drowned," wrote the Zeppelin commander. "Defective motor. Finder please tell wife and little boy goodby."

Loss of the L-19 was admitted by the German admiralty. The English trawler King Stephen encountered the wrecked airship drifting in the North sea a few hours before a heavy gale that presumably sent her to the bottom.

London, Feb. 25.—Portugal now faces a declaration of war against her by the central powers as a result of the seizure of thirty-six interned Teuton vessels in the Tagus river at Lisbon by Captain Leotte Rego, commander of the Portuguese naval division.

One report stated that Captain Rego acted entirely on his own responsibility in the matter, while another states that he was carrying out an official decree of the government.

Captain Rego directed the capture of the steamships from the deck of the destroyer Guadiana. Under the guns of two Portuguese vessels he gave the crew of each steamer three hours to leave the vessel. The Portuguese flag was hoisted on the ships after they had left, and the Portuguese war vessels fired a salute of twenty one guns.

If the action of Captain Rego has the sanction of or was executed at the direction of the Portuguese government it is thought probable that the central powers will immediately declare war on Portugal.

It is reported that Foreign Minister Costa announced that the vessels were confiscated for use as Portuguese transports and that the cause of the action was the possibility of their dashing out of the river to the open sea to be one sea raiders or supply ships. The minister also said, according to reports, that the interned German steamship Odenfels had escaped from Funchal, Madeira Island.

Crowds in Lisbon hailed the seizure of the vessels with the greatest joy, and throngs in front of the government buildings cheered the action. Besides the popularity of England and France, the feeling in favor of the allies is intensified by the fact that last summer two Portuguese ships were sunk by a German submarine.

JACK JOHNSON TAKES A HINT

Will Sail For South America, He Announces In England.

London, Feb. 25.—The authorities suggested to Jack Johnson that his room is more desirable than his company. It has been made clear to the negro prizefighter that if he does not leave voluntarily he probably will be deported. Johnson took the hint and announced that he will sail on March 3 for South America.

SEEKS WOMAN ABSCONDER.

Morristown Sleuths Off to Florida to Get Mrs. Buck.

Morristown, N. J., Feb. 25.—Detective Edward Brennan started for Jacksonville, Fla., with extradition papers for Mrs. Margaret Keller Buck, who was arrested there. She had confessed to embezzling funds from the Common Sense Suspender company of this city. A shortage of $8,600 has been discovered.

RELIEVE CARRANZA LEADERS.

Orders New Campaign to Run Down the Elusive Villa.

El Paso, Feb. 25.—As a result of the reported failure of the Carranza generals in northern Mexico to capture or make any headway in their campaign against General Francisco Villa a general shakeup is ordered among the commanders of the north.

PARENT-TEACHER ASS'N TO GIVE MUSICAL COMEDY

The North Plainfield Parent-Teacher Association are planning to give a musical comedy entitled "The Army of the Reformed Republic," at Columbus Hall on March 6, 1916, at 8 o'clock. The entertainment consists of songs, marches, dances, stories and tableaux given by the children and students of the North Plainfield schools. After the program, there will be dancing.

The proceeds are for the purpose of obtaining funds to place a victrola in the schools of North Plainfield to assist in the musical education of the pupils. This manner of education is becoming an established feature in many of the schools of the state. The price of tickets for the entire entertainment and privilege of dancing is nominal, and the Parent-Teacher Association is extending every effort to make the affair a success.

PRACTICE COTTAGES IN HOME ECONOMICS

They Are Now a Prominent Feature of Current Progress in Education.

Housekeeping cottages, in which the students obtain actual practice in household work, are a prominent feature of current progress in home economics, according to a report issued by the Department of the Interior through the Bureau of Education.

"The practice house is as distinctly a legitimate part of the equipment for teaching home economics as the sewing machine, ironing board, or individual desk with its cooking utensils," declares the report.

"Home economics departments in schools and colleges are not all so fortunate as to have residences in which to instruct in home management and in house-wifery. There has been some hesitancy among school officers because of the initial expense of a practice house. But as it is recognized that these houses are quite as necessary as are good laboratories and that the maintenance costs are not excessive, more departments are being thus supplied. These houses offer opportunities for experimental studies in household administration, make practice in home furnishing possible, and afford excellent places for studies in nutrition."

The report shows that home economics is now a recognized course of study in all agricultural colleges to which women are admitted. Thirty-one state universities offer regular courses in home economics, and most of the private and denominational colleges and universities now offer similar instruction. So important has the subject become in state public-school systems during the past two or three years that now practically every state normal school has a course in home economics for prospective school teachers.

Summer schools are coming to play an especially important part in home economics teaching. The Bureau of Education received announcements from 192 schools that were offering courses during the summer of 1914; in 1915 the number reporting had increased to 230, and a still further increase is already assured for 1916.

Twenty-three states report an outline of lessons in home economics for state-wide use. A state manual of study for the public elementary schools of Alabama contains an outline for lessons in cooking and suggestions for the teaching of sewing in the grades, with lists of equipment and references for domestic science teachers in the grades. In California each county or city board of education prescribes its own course of study in home economics. An outline for a course of lessons in home economics has been prepared for the common schools of Illinois. This is made use of particularly in the rural schools. The domestic science section of the high school conference of Illinois has recently completed a comprehensive outline for lessons in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades, thus taking an important step in helping to unify the courses offered in home economics below the high school.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Just as an instance of the carelessness of legislators in drafting bills, Assemblyman Pancoast has put in a measure to put the Tenement House Commission out of business in second-class cities by providing that the duties now performed by the commission in second-class cities "shall be vested in the Board of Health and cities of the first class." The bill is not only vicious, but worthless, yet it is good compared to some other measures out of which no sense can be made. Having abolished the position of bill adviser, the lawmakers seem to have become more reckless than ever before about the work they perform.—Nwark Evening News.

D. A. R. FORM A "RED WHITE AND BLUE CLUB"

Mrs. Charles R. Banks, regent of Continental Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, organized a club this week for patriotic education, formed among children of the Protestant Italian Mission. The Rev. Mangoine was made honorary president, and sixteen children were enrolled as members. The name adopted is "The Red and Blue Club," and the motto chosen is "Our Country and Our Flag." Each child was given a copy of flag rules. Many children were prevented from being present on account of illness, and it is expected that at the March meeting the number of members will be doubled.

SIGNALS AT FAULT, PROBERS ARE TOLD

Often Disregarded by Trainmen, Witness Testifies.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 25.—Testimony that extra passenger train No. 5 on the New Haven railroad ran by at high speed a signal set at "caution" against it just before it plowed into the stalled Connecticut River express in Milford was given at the joint hearing of the interstate commerce commission and the state public utilities commission.

One of the witnesses said this running past signals was "a common occurrence." Further testimony was to the effect that a third man was in the engine cab of the extra train with Engineer W. R. Curtis and Fireman McGinnis, which is contrary to the rules.

Other evidence adduced was that the signals on the stretch of track involved in the disaster were in good working condition before and after the accident.

However, it was testified that there were complaints of the failure of the signal system to work properly, these averaging about one a week. In most of these cases the signal was set at "danger." In five or six instances, it was testified, since the installation of the system signals have shown what is known as "false clear."

Do You Want a "Guest-Tenant?"

When you rent a room of your home to someone, you secure a "guest-tenant." Your "roomer" is a guest of your house, on a business basis—but still a guest, somewhat in touch with your home, and this makes it highly important that the person should be of the right sort.

In advertising a furnished room it is a simple matter to indicate that the tenant-to-be must have reasonably convincing credentials as to character. You will thus have applications from a desirable class of people while a door sign or window card would merely bring to you the chance passer-by.

FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

The Unexpected Valentine

OF course, valentines would scarcely be valentines unless they came unexpectedly; there must be something delightfully mysterious about them—particularly as to who sent them—to make them real valentines. And so it was with a gorgeous, lace-paper one, bearing a bleeding heart, which arrived for Mary Ellen on the morning of St. Valentine's Day.

It came in a large, square envelope and was addressed very plainly to Mary Ellen. She opened it in one corner of the living room, while her little sister, Jane, watched with breathless interest.

There was another interested watcher, too, though neither of the little girls knew it. He was Tommy, their brother; and Tommy was peeping around one of the portieres, his ears propped wide open, as the saying is—to hear what he might hear. Also, he was chuckling to himself in high glee.

"Oh! Isn't it a beauty!" cried Mary Ellen. "I wonder who sent it."

Jane was so interested that she stopped looking at one she herself had just received. "Ain't there any name? Or an initial?" she asked hopefully.

"No, Jane. I've looked in every corner and even on the envelope."

Then she remembered and added "D n't say 'ain't,' Jane—you must remember. Who do you suppose sent

There was another interested watcher, too.

"Maybe it was Arthur Thomas?" Jane suggested.

"Oh, no! I already have his—he had his initials in the corner."

"Well, then, Willie Smith?"

Mary Ellen seized the envelope and scanned the writing closely. "No," she said presently, "It isn't Willie's handwriting. We know how everybody in school writes and—and I don't believe this came from—"

"Frankie Brown! Frankie Brown!" chirped Jane, dancing triumphantly up and down.

"Jane! Of course not!" Mary Ellen's tone plainly indicated how absurd she considered Jane's guess. And well she might, too, for it was well known that Frankie Brown had no use for girls. He just hated them! He sent a valentine? Ridiculous!

"It's his writing! It's his writing!" Jane persisted. "He sits in front of me at school, and I guess I see him write a—a—a million times every day!"

But Mary Ellen refused to be convinced. She knew that Frankie would as soon throw five cents into the street as to spend it for a valentine for a girl.

Just then Tommy came walking into the room—boldly, noisily and fairly aching to be consulted about the mystery. He had not long to wait, either.

"Who do you suppose sent me this valentine, Tommy!" asked Mary Ellen.

Tommy took one look, and declared promptly, "Frankie Brown! I'd know his handwriting anywhere. Yes, sis, it was Frankie!" Then Tommy grinned. "Um-m-m, I bet the fellers'll laugh when they hear about it!"

But Mary Ellen refused to become indignant. She had always disliked Frankie because he was so rude to girls, and she didn't care if the boys did tease him about sending her a valentine. But, somehow, she couldn't quite make up her mind that he had sent it.

Both she and Jane tried to think of every boy they knew who could possibly have sent it—but always there remained the fact that it was Frankie's writing on the envelope. And so, as the day wore on, the mystery still remained unsolved.

The next day, during recess, Mary Ellen could stand the suspense no longer. So she watched her opportunity, just before the bell rang, and walked boldly up to Frankie.

"Did you send me a valentine yesterday, Frankie?" she asked.

Frankie stared at her in amazement. He was speechless; he just stood and stared and stared. Presently he recovered his wits. "I should say I didn't! Huh! Me send a valentine! To a girl!" And what scorn he did put into that word "girl!"

Mary Ellen wanted to turn and flee; but she stood her ground bravely. "Look—look at this envelope, Frankie; is this your writing?"

Frankie took it gingerly from her, a sneer upon his face. Suddenly he started and looked more closely at the envelope. "Gee!" he cried. "Where'd you get that? What makes you think—let me see that valentine!"

Mary Ellen handed it to him. He glanced at the big red heart and his own cheeks turned almost as red. Then he read the lines about "sugar" being "sweet, and so are you." His eyes flashed; he was mad. "You just wait 'til I get hold of him! You just wait! No I didn't send you that valentine! Of course I didn't! You must think I'm crazy!"

All of which puzzled Mary Ellen very much. Somehow, she didn't believe that Frankie had been telling the truth. He didn't deny that it was his writing on the envelope—and yet he did deny that he had sent the valentine. Now how could that be accounted for? There was something strange about it all.

That evening there was great excitement in Mary Ellen's home. Tommy, her small brother, came running in, crying at the top of his lungs. He was a sight, too. His face was dirty, his clothes soiled and stained with dirt and—there was a big lump on his forehead.

Frankie Brown, he bawled, had been beating him. Yes, Frankie jumped on him as he was coming home from school and had gotten him down on the ground and pummelled him and—and—and the rest of it ended in tears.

Mamma went straight over to see Frankie's mother. And there, from Frankie himself, she learned the whole story. Tommy, it seemed, on the day before St. Valentine's Day, had asked Frankie to address the envelope to Mary Ellen. And Tommy had explained that he wanted to send her a "comic" valentine in it; one that made fun of her "pug" nose and her "taffy" hair. If he addressed it, Tommy explained, Mary Ellen would recognize his writing. So—so—well, Frankie "just hated girls" and he was willing.

And there you were! The mystery was solved! And Tommy? Why, you may be sure that next St. Valentine's Day Master Tommy will not try to play any pranks on Mary Ellen!

The Comic Valentine

EMMA SMITH had only one rival for the number one seat in the class, and that was Goldie Long. Goldie was the daughter of a poor woman, and many a day she had to stay at home to assist her mother, who was not well. In spite of this handicap, the girl was one of the two best pupils in Miss Gladys's class, and both teacher and girls not only admired her for her efforts but liked her for her personal charm. There was one girl in the class who secretly disliked Goldie, because of her poverty and her brightness, and this one was Emma Smith.

"It isn't fair," she confided to her chum one day, "that Goldie should stand the same show as we. She's away half of the time, and—"

"Why that is all the more reason Miss Gladys should be more lenient with her, she has fewer advantages than we both in school and at home, and she stands entirely on her own merit."

"I think Miss Gladys shows partiality toward her," said Emma bitterly.

"Emma I'd like to agree with you, but I admire Goldie too much to be unjust to her even for your sake," answered the chum.

"She has bewitched you all," answered Emma, turning away, and to herself she murmured, "I'll find a way to get even with her yet."

That day the principal of the school announced that a prize was to be given in each class to the girl who would write the best composition on the "Life of George Washington."

Then as she held up the offending valentine a hush fell over the class.

"These essays must be original," continued the Principal, "and must be handed in, neatly folded in envelopes addressed to your teacher, at least one week before Washington's birthday."

Several girls remained after school that day to discuss the subject, among whom were Emma and Goldie, and Emma for the first time openly showed her dislike for the poor girl. During the following week the composition, and the prospective prize-winner, were much talked about, and Goldie hurried to her home daily after school hours, and devoted the time that she was not helping her mother to the writing of the precious manuscript.

The day after the essay was completed and carefully gone over by Goldie was St. Valentine's Day, and as Goldie entered the little stationery store near the school to purchase an envelope for the composition, she saw numerous valentines displayed in the show-case, among them was a comic one about a girl who, like Emma, was envious and selfish.

"Why that verse suits Emma exactly," thought Goldie, "I think I'll send it to her just for a joke. She's been awfully mean to me this week, and I haven't done a thing to her." To the saleswoman she said: "Please let me have that scarecrow valentine, and two manuscript envelopes," and to herself she thought "I hope she'll never find out that I sent it or there'll be war even worse than in Washington's time."

She neatly addressed one of the envelopes to "Miss Gladys" and the other in a disguised hand-writing to "Miss Emma Smith" and was just about to place each enclosure in its appropriate envelope, when Emma Smith walked into the shop. Goldie turned scarlet, but simply said: "Good morning Emma." In her confusion she put the wrong papers in the addressed envelopes, and thus it happened that Miss Gladys found, much to her chagrin, among the papers left on her desk that morning a highly colored and offending valentine.

When the class came to order, she said: "I am gratified that so many of you have tried for the prize; today the time for handing them in expires. Tomorrow they will be handed over to the Principal, who will award the prize on Friday next." Then Miss Gladys, in a voice that betrayed how hurt she was, spoke of the insulting valentine. "I do not know whether this was meant for a joke," she said, "but I must say that it grieves me that one of my girls could show so little respect for me." Then as she held up the offending valentine a hush fell over the class. Goldie hung her head in shame. She loved her teacher, and would not wilfully have hurt her for the world—and she realized that her precious essay was in Emma's hands.

Goldie was mistaken in this. Emma no longer possessed the composition for as soon as she realized the mistake Goldie had made she felt that her turn had come to "get even" with her rival. She knew that Goldie wrote a better essay than she, so she extracted the slip of paper with Goldie's name and substituted her own. The moment the envelope had been handed to Miss Gladys, Emma repented of the dishonest thing she had done, but she lacked courage to acknowledge her guilt, and trusted to luck to help her out of the predicament. After school that day Goldie gave a satisfactory explanation of the valentine to her beloved teacher, ending with "Emma Smith must have my essay. Shall I ask her for it?"

"No, I would rather she would give it to you of her own accord," said Miss Gladys, "but—"

"I have a rough copy of it at home, and I'll hurry and rewrite it and bring it along this afternoon."

Next day the Principal addressed the school: "It is now my pleasant duty to announce the names of the prize-winner in each class, but before I do so I want to call the attention of the school to the best, and at the same time the worst composition of all, and I hope the girls whose names I shall mention will be able to make a satisfactory explanation of the mystery. In all my experience I have never heard of two girls writing a long essay in which the phraseology was exactly the same throughout; yet Emma Smith and Goldie Long have written such papers. Of course one of them has copied from the other, and I want the guilty one to make a clean breast of it."

As the girls arose, Miss Gladys came forward and explained: "Goldie wrote the essay, but through an unfortunate occurrence a copy of it fell into Emma's hand. I am sure," she added, trying to shield Emma, "Emma did not realize the full import of the wrong she was committing, when she signed her name to the composition and handed it in. I have no doubt that she will be able to explain the matter satisfactorily to me after school."

The prize was then awarded to Goldie, and none were more sincere in their congratulations than Emma, after she begged the poor girl to forgive her. She did more, for she made a public apology, and so righted herself with her class, and she satisfied Goldie, for they became fast friends, and have remained so until this very day. Goldie was also taught a wholesome lesson, namely—not to send any more comic valentines.

Sweet Bettina's Valentines

AS Bettina—Sweet Bettina they called her because it suited—turned in at the entrance to the drug store, so did Roy. It might have been a chance meeting; but it wasn't. For Roy had seen her come out of her house and had timed his progress down the street so that their paths would cross just at the drug store door.

Tomorrow, you see, was St. Valentine's Day, and Roy was eager to find out, if possible, what would please Bettina most as a valentine. He hoped to gain this knowledge without her knowing that he intended to send the "valentine" to her; and yet he wanted also to arrange it so that, when the chosen article did arrive, Bettina would "think back" and remember that she had expressed a liking for it before Roy and, therefore—he must have sent it! All of which, as you can readily see, was a rather large undertaking for one small boy!

Sweet Bettina stood with her adoring gaze fastened upon the stack of boxes.

Enter also, a moment later, both into the story and into the drug store, young Tommy Banks. Tommy, too, alas, was minded to send Sweet Bettina a valentine; and he, also, was desirous of finding out what would please her. But he was not nearly so bold as Roy. Or, rather, while he was not quite bold enough to manage to meet Bettina at the drug store he was sufficiently bold when the time for action came—as you shall presently see.

"Hello, Roy," said Sweet Bettina, as that young gentleman stepped forward quickly and held the door open for her to pass.

"'Lo, Bettina," he replied; and then added, quite without reason since it was perfectly apparent, "Are you going in the drug store?"

"Yes. My Mamma sent me for ten cents worth of quinine pills and two stamps. What are you going for, Roy?"

"Oh, nothing; just looking around," he replied. Which reply seemed to puzzle Sweet Bettina very much.

Just as the clerk handed her the purchases, Roy exclaimed, "Oh, Bettina, look at these pretty valentine candies over there in the case! Let's go look at them and—"

But he did not finish the sentence. For there, on the other side of the store, stood his rival, Tommy, pretending to be much interested in the tall racks upon which the monthly magazines were displayed. Roy was not deceived; he knew that Tommy was watching them out of the corner of his eye.

Even when they approached the glass case in which the valentine novelties were on display, well within earshot, Tommy pretended not to see them. His ears, though, you may be sure, were "propped wide open."

Roy decided to ignore him—even to try and forget he was there. So he called Sweet Bettina's attention to a box of beautiful red candy hearts down in one corner of the case, in the hope that she would fail to see Tommy.

"Aren't they pretty?" he said. "If I was a girl seems to me I'd lots rather get a candy valentine, or something like that, than one of those paper ones—wouldn't you, Bettina?"

Bettina would. There was no doubt about it. She hastened to point out the fact that all you could do with a paper valentine was to look at it. But a candy one—a nice box of candies, for instance, with a pretty valentine verse printed on the top of the box, why—why that kind could be eaten!

"Look at the little Cupids!" she exclaimed presently, her gaze wandering to the top of the case. "Ain't they cunning? And I guess they are filled with candy! Oh, I do wish—"

But this proved to be a sentence that Sweet Bettina didn't finish. And, mind you, just when Roy had decided that one of those candy Cupids would be just the thing to send her!

"Um-m-m-m-m!" Sweet Bettina cried out joyously. "Oh-o-o-oh, Roy! Look at those great big boxes of candy—and only forty-nine cents! See, right on top here, right next to the Cupids. A whole stack of them! And aren't they pretty boxes! Why I could—I mean a girl could keep her ribbons and handkerchiefs and—and buttons and—and slate pencils and lots of things in them after all the candy was gone!"

Bettina, I'm afraid, for all her sweetness, was a rather forward grasping little minx. Don't you think so?

Poor Roy. His heart sank into his boots, as the saying goes. Forty-nine cents! Why, that meant every penny of his allowance for the next two weeks—ten trips to the moving pictures, or five glasses of soda water and goodness knows how much candy at "two for a cent." Forty-nine cents! Whow!

Sweet Bettina still stood with her adoring gaze fastened upon the stack of boxes.

And Roy stood looking sadly down at the showcase, deep in his somber thoughts. Suddenly he was aware of someone behind him. He turned quickly and beheld—Tommy.

He scowled at Tommy and Tommy scowled at him. But by the time Sweet Bettina turned the faces of both boys were wreathed in smiles.

"'Lo, Tommy," she said with a merry nod of her flaxon curls.

"'Lo, Bettina," that young man replied. "Ain't they cute little Cupids?"

Bettina elevated her eyebrows the fraction of an inch. "Yes," she answered in a doubtful tone, "but—but just look at those boxes of candy, Tommy! My, they're—they're scrumptious!" And she gave him her sweetest smile. Then, as though she knew her purpose was accomplished she added, for no apparent reason, "My Mamma sent me to buy ten cents worth of quinine pills and two stamps—and Roy helped me buy them. Goodness, I must hurry! Mamma said for me to come right back."

Both little boys walked to the door with her, and Roy escorted her clear to her front gate. Tommy turned in the other direction; but a minute later he was back in the drug store again.

And he departed with a package under his arm.

Ten minutes later Roy returned; and he, too, left bearing a parcel nicely wrapped in clean, white, shiny paper.

• • • •

The next afternoon Sweet Bettina was out taking the air, with several of her girl friends. She, too, carried a parcel under her arm. But it wasn't wrapped in paper and, besides, every now and then it was taken out from under her arm and the top removed and—she and each of the little girls helped themselves to another piece of the delicious confections within. It was a box of the Fotry-nine Cent candy!

Presently, as they strolled along, they met Roy. He was promptly invited to regale himself with a piece of the candy. He did so, proudly, happily, and with a knowing little smile which Sweet Bettina returned in full.

It was his candy, his valentine—and she knew it was! Roy felt very elated. But being on an errand for his Mamma he had to leave shortly, and the girls continued their walk.

In a little while they met Tommy. He, too, was asked to take a piece of the candy. And he, also, felt proud and happy and smiled knowingly at Bettina, receiving in return a pleased little smile which seemed to say, "I know you sent me this beautiful box of candy, Tommy, and it is a mighty nice valentine." Tommy was indeed happy.

"Humh!" said Roy to himself as he walked along. "I'm glad I didn't send her one of those cheap old fifteen cent candy Cupids! I bet Tommy did!"

"She certainly liked it," mused Tommy as he continued his journey. "I guess Roy must have sent her one of those cheap fifteen cent candy Cupids. And I just guess she liked mine the best!"

Bettina—Sweet Bettina? Why just about then she was saying to her little girl friends, "Oh that's all right—have some more. I've got another whole box at home that hasn't even been opened yet!"

OUR PUZZLE CORNER

FRACTION PUZZLE.

I am composed of ten letters and divided into five parts.

THE TAILLESS FOX.

A FOX had met with a sad mishap
By losing his tail in a hunter's trap;
For he had been as proud and vain
Of the brush he carried for his train,
As an Arab Sheik with a yellow sash,
Or a cavalryman with gay mustache.

Henceforth the fox was in disgrace,
Coming in any public place;
Their elders of course were more polite,
But the "little foxes" laughed outright.

One day he thought, "I'll remove this ban
By carrying out a foxy plan;
Playing a trick of the human race;
Though I've lost my tail, I'll save my face."

He made a wide convention call,
To bring together the foxes all.
Said he, "My friends, we may learn of man,
Mistakes that are made in nature's plan.
Men trim their heads and shave their faces,
Adding to all their finer graces.

While we poor foxes, custom-bound,
Carry our cumbrous tails around;
Hideous, nothing fine about them;
Better off we were without them.

I move for a barber-shop vulpine,
Where one with razor bright and keen
Shall amputate our brushes neatly,
And make a fashion new completely."

A smile with a wink went 'round the ring.
And a fox who might have been their king,
Said "Little you'd care for a fashion new,
If you had your tail where once it grew."

SPURNS $40,000 AS "TAINTED"

Woman Who Makes $300 a Year Refuses a Fortune.

CALLS HER UNCLE A MISER

Says He Made the Money by Grinding the Poor and She Cannot Reconcile Her Principles to Accept It—Recluse Had No Love For Any One and Had Never Extended a Helping Hand.

In a boxlike little room in Greenwich village, in the heart of New York city, Miss Edith Kitching is working away cheerily. The apartment is her workshop, living room and kitchen combined.

On the floor in one corner is a pan of apples. A trunk, a bookcase and a few articles of furniture almost fill the room. Against the wall are a couch fashioned of rough pine boards and the blankets which go with it to make a bed.

The little woman's hair is streaked with gray. She wears a simple poncho of heavy gray material and sandals. She must be forty or more, but her freshly colored face is young.

And this is the woman who turned down $40,000 left by a recluse uncle because it was "tainted." She has absolutely and finally refused to touch the money, preferring to live according to her principles and within the limitations of a $300 a year income.

The "second floor front" at No. 24 Bank street, where Miss Kitching lives, is far from palatial. But Miss Kitching forgot her surroundings while she told about her life work and why she had to spurn the money which would keep her in comfort.

Uncle Died Last November.

The money was left to her by Francis F. Ripley, an uncle, who died Nov. 11 at No. 80 State street, Brooklyn. It was not left by will, but by assignments. The rest of the recluse's $200,000 fortune was left to friends and Brooklyn institutions.

"There is nothing unusual about what I have done," said Miss Kitching. "I could not take the money and preserve my self respect. So I have placed the whole estate in the hands of a trust company.

"It is a long story. My uncle was a coward and a miser. He lived by himself, and never in his life did he ever show any love toward any human being. For forty years he worked as a clerk in the Bank of New York and hoarded his money. He denied himself all pleasures in order to save every cent. He was the worst type of miser it is possible to meet.

"Three times in his life he was engaged to be married. Each time the engagement was broken. But the women kept their holds over him, and that explains the assignments to the charitable institutions. He never cared a whit for any of them. His life had no charity in it. It consisted in grinding down every one with whom he came in contact.

Tells of Her Life Work.

"As for me, all my life has been devoted to one work, the education of the working classes. I was a pupil of Thomas Davidson, the great educator. I worked with him for eight years. Since I was three years old I have traveled over every continent of the globe. I just returned from Europe a few months ago.

"Could I reconcile my principles to accepting this money under such disgraceful conditions? I don't see how. If the money had been willed to me I would have used it to make reparation for some of the wrong which my uncle did. I should have had it all for this purpose.

"He was too cowardly to do that. He had no love for me or any one else. I am writing a book, and $300 a year isn't much, but I much prefer that to his money.

"My teacher, Thomas Davidson, in one of his books said, 'Do not pursue wealth, position or popularity.' I am following out that dictum in my life. I hope some day to start a real university where working people can be educated. The present colleges are not democratic; they are aristocratic in every sense.

"That is my only thought. I have forgotten about the money. I don't care what becomes of it."

And Miss Kitching went back to her writing in her boxlike room.

FIND AN ANCIENT FORT.

Yale Archeologists Bare Old Ruins In the Andes.

An ancient fortification, declared to be more remarkable from an engineering viewpoint than the pyramids of Egypt, has been discovered in the Andes, according to G. W. Monkill, a member of the Yale and Geographical society expeditions to Peru.

Mr. Monkill said the archeologists had discovered apparent evidences of a pre-Aztec civilization which flourished about the eighth century.

Excavations made forty-five miles from Cuzco, Peru, revealed the fortification. It is an enormous edifice, Mr. Monkill said, composed of stones weighing thirty and forty tons, which had been transferred from a quarry across a river and carried up a steep mountain side.

Executor, Administrator

Guardian, Trustee

WHY A CORPORATE EXECUTOR

When an individual acts as executor age may impair the faculties, ill health may impair the judgment, financial reverses may impair the sense of honor.

The trust company as executor becomes more efficient with time, it cannot be incapacitated by illness, its affairs are in the hands of trained officials whose acts are subject to State supervsion. This Company's fees for acting as executor are the same as those allowed an individual.

REJECTED LOVER SHOOTS WOMAN

Fires Three Shots Into Sweetheart's Body Then Turns Gun on Self.

BOTH ARE NEAR DEATH

Claude Bebb, of Virginia, Jealous of Plainfield Rival—Iona Hunt, the Girl Victim, Was His Sweetheart in the South.

After coming from Louise, Va., to Plainfield, in quest of Iona Hunt, his former sweetheart, Claude Bibb, a dapper colored youth, yesterday afternoon found that her love had grown cold in the northern clime, following an argument in her home, 250 East Fourth street, shot her three times through the breast and then sent two bullets into his own stomach. Both were removed to Muhlenberg Hospital in the ambulance, and will probably die.

According to eye-witnesses of the act, Bibb had evidently carefully planned the murder and suicide, having become enraged over the girl's expressed love for another. Mr. and Mrs. George Gilbert and the latter's sister, Mrs. Edward Turner ,were nearby when the shooting occurred, but were powerless to prevent it, so deliberate and surprising was Bibb's action.

Those who are intimate with the girl told Police Captain Flynn that she came here from Louise, Va., some time ago, having held an acquaintance with Bibb in the South. When she returned to her native home for a visit recently, her former suitor renewed his attentions and followed her North, arriving in Plainfield last Wednesday, one day later than Miss Hunter. He made his presence known to her and pleaded for his former place in her heart. All of his attempts at lovemaking, however, gained him nothing, and when he called late yesterday afternoon he was evidently prepared to kill her to foil his rival, and at the same time to sacrifice his own life.

The couple engaged in a heated conversation which led up to a boisterous demonstration by Bibb. As he pulled the gun from his pocket the girl turned to flee through the open door, but he fired three shots in rapid succession and all entered her breast. Before the witnesses could reach him he turned the gun on himself and sent two balls into his body. Fatally wounded, the girl victim ran to a store in the front of the house ,where she collapsed. He was thirty-three years old and the girl was twenty.

COMPANY K OBSERVES 15TH ANNIVERSARY

Local Militia Organization Has Made Good Record During Its Existence.

Company K, Second Regiment, of this city, is fifteen years old today, the organization being formed in the building at Park and North avenues, now occupied by W. N. Runyon and V. W. Nash, Jr., attorneys. General Quincy O'M. Gillmore was in charge of the institution of the company which started with a membership of fifty-four. The present membership is sixty-two.

The company has had the following captains in their order: W. Kempton Browning, Major William B. Martin, Harry B. Kitchell, who died last night, and the present head, Charles A. Peterson. A. R. Phillips and J. B. Conklin are now lieutenants of the company.

During its existence the company has made a fine record, especially on the rifle ranges at Sea Girt. It has furnished many officers for the regiment as follows: Lieut.-Col. W. B. Martin, Battalion-Adjutant A. I. Littell, Battalion Quartermaster A. R. Pearsall, Battalion Surgeon W. Kempton Browning and Sergeant-Major C. H. Bilyeu.

KLOVER KLUB DANCE.

The Klever Klover Klub, of Dunellen, held its second dance of the season in Debele's hall last night. The affair was well attended, fully seventy-five couples being present. The music was furnished by an orchestra from Bernardsville. Everything went off in a very orderly fashion, and C. L. Wahl, Jr., the chairman of the committee in charge of the affair, expressed himself as being highly gratified.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE.

The last quarterly conference of the Grace M. E. church was held last evening, the district superintendent, Rev. F. J. Hubach, presiding. The business of the year was concluded, preparatory to making a general report to the annual conference to be held at Newark on July 29. The congregation invited the pastor, Rev. C. S. Gillespie, to return for another year.

PARENTS OF GIRL.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scott, of Stebbins place, are the parents of a girl, born to them Wednesday morning.

CAPT. H. B. KITCHELL DIES IN ELIZABETH

Former Head of Co. K, This City, Passes Away in the Hospital.

Harry B. Kitchell, aged about 40 years, formerly of this city, and for several years captain of Co. K, Second Regiment, this city, died in the Elizabeth General Hospital, Elizabeth, last night. His illness began on December 15 last with an ulcerated tooth. Later he underwent an operation, but the infection spread and on January 1 he went to the hospital.

Captain Kitchell, who was born in Brooklyn, came to this city about eighteen years ago. He was in the employ of the New York Telephone Company for nearly twenty-eight years. He was in a charter member of Co. K, organized here in 1901, and soon afterward was elected commissary sergeant. In 1903 he was made second lieutenant and in 1907 was elected captain, which office he held until 1910. A year later he was transferred to the captaincy of Co. F, of Elizabeth, remaining at the head of the company to the time of his death. He had a large circle of acquaintances with whom he was popular.

There survives a wife and five children, a father, Hudson Kitchell, of this city, and two brothers and two sisters. Notice of funeral will be announced later.

"HORA NOVISSIMA" TO BE SUNG BY CHURCH CHOIR

The oratorio, "Hora Novissima," which the Crescent avenue church choir will render tomorrow afternoon at 4:45 o'clock, was written and performed in 1892, by the Church Choral Association of New York city. It came from the versatile pen of Horatio W. Parker, an American composer and organist, who was born in Massachusetts in 1863. He studied music in Boston and Munich, Germany, and in the latter town his first work of importance, "King Trojan," was produced. He has written many works, both sacred and secular and his very latest triumph was winning, in 1915, with his "Fairyland" opera, the $10,000 prize at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Dr. Parker was professor of music at the Cathedral School of St. Paul, Garden City; organist of Holy Trinity church, New York city; of Trinity church, Boston, and is now professor and head of the theory department of Yale University.

CHAPLAIN HARE ENTERTAINS SPANISH WAR VETERANS

The members of Ensign W. Bagley Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, of this city, together with some of the State officers, were guests last night of Rev. J. Madison Hare, the chaplain, at a social gathering in the parish house of the Baptist church, Scotch Plains. During a brief business session arrangements were made to participate in the parade in connection with the State Letter-Carriers' convention on May 30, and also in a big parade in Newark on June 10.

During the evening bowling was one of the features, Major Hall, Col. Martin and Commander O'Keefe making high scores. Refreshments were served and before the guests departed they voted Mr. Hare a fine host.

FUNERAL OF WM. WESTERVELT.

The funeral of William Westervelt, who died in Muhlenberg hospital, Thursday morning, at the age of 82 years, was held at 402 Park avenue, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, where Mr. Westervelt attended service, officiated, in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends. Numerous handsome floral tributes were extended, several of them being handsome set pieces from former business associates of the deceased. Burial was made in the Bound Brook cemetery.

PARISH SUPPER.

A parish supper will be given under the auspices of the Woman's Guild of Grace P. E. church, on Wednesday night, March 1, at 6:30 o'clock. The supper will be served in the parish house. Members of the congregation expecting to attend are requested to notify the secretary, Mrs. Sykes, 312 East Seventh street, on or before Tuesday morning, February 29. After the supper, Mrs. Lewis will speak of the work of the Girls' Friendly Society, and Mrs. Simons on the social service work in the church.

MRS. WEBLEY'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Webley was held in St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock this morning. A requiem mass was said by Father Bogan in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends. Burial was at St. Mary's cemetery.

FINED $2 EACH.

Martin Denlinger, of Westervelt avenue, and William Shean, of Park avenue, were arraigned in the city court this morning to answer to a charge of rowdyism alleged to have been committed on a trolley car on February 19. Both were found guilty and fined $2 each.

MRS. ABBIE FOSTER IS 93 YEARS OLD

Aged Plainfield Woman Receives Many Congratulations—Reception Held.

Mrs. Abbie L. P. Foster is today celebrating the ninety-third anniversary of her birthday, and this afternoon an informal tea and reception will be held, when the aged woman will entertain a few neighbors and friends from Newark. Since yesterday Mrs. Foster has been constantly receiving postal cards and other congratulatory messages, all of which she is enjoying.

Mrs. Foster in spite of her advanced years is wonderfully active, doing all her own work. She is particularly keen on current events and especially interested to know whether President Wilson will be re-elected. She believes that his second marriage will interfere with his political aspirations. Mrs. Foster does not wear glasses, and her only trouble is deafness.

Mrs. Foster was born in Bank street, Newark, where the Prudential Insurance Company building stands and she lived in the same house for sixty years. She is the daughter of the late Aaron Price, and the wife of the late Aaron Foster. She removed to Plainfield three years ago and has since been living with her son-in-law, J. W. Dickinson, and his two children, Miss Edith M. Dickinson, a former teacher in the high school, and John A. Dickinson.

YOUTHFUL BURGLAR HELD FOR GRAND JURY ACTION

Despite the fact that his accuser, Mrs. Frederick Lanning, of 1341 South Second street, withdrew her charge of larceny, seventeen-year-old James Fosbre, of 661 Essex street, was held to await the action of the Grand Jury by Mayor Leighton Calkins, acting as judge in the city police court this morning. Fosbre pleaded guilty to the complaint, confessing to the theft of $20 from Mrs. Lanning's home on Tuesday last. When the case was called the youth was not represented by counsel, but Francis J. Blatz, who happened to be in the courtroom at the time, offered to defend the prisoner.

Mr. Blatz made an earnest plea for clemency, citing the fact that the youth had heretofore borne a good reputation and that he was supporting his mother with the money he earned as a mason apprentice. He was arrested while working in a house on West Front street, Wednesday afternoon, by Captain John J. Flynn. Fosbre was told at the time of his arrest that if he would restore the money he would not be prosecuted but up to yesterday morning he stoutly maintained his innocence. Under the circumstances the court had no other alternative other than to hold him for the county courts.

PASTOR'S AID SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

Officers for the Pastor's Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church were elected as follows: President, Mrs. W. H. Sadler; first vice president, Mrs. Beebe; second vice president, Mrs. H. M. Boice; third vice president, Mrs. Randolph; treasurer, Mrs. A. V. Searing, Jr.; secretary, Miss Linda Cave.

Owing to the small attendance at yesterday's meeting, due probably to the inclement weather conditions, the reading of several of the annual reports was postponed until the next monthly meeting. The reports submitted yesterday were indicative of the successful work accomplished by the society during the past year and prospects are bright for an even more prosperous ensuing year.

BOROUGH COURT CASES.

Eugene McKenna, of 198 Grove street, was arrested last night on a non-support charge preferred by Overseer-of-the-Poor Fred Becker. He will have a hearing Monday.

John Comisky, aged 23, of Plainfield, was fined $10 by Recorder Hand this morning on a disorderly charge. Charles Scheurline, aged 22, of the borough, was fined $5 on a similar charge.

SAME OLD STORY.

Miss J. C. Thompson, of West Front street, lost a hand bag containing money and advertised the same in the Daily Press. Russell Coddington found the bag, saw the advertisement in the Press, and returned it to Miss Thompson, from whom he received a reward.

WOMAN TO PREACH HERE.

Rev. Elizabeth Padgham, of Rutherford, will conduct the service and preach at the All Souls church tomorrow morning at 10:30 in an exchange with Rev. Mr. Baltzly, the pastor. Miss Padgham has been the minister of the Unitarian church of Rutherford since 1905. She is a graduate of Smith college.

WHO'S THE PRETTIEST GIRL IN PLAINFIELD?

One of Uncle Sam's Lovesick Sailor Boys is Looking for This Miss.

Who is the prettiest girl in Plainfield? This is the biggest problem of the day with Postmaster A. E. Hoagland, who has in his possession a postal card addressed to such fortunate individual. Besides suggesting that the Queen City has a "prettiest girl" the souvenir card also indicates that at least one of Uncle Sam's sailor laddies hasn't a girl in every port. A middie signing himself as "S. V. White," is stranded in Canton, China, and evidently longing for the winsome American girl, has sent the following lovesick missile to the Plainfield postoffice:

"I am a lonesome sailor on one of Uncle Sam's gunboats out here in China. Would be glad to exchange cards with anyone who cares to answer this. (Signed) S. V. White, U. S. S. Callao, Hong Kong, China."

Just why the homesick sailor boy should single out Plainfield as a place for a possible "catch" is another thing that is troubling Postmaster Hoagland's mind, but the latter is going to do his best to locate the Plainfield miss with the prettiest eyes, the most winsome ways, the best curved mouth, the most stylish gowns, the daintiest feet, the loveliest hair and the "bestest" qualities that go to make up the ideal American beauty. Furthermore, Mr. Hoagland declares he is competent to judge beauty and the twenty-six mail carrier Appollos will probably not even be consulted in the making of the award.

The postal bears the marks indicating that it was actually started on its journey in far-off China. The sender has neglected to say whether he favors Nell Brinkley's style of beauty or is partial to Charles Dana Gibson's models. He places complete confidence in Postmaster Hoagland's ability to pick him out a peach and as an employe of Uncle Sam the postmaster believes it is his duty to do all in his power for the other Red, White and Blue employe.

The fact that it is Leap Year affords the Plainfield girl who has for her ideal the sailor suited gunboat hero an excellent chance to nab this foolish youth and it goes without saying that there'll be plenty of aspirants to the prettiest girl title when Mr. Hoagland starts on his inspection rounds.

PERSONAL TAX LIST WILL BE ADVERTISED

Assemblyman Runyon's Bill is Signed by Governor and Now Becomes a Law.

Trenton, Feb. 26.—Governor Fielder yesterday afternoon signed Assembly bill No. 62, by Mr. Runyon, of Union county, as amended, providing that in all second-class cities the tax collector, or other officer charged with the duty of the collection of taxes, shall annually publish a list of all delinquents for personal taxes and the amount due from each one. The list must be published in the month of April in a daily newspaper published in the city. A second publication shall be made two weeks after the first one, omitting the names of those who have paid their tax in the interval. The act allows ten cents per name for each insertion of the notice, this amount to be added to the tax. The publication of such a list in first-class cities is already provided for.

The Runyon act also carried another amendment to the tax act, providing that on or before the first Tueusday of February annually the collector of each taxing district except cities shall file with the county clerk a list of all unpaid taxes assessed the preceding year on real estate, arranged alphabetically or by the block system, with his affidavit attached, that it is a true and complete list. It is provided that when the list is so filed it shall be constructive notice of the existence of the tax lien for two years.

FUNERAL OF MISS CONNOLLY.

The funeral of Miss Isabelle Connolly, who died yesterday morning at her home at 89 Jackson avenue, the borough, was held at 402 Park avenue, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The service was in charge of Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, and burial was in Hillside cemetery. Miss Connolly was about fifty years old and had resided in the borough for many years. She had no local relatives.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY.

Charged wita two offenses, both of a serious nature, Joseph Gasparro, an Italian, was arraigned before Mayor Leighton Calkins in the city police court, and held in bonds of $200 for the grand jury.

CHARMING PROGRAM OF RUSSIAN MUSIC

Mme. Nina Dimitrief to Be Soloist at Notable Concert in High School.

Mme. Nina Dimitrieff and the Russian String Quartet will present a delightful program Monday afternoon, March 6, in the Plainfield High School Auditorium, under the auspices of the Monday Afternoon Club. The numbers will comprise a choice collection of Russian music. In addition to the famous soprano soloist, the artists secured for the occasion are the members of the stringed quartet of the Russian Symphony Orchestra.

Mme. Dimitrieff will sing Russian songs in Russian costume. Only a true Russian can feel and portray realistically the songs of that country, and now that America has become so keenly awakened to and so deeply interested in the musical art of that country, it is believed that the people of Plainfield will take advantage of this opportunity of hearing one of the best Russian female voices—a voice full of strength and beauty with a rare clarinet quality.

The stringed quartet furnish a charming program, and it is the opinion that the afternoon will prove a real delight to all music lovers. The doors of the auditorium will be open at 3 o'clock and the concert will begin at 3:45.

DR. ZELIE TO PREACH ON "JESUS AND THE TREASURY"

The attendance of all members of Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church is requested tomorrow morning, February 27. Dr. Zelie will have for the subject of his sermon, "Jesus and the Treasury," and will speak upon the plan of systematic benevolence which is to be carried into effect throughout the church this year. About five years ago the church adopted the systematic giving plan and is entering this year upon an every-member canvass as is being done by so many thousands of churches at the present day.

On the afternoon of March 5, Sunday, every house will be visited by teams of men workers in behalf of the missionary and benevolent work of the church. On that afternoon all the families of the congregation are asked to be at home both for that purpose and for the purpose of the evangelistic census of the city.

FRIENDS ARE OPPOSED TO INCREASED ARMAMENT

Much has been said and written in favor of a tremendous increase in the army and navy. The Religious Society of Friends everywhere believe that the country is facing serious perils in being stampeded into militarism in the guise of "preparedness."

The local Friends are planning two lectures to be given at the Friends' meeting house on Sunday afternoon, March 5 on the "Limitation of Armament," one by former Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer, of North Plainfield, and the other from the Friends' point of view, the speaker to be announced later. The public is cordially invited to this meeting.

PLACES FOR MEETINGS TO BE DESIGNATED BY A FLAG

The cottage prayer meetings to be held in connection with the Biederwolf Campaign will begin next Tuesday evening. The city has been divided into seventeen districts and one meeting will be held in each district on Tuesday and Friday evenings for the first three weeks of the campaign. The homes where meetings are held will be designated by white flags. Each superintendent will have three assistants.

About thirty superintendents and assistants were present at the meeting last evening at the campaign headquarters and encouraging reports were received. Superintendents who have not yet secured the white flags should call at the campaign headquarters at once. The places where the meetings are to be held Tuesday night and the leaders will be announced on Monday.

MEN'S CLUB SOCIAL.

Under the auspices of the Men's Club of Grace church, there will be a social gathering at the Park Club on Tuesday evening, February 29, when the members will entertain their friends. The evening's program will include bowling billiards, etc., and refreshments will be served under the direction of a committee. The members are privileged to invite their friends and an enjoyable evening is promised.

PRESENT YOUR BILLS.

All persons having bills against the city are requested to be in the hands of the city clerk by Monday night.

Belgian Relief Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the Plainfield Belgian Relief Society on Monday, February 28, at 10:30, at 996 Hillside avenue. No postal cards will be sent out. 2 25 2 ***

MRS. LINDA ROLL LEFT LARGE ESTATE

One-Third of Residue Bequeathed to George J. Roll, a Son, of No. Plainfield.

New York, Feb. 26.—An appraisal of the estate left by Mrs. Linda Roll, mother of George J. Roll, of North Plainfield, the report of which was filed in the surrogate's court today, shows that when she died in New York on May 22, 1914, she left $37,696.10, comprising real estate, bonds, mortgages, jewelry, cash and bank stock.

Charged up against this sum are expenses of funeral, administration, etc., bringing the estate down to the net figures of $55,798.41. The estate is distributed as follows:

Charles Spear Roll and John Belzer Roll, of North Plainfield, and Edwin Roll and Carlton Roll, of Brooklyn, grandchildren, $250 each; Ella V. Belzer, of New York, a niece, $3; Emily T. Roll, of Brooklyn, a daughter, $21,964.80, and one-third of the residue, $16,266.80; George J. Roll, of North Plainfield, and Theodore E. Roll, of Brooklyn, sons, who are executors, each one-third of the residue, $16,266.80. Emily T. Roll, the daughter, nominated as co-executrix, declined to accept the position.

DOUBTED WIFE'S WORD AND GOT INTO TROUBLE

Because he doubted his wife's word, and then found that his doubts held water, John O'Neill, of Elizabeth, got into a peck of trouble here yesterday afternoon and finally landed in a police cell. Arraigned before Mayor Calkins in the city police court this morning, he said that his wife had left her home in Elizabeth Thursday afternoon, leaving a note saying that she was going to the movies.

O'Neill has suspicions to cause him to think otherwise, however, and he came to Plainfield, seeking his better half at the home of Mrs. John Parker Hill, 439 West Front street. He created such a rumpus in the Hill home that he was ejected and arrested. In court this morning Mrs. Hill withdrew her charge of disorderly conduct against him, and he was allowed to go on a suspended sentence, providing that he would steer clear of Plainfield in the future when in the trouble-making mood.

FUTURE OF BOARD OF TRADE TO BE DISCUSSED

The monthly meeting of the Board of Trade will be held Wednesday evening, March 1, in Exempt Firemen's Hall, when the question of continuing the organization will be discussed. In a letter to members requesting their presence at the meeting, Lamar VanSyckel, the secretary, invites an expression of opinion on the subject. He says that it is felt that the board can be of much benefit to citizens and the city and have a good effect on other municipalities.

Mr. VanSyckel adds that for the past few months the members have shown little interest in this organization and not attended the meetings. He believes that a city the size of Plainfield should be able to support an organization of this kind and make it a success.

"HUMAN PROPELLED BICYCLE" HELD UP AT THE PLAINS

"The Human Propelled Bicycle," alias George C. Moore, stopped long enough in his wanderings at Fanwood last night to get twisted up with the minions of the law and this morning continued his journey to Elizabeth, where he will sojourn for ninety days at the expense of the county. Marshal Logan picked him up early in the evening at the railroad station and arraigned before Recorder Charles Sheelen.

The man said he haled from Cleveland, O. He was making himself generally disagreeable when the marshall happened along. In answer to queries put to him by the chief, Moore said he was traveling from nowhere to nowhere. When searched at the borough lockup he had a collection of newspaper clippings, lawyers cards and some of his own announcing himself as the original "Human Propelled Bicycle."

GERMANS TAKE FORT DONAMOUNT

Important Position Taken After Fierce Hand to Hand Fight in Snow Storm.

FRENCH OPTIMISTIC

Removes Chief Obstacle to An Advance South of Ornes—Heaviest Guns of French Army Defended Fort.

Berlin, Feb. 26.—German troops have smashed a hole in the ring of forts defending Verdun, capturing Fort De Douamount, four miles northeast of the city itself. Fort De Douamount is three miles southeast of the Ridge of Louvement, to which position the French retired on Thursday night. It was captured by storm. The capture was made by the Twenty-fourth Regiment of Brandenburgers, who, despite the hurricane of shells and the galling fire of scores of French machine guns, rolled forward in an irresistible wave. In a hand-to-hand combat in the works the Germans drove their way to victory with the cold steel. Fort Douamount was regarded as one of the strongest of the twenty-one forts which guard Verdun. The charge which resulted in the fall of Fort Douamount was made in a blinding snowstorm, following a bombardment of the works by great 15 and 17-inch guns.

The capture of the fort opens the way for an advance against its sister works, Fort Beleville, Fort St. Michel and Fort Souville. It was built of steel, stone and concrete, and was defended by some of the heaviest guns possessed by the French army. This means a gain of approximately two more miles of ground for the Germans and removes the chief menace to an advance south of Ornes, for the sweeping plain south of that town was protected by the fort's guns.

French Still Hopeful.

Paris, Feb. 26.—The following official communique was issued by the French War Office today:

The battle is continuing in the region to the north of Verdun, where the enemy continues to direct his efforts against the front on the east of Meuse. According to the latest reports our troops are resisting in their same positions the repeated assaults of the enemy, who no longer counts his sacrifices.

In the region of Beaumont the combat has assumed a character particularly sanguinary. On the Woevre front the advanced forces which we had held at the line of observation from Ornes to Henemont since the fighting of last year, have been withdrawn from the base of the Meuse Heights on the order of their commander, and without any attack from the enemy. Our artillery on the right bank and the left bank of the Meuse is responding without cessation to the enemy's bombardment. There is nothing to report on the rest of the front.

150,000 Germans Lost.

Paris, Feb. 26.—According to reports received here, 150,000 Germans lost their lives during the first four days of fighting in the vicinity of Verdun. The Germans appear determined to take Verdun, formerly the key to the French front, and the fighting compares in fierceness and losses to the battle of Yser. It is the opinion of the French that the battle may continue a fortnight.

Place Big War Order.

New York, Feb. 26.—It was officially reported this morning that Gaston, Williams & Wigmore, Inc., who, during the past year, have been purchasing motor trucks for the British government in this country have again placed large orders for trucks for the English government amounting to several million dollars.

Vessels Requisitioned.

Rome, Feb. 26.—Thirty-five German and Austrian vessels, which took shelter in Italian ports when the war began, have been requisitioned by the Italian government.

British Steamers Lost.

London, Feb. 26.—The loss of three British steamships, with thirteen lives, was reported at Lloyds today. The Southford was sunk in the North Sea, and four of her crew drowned. The Denaby is another whose crew, however, was rescued. The Tunnel, a third steamer, sank Thursday. Seven of her men are missing. Of five others landed, two died.

Lansing Makes Statement.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Secretary Lansing made it clear today that there was no present reason why the American government should not discuss the submarine decree with Germany. He said the United States would never consent to discuss the principle involved, but that matters of detail might be the subject of correspondence. He indicated that he was hopeful, and also that there is little likelihood of the United States and Germany going to war over such a minor matter as the question of what calibre of gun constitutes defensive armament.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dildine are the parents of a nine pound girl.

Wesley Hughes, who was injured while coasting down the mountain on Washington's Birthday, has returned to his duties in the office of the International Motor Company.

The condition of Contractor Joseph Tetlow, who was taken ill ten weeks ago, is much improved.

MOTOR BOX ABLAZE.

The 2 o'clock car from Plainfield was halted in front of Voorhees' market yesterday afternoon with its motor box ablaze. It was backed up in front of Waller's garage, where the flames were extinguished with water obtained from the road. Another car shortly came down from the car house and pulled it there for repairs. The fire was caused by a defective wire.

ENTERTAINMENT AT "500."

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Carpenter entertained the following guests at "500" last evening: Mr. and Mrs. William R. Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cutter, Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Tingley, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Almy, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Deaken, Dr. and Mrs. Bertram Olcutt and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac P. Runyon, all of Plainfield, and Mayor and Mrs. E. B. Latham, Councilman and Mrs. E. M. Jones, Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Platt and Dr. and Mrs. H. Tuttle, of this place.

GUEST AT BANQUET.

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Giddes, who are spending the week-end at Atlantic City, stopping at the Hotel Traynor, will attend a banquet this evening at that hotel.

TO VISIT ALMSHOUSE.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Presbyterian church and the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church will pay their monthly visit to the almshouse tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Tinsman, who had planned to move on Monday from the Amos Stites house on Front street, near Rock avenue, will remain where they are for the present.

Edward Pennock, of Philadelphia, is spending the week-end at his home.

Harry S. Titsworth, the manager of the Union Pacific Tea Company, is ill with grip.

E. P. Beck, of Brooklyn, executor of the estate of T. W. Mathews, was in town yesterday.

The Dunellen and New Market Sabbath School Union will hold a rally in the First Baptist church, New Market, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Frank Broshart and son, Lloyd, have returned from a visit to Red Bank.

MANY ATTEND DANCE.

A dance was given in Friendship Hall last evening by a number of the young men of the village, Mrs. Rene P. F. Von Minden being the patroness. Music was furnished by piano and victrola. Lemonade was to be had throughout the evening. Among those present were: Emily Piddington, Lydia Haight, Hazel Piddington, Lillian Johnson, Olive Lawrence, Gladys Haight, George Nelson, Fred Von Minden, Clifford Nagle, Fred Coriell and Charles Lawrence.

Miss Ethel Conover will spend tomorrow in Brooklyn.

Miss Estelle Tomlinson has the measles.

The Rev. T. E. Vassar will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist church as usual tomorrow. In the morning his subject will be "The Greek's Request." An illustrated song service will be held in the evening.

'Plains & Fanwood.

Great interest has been manifested during the week in the meeting of the Men's Forum to be held at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, in the Parish House, and it is expected that many will attend it to hear the discussion on the subject of "Borough Incorporation," especially as the result of the meeting may determine whether or not the 'Plains is to become a borough. William H. Hoar, Mayor of Fanwood, and Dr F. V. Wescott, another man prominent in borough affairs, will both speak on the subject, as will probably several others who will be present at the meeting. The residents of the Willow Grove section of the township are especially urged to be present and express their views for or against such a movement.

Guy B. Dushanek, a former local resident, but of late living in Westfield, died Thursday night in Galveston, Texas, after an illness of four weeks with typhoid fever and the grip. He was born in Somerville twenty-two years ago, and during this time his father was local agent of the C. R. R. of N. J. for five years, preceding the present agent. He made many friends. During the past summer he had been living in Atlantic City, and last fall he went to Galveston. His mother left her home in Westfield last Wednesday and arrived at the bedside of her son just before his death. Besides his parents, he is survived by three sisters and a brother. The body is to be forwarded to Westfield, and the funeral services will be held from his parents' home in that town Monday.

The Rev. J. Madison Hare will unite with many other Baptist ministers in the observance of tomorrow as Education Sunday.

G. Dana Townsend, superintendent of local schools, has announced that the vacancy as teacher of the 2-B grade of School No. 1, caused by the resignation of Miss Stiles, has been filled by Miss Johnstone.

The number of local men enrolled in the Westfield Lodge, Royal Arcanum, has been nearly doubled of late through the efforts of Charles Sheelen, and is larger than when there was a local lodge of the order a number of years ago. The recorder is one of the oldest members of the Westfield Lodge, and in the membership campaign now being conducted is among the leaders in the point of members secured. In the last campaign he received one of the prizes, and this time expects first award.

Anthony Albert, the local contractor, has practically finished the erection of a two and a half story dwelling on Russell road for George Palcanis. The plans were drawn by Mr. Palcanis himself, who is an architect, and resulted in one of the most picturesque of local residences.

Edmund Garabrandt, a local youth of sixteen, is an inmate of Muhlenbergs Hospital.

Usual services will be held at the Episcopal church tomorrow: Morning service at 11 and Sunday-school at 10, with the Rev. O. S. Michaels in charge.

Captain Hatfield, of the hook and ladder company, will match his bowling team with the team from bucket and engine company on the Parish House alleys, Tuesday evening, March 1.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Plainfield People Know How to Save It.

Many Plainfield people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a Plainfield citizen's recommendation:

Mrs. Anthony Wahl, R. F. D. No. 1, Plainfield, says: "I had such distressing pains in my back that I could hardly stand, and it was out of the question for me to stoop. I was all crippled up and I knew perfectly well that my kidneys were the cause of the trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me almost immediate relief, and three boxes changed me from a chronic sufferer to a healthy woman. I still take Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally when a cold settles on my kidneys, and they act as a preventive of any serious trouble."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Wahl had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buuffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Watchung.

Rev. Mebane Ramsay will have charge of the morning service at the Wilson church tomorrow morning, and Richard L. Kortkamp, of Hillsboro, Ill., will conduct the evening service.

"How to Put the Bible Into Life," was the topic for last evening's Christian Endeavor meeting. The leader was Miss Adele Hermann.

The Ladies' Aid Society, of the Wilson church, is making plans for an ice carnival, weather permitting, to be held on Burnhead Lake, Tuesday evening, February 29.

The misisonary committee, consisting of Marie Murell, Ruth Kennedy, and Dorothy Hermann, led the Junior Christian Endeavor meeting yesterday afternoon.

The Board of Education held its monthly meeting last evening in the Watchung schoolhouse. The annual budget was made out and a total of $3,500 for current expenses was thought to be necessary. The reason for the increase is the increased rates of tuition, more pupils attending school and transportation.

Mrs. Anna H. Ogilby, of Staten Island, is visiting Mrs. Anna Underhill.

WILL GIVE A DINNER TO SENATOR JOHN R. WEEKS

Former Councilman George P. Mellick, of East Seventh street, will give a dinner at his home Monday evening in honor of United States Senator John R. Weeks, of Massachusetts, who is being prominently mentioned as a prospective candidate for the Presidency on the Republican ticket.

Covers will be laid for forty, and the guests will include those prominent in local, State and national affairs. Mr. Mellick and Senator Weeks are close personal friends and the affair is given as an opportunity for Jerseymen to meet the latter.

Applicants will receive notice stating time and place of examination.

OUCH! LUMBAGO! RUB PAINS FROM SORE, LAME BACK

Rub Backache away with small trial bottle of old, penetrating St. Jacob's Oil.

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back and out comes the pain. It is harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had a backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.

HIS LOST PRACTICE.

Trials of a Congressman In Taking Up His Old Profession.

In the American Magazine is an interview with a member of the United States house of representatives, who tells of the almost impossible barriers between him and his old profession, the law.

"After I had been in congress a couple of terms I decided that I would be happier and that my family would be vastly better off if I were back home practicing my profession," he said. "So after the adjournment of congress I set out to rebuild my neglected law business.

"I was astounded at what a job it was. My practice was not merely run down or temporarily absent. It was gone! Now, I had not yet become a topnotcher in my profession before going to congress. In order to make a comfortable income I had not been able to depend alone on the better grade of legal business, but was obliged to do some of the more trivial work, such as every young lawyer is glad to get. This class of business had gone from me in my absence, along with the rest. And it did not come back because of a reason that I had not thought of. During my terms in congress I had come to be looked upon as an important figure in the community, and everybody regarded me as above such things as performing legal services of a trivial or minor character. Thus I did not get the small business, and the big business was being taken care of by other lawyers who had been constantly on the job."

ANTIQUITY OF THE HARP.

The Instrument Was In Use In Egypt 3,000 Years Ago.

The very first authentic record of the harp, predating even the Greek myth of Orpheus, although it is very hard indeed to assign dates to myths, is obtained from the discovery of Egyptian harps, not unlike the modern in general design, bearing dates of 3,000 years ago, or 500 years before Craftine made his harp of willow. Old Irish chronicles are full of interesting references to the harp and its functions. Let us select the comparatively modern date of 718 A. D.—modern indeed when we consider Craftine, who was a contemporary of Sappho—which contains these lines from a poem describing the tragic death of Curio MacDaire, king of West Munster at the period of the Incarnation. They are addressed to Ferceirtne, the king's chief minstrel:

Make amusement for us, O'Donnbo,
Because thou art the best minstrel in Erinn
At pipes or tubes, and at harps, and at poems,
And at traditions, and at the royal stories of Erinn.

This extract will serve to show the versatility of the harper of the MacDaire. He seems to have taken the place which a whole opera company fills at the present day, including the orchestra and the composer of the music and the writer of the libretto.—New York Post.

The Spinning Mule.

Samuel Crompton, a boy of sixteen, copied the best features of the spinning machine invented by Hargreaves and Arkwright, added to them some of his own and, after three months of anxious and secret experimenting, produced the first spinning mule, so called because it was a kind of hybrid between Hargreaves' jenny and Arkwright's water frame. The raw apprentice lad was, however, no match in cunning for the cotton lords, who soon found out the secret of his new machine and shamelessly robbed him of the fruits of his ingenuity. Many years afterward, it is true, they used their influence to secure for him a parliament grant of £5,000, but he was then a broken hearted and disappointed man, to whom the money came too late to be of any real service.

Alaric the Goth.

Alaric, the first of the barbarian kings who entered and sacked the Eternal City and the first enemy who had appeared before its walls since the time of Hannibal, is said to have received as the price of his departure from the city (during the first siege, in A. D. 408) 5,000 pounds weight of gold, 3,000 pounds weight of silver, 3,000 silken robes, 3,000 pieces of scarlet cloth and 4,000 pounds of pepper. In order to furnish a portion of the ransom demanded by the invader it became necessary to melt down some of the statues of the ancient gods.

ON TO PARIS, IS CRY IN BERLIN

Germans 125 Miles From French Capital.

TEUTON LOSSES ARE HEAVY

French Reports Put Casualties at 150,000 Mark—Truce Is Called In Battle Before Verdun's Mighty Forts For Burial of the Dead—Battle Fought Over Trenches.

London, Feb. 26.—A lull in the battle before the Verdun forts occurred for the burial of the thousands on both sides slaughtered by bullets. Both sides are said to be bringing up reserves. A Paris report places the German loss at 150,000.

Berlin reported the capture of six additional villages in an advance from Beaumont to the ridge of Loudemont, north of the fortress, and the capture of 7,000 additional prisoners. The Paris official statement admitting the German gain said:

Several German attacks with large effectives have been conducted with unprecedented violence on La Cote du Poivre, about four and a half miles north of Verdun, but were without success.

In the region to the north of Verdun snow has fallen in abundance. The activity of the artillery on both sides has continued very intense on the whole of the front and principally to the east of the Meuse, where the fighting goes on with the same tenacity.

The Berlin report says:

On the right bank of the River Meuse our successes previously reported were exploited later in different directions. The fortified villages and farms of Champneuville, Cotellate, Marmont, Beaumont, Chambrettes and Ornes were captured.

In addition, all the enemy's positions as far as the ridge of Loudemont were captured by storm.

The sanguinary losses of the enemy again were extraordinarily heavy, while our losses were normal.

The number of prisoners taken was increased by over 7,000 to more than 10,000.

No information can yet be given with regard to the booty in materials which we captured.

Fate of Paris at Stake.

The German offensive, conducted under the eye of Emperor William himself, is now recognized as probably only the beginning of a determined effort to take the fortress, and its development is awaited with the greatest anxiety. Not since the great allied drive last September, or even withdrawal from the Dardanelles, have bulletins been awaited so tensely.

Something of its importance to England was emphasized by Major General Sir Francis Lloyd, commanding the London district, in a speech delivered at Wimbledon.

Once our allies' line is pierced the way will be open to the French capital, and if that capital is reached a new complexion will be put upon the whole face of the war. A German success on the French front would not merely mean the loss of Paris, but would endanger London as well.

In Paris it is assumed that the battle may continue a fortnight. The calm on the front, it is believed, was due only to the terrific execution the French artillery and machine guns have wrought in the attacking columns. Whole divisions are known to have been destroyed, and these the flower of the German army.

More than 300,000 troops were massed for the assault, which was by storm. These included, it has been learned from prisoners, the famous Third corps of Brandenburg, supposedly equal in valor to the Prussian guard, and the Fifteenth army corps, commanded by General von Deimling, reputed by the French as one of the most brilliant of German officers.

Preparations for the battle were observed early in December, when the first troops assigned to the operation were brought up. Eight divisions which returned from Servia were sent to Belgium for a rest and then transported to the region of Verdun in January. Five army corps in all are known to have been brought up to reenforce two corps which previously held that part of the line between Etain and Vauquois.

Essad Pasha Flees.

Dispatches from Rome and Vienna indicate that the Albanian army under Essad Pasha and the Italian forces at Durazzo will not offer resistance to the Austrians and Bulgarians approaching that port. They are trying to delay the drive on Avlona.

Essad Pasha arrived in Brindisi aboard an Italian destroyer. It is believed he will confer with the Italian chiefs concerning the defense of Avlona.

The Austrian war office issued the following report with regard to the operations against Durazzo, now surrounded from all sides:

In Albania we defeated Italian forces and troops of Essad Pasha near Durazzo and took possession of the last of the enemy positions east of Bazar Syak. An Italian brigade was driven from its main position east of Bazar Syak at the same time.

Intrenchments of the enemy at Sasobianco, six miles southeast of Durazzo, were stormed. The enemy is retreating to the inner line of defenses, pursued by our troops.

MUSIC MASTER DROPS DEAD.

Death Comes as He Asks Permission to Rest In Store.

New York, Feb. 26.—Five minutes after he staggered into the barber shop of Joseph La Rosa and asked permission to sit down a minute, as he felt ill, Ungo Drambilla, a sixty-year-old music teacher, was pronounced dead from heart disease by Dr. Cowett of Bellevue hospital staff.

PLEA OF LITTLE SON OF SLAYER TO TALK WITH DAD AT TRIAL GRANTED.

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 26.—Pleading with the jailers that he be allowed to talk with his father, William, the eleven-year-old son of Jason Haines, who is on trial for the murder of the boy's mother, threw both arms about the man's legs and sobbed pitifully when permission was given him at the superior courthouse.

The child's grief was the most touching incident of the opening of the trial.

Haines, a wealthy farmer, shot and killed his wife last September during a quarrel at their home in Trumbull. He was under the influence of drink at the time, and from the questions put to the jurors it would appear that the defense will be temporary insanity, caused by excessive drinking.

Some seventy-five talesmen were examined before twelve men were selected whose feelings for or against excessive drinking were not too pronounced.

Among the women who presided at the tea tables at a tea and dance given at the Kirkwood Hotel, Camden, S. C., yesterday, was Mrs. J. B. Dumont, of this city.

MUSURGIA SXITEEN TO BE HEARD HERE

Famous Male Chorus to Sing for Benefit of Charity Organization Society.

The concert to be given by the Musurgia Sixteen, the well-known male chorus, for the benefit of the Charity Organization Society, on the evening of March 21 next, is to be popular in its nature. Among the numbers which will be rendered by the chorus is an adaptation of the old negro melody, "Carry me back to ole Virginny," which is described as being one of the most effective male choruses of the lighter sort known. Kipling's superb "Hymn before Action," set to music by Walford Davies, is also to be rendered.

The program will also include a new arrangement of the very familiar "Stars of the Summer Night," and there will be two numbers given by the male chorus in which the soprano soloist, Miss Paula Crosby, will take the incidental solos.

The conductor of the chorus is Walter Henry Hall, who is professor of music at Columbia University, and is also conductor of the Brooklyn Oratorio Society.

The tickets are now on sale at the Charity Organization Society's rooms. The patronesses are:

Mrs. Charles E. Ryder, Miss Elsie Burke, Mrs. Samuel T. Carter, Jr., Mrs. Allan Cowperthwait, Mrs. R. W. Everest, Mrs. George H. Goddard, Mrs. Charles W. HUGH FOX RELEASED PENDING ARGUMENT

Former Plainfielder at Liberty After Spending Night in Pittsburgh Jail.

Habeas corpus proceedings in behalf of Hugh F. Fox, formerly of 508 Central avenue, this city, resulted in his release from the Pittsburgh, Pa., jail, to which he was committed following his refusal to answere questions put to him by Federal Grand Jury. His lawyers furnished bail of $1,000 and he was given his freedom pending the arguments on the writ presented to the court Thursday.

Fox is secretary of the United Brewers' Association and failed to produce certain subpoenaed records of the association's contributions to politics demanded by the Federal Grand Jury. Judge W. H. S. Thomson, of the District Court, ordered his arrest Wednesday last, and he spent that night in a cell. His counsel suggested to the court that Mr. Fox be sent to a hotel in the keeping of a deputy marshal, for whom it was agreed to pay a month's salary in advance, but the court refused to agree to it.

Testimony offered in court showed that all records of the United States and the Pennsylvania Brewers' Associations, previous to January 1, 1916, have been destroyed. This came on the presentment of the Federal Grand Jury asking that three officials of these organizations be declared in contempt of court for failure to produce the subpoenaed records. Denial was made that the records were destroyed after the subpoenaes had been served on February 1.

Mr. Fox is well-known in Plainfield, the family having for many years made their home at the Central avenue address prior to their removal last fall to Riverside, a suburb of Greenwich, Conn.

They must be good, of course—and priced so that the buyers secure bargains. You can sell any article of furniture, any piece of machinery—anything that still has usefulness for the man who has use for it—through want advertising.

COMMITTEE MAKES APPEAL FOR FUNDS

More Money Needed to Entertain Letter-carrier at State Convention.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the annual convention of the State Letter-Carriers' Association in this city, May 30, made the following appeal today:

"Everybody likes the letter carrier. He is the only government employee seen by most of us; always courteous, comes around snow or shine, and always has something to give us. Now he is about to entertain all the letter carriers in the State, and 1,500 from New York. This is the first time in seventeen years he has had company. Now he wants to show his talent to the best advantage, and is also going to provide a big parade to show to us.

"A citizens' committee, consisting of a delegate from all the various civic associations have taken in hand the financing of his convention. Letters to many have been sent out, soliciting contributions towards this fund. $450 has been received in response, and more is coming in daily; but $1500 is needed, and in order to perfect arrangements, the committee feels this money should be in hand.

"It is manifestly impossible to write to everyone, yet we are all interested in showing the beautiful city and generous hospitality. Everyone is invited to do his mite. Checks may be sent to William Floeresch, or small contributions addressed to Mr. Floeresch, may be handed to the letter carrier, who will give it to the treasurer."

FORMER HOBOKEN RESIDENT DIES AT MUHLENBERG

Mrs. Mary Perry, aged 63 years, died in Muhlenberg hospital this morning after a week's illness. She had been in the institution since February 18, undergoing medical treatment. Mrs. Perry was a native of Hoboken and had resided either in Jersey City or Hoboken until a little more than a year ago, when she came to the borough with the family of Rev. C. S. Gillespie, pastor of Grace M. E. church. For the past six weeks, Mrs. Perry had been in the employ of Justice George Hughes, of Watchung. Mrs. Perry's only relative is one brother, Thomas Muir, of 1208 Park avenue, Hoboken. The funeral and interment will be at Hoboken, Monday.

A unique feature in connection with the life of Mrs. Perry was the fact that she had never ridden in a horse-drawn vehicle until she came to Plainfield. Her first experience in this respect was when she drove to the home of Justice Hughes, and she told friends that it was one of the most wonderful things she had ever enjoyed. The reason she had never been in a carriage before is explained by the fact that she had traveled but little, and her short trips about Hudson county were made either in trolley cars or by train.

DOREN & CO.'S GROCERY DAMAGED $2,000 BY FIRE

Fire, which is believed to have been caused by over-heated pipes leading from a furance, was discovered in the basement of Doren & Co.'s grocery and meat store at 1001 West Third street, at 2:45 o'clock this morning, and an alarm was sent in from Box 86. Before the fire was extinguished at 4 o'clock, damage estimated at $2,000 resulted.

The fire spread from the cellar up through the beams into the store where there was a large stock of groceries and meats. The loss on stock is reported to be about $500 and at least $1,500 on building. Partial insurance was carried.

"MY SWEETHEART" GIVEN BY ENDEAVOR SOCIETY

The feature of the leap-year party given by the Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian church, of Dunellen, last evening, was a sketch entitled "My Sweetheart." The cast included Benjamin Dodwell, who was to be married the next day, and the following girls from whom he has decided to pick a wife: Margaret Frederick, the school girl; Bessie Morris, the athletic girl; Ruth Voorhees, the prima donna girl; Miss May Day, the riding girl;; Miss Debele, the college girl, and Dorothy Cameron, the girl whom Bennie eventually decided to marry.

The remainder of the program included the rendering of several selections by a quartet composed of Benjamin Dodwell, N. Willis Newman, C. G. Hunt and Peter Benson The affair was well attended. Among the guests of the Endeavorers were the members of the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church.

MR. AND MRS. POLLOCK OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Newark Couple Celebrate Tenth Wedding Day at Home of Local Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Pollock, of 7 Monmouth street, Newark, were the guests of honor at a unique party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hedley, of 525 East Second street, last night. The affair was in celebration of the tenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Pollock and was a complete surprise to the latter, she having been invited to this city on a "ruse." Thirty-two persons in all were present and of this number every one was related to Mrs. Pollock.

The gathering had assembled in the parlor at 8 o'clock when Mrs. Pollock was called in from another room. The surprise was complete, but after recovering she joined in the informal program that followed, which comprised mostly vocal and instrumental music and parlor games. For the latter prizes were awarded as follows: First men's, Fred Mellick; first woman's, Miss Dorothy LaForge; men's booby, William Hedley, and woman's booby, Miss Carrie Mellick. During the evening, Miss Georgette Lee presented Mrs. Pollock with an envelope containing a card which read: "To the owner of this card will be delivered at 7 Monmouth place, Newark, Saturday morning, February 26, a very handsome mahogany tea wagon (as pictured on the back), presented by the cousins and aunts to the bride; also a beautiful cake bearing ten candles for the tenth anniversary of their wedding." The card contained a photograph of the tea wagon in order that Mrs. Pollock might see what her present would be. She warmly thanked the donors after gaining her composure.

Those in the gathering included the following: Mrs. Wilson L. Jenkins, of Newark; Mrs. William Parsell and daughter, Miss Leona Parsell, of Newark; Mrs. Anna Mellick, of this city; Mr. and Mrs. J. Lester LaForge, Misses Viola, Dorothy and Susan LaForge, of Rahway; Mr. and Mrs. William Hedley, of this city; Miss Grace VanNest, of Alton; Mrs. Lettie Whitney, of Alton; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mellick, of Alton; Mrs. Carrie Mellick, Miss Grace Mellick and Howard Mellick, of Emerson avenue, this city; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Marsh, of this city; Mrs. Darby, of East Second street; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Darby, of Westfield, and the Misses Georgette and Emma Lee, and Samuel Lee, of Two Bridges.

Mr. and Mrs. Pollock were married at the bride's home in Newark, ten years ago, and a number of those present last night attended the wedding. Mrs. Pollock's maiden name was Miss Alita Parsell.

The White of an Egg.

The white of an egg is made up of little cells filled with albumen. By beating the white these cells are ruptured and oxygen from the air is inclosed, which gives the white and light appearance to beaten eggs. The white of a stale egg will not inclose as much oxygen, will not be as light and as easily digested as that of the fresh egg and, of course, less valuable. The importance of beating the egg in cold, pure air is readily seen.

PLAINFIELD YOUNG MEN IN COLLEGE DRAMATICS

Lawrence French, a Junior, and Elmer French, a Freshman, of Plainfield, at Rutgers College, have made the cast of "The Knight of the Burning Pestle," the play to be presented by the dramatic club of the college at commencement time. The Junior has the comedy part of the play, "Merrythought," while his younger brother will take the part of the "Citizen's Wife," the leading lady. More than fifty tried out for the cast.

NOT A CANDIDATE.

Somerville, Feb. 26.—Assistant Prosecutor Frank Cleary today denied a report published in another newspaper that he would be a candidate for the Assembly, and feels that the report has done him a great injustice. He has not resided in Somerville a year, which would make him ineligible for the office.

MORE MEN ARE BEING EMPLOYED

This Fact is Responsible for the Large Demand for Small Houses.

MARKET REMAINS FIRM

Heavy Call for Small Mortgages is Another Feature of Present Building Conditions—Materials Prices High.

New York, Feb. 26.—Just emerging from the inventory season, and at the threshold of the 1916 building year, the material market shows contradictory signs. Demand, as far as immediate consumption is concerned, is comparable with the first part of 1913. With respect to future buying, it compares with the spring of 1912. But the condition of supply is far below that for either of those years, and therein lies the cause of the present price stiffness and the independent attitude of manufacturers with respect to 1916 deliveries.

Demand upon the stocks of suburban buyers is heavy. Every factory that has been erected, every industrial plant that has been enlarged, means that more men are to be, or have been, employed. These men must be housed. That has created a demand for small buildings. Consequently there has been a heavy call for small mortgages, which have been forthcoming with more freedom than usual. But in almost every case the amounts have been restricted. The demand, however, has been so insistent for small homes that owners have discounted te higher price of materials and are planning to ask higher rentals from the tenants, since most of the factory workers in plants that are being enlarged are drawing higher wages than usual.

It is this class of construction that is taking most of the materials the dealers now have in stock outside of Manhattan, Bronx, Queens and Brooklyn. In those four boroughs large construction work is proceeding with proper relation to average seasonal demand. In the Bronx material dealers say there is a sluggishness about new apartment house construction, mainly because of the non-arrival of steel. There is an exceptionally large amount of alteration work in progress, which is also draining dealers' supplies.

Practically all sources of supply in proximity to New York are becoming more and more concerned regarding the shortage of labor. One cement manufacturer said this week that he believed the next advance in price in that commodity would be due to the usual heavier spring demand without any chance of increasing capacity, simply because there were not sufficient men available in the Lehigh or Hudson district to permit the use of more manufacturing equipment.

In the common brick market there is a range of fifty cents in the price of this commodity on the wholesale market in both Hudsons and Raritans. The bottom level of $8.50 is the market, while $9 is more of an asking price, except in the case of extra fine brick. Estimaters, in figuring quantities, will be safe if they base their costs upon the $9 level, however, for summer deliveries, because production this year doubtless will be curtailed, and the season will start late because of the peculiar labor conditions. Manufacturers may be obliged to pay more even for Southern help. Many of the native brick workers have gone to work in munition plants. This is true of practically all the quarrymen usually employed at stone crushers, terra cotta plants, glass works and at lumber centers.

Based upon present mill supplies and allowing two-thirds of the normal labor supply, higher cost of fuel and more expensive transportation and handling costs, the ten basic building materials outside of structural steel and metals this spring will be, in the aggregate, at least 10 per cent higher than they were in the 1913 wholesale market. Winter levels not only are going to be maintained, but there is strong probability of further advances this spring and summer.

EXTENSIVE ALTERATIONS TO EAST FRONT ST. PROPERTY

Contractor David R. Conover, of Jackson avenue, the borough, has completed work on the garage at 504 East Front street, the property having recently been purchased by Alfred I. Laing, of Fairview avenue. The garage is a frame structure and has a capacity for two automobiles. The house on the property is now undergoing extensive alterations, which, when completed, will make it an up-to-date and attractive dwelling.

VACATED BUILDING SOON TO BE RAZED

Work of Tearing Down Vanderbeek Structure Will Start Next Wednesday.

An official announcement from the State Trust Company yesterday stated that the work of tearing down the Vanderbeek building at North and Park avenues would be commenced next Wednesday. All the tenants, with one exception, have vacated, and the remaining one will be out by Tuesday of next week. This tenant is Thomas S. Armstrong, whose pharmacy has been located in the corner store for many years. A large portion of the material secured in razing the structure can be used elsewhere, and has been purchased by local contractors.

As stated in last week's issue of the Daily Press, the Thomas J. Steen Company, of New York, was awarded the contract for erecting the Trust Company's handsome new building. A clause in the contract calls for the completion of the structure, ready for occupancy, by September 1, 1916. This means that the work of erection will commence just as soon as the lot is cleared and the proper excavation made.

The cut and description given in the Daily Press last Saturday showed to Plainfield people that the State Trust Company's announcement that it would put up a structure that would be a credit to the city was a business-like statement, and if anything will go beyond the expectations of all interested. The building will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000, and will be a splendid improvement to the section adjacent to North and Park avenues.

BIG IMPROVEMENT ON W. THIRD STREET

Three Family Apartment to Result From Alteration on Former Flynn Property.

The sum total of permits granted by Building Inspctor Doane for the week was two, one for an alteration job and the other for a garage. The two permits represent an expenditure of $4,225, bringing the total of building work for the month to $14,626. The addition of the latter figure to that previously given brings the value of building permits granted from January 1 to $71,294.

The alteration permit was granted Conrad Jacobsen, and is for a job at 439 West Third street, which has been known for years as the Flynn property. An old residence which has been on the rear of the lot will be brought forward and a large new addition placed in front, making the new structure a three-family apartment house. The addition will be two and a half stories in height, measuring 24 by 41 feet. A hot-air heating system and other up-to-date features will be included in the interior furnishing. The estimated cost of the work is placed at $3,925. The plans were drawn by Architect George H. Fisher, and Cohen & Israelsky are the general contractors.

The garage mentioned in the permit is to be erected at 1004 East Seventh street, for Frederick G. Carter. The building is to measure 16 by 20 feet, and will be of frame construction. The estimated cost has been placed at $300. Ralph Bullman has been awarded the contract for the carpentering, and R. G. Bush the masonry.

PLANS FOR REMODELING BOROUGH FIRE HOUSE READY

Architect Charles H. Smith, of Grove street, has completed plans for the remodeling of the borough firehouse, and they can now be seen at his residence. Bids are solicited from local contractors for doing the work, and these will be opened at a meeting of the Borough Council to be held on March 17.

The alterations to the house, which will be quite extensive in order to include several borough offices now in other sections, were detailed in a recent issue of the Daily Press. According to an estimate they will cost about $3,500. The improvement is one that has been advocated by Mayor William L. Smalley, and the belief exists that it will result in a large saving to the taxpayers of North Plainfield. The firehouse, as it stands, is a modern structure, having been erected only about fifteen years ago.

Learned His Trade in Monmouth County Interrupting Apprenticeship to go to War—Built Many Business Places and Residences.

Every time a rainy day comes along and the boys of the building trades get together for a social chat, a lot of questions incident to the craft are discussed. One that bobs up regularly and is often repeated in other circles is, "Who is the oldest contractor in the city or borough, speaking from a business standpoint?" Of course, the interrogation leads to arguments pro and con, but there is no need of them any longer. The editor of the Daily Press building page has made a personal canvass, and awards the honor to Captain William C. Smith. He has been in the game for forty-six years, and is still figuring plans, landing contracts and teaching apprentices how to lay a corner. That is a record that is hard to beat, and naturally enough the Daily Press man sought out the captain one evening not long since to ask him all about it.

Captain William C. Smith, or "Captain Bill," as all his hundreds of friends like to call him, was born at Robertsville, Monmouth county, in 1847. After he had mastered the rudiments of the "Three R's" and several side "ologies" taught by the painstaking master in the village school, he was assigned by his parents to learn the mason's trade. "Bricklaying" they called it in those days. He was apprenticed to a brother-in-law, Lindsey Rively, a contractor long since gone, but who is still remembered throughout Monmouth and Middlesex. Young Smith had worked only a year or so when the rebels fired on Fort Sumter. He asked permission of his parents to shoulder a musket and help vindicate the North, but they both said "No." He asked again when Lincoln issued his memorable call for 300,000 volunteers, but when he was again told that the war was no place for one of his age (he was then about fifteen), he did what most boys with red blood in their veins would do. He ran away. He was told to go home by the first recruiting sergeant he encountered. He did not. He simply went to another, told a whopping big fib about how old he was, and got accepted. He was assigned to the Second New Jersey Cavalry and went to the front. After serving his country faithfully for two years, he returned to Monmouth county to finish his trade. It was in 1870 that Captain Smith came to Plainfield and began business for himself. He has been at it ever since, going it alone until last fall, when he took his son, William C. Smith, Jr., into partnership. In the pristine days of his contracting he made a silent partner of one of his workmen, but the latter got the idea, after one week, that he knew more than anyone else, and was given his release.

The first big job Captain "Bill" undertook was the erection of the structure at 130 and 132 North avenue, then known as the Regan building. It is still there, doing good "duty," and standing as a silent testimonial to the good work of which young Smith was capable.

Since the days of the Regan building the Captain has contributed no small quota to the number of fine structures in the city and borough. Among them mention might be made of the Shotwell building at the southeast corner of Watchung avenue and East Fifth street, the Kensington Hotel, the Compton building at 140-144 West Front (now owned by Jacob Fass); Hebert Hall (originally known as Mountain Park Inn), the Roth building and the fine three-story structure at 137-139 East Front, now owned by Dr. Pittis. The Captain also built many fine residences, one of them being the home of former Mayor Alexander Gilbert, of West Eighth street and Madison avenue. This is considered by masons to be one of the finest speciments of pressed brick work in the country. A large part of it was done by two men to whom the Captain gave a job when they came in from nowhere. They went out the same way when they finished. The Captain heard from them in after years, however, and at the present time they are in Boston. One of them is worth half a million dollars, all made in straightforward contracting.

There have been many changes in the building trade since Captain Smith entered it. The wages of a mason were $3 for a ten hour day; now they are $5 for two hours less. Bricks cost twice as much, and lumber that brought $11 or $12 a thousand, now brings $33 and $36. Methods of erection are also vastly different, but the Captain has kept abreast of the times, and now at the

ZEEK BAKING CO. BUYS FACTORY PLACE

Takes Over the Brunson Property Which It Has Occupied for Two Years.

Announcement was made during the past week that the factory building on South avenue, owned for many years by Augusts J. Brunson, has been sold by him to the Zeek Baking Company, which has been occupying it for the past two years. According to the customary realty transfer record, made at the county clerk's office, the purchase price was $3,000. A member of the Zeek concern said yesterday that extensive alterations had been planned by the firm, which would convert the structure into an up-todate and modern baking establishment. A separate addition will be constructed as a stable and garage to house the teams and motor vehicles used by the company in distributing bread and cake throughout this vicinity. The details of these plans will be made known later.

The property in question has been known to Plainfielders for a long time as the Van Deventer Carpet Factory. When the Van Deventer family operated the place for the manufacture of carpets and rugs, it was one of the important industries of the city. A combination of several firms led to the business being removed to a Southern State, and the building for many years was left vacant. It came into the possession of Mr. Brunson as one of the Van Deventer heirs. In addition to the two-story factory structure, the premises include a plot of ground measuring one hundred feet front on South avenue, and running back two hundred feet to the New Jersey Central Railroad. It is located between the Scott Press works plant and the new factory of the Bosch Magneto Company.

LYMAN WILL COME WITHOUT A FIGHT

Makes No Effort to Prevent Extradition to New York.

Tampa, Fla., Feb. 26.—Dr. J. Grant Lyman, under indictment in New York for using the mails to defraud, was brought here from St. Petersburg by Deputy United States Marshal L. A. Reynolds and Postal Inspector O. G. Reese and lodged in the Hillsborough county jail.

Lyman, arrested at St. Petersburg, was detained without a warrant. Later a warrant was sworn out before District Attorney Herbert S. Phillips, and the federal officers went to St. Petersburg and took charge of the prisoner.

When he arrived here Lyman still maintained an obstinate silence. To all interrogations he answered, "I have nothing to say." When told that if he were not Lyman he certainly would make some denial, he merely smiled and remarked that New York was a good place to go.

Although the prisoner employed lawyers at St. Petersburg, no effort was made there to obtain a writ of habeas corpus. An attorney met Lyman at the train, but the prisoner said he would not talk to him.

Chief of Police Masters of St. Petersburg is positive the man is Lyman. Every measurement conforms to that sent to him by wire. The peculiarity of one of his little fingers conforms exactly to the description of one of Lyman's fingers.

WELCOME FOR MORGENTHAU.

Mayor Mitchel and Other Notables Attend Ceremony.

New York, Feb. 26.—A welcome from the city to Ambassador Morgenthau was tendered under the auspices of the mayor's committee at the great hall of the College of the City of New York. Cleveland H. Dodge presided, and addresses were made by Mayor Mitchel, Bishop Greer, Oscar S. Straus, Rabbi Wise, Dr. John H. Finley, President Sidney E. Mezes of C. C. N. Y. and Ambassador Morgenthau.

Wilson Sees Morgenthau.

Washington, Feb. 26.—President Wilson conferred with Henry Morgenthau, American ambassador to Turkey, on issues which have arisen in Turkey and the Balkans affecting American diplomatic officials. No information was given out relating to the conference by White House officials or Mr. Morgenthau save that it was of a general character and that the president received valuable information as to the situation existing at Constantinople.

OPPOSITION TO WILSON BREAKS

"No Surrender" Letter to Stone Has Effect.

BRYAN APPEARS ON SCENE

Ex-Secretary of War Wants Law Passed That Will Refuse Passports to American Citizens Traveling on Belligerent Ships—Possible Alliance With Speaker Clark Is Rumored.

BERNSTORFF MAY BE ELIMINATED IN U-BOAT NEGOTIATIONS BY BERLIN.

Berlin, Feb. 26.—The newspapers printed a Havas dispatch which said that the administration at Washington had determined to break off relations with Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador to the United States, and negotiate direct with Berlin.

Nothing is known here regarding the reported disfavor of Count von Bernstorff, but it is considered extremely probable, as was intimated in a dispatch some time ago, that the submarine negotiations would be transferred to Berlin in accordance with recommendations submitted to President Wilson. It is felt here that this may expedite a satisfactory settlement of the whole submarine controversy.

Putting the submarine question in Count von Bernstorff's hands after the Arabic incident served its purpose. It is felt here that Count von Bernstorff is thoroughly familiar with the American viewpoint and the currents of opinion with regard to a solution of the controversy, and that with the progress that has been made in Washington on the problem much may be hoped for from the second shift to Berlin.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Congress stands by the president in that he will not recede in his stand in the submarine controversy with Germany. Following his letter to Senator Stone opposition appears to have collapsed.

There is still a tremendous sentiment in the house and senate in favor of a resolution warning Americans off armed merchantmen, but the prospects for passage of such a resolution has dwindled to practically nothing.

All of the leaders, whether they personally favor the resolution or not, are beseeching their friends in both houses not to complicate the situation even by talking. The parliamentary situation in the house, due to the control by friends of the administration of the rules committee, which prevents a special rule ordering a vote on the resolution, makes it certain that a vote could not be obtained in the house before June, unless the friends of the measure could master a two-thirds majority.

This is not believed to be possible, although it would have had a three-fourths majority the day before yesterday.

In the senate all but six of the Republicans are opposed to any surrender of American rights. The policy of the minority, despite a few radical exceptions, has had its effect in cooling the panic of the Democrats.

Figuring on Consequences.

The latter are now wondering what would be the political consequences of a surrender resolution passed by Democratic votes in opposition to the president they concede must be renominated if the Democrats wish a chance of retaining the spoils of office for another four years. With most of the Republicans a large majority of the Democrats are opposed to taking any action to which the president is opposed.

Senator Sheppard of Texas, the state of Representative McLemore, whose resolution warning Americans off armed ships helped start the wave of fear Thursday, declared it would be almost criminal to pass any resolution which would embarrass the president in his negotiations with Germany.

"Despite all the cloakroom oratory," he said, "I do not believe such a resolution could muster a majority in a Democratic caucus."

Lodge With President.

A ringing statement from Senator Lodge, ranking Republican member of the foreign relations committee, which virtually calls on the Republicans to support the president now that he has taken a firm stand, sums up the way most of the Republican senators feel about the situation.

"Of course I shall stand by the president," declared Senator Lodge. "I agree fully with what he says (referring to the president's letter to Senator Stone). I believe it would proclaim us to the world as cowards to tell our citizens that they must not exercise their undoubted rights and that if they do so we shall not protect them. A nation that will not protect its citizens cannot protect itself, and if democracy fails to protect itself how can we hope to live?"

There is a development that has exercised a surprising influence in bringing the Democrats of the house around and swinging the control back into the hands of the administration. This development is the act of William J. Bryan as one of the leaders in the movement for warning Americans from armed merchant vessels.

Mr. Bryan sent a telegram to Representative W. W. Bailey of Pennsylvania strongly urging the passage of a bill of this character. It has been known all along that Bryan was in sympathy with the movement.

For weeks there have been rumors that Mr. Bryan was ready to lead an open revolt in the party against President Wilson, and many members of congress are hesitating now about tying up with him even in this movement in regard to foreign affairs.

Mr. Bryan's appearance in the picture has brought about at least one other peculiar situation. It puts Speaker after the Baltimore convention Mr. Bryan and Mr. Clark were not on speaking terms, and the attempt of their friends to have them bury the hatchet never was more than partially successful.

Recently there have been rumors that friends of Bryan and Clark have been working to bring them together and that they have been making some headway. The appearance of the ex-secretary of state along with Speaker Clark as one of the leaders in the house revolt against Wilson will have the effect of increasing the gossip in regard to their political relations.

Mr. Bryan's Telegram.

Mr. Bryan's telegram was as follows:

I most earnestly hope that congress will speedily announce legislation refusing passports to Americans traveling on belligerent ships; or, still better, refusing clearance to belligerent ships carrying American passengers.

No owner of belligerent ships will claim that he has the right to safeguard a contraband cargo with American lives, and no citizen should be permitted to endanger the peace of a nation at a time like this.

Ours is the greatest of the neutral nations and will probably be the mediator when the time for mediation comes. It would be a crime against civilization as well as against our own people to become involved in this war and thus loan our army and navy to a European monarch to use in settling his quarrels.

If congress has the right to declare war it certainly has the right to promote peace by restraining its citizens from taking unnecessary risks.

A mayor keeps the people of his city out of the danger zone during a riot. Can our government afford to do less when the world is in riot?

FIELDER FOR DELEGATE.

Petitions Circulated Nominating Him For Mission to Chicago.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 26.—Petitions were circulated in the statehouse for the nomination of Governor Fielder as delegate at large to the Democratic national convention. The petitions pledge the governor to vote for the renomination of President Wilson. They were readily signed by all Democratic state officials and employees.

German Vessel Carries Six Seven-Inch Guns and Torpedo Tubes.

London, Feb. 26.—The German raider which has captured and sunk fourteen vessels belonging to the allies and sent the British steamer Westburn to Tenerife with a prize crew is described by the captain of one of the captured vessels as a ship of about 2,500 tons, carrying six seven-inch guns and two torpedo tubes.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, FEBRUARY 26, 1916.

On Saturdays the editorial column of the Daily Press is conducted, at our request, by citizens who are free to express their own views. The contributing editor for today is Lewis Bond, for many years a missionary in European Turkey.

Conversing recently with a woman, I spoke of a splendid old Turk of my acquaintance, and the woman remarked that she didn't know that a good Turk had ever lived. Another woman told me that in her girlhood when she found a picture of a Turk in a newspaper she jabbed out his eyes.

In these days of hopeful clamor for world betterment it may be that a word or two from my experience with the so-called "unspeakable Turk" may be helpful.

During my residence of 36 years in European Turkey, I lived in three cities and in each place next door to the genuine Moslem article. I gladly bear testimony that as neighbors we got along most beautifully. We never quarreled and they didn't quarrel among themselves. With but one exception they were strictly temperate. I frequently met this "exception" on the street, and the more unsteady he was the more he tried to get hold of me—but in vain—to kiss me and hug me in a very neighborly way. On the liquor question they are out of sight ahead of us Plainfielders. For 22 years in the city of Monastir, I mingled with thousands of Turkish soldiers, both on the parade ground and on the streets, and in all that time I failed to see any of them drunk or quarreling. When the British fleet visited Salonica, English, Scotch and Irish sailors disgusted the Turks with their drunkenness and riotous conduct when on shore leave.

Still we must admit that in war times and occasionally at other times the Turk is cruel, and horrible massacres are rightfully laid to his account. Let it be noted, however, that especially in the recent first Balkan Wars, Christian Servians and Greeks and even my friends, the Bulgarians, have to answer for many individual atrocities that fully equal in devilish cruelty anything that is proved against the Turk. No excuse is offered for the horrible treatment of the poor Armenians at the present time by the Turkish army, only most of these atrocious soldiers are Kurds and not Turks. Kurd means wolf. Missionaries testify that in many cases the citizen Turks protest against the banishment of the Armenians and the looting of their houses. Turkish women weep as the refugees are marched away.

As long as the poor Turk clings to his Koran he can never succeed in governing Christian people. In the nature of things the Ottoman government is doomed to failure in this generation. But the unfortunate people are not the government.

Are we justified in despising and hating these Moslems? Personally, I don't like the Turks very much, but I do love them, partly because of many good qualities which they possess and chiefly because they are human beings and as such are my brethren—and yours.

In the world betterment campaign that is now on, all hate of man must give place to love.

A Busy Woman.

There was a club woman who was always so busy.
She lived under pressure that rendered her dizzy.
She belonged to ten clubs, read Browning at sight,
Showed at luncheons and teas, and would vote if she might.
She served on a school board with courage and zeal.
She golfed and she kodaked and rode on a wheel.
She read Tolstoi and Ibsen, knew microbes by name;
Approved of Delsarte, was a Daughter and Dame.
Her children went in for high education;
Her husband went seaward for nervous prostration.
One day at her table she found one hour free—
The shock was too great; she died instantly.

Vacuum Cleaners.

Nothing goes out of style quicker than a vacuum cleaner unless it is a silk hat or an automobile. The first one we had worked with a handle like a suction pump, and a person with a magnificent physique and in good training could go over the floor of a small room in one day without breaking his back. You held the cleaner with one hand and pulled with the other, and coaxing the microbes out of a six-by-eight rug was a process which occupied an entire day.

Then they got the electric vacuum cleaners. We didn't have any electric lights in the house at that time, but had them put in just so we could operate an electric vacuum cleaner. Nobody in the world was going to have anything on us in the way of cleaners.

After filling the cellar, the barn and the garage with vacuum cleaners that were behind the times, we swore off, and we didn't buy a vacuum cleaner for two months.

Yesterday a man came along with a new vacuum cleaner that would pull the tacks out of a carpet or would yank the paper off the wall. It would pull a mustard plaster off from a man's back. When placed at one end of the room it would tear out a plate glass window in the other end of the room. It cleaned up all of the known microbes, and as it was working only half capacity while so doing they had invented three or four thousand microbes that had never been heard of before just to keep the vacuum cleaner busy. In other words, when they began working the new cleaner, it had pulled in microbes that the scientists had never had the nerve to discover, so tremendous was its strength.

We put a mortgage on the house and bought one.

Some More Figures.

At this time of year when you swat a fly that happens to be living through the winter in some warm place, you really accomplish nothing. That fly, if permitted to live until May would have laid 150 eggs that month. These would hatch in twelve days, and each would have laid 150 eggs and so on until by September the offspring from the one fly, if laid in rows, would be ninety-two miles long, three miles wide and 1,000 feet deep. If you think this statement is extreme, figure it out yourself, but be sure to kill the fly.

A Bachelor's Advice.

To all daughters of Eve who have bachelor offers advice concerning the habits, characteristics and dispositions of various sorts of men, which is intended to help the girls win their hearts' desires without suffering rebuff in the process. He says:

"Don't propose to a man who has just a thin upper lip. He'll scorn you.

Don't propose to a man whose head runs straight up from the back of his neck. He loves neither home nor wife.

Don't propose to a man with a super-critical eye. He'll make you sorry.

Don't propose to a man who has a restrained, quiet, indifferent manner or a purely selfish disposition.

Propose to a man who has full but not too full lips. He will love you.

Propose to a man who has a good-sized bump at the base of his head. He's a good family man and loves wife and home.

FRELINGHUYSEN HONORED NAME

If Somerset Man is Elected U. S. Senator Will Be the Fourth From State.

MANY QUALIFICATIONS

Some of the Things Man Who Seeks National Office Has Done for People of Native State—Friend of School Children and Farmers.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (Special).—That the name of Frelinghuysen has the right sort of a ring to it is the opinion of many in senatorial circles at the Capitol, who are interested in the outcome of the primaries in the States in which United States senators will be elected this year. Therefore, the consensus of opinion is that Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, former State Senator from Somerset county, in seeking the nomination for United States Senator on the Republican ticket, is following the traditions of an honored name with more than a fair chance for success, since there have been three United States Senators from New Jersey by the name of Frelinghuysen. They were Frederick Frelinghuysen, who served from March 7, 1793 to November 12, 1796; Theodore Frelinghuysen, who served from March 4, 1829, to March 30, 1835; and F. T. Frelinghuysen, who served from November, 1866, to March 3, 1869, and again from March 4, 1871, to March 3, 1877.

It is also the opinion of those who are familiar with the history of the Legislature in New Jersey for the past decade, that former Senator Frelinghuysen is well-qualified for a place in the United States Senate because of his experience in the New Jersey Senate, where he displayed exceptional ability as a constructive statesman.

Frelinghuysen was chairman of a commission which made an investigation of the school system of New Jersey, and conditions were revealed that called for drastic legislation to remedy them. The bills to bring this about were drafted by the former senator, and the school system of the State was broadened and its efficiency increased when the bills were placed on the statute books. President Wilson, who was governor at the time, showed his appreciation for the splendid work of Senator Frelinghuysen by appointing him to a place on the new State Board of Education, of which he is now the president.

The original automobile law is known as the Frelinghuysen law because it was drafted by the former the State and also of the neighboring States were of the opinion that the law was not altogether equitable in its provisions, and they blamed Frelinghuysen for it. Today, they admit that Senator Frelinghuysen is the friend of the automobilists and also one of the strongest advocates for good roads, which are so requisite to comfortable touring.

The work of Senator Frelinghuysen as president of the State Board of Agriculture has been constructive as well as forceful. He quickly realized the needs of the farmers of the State, and several years ago he advocated the reorganization of the State Board of Agriculture, and drafted a bill which would have accomplished that purpose. This bill, which was vetoed by Governor Fielder, will be passed at the present session of the Legislature.

There are no strings to the candidacy of Senator Frelinghuysen and this fact is thoroughly understood by his friends in senatorial circles. That he is sincere in his candidacy and has no idea of helping any other candidate who aspires to wear the senatorial toga of the "farmer orator" Martine, is the belief of shrewd political observers, and as the campaign devolopes the fact that Frelinghuysen is in to win will become more apparent.

The platform of Joseph S. Frelinghuysen is pleasing to the Republicans in the Senate. They like his outspoken handling of the subject of preparedness as well as his views on the subject. His suggestions with reference to a merchant marine meet with the approval of the majority of the senators, and are considered as being in line with the views of many of the foremost statesmen of the time. His ideas on the tariff commission have the right ring to them; and altogether the Republicans in the United States Senate regard Frelinghuysen as a man who is sure to have the confidence of the voters, and to get their votes. He is known as a man of sterling character possessing constructive and executive ability of high order, and a man who will make a worthy senator from New Jersey, and a man who will in every way be true to the traditions of his ancestors.

The Swish of the Rod.

A college president in an address on pedagogy said:

"And one of the most remarkable changes in the last thirty years of teaching is the abolition of corporal punishment. A boy of this generation is never whipped. But boys of the last generation must have believed that their instructors all had for motto: "'The swish is father to the taught.'"

- Proctor's Theatre -

Willard Mack, one of the most versatile of Triangle stars, and whose work in comedy, drama and melodrama is equally well rendered, appears at Proctor's today in his latest Triangle vehicle, entitled "The Conqueror," a play that gives him plenty of scope for his emotional capacity and one that proves that he is one of the greatest stars appearing on the screen. "The Conqueror" tells a story that is a little bit out of the ordinary, and by virtue of which fact the work of the principals is a revelation indeed. Mack assumes the part of the man who rose from the depths of poverty, from the slums—to a position of wealth and power, a position where he is honored by the leaders of society, and on this account he despises and hates these society folk and takes opportunity to insult and humiliate them. His nature has been hardened by the struggle to uplift himself and he is pitiless to the idle rich who, he thinks, are only dependant for their position in life on the achievements of their forbears. Of course, there is a delightful love story interwoven into this main plot that will greatly enhance the wonderful qualities of this production. This afternoon the children will be given a treat during the big toy bazaar, when each child attending will be the recipient of a handsome toy. The management wishes to announce that in addition to the dramatic features presented, there is also a pleasing program of comedy productions shown daily, including the famous Keystone comedies. This picture entertainment, together with the polite vaudeville offered, has established the reputation of Proctor's as the theatre with the best show in town for the least money. The dramatic photoplay feature Monday will introduce Alice Brady, the young emotional star, in a vehicle that taxes her to the utmost, entitled "The Rack." In this story she, drinking deep of life's dark draught, discovers that there are modern tormentors whose cruel irons sear the whitest lives. But the hellish tortures of New York society's rack upon which her bleeding soul is bruised and torn, make for good in the end—all of which is graphically told in this remarkable photoplay attraction. Some of the features booked for Proctor's the coming week are: Tuesday, Orrin Johnson, in "The Price of Power," a Triangle play; Wednesday, the latest William Fox production, entitled, "The Ruling Passion," with William E. Shay and Claire Whitney assuming the leads. In addition, on Wednesday the first episode of "The Iron Claw," the new Pathe serial masterpiece, with Pearl White, Creighton Hale and Sheldon Lewis, will also be presented, and will be shown Wednesday of each week thereafter. Thursday, Florence Reed, the distinguished star of a score of notable Broadway productions, and who recently appeared at Proctor's in "At Bay," will be featured in "New York," an adaptation of A. H. Wood's phenomenal stage success.

.. Plainfield Theatre ..

Jacobs & Jermon have this year produced "The Golden Crook" Company, which is said to be a production without a visible fault. As its feature comedian, it boasts of Billy Arlington, the well known tramp comedian, who is appearing this year with an entirely new fund of humor and who is also the chief funmaker in the skit, a two-act musical revue, entitled "The Midnight Club." In the support of these two famous actors are also interspersed Alva McGill, the beautiful prima donna; the Beau Brummel Trio, young men singers of no small excellence; Hite and Reflow, ballroom and whirlwind dancers of more than ordinary merit; Eleanor Cochran, a charming soubrette, and San Raskin and his Russian ballet troupe. This troupe, recently starring in London music halls, is making its debut on the American stage under the sponsorship of "The Golden Crook" Company. This production will appear at the Plainfield Theatre next Tuesday, matinee and night for the benefit of Daye Rogers, treasurer of the theatre.

"In Old Kentucky," which comes to the Plainfield Theatre next Wednesday, matinee and night, requires no lengthy introduction to playgoers of this city. For many years, this romantic drama of the Blue grass State has been a regular visitor to all of the larger cities and has always been warmly received. The fact that it has held the boards, year after year, for twenty-two years, despite the opposition of counter attractions of later vintages, is an unqualified endorsement of its merits. "In Old Kentucky" is credited with being America's most popular drama. It certainly possesses that indefinable something that makes a distinct and lasting appeal to all shiner, is a manly, admirable type; the "Colonel" is another true Kentucky product—gallant, breezy and affable; "Uncle Neb" is a type of the old-time Southern darkey servant now about extinct; "Aunt Alethea" is a lovable Southern maiden lady, passed the prime of life but not the usual exaggerated stage old maid; Frank Layson is a splendid type of an upright young Kentuck-

WIDOW GETS ENTIRE ESTATE OF HUSBAND

Mrs. James A. Wotten, of This City, is Left $1,300 Personal Property.

New York, Feb. 26.—The will of James Avery Wotton, husband of Mrs. Mary E. Wotton, of Plainfield, was offered for probate in the surrogate's court today. It gives to the widow the entire estate of about $1,300 in personal property, who, without bonds, under date of execution on December 15, 1895, is named as sole executrix.

Mr. Wotton, who was the son of the late Margaret C. Wotton, died in Plainfield on January 13 last and, beside his widow, leaves two brothers and two sisters, of New York; also two nephews and two nieces: James A. Wotton, of Plainfield; Margaret C. Wotton, of New York; Wotton Monthorne Thompson, of New Market, and Mary E. Wotton, of Plainfield.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

Geraldine Farrar—now Mrs. Lou-Tellegen—foremost prima donna of the greatest opera house in the world, will be seen for the second time in Plainfield next Monday and Tuesday in "Temptation," a photoplay production from the Lasky studios and released on the Paramount program. This picture, according to all reports, surpasses "Carmen," in which Miss Farrar made her photo-dramatic debut a few weeks ago.

"Temptation" unfolds an engrossing tale of the romance of a young opera singer and a musician. It is the first time in either her operatic or screen career that Miss Farrar has worn modern dress. She wears no costume in this play except when appearing in an opera, which is produced by an elderly man who loves her, but whom she dislikes. The most exciting incident in the picture is the one in which a former lover of the impressario stabs him to death, while Miss Farrar, as the young singer, is hiding behind a curtain in his room. Her quick escape saves her from beifng arrested as a suspect in the case. In a word, "Temptation" is quite the most artistic film produced by Lasky since "Carmen," and it shows to what lengths the film producers go to obtain realistic interpretations of the art.

The week-end bill at the Astor will be headlined by that ever interesting film play, "The Yankee Girl," adapted from the operetta of the same name, which played many weeks at the old Herald Square theatre, New York. Miss Blanche Ring, who appeared in the musical play, also appears in the picture.

RECREATION NOTES

The Plainfield Choral Society will resume rehearsals in the Franklin School Auditorium next Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock. A book of choruses from grand and light opera in English has been secured for a concert which the society will give in the spring. S. Frederick Smith will be the leader of the society.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Mr. Bruin Got His Short, Stubby Tail.

"I must pull harder," thought Mr. Bruin.

WHEN Jack and Evelyn clapped their hands for a bedtime story daddy sat down and began: "Once upon a time one cold, cold winter day Mr. Bruin crawled out of his cave to go hunt some food. He searched and he searched a long, long time, but Jack Frost had sealed up all the brooks, and Farmer Snoopingdike had shut all his nice fat lambs in his red barn. So, shaking with hunger, Mr. Bruin started back to his cave, when he met Reddy Fox tripping gayly along with a big string of pickerel.

"'Tell me where you got those fine fish, Mr. Fox!' shouted the bear, hungrier than ever. 'The water is all frozen today.'

"'Over yonder there is a hole in the ice,' said Reddy, with a twinkle in his left eye, 'where you can catch all the fish you want.'

"'Pray, tell me how!' roared Mr. Bruin, his stomach twisting with hunger.

"'Just stick your tail down through the hole and wait till the pickerel bite. Don't mind a tug now and then. This means that when you pull your tail out it will be covered with enough fish to last for many meals.' So saying, Reddy Fox tripped home.

"Now, Mr. Bruin thought this a clever way to get a fine string of fish, so he dashed for the hole in the ice and soon found it. He squatted down beside it and pushed his beautiful long tail down, down into the icy water. Of course he did not find it comfortable squatting there in the wintry winds with his tail slowly becoming an icicle. And every little while he felt a sharp, sharp nip. But, then, he remembered that Reddy had said bites meant a big string of fish, so he waited patiently and bore the pain. Finally he felt so many nips that his tail got heavy, oh, very heavy, and he tried to pull it up through the ice. But it would not come!

"'That's because I have so many pickerel on my tail. I must pull harder!' thought Mr. Bruin. So he pulled and pulled with all his might, but it only stuck the faster in the ice. It was frozen tight! What could he do? He could not sit there till the ice melted next springtime. So he pulled and he pulled. Then a sad thing happened—Mr. Bruin's tail broke right off just like an icicle! There was only a little short stubby piece left. The beautiful long end was stuck fast in the ice.

"When Mr. Bruin found it was all a trick Reddy Fox had played on him he was very angry and went home hungrier than ever to nurse his stump. And from that day to this foxes and bears have not been good friends and Mr. Bruin has always worn a little short stubby tail," daddy finished.

Measles and Whooping Cough

Measles and whooping cough continue to prevail almost as much as ever. Measles actually kills more people than scarlet fever, and whooping cough more than typhoid fever.

The reason for this is partly that people do not realize the danger from these diseases and partly that they come on so gradually that they are not recognized until the disease has spread from the first case to others.

Danger Signs.

Measles, for instance, begins like an ordinary cold in the head, with running nose and watery eyes and sneezing. Parents think, "It's only a cold," and the child runs about and plays with other children as if nothing were the matter. Yet it has been proved that just at this time there is far more danger of catching measles than there is later on, when a rash has appeared and the child has been put to bed.

Here are some of the danger signs that are likely to mean the onset of some catching disease:

Coughing, sneezing, running nose, watery eyes, sore throat, rash or spots of any kind, feverishness, swelling or pain behind or under ears, headache, vomiting and diarrhea.

A child who has any of these symptoms should be kept out of school. It is much better that one child should lose a few days of schooling at first than that a dozen children should be out of school for weeks as a result of a school epidemic. It is far better, too, for the child itself, for rest and an even temperature will often help to throw off an impending attack of disease.

Protect Babies.

Above all, children who have any of the symptoms mentioned above should be kept away from the baby. Young infants suffer most severely from the common communicable diseases, and among infants a fatal result is far more frequent than in adults.

Every possible effort should be made to protect babies from contact with those who may be coming down with some disease.

Marrying for Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Jacob Townsend's Wife Drags Him One Step Nearer Ruin.

Five days after Ortrude had expressed a wish to go to Atlantic City for a few weeks and had been told that it would be impossible to raise the money, Jacob came home from the store earlier than usual nearly exhausted from the heat. He went to his room to lie down till dinner was ready. As he ascended the stairs he heard someone moving about and wondered why Ortrude had not gone for her usual ride that afternoon. When he reached the door he almost reeled. The bed, chairs, everything was covered with Ortrude's most elaborate garments, and she was folding and placing them in a huge trunk by the bed. She glanced up as he paused by the door, steadying himself by clutching the doorjam, and the expression of proud triumph in her face held him rooted to the spot.

"I am off on the midnight train for Atlantic City, J. C.," she exclaimed, her voice vibrant with triumph.

"I concluded that I must begin to use some of my own property since you were unable to supply my wants," she continued.

"I do not understand." Jacob's voice sounded as if he were a long way off.

"I raised five hundred on the house," she announced as easily as if she were telling of borrowing a thimble.

"Borrowed money on the house!" echoed Jacob, considering the incredible. "Not mortgaged the home? You surely do not mean that!"

"Why not? You gave it to me. I have the deed. Surely a woman may do what she pleases with her own property." Ortrude raised her chin [illegible]

Jacob recoiled as if a shell had exploded at his feet. Ortrude grappled a pale blue and cut steel creation for evening wear, and folded it neatly in a compartment of her trunk.

"Will nothing short of my utter ruin satisfy you?" he groaned, sinking into a chair by the door.

"Don't be tragic, J. C. The roll is not becoming," said Ortrude as she rapidly folded the dainty garments and finished her packing.

"Whatever you borrow on this home, and spend, is gone. I will never pay back. Never!" His tone made her feel as if he had set her down on eternal granite with an emphasis that made her teeth rattle.

"Well, the interest is only six per cent and that comes out of your pocket, of course, as you pay my bills." Ortrude glanced approvingly at her reflection in the glass. The color of her new broadcloth was unquestionably becoming, and the fit of the coat did credit to the expensive Kansas City tailor. She tried on the traveling hat, drawing it level with her elegant brows, while she watched her husband in the mirror.

Jacob rose and, closing the door, walked over to her side. She did not turn, so he placed his hand on her shoulder and turned her around, lifting her chin with his other hand. He looked long into her eyes before he said:

"Ortrude, do not go to Atlantic City. Return the money you have borrowed. I promise you that if you will be patient till I can get on my feet again financially I will send you anywhere you wish to go for a vacation, but not now. Do not involve me in debt and cripple your future and that of all the family." She did not reply and Jacob added: "Do not deny me this request."

"I must go, J. C. I have telegraphed to my friend to expect me."

"This is my last request, Ortrude," he said solemnly. "Is it no?"

She drew her lips to a hard line and turned away. Jacob turned and left the room.

Importance of Baby's Footwear

For the first few months of his life, the baby does not need shoes unless there is a tendency to have cold feet. In such a case, warm knitted booties should be worn. These are the only shoes that should be worn until the baby is strong enough to stand on his feet. If other shoes are worn before this time, they are liable to cramp the feet and cause them to grow out of shape. There is no use in burdening a baby with unnecessary clothing.

As soon as a baby begins to stand on his feet he should have soft kid shoes with thin soles and no heels. These should be broad at the toes and should conform to the shape of the feet. For this reason there should be "lefts" and "rights." If baby wears a shoe that does not fit, the tender ligaments and muscles are crowded out of shape.

The shoe should be a little longer than the foot so as not to crowd the toes. It should fit at the heel and around the ankle, otherwise the foot may turn in the shoe and a sprain result. Heavy babies, especially, should have well-fitting shoes that will not turn and allow the baby to walk on the side of the shoe as so often happens. It is not uncommon for babies to suffer with sprained ankles as a result of wearing shoes that do not fit their feet.

Laced shoes are better than buttoned ones, as they can be better adjusted to the feet.

When the child begins to run about, the shoes may be a little heavier with thicker soles. There should be no heels on the shoes until the baby is about three years old, then he should wear "spring heels" until he is seven or eight years of age.

With small children, as well as with older people, the shoes should be adapted to the weather. Small children are often seen bundled up in furs trotting along on a cold pavement with thin-soled shoes which rendered little protection from the cold. "Baby catches cold every time he goes out for a walk!" is the cry of the unthinking mother. It would be better for the child to have a thin coat and warm shoes if both are not possible.

Almost as injurious, and much more uncomfortable to the child, are the hot pavements during the summer days. The heat goes right through the little, thin soles and poor baby suffers with blistered feet.

Corns and bunions are caused by ill-fitting shoes rather than by tight shoes. Pointed toed shoes are responsible for many of the discomforts of the feet. They cause pressure on the toes which results in corns, they throw the joint of the great toe out of place and cause bunions.

Facts About Noses

A nose is given us for three purposes:
1—to make no two persons look alike.
2—to smell with.
3—to breathe through.

Let us consider the nose as a breathing apparatus.

When we breathe through the nose, the air passes through the long channel of the nose, and over certain bumps that are placed there to warm, moisten and filter the air, before it reaches the lungs. When it comes in straight through the mouth, the air reaches the lungs cold and dry, and containing much dust and dirt. That is why "mouth breathing" is bad breathing, and why mouth breathers often have colds and bronchitis.

If you are a "mouth-breather," there is something wrong with some part of your nose, and you need an examination and probably treatment.

Mouth breathing is especially common in children, who so often have growths called "adenoids" blocking the back of the nose. Such adenoids usually need to be removed, for not only do they interefer with the passage of air to the lungs, but they also are a very common cause of ear trouble and may lead to deafness.

The pretty, thin, little noses, are often the worst noses for breathing purposes.

A big nose, while not handsome, may be an excellent one for breathing.

Don't worry about the shape of your nose. See whether it does its work properly.

FACTS ABOUT THE EYE.

Eyes of any color with weak brows and long, concave lashes are indicative of a weak constitution.

People of melancholic temperament rarely have clear blue eyes.

The chameleon is almost the only reptile provided with an eyelid.

Unsteady eyes, rapidly jerking from side to side, are frequently indicative of an unsettled mind.

It is said that the prevailing colors of eyes among patients of lunatic asylums are brown or black.

Eyes placed closed together in the head are said to indicate pettiness of disposition, jealousy, and a turn for fault-finding.

All men of genius are said to have eyes clear, slow moving, and bright. This is the eye which indicates mental ability of some kind—it does not matter what.

ABOUT PIE CRUST.

If you want the best pie crust, says the cook, it should be made the day before you wish to use it and put into a cold pantry. Then the crust will be flaky and crisp. If you wish to retain the crispness after baking, let the pies cool thoroughly before putting away.

To improve the top crust of pie, the following way is very good: Brush it over with water, and then sprinkle with granulated sugar. This improves the appearance and makes it brown and crisp.

FILLING FOR SOFA CUSHIONS.

Cut a roll of cotton in small squares and heat in a pan in the oven, leaving it there for half an hour. Do not let the cotton scorch. Every square will swell to twice its size, and will be as light and fluffy as feathers for stuffing soft cushions.

A SEWING HINT.

A good system for measuring buttonholes or hooks and eyes: In making buttonholes or sewing on hooks and eyes cut a strip of paper the length of the space where the fastenings are to go. Then keep folding the paper evenly together, creasing firmly each time, until you have it folded to the required space between the buttons and loops. Then with the scissors cut a small hole entirely through each end of the folded paper. Straighten out the paper, pin smoothly to the garment and mark through each hole with colored crayon or pencil.

RENOVATING BROWN SHOES.

Brown boots and shoes that are shabby-looking can be entirely renewed in appearance by being blackened. They should be rubbed well with a cloth and gone over with a little soap and water to remove as much of the old polish as possible. Then, while still somewhat wet, they should be painted with shoemaker's ink.

Three coats of this should be applied, after which the boots should be blackened and polished.

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

Philadelphia — Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the "stormy petrel" of the English militant suffragettes, will be heard this afternoon in her new role as agent for war relief. She speaks in the Garrick Theatre, under the auspices of the Equal Franchise League. Miss M. Carey Thomas, of Bryn Mawr College, is Mrs. Pankhurst's hostess. Women's service to her country is the keynote of Mrs. Pankhurst's present activities, and it is announced that she will keep to the announcement which she made when she landed on American soil, that she will devote her talks to war relief.

Columbus, Miss.—The annual meeting of the Home Science and Art Institute of Mississippi opened here today. The program extends for three days, under the direction of Miss Susie Will Gunter, head of the home science department at Industrial Institute and College. Among the prominent speakers are Miss Carrie A. Lyford, of Washington, a specialist of the Federal Bureau of Education; Miss Ivy Causey, agent for Pearl River county; Miss Susie V. Powell, head of industrial work in the rural schools of the State; Miss Connie Bonslagel, who heads the demonstration work among women and girls on Mississippi farms, and Miss Margaret Roudebush, dean of the woman's department at the State University.

New York.—New England regularity, which is inborn in most women from the Puritanical section, has no attraction for Miss Mary Allis. She detests regularity in all its forms, and declares herself a free woman and will do as she pleases. To show that she can work hard and meet all sorts of conditions, she journeyed around the world, paying her way by ingenuity and pluck. She started five years ago with a thousand dollars, and recently completed her world tour with the original sum and sixty-three dollars in addition. She studied art, can make jewelry, has a doctor's degree in sociology, can lecture, teach, sing and cook. She used her various accomplishments to good purpose on her tour, for she lectured for the missions and gave her services wherever they were needed.

St. Paul, Minn.—In Koochiching county, Minnesota, lives Miss Annie Shelland, who took up a claim in the woods near the Canadian border some ten years ago on account of illness. Three years after moving into the open, she was chosen school superintendent of the twenty schools then in the district. Owing to Miss Shelland's great interest and endeavor, there are now forty-eight schools in her district, and each school is visited by her, even though the trips are accompanied by walking, horseback or paddling in canoes, shooting the rapids in many places. In addition to school work, she has led the movement for good roads in the section. Incidentally, her illness disappeared, and she is one of the happiest women in the whole Northwest.

St. Louis.—Fifty Red Cross nurses have learned to cook food in healthful ways, through the efforts of the Bureau of Insular Affairs. From Missouri went Miss Grace Ferguson, a teacher of domestic science, and her success in Porto Rico is reported as wonderful. She taught the women to utilize oil cans as ovens, so that their food might be baked once in a while, as the frying method was much too popular for the welfare of the families. Visitors at the humble homes in Porto Rico are surprised to find girls preparing food in a scientific manner, with the simple household implements available to them.

Salem, Mo.—Mrs. T. A. Bruce, of this town, is the proprietor of the telephone company in this town. She has been blind for fourteen years, yet she built up the telephone system, runs it efficiently, and now owns and operates the business. When the doctors told her years ago that she was going blind, Mrs. Bruce sought an occupation that would lighten the darker years to come. She secured sixty subscribers to a telephone exchange, raised the money to install system, and managed it all herself. Now she has 400 subscribers, has kept her rates down and the efficiency of her service up, and is not incapacitated through sympathy, but by sheer accomplishment.

Bedding Goes Back To Its Regular Prices on Wednesday

Meanwhile—

We recommend the anticipating of wants for the coming Spring and Summer in Mattresses, Springs and Pillows.

The concessions we secured for the February Sale expire at store-closing next Tuesday evening. Market conditions indicate advances. So that instead of some of these goods reverting back to the prices which they were at the beginning of the month there are apt to be still further advances.

We give a discount of 10 per cent. on all our bedding; on some special numbers which we have been able to get at larger concessions there is a reduction of about 20 per cent. up to and including February 29th.

Knickerbocker Hard Water Soap—Five Cents a Cake (In March Only)

Call the Store by telephone, night or day—Stuyvesant 4700, extension 56—or send us a postcard, ordering a year's supply of Knickerbocker Hard Water Soap, the kind you are accustomed to using—order it now, because during March you can get twice as much for your money as in other months of the year—

10c Cakes for 5c

Put up in packages of Six cakes for.....30c

Twelve cakes for.....60c
Twenty-four cakes for.....$1.20
One hundred and forty-four $7.20

We are able to cut the price in half during March by omitting the usual wrappings and packings, putting up the soap unwrapped in plain boxes holding six, twelve or twenty-four cakes.

We Discovered

this soap some years ago in Europe where it had an extensive reputation and was well liked because it lathered freely in hard water as in soft water. We tried to import the soap for our customers, but the duty added to the original cost made it too expensive.

We were able, however, to procure the recipe of the soap and after much experimenting we produced exactly the same soap in this country.

Immediately it found favor here. For the past three years its sales have been doubling.

People who use it once use it always. They tell their friends of its merits, and so the sale grows.

It Is Not Just Soap

—it is good soap, made of pure ingredients soft and sympathetic to the skin, a good cleanser, lathering freely, and economical for all toilet purposes.

Monday night—Newark at Rahway.

A series that will go down in Elks' League history as one of the classics of the "Best Pinners On Earth," drew a record mob to the home of Elizabeth Elks last night, the Betsytown Antlers losing two games in their crucial series with the leading Newarks.

Elizabeth took the first game with 1061; Newark, although mounting to 998, being more than five dozen pins behind. The visitors took the second by 34 pins, 923 to 889, and the third by 36 points, 943 to 907.

Both sides had a delegation of supporters, who rooted madly. Features of the game were splits negotiated by Erler and Weingarth, Dick making the 6-7, and Weiny pulling the 6-7-10.

Each team ran amuck nine splits in the second game. Jack Speary returned his highest score of the season in the first game, the Newark nemesis soaring to 257. He became more modest as the evening wore on, and by degrees descended to ordinary heights. He finished with 203 and 172, for an average of 210.2. Henry Clauss averaged 202.2, with 227 and 202, and Erler hit 201, with three steady games. Blythe shot 221, Feihl 214, and Maloney 211 in the first game.

SOMERSET F. C. WINNERS ON HOPE JUNIORS' FLOOR

The Hope Chapel Juniors were decisively defeated last evening on their own court by the Somerset Field Club, the score being 47-25. The borough boys completely outplayed their rivals, making many pretty shots.

Mantz, at center, was the Gibraltar for his team, dropping the ball in from all conceivable positions, tallying eleven of the two-point variety, while Burner and Townley each collected a quartet of field goals. Snyder was the only reliable shot on the losing aggregation. The score:

PLAINFIELD DOG STOLEN AT SHOW

Mrs. Hone Loses Valuable Pomeranian—P. K. C. Members Bench.

J. J. O'DONOHUE WINS

Plainfield Kennel Club Cup Won by Morris Kinneys, of Butler, N. J.—Names of Other Local Entries and Winners.

Plainfield played a big part in the fortieth annual Westminster Kennel Club show, which closed last night in Madison Square Garden, New York. One of the biggest furores was caused by the disappearance of Kleiner Fritzi, the valuable pomeranian of Mrs. Philip Hone, of the Valley road. Mrs. Hone, who is a member of the Plainfield Kennel Club, left her dog in a cage while she went downstairs to watch the judging, and while she was gone some one stole the dog, which was worth several hundred dollars.

The Plainfield Kennel Club cup, it was learned today, was won by Morris Kinneys, of Kinnelon Kennels, Butler, N. J., whose Old English sheepdogs were the best dog or bitch, of any breed, owned by a member of the Plainfield Kennel Club.

The only Plainfield exhibitor to win was J. J. O'Donohue, but several out-of-town members of the Plainfield Kennel Club shared in the awards. J. J. O'Donohue's Airedale terrier Kenwyn Pennant, won the novice for dogs and two specials. As the dog is not fully developed, being less than fourteen months old, his future is very promising.

Three of the eight entries in this class were from this city. The other two were Julius Caeser, owned by Louis Bertschinger, of 1173 South Second street, and Guy Fawkes, belonging to Mrs. H. Jones. Julius Caeser was also benched in the class for American-bred dogs.

Boreas Kennels' Draco of Boreas, Champion Teddy Bailiff and Boreas Avenger were, as usual, among the best dogs in the show, but the Russian wolfhounds were for exhibition only, or they would undoubtedly have scored.

A number of dogs bred at local kennels were winners. A notable example was Albert's Sir Allister, owned by Dr. James E. Hair, of Bridgeport, who judged here several years ago. Albert's Sir Allister is by Meadowview Revel, of the A. G. Hooley Meadowview kennels, and Alberta Nedra, and won in three classes, being judged the best Irish, English or Gordon setter in the show.

A. G. Hooley and A. C. Wilmerding, two Plainfielders who generally have entries in the Westminster show, did not bench, for the first time in many years.

Among the out-of-town members of the Plainfield Kennel Club who had winners are Mrs. Robert A. Fairburn, Westfield, Scottish deerhounds; Kynewood Kennels (collies) of New Brunswick; Walescott Kennels (Scottish terriers), of Bernardsville; and John Bates (Irish terriers)), of Convent, N. J.

SMALL ROSELLE COURT BOTHERS P. H. S. BOYS

Meet Same Fate That Befell Girls—Final Score is 45-16.

The Plainfield High School boys' basketball team went to Roselle last night and went down to defeat at the hands of the high school team of that place by a 45 to 16 count. The boys did the same thing that the local girls did last week, getting defeated on the same court after registering a win earlier in the season on the P. H. S. court. When it comes to bandboxes, that Roselle court takes the prize. It is about half the size of a regulation court, and nine times out of ten the P. H. S. basketeers either overshot or dribbled out of bounds.

The locals were completely muddled up, and Kyle, who specializes in long shots, didn't hit the backboard half the time, but a spot several feet above the basket. McDowell and Linke, too, were off in their shooting, while Davies, who played guard in the local game, was stationed at forward and ran around that little court enough to ring up twelve baskets. The first half gave the homesters a big lead and they increased it in the last period. Most of the local goals came from mid-floor, a distance about equal to shooting from the foul line on a court of regular size.

SENIOR-FACULTY GAME AT P. H. S. WEDNESDAY

While Plainfield High School' sport card is not very full for the coming week, it includes some important events. It marks the end of the College and Interclass Basketball Leagues that have been running for the past two months. That third and deciding game between the P. H. S. and N. P. H. S. maidens is also scheduled to be played, and the annual Senior-Faculty scrap will be played.

The schedule day by day:

Monday—1919 vs. 1916 (P. H. S. Interclass League), Rutgers vs. Cornell (P. H. S. College League).

Tuesday—N. P. H. S. vs. P. H. S. girls at Y. M. C. A

Wednesday—Senior vs Faculty.

Friday—St. Benedict's (first and second teams), at Newark.

B. A. C. TEAMS WINS.

Monday—1916 vs. 1919.

By defeating the Seniors in a lively fracas yesterday afternoon, the Juniors put a padlock on the door to first place in the P. H. S. Interclass League and finished with five games won and one lost. There is only one remaining game, between the Seniors and Freshmen, and if the former come out ahead it will mean a tie for third place. The Sophomores have second place cinched.

The game yesterday was the best yet played in the league, as with a changed lineup the Seniors did some great work and held the winners practically even until shortly before the blow of the whistle. The end of the first half gave the Juniors a fairly good lead, but the fourth year men made short work of it at the starting of the last period and for nearly all the remainder of the time the two teams ran neck and neck. Noonan, after running up a large tally, contented himself with passing to Kline, who, although playing guard, made four baskets in about as many minutes and put the game on ice. Noonan and Kline made all the points for the third year men, with the exception of one basket, while the Seniors' points were more distributed.

FINAL FIGURES AND FACTS ABOUT CITY BOWLING LEAGUE'S SEASON

Voorhees, Lewis, McKenzie, Connolly and Conover Win Shirts for High Team Score—Newsy Notes and Interesting Dope of Alley Competition Which Ended Thursday Night.

A scan of the final records of the City Bowling League brings to light many interesting points. The 18-game averages of the four teams are: Imperials, 874.9; Eagles, 867.11; Tabs, 840.4; Knights of Columbus, 830.12.

The Columbus Club team's highest total was made in its first game. In their seventeen other games, the Knights were never able to equal their initial performance, although they stopped only one pin short of the mark in their eighth game.

If the dope of Art Voorhees' record proves anything, it is that the individual average champion doesn't hit his stride until he has been in action at least one game. In every match, Voorhees' lowest score of the night came in the first game, and was generally forty or fifty pins below his scores made in the second and third games.

The total number of pins knocked down in the league is 61,434. The Imperials spilled 15,741, 124 more than the Eagles, 617 more than the Tabs, and 789 more than the Knights.

The Eagles had the most nine hundred totals, making nine all told. The Imps made seven, the Tabs and Knights each two.

The Columbian team was the only one that didn't share in the prizes. The highest eligible man who didn't win an average prize was George Taylor. "Buck" finished 25 pins behind Gates, who got sixth prize.

The following members of the Imperials each get a shirt from H. P. Greenwood for making the team high score record on January 26: Art Voorhees, George Lewis, Jim McKenzie, John Connolly and Walt Conover.

The Imperials did their best work of the season on the Tabs' alleys, where they averaged 919. The Eagles averaged 918.1 on the Columbus club chutes.

Twenty-nine of the thirty men competing in the tournament were from the city or borough, yet first average and second high score prizes went to the lone outsider. Being a 30 to 1 shot doesn't bother Dunellen.

Voorhees, by the way, easily had the three-game average record for the league. He shot 222.2 in his three games on the T. A. B. club lanes.

Others who had two hundred averages during the season were Jim Scott, 205.1; Jim Mahoney, 202.2; George Lewis, 201.1.

Radin, one of the favorites for a prize, was consistent all season. He totaled 3,337 pins for the 18 games, just beating out Scott, who accounted for 3,333.

RECREATION NOTES.

The municipal dance will be held in the Washington school auditorium tonight.

The executive committee of the Community Center will hold an important meeting in the kindergarten room of the Washington school, Monday night.

The dancing class will meet in the auditorium of the Washington school Monday night, as usual. Games and pool will be played in the library.

In Want Ads Do Not Use An Unnecessary Word, Nor Omit a Necessary One

A want ad may be too short as well as too long. There ought to be, always, a rational brevity—but this should not preclude a touch of "human interest"—the statement of such facts as will give the advertisements a certain DEFINITENESS instead of vagueness.

—Among the readers of this newspaper's classified columns are possible buyers for any desirable real estate in this city.

ASKS $10,000 FOR FATALITY BY GAS

Son of Victim Sues Parents' Landlord.

BLAME FAULTY CONDITIONS

Victims Were Found Unconscious In Room on Boy's Return From School With Granddaughter—Both Were Taken to Newark Hospital and Died an Hour Later.

Newark, Feb. 26.—Claiming $10,000 damages because of the asphyxiation of his mother, Mrs. Victoria Groelly, by illuminating gas in East Newark on Nov. 24 last, Ernest Groelly of Harrison brought suit in the Hudson county common pleas court against Arthur Stumpf of 336 Cleveland avenue, Harrison, owner of the premises in which Mrs. Groelly and her granddaughter were overcome.

The son sues as administrator of his mother's estate and alleges that the landlord is responsible for defective conditions that led to the fatality. Mr. Stumpf said he had not been served with writ papers in the case. He declined to discuss the subject.

Mrs. Groelly occupied the third floor at 504 Passaic avenue, East Newark, with her four sons and granddaughter, five years old. Harry Groelly, one of the sons, returned from school at noon and found his mother and the girl, Elizabeth Groelly, on the floor unconscious and the room full of gas. Mrs. Groelly and her grandchild were taken to St. Michael's hospital, where they died about an hour later.

According to the police, who made an immediate investigation, the gas escaped from a pipe in the kitchen intended for a gas stove, but which had not been connected. No cap is said to have been placed on the end of the pipe.

It was explained at the time that Mrs. Groelly had always expressed a dread of the use of gas for any purpose. Employees of the Public Service Gas company were sent to investigate and are reported to have discovered that some one had turned on the gas leading to all the pipes in the building. It was subsequently testified at a coroner's inquest in Jersey City that Mr. Stumpf had sent men to do some work in the cellar at the tenement building.

STRIKE AT ROOSEVELT.

Chemical Workers Demand More Wages and Shorter Hours.

Roosevelt, Feb. 26.—Four hundred and fifty men employed at the Williams & Clark plant of the American Agricultural Chemical company went on strike. They want 25 cents an hour and a nine hour day. They have been working ten hours. The strikers say they will bring about a strike at the Liebig plant.

These are the plants where there was a strike a year ago during which strike breaking guards fired into the strikers in front of the depot at the Williams & Clark plant and killed several and wounded almost a score.

TEACHERS ARE UPHELD.

Cruelty Charges Not Warranted, Says Taxpayers' League.

Linden, Feb. 26.—Teachers of school No. 4, who were said to have kicked and cuffed pupils, are upheld in a report by the Citizens' and Taxpayers' league of the St. George section, within which the complaint originated. Mr. Vanderwall said that his investigation had not shown that the teachers had inflicted physical punishment on unruly pupils.

LAKEWOOD'S LEAP YEAR BALL

Governor and Mrs. Fielder Are Among Invited Guests.

Lakewood, Feb. 26.—Many of the holiday visitors are lengthening their stay until after next Tuesday, when the Laurel House will conclude the midwinter round of social activities with a leap year ball. The affair promises to be full of surprises. Invitations have been issued to 300, including Governor and Mrs. Fielder and the governor's staff.

VILLA IS FORCED OUT OF MOUNTAINS

Train Wreck Retards Troops Pursuing Rebel General.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 26.—Twenty passengers, all Mexicans, were killed when a train on the Mexico Northwestern railroad was wrecked near Casas Grandes, 150 miles south of Juarez. It was a mixed train of lumber and passenger cars. A trainload of troops sent south from Juarez to enter the campaign against Villa was detained by the wreck.

General Villa has left his mountain retreat and during the past two days has made a hurried movement from San Anna into the San Buenaventura district as a result of the closing in upon him of Carranza troops from the south.

Villa, with his troops somewhat augmented during the past week, is said to have entered Buenaventura and burned a number of homes and looted small stores and commissaries. According to the last report received by General Gavira of the Juarez garrison, Villa is now at El Valle, north of San Buenaventura and approximately 125 miles from the border. The Carranzistas are rejoicing over the fact that Villa is now in the open country and that this has been the first opportunity for a real and decisive engagement since the Sonora campaign.

General Bertani is said by General Gavira to be at Pearson, approaching Villa from the southwest, while a second column of cavalry is making its way in a northeasterly direction from Chihuahua City under the command of General Luis Herrera.

BLOW TO ORPET DEFENSE.

Chemist For Prosecution Declares Poison Was Pure.

Chicago, Feb. 26.—The defense of William H. Orpet, charged with the murder of Marian Lambert, who was found dead from cyanide of potassium poisoning, received another blow.

Dr. Ralph Webster has made a chemical analysis of the cyanide of potassium found in the ash heap in the cellar of the Orpet home on Cyrus McCormick's estate in Lake Forest and made the discovery that instead of being "dead" it is chemically pure.

At the coroner's inquest the elder Orpet stated that he had given an order to an assistant to have the cyanide used dumped out because it was no longer strong enough.

SANFORD'S DAUGHTER ON BOAT

Sailors Refuse to Comment on Elopement Reports.

Portland, Me., Feb. 26.—Margaret Sanford, aged sixteen, daughter of Prophet "Elijah" Sanford, former head of the Holy Ghost and Us society, who was thought to have eloped to Worcester with young Vinal Bailey, is said to be on one of the society's yachts in Portland harbor.

Sailors on the Coronet and the Barracouta were asked if the report was true, but refused to make any statement.

LEADERS OPPOSE SEN. MARTINE

Efforts Being Made to Defeat Plainfield Man for a Renomination.

SAUNDERS MENTIONED

Former Mayor of North Plainfield, However, Declares He Does Not Want to Run—Hudspeth is Also Talked of as Candidate.

Democratic state leaders who are opposed to the renomination of James E. Martine for United States Senator, have been searching the heather lately for a candidate who will be strong enough to wrest the nomination from him in the coming primaries. The objection raised to Martine is that he probably will be a drawback to the national and state tickets in November. His opponents give no particulars on this point, but the feeling against him seems significant from the fact that it comes from those who were ardently aligned with him in 1911 in the memorable contest with former Senator James Smith, Jr. Their objection to Martine finds many echoes in the rank and file of the party, but so far the opposition has not centred anywhere.

Martine has a few staunch friends in the state organization who place a high estimate on his vote-getting powers and who would back him in a primary fight. These men are confident that Martine would win against any but an exceptionally strong opponent and even then might be successful. One of the interesting points of the situation is that the Nugent machine in Essex county, which knew nothing too bad politically for Martine in 1911, will be with him, according to present signs, in 1916.

Those who would like to see Martine sidetracked are discussing the names of two men, either one of whom, they believe, would walk away from the senior Senator in the primaries. One is Prosecutor Robert S. Hudspeth, of Hudson, the other William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield. Saunders has recently been very much in the public eye as vice-chairman of the Naval Advisory Board of Inventions. He is president of the

THE ALLEN E. BEALS CORPORATION FORMED

New Concern Will Engage in General Advertising and Publishing Business.

Albany, Feb. 28.—Incorporation papers were filed here today calling for a charter for the Allen E. Beals Corporation, of 47 West 34th street, New York, to do a general advertising and publishing business. The capital stock is $5,000, all paid in, and the incorporators are Allen E. Beals, of Plainfield, N. J.; Charles Francis, Nyack, N. Y.; Stephen Gates, Locust Valley, N. Y.; Ford H. Dow, White Plains, N. Y., and George B. Hill, of New York.

Allen E. Beals is a member of the local Playground Commission, Scout Executive of the Boy Scout movement in this city and has for a number of years carried on an advertising business at 30 Church street, New York. He was formerly a reporter on The Daily Press; was the first city editor of the Newark Morning Star, and subsequently was New Jersey editor of the New York Tribune. As construction editor of the Record & Guide, one of the F. W. Dodge publications in New York, he made for himself a national reputation as a building material market analyst, one of his latest articles as such appearing in the February 1st issue of Brick and the Clay Record, of Chicago, on "The Relative Cost of Burning Brick in Scove Kilns." He lives at 634 East Second street, this city.

FIREMEN CALLED OUT FOUR TIMES

Department Busy Sunday and Monday But the Loss is Not Large.

Four fire alarms were answered by the Plainfield department during Sunday and Monday. All were extinguished without serious damage. The first alarm came in at 10:10 a. m., Sunday. There was a slight blaze in the closet of the home of John Owens, at 223 Lee place. The damage was trifling. At 4:15 p. m. Sunday, the firemen were called to the home of E. A. Stephenson, of 506 West Seventh street, where soot in a chimney was burning. It was quickly extinguished. Early this morning they were called to the Jewett home at 1000 Central avenue, but the alarm had been turned in over heater trouble and there was no work for the firemen when they arrived. At 11:45 today an alarm was turned in calling the department to 1331 Prospect avenue. The fire was on the roof of the home of H. C. Tracy. Members of the family had been away from home for some time, and on their return lighted a big fire in the furnace, sparks from which set fire to the shingle roof. It was put out with chemicals and the damage was slight.

EVERYTHING READY FOR BAZAAR OPENING

Week's Festivities Will Begin in the Columbus Auditorium This Evening.

Everything is in readiness for the grand opening of the Knights of Columbus bazaar, tonight, which will inaugurate a week of festivities at the West Front street clubhouse. W. H. Schaefer, general chairman of the bazaar committee, has left nothing undone to provide every comfort necessary for each attendant, and he has been ably assisted by a large and efficient committee. The chairman has organized his committees into working units. With their customary energy and enthusiasm the Knights expect to make up for a season of inactivity by giving all attendants a hearty welcome and scores of surprises worthy of everyone's most expectant interest.

Professional decorators have planned the embellishments in a pleasing manner. The color scheme has been worked out in a pretty style and will be a pleasure for visitors to observe the arrangement. The Bazaarland begins the moment one enters the door. On the left and on down the aisle are the booths containing the merchandise of the nations, tastefully arranged so that spectators may leisurely examine the wares of the merchants. The latter will be women friends and wives of the members.

During the week there will be entertainments, including vaudeville, minstrelsy, concert song recitals, provided for the visitors; and on Wednesday night there will be a special entertainment for everyone to participate in—a monster masquerade. Thursday night will be Elks' night, while Friday night will be Knights' night. Among the many booths are the Country Store, selling everything; the fancy booth, the delight of women; the apron and cake booth, getting back to the practical variety; the flower booth, a thing of beauty; the candy booth; the gypsy booth, with its corps of trained soothsayers and mystic people: the cut glass booth; the grab bag and many others.

There will be dancing every night, Prof. Squier's orchestra dispensing the music. A children's matinee is being planned for Saturday afternoon.

ORATORIO IS ENJOYED BY LARGE CONGREGATION

The musical service at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon attracted an unusually large congregation to the edifice. The quartet choir under the direction of E. Metler Davis, organist, and choir director, sang selections from Horatio Parker's oratorio, "Hora Novissima," which was much enjoyed by all the worshippers present.

The various part and chorus numbers were rendered in a pleasing manner, showing the result of careful training. The quartet was comprised of Miss Lillian Vernon Watt, soprano; Miss Grace J. Carroll, contralto; Paul C. Haskell, tenor; Dr. Hugh Schussler, bass, and Albert L. Pellaton, acting bass.

PREPARATORY SERVICES.

Preparatory services will be held at Trinity Reformed church, Friday evening at 8 o'clock, after which the elders and minister will meet to receive candidates for membership, either on profession of faith or by letter. The communion service will be held Sunday morning.

INTEREST KEEN IN DOLLAR DAY

Plainfield's Representative Merchants Will Participate in Monster Sale.

CREDIT DUE COMMITTEE

Business Men's Association Promoter of Scheme—Expect Many Out-of-Town Shoppers Tomorrow—Bargains Plentiful.

Through the efforts of the Business Men's Association's committee, enough interest has been aroused in tomorrow's Prosperity Dollar Day event to indicate that it will probably be the largest one-day sale ever conducted by Plainfield merchants. The committee, which is composed of J. J. Varley, as chairman, and Samuel Rothberg, Albert F. LaRocke, George Finger and A. H. Osmun, has been active during the past two weeks acquainting the populace of surrounding suburbs with the details of the monster dollar sale and it will be the most extensively advertised Dollar Day Plainfield merchants have ever participated in.

Those business men who belong to the association are displaying the organization's insignia in their show windows, and the influence of the association in community business circles is indicated by the fact that a number of non-members have lined up for Prosperity Dollar Day and are also offering specials tomorrow. In other words, the merchants taking part are representative of the city's business interests and bargains may be found in every line of merchandise.

It is expected that Plainfield will tomorrow be the mecca for hundreds of shoppers from towns in the immediate vicinity and the influx of outsiders will be especially catered to by the committee. A rest room has been fitted up in the center of the business section and visitors will be accommodated at this place throughout the day. It will be available for rest periods and is so located that those waiting for trolley cars will find it convenient.

J. J. Varley and his committee are entitled to the thanks of the business men of the town for their untiring efforts to make this year's Prosperity Dollar Day a record breaker. Many new features have been worked out and the committee has devoted many hours of hard work to awakening interest. Those features which proved to be drawing cards for the shopping public last year were used again and the additional advertising schemes worked out even better than was originally anticipated by the committee.

Thousands of "dollar bills" advertising the sale have been distributed and automobiles have been used each afternoon during the past week to visit the suburban sections with advertising placards. The ladies' rest room will be located at Grove street and West Front street in the store formerly occupied by A. E. Force. A maid will be in charge and she will look after children while the parents do their shopping.

CAPT. KICHELL'S FUNERAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

The funeral of Captain Harry B. Kitchell, formerly of Co. K, this city, will be held at his late home in Elizabeth at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and will be attended by the late captain's command, Co. F, as well as Companies I and C, all of Elizabeth, who accord the deceased full military honors.

The Elizabeth militia will escort the body to Westfield, the place of burial, where it will be met by Co. K, of this city, in charge of Captain Charles A. Peterson, who will officiate at the services at the grave. The pall-bearers will be six captains from the Second Infantry. Co. K will meet at the local armory at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to prepare for the trip to Westfield.

NEGRO STRUCK BY CAR ON WEST FRONT STREET

Harrison Randolph, colored, of 34 Somerset street, was struck by a westbound trolley on East Front street at 5:45 Saturday afternoon. He was not badly hurt. The negro suffered a bruised shoulder and a cut on the head. Patrolman Hendershot picked him up and Dr. Pittis gave him attention, after which he was sent to his home.

"LEAP YEAR BABY" HAS 18TH BIRTHDAY

Although Seventy-two Years Old, Albertus Swalm Has Had Few Natal Days.

Although he will be seventy-two years old tomorrow, Albertus Swalm, of Duer street, has had but seventeen previous birthdays and the coming one will be the eighteenth. He is what is known as a "leap year baby" because he was born on February 29, 1844, and as a result can only count his milestones every fourth year. Because of the rarity of birthdays in his life, Mr. Swalm always takes exceptional pleasure in observing them and will fittingly celebrate his eighteenth tomorrow.

Mr. Swalm was born in Brooklyn but came to Plainfield thirty-four years ago. For twenty years he conducted a painters' supply store on North avenue, where Joseph Sattel's piano rooms are now located. After disposing of this business he entered the employment of J. A. Smith & Bro., with whom he remained until the past year, at which time he retired to private life.

Mr. Swalm married in 1873, Miss Margaretta M. Kline, of this city, and the couple have three sons, Walter, William and Clarence, all residing here. Mr. and Mrs. Swalm have both been members of Trinity Reformed church for many years and are well known throughout the city and borough. The family resided for a long time at West Front street and Plainfield avenue, removing from there to the present address on Duer street.

BURGLARS ENTER ALBERT LANE HOME

Get Small Quantity of Silver While Family is in New York.

Burglars entered the home of J. Albert Lane, at 319 East Seventh street, sometime yesterday afternoon or evening and carried off a small quantity of silver. The home was left alone for a short time. A maid, who was left there while the family was in New York, went out at 4 p. m. and did not return until 10:30. She found that someone had entered by a front window and ransacked the house. The only articles found missing was a small silver tray and a silver loving cup. Police are working on the case.

John Coughlin, of 857 Leland avenue, was arrested by the police yesterday on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. After he had been taken to the station it was found that he was suffering from the effects of alcoholism and instead of being given a sentence he is being given medical care.

KEPT OPEN SUNDAY AND PAYS A FINE

Law is Avenged in Roundabout Way for Violation.

The law was avenged for a Sunday selling of sardines in a peculiar way this morning. Judge De Meza had before him four men charged with being disorderly by fighting. They were Isadore Devine, Louis Berzon Ernest Johnson and Andrew Johnson. When evidence against them was heard it developed that Berzon operates a small store at 528 West Fourth street. Levine is his friend and was in the store with him yesterday afternoon when the two Johnson brothers came in to buy some sardines. After making the purchase they stopped to eat their fish, and Ernest Johnson began to "kid" Berzon about being open on Suday, saying that he ought to observe at least one day a week. The proprietor became angry, and the two started to fight. Both witnesses took a hand, and Patrolman Bebout happened along just in time to prevent serious results. Each man was given a fine for his part in the fray.

LAMAR, "WALL STREET WOLF," GETS NEW TRIAL

Washington, Feb. 28.—Under a decision today of the United States Supreme Court, David Lamar, "the wolf of Wall street," will have his case reviewed on its merits. The former decision of the Supreme Court was on a question of jurisdiction. The Supreme Court denied a motion submitted by the Department of Justice for the immediate issuance of the mandate sending Lamar to prison. The court also denied Lamar's petition for a writ of mandamus to re-instate his case in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at New York. The petition for a writ of certiorari to review his conviction was granted, however.

RASORES TO MEET.

The Rasores will meet tomorrow morning at 10:30 with the president, Mrs. I. C. Pierson, of Watchung avenue.

J. H. WRIGHT LEFT OVER A MILLION

First Accounting of Large Estate Filed in New York Court Today.

SEVERAL LOCAL HEIRS

Testator Was Father of Mrs. J. B. Dumont, of this city—Prior to His Death He Gave Operating Pavilion to Muhlenberg Hospital.

New York, Feb. 28.—The first accounting of the estate left by John Howard Wright, father of Mrs. John B. Dumont, and grandfather of Edmee A. Hussey, both of Plainfield, was filed today in the surrogate's cour by J. Dunbar Wright, a son, and Girard F. Thomson, as executors.

This shows that the testator left an estate of $1,197,602.65, all of which has come into the hands of the executors, out of which they have paid out $1,183,513.91, leaving a balance of $14,088.74 for further distribution, subject to deductions of commissions and expenses of accounting.

At the time of Mr. Wright's death his estate amounted to $986,133.42 in personal, and $51,000 in real property, which to the date of distribution increased $160,469.23. The sum of $29,129.87 has been paid to creditors; $51,169.59 for the payment of funeral, administration, taxes and other debts, and $1,103,214.45 to the beneficiaries.

The sum of $1,500 each went to the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, the Young Friends' Association, the Working Women's Protective Union and the New York Nursery and Childs' Hospital, and $1,000 to the New York Colored Mission. $9,600 was distributed among fifteen friends. Other bequests are as follows:

J Dunbar Wright, $298,278.51; Mrs. J. B. Dumont, $259,083.51; Howard K. Coolidge, of Greenwich, Conn., and George G. Coolidge, of Pittsburg, Pa., grandchildren, each $86,361.17; Mrs. Annie W. DeLanoy, Edmee A. Hussey, of Plainfield, and Sarah Coolidge Fairfax, of Coggin Hall, Va., grandchildren, each $2,771.33; Union Trust Company, of New York, three bequests of $86,361.17, in trust, to apply the income arising from each for the support of each of the three named grandchildren, and at the death of each the $86,361.17 trust fund is to cease and the principal distributed among other relatives.

Mr. Wright was 87 years old when he died, on November 19, 1914. He lived at 41 East Fifty-first street, New York. For twenty years he was connected with the Standard Oil Company. Prior to his death he gave the operating pavilion at Muhlenberg Hospital in memory of two grandsons.

GEORGE LATOURETTE GUEST AT A SURPRISE PARTY

George H. La Tourette, of 203 North avenue, was the guest of honor at a delightful surprise party given in his honor, Saturday evening. The affair, which was a complete surprise to him, was arranged by Mrs. La Tourette. Twenty-six friends were present from this city, Newark, New York, Dunellen, and Three Bridges. Vocal and instrumental selections rendered by several guests were features of the evening, while all joined in the dancing and games. Refreshments were served later.

Among those present were: Miss Sarah La Tourette and Dewey Apgar, of Newark; Miss Katherine Kennedy, of New York; Miss Florence Lane, of Three Bridges; Miss Bertha Kirch, of Dunellen; Misses Frances Newman, Lelia Wherry, Margaret Moran, Laura Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schomp, Misses Clara Harris, Dora Borman, Marian Tranchard, Dorothy Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. Mattison, John Stransberg, Charles Snyder, Alfred Elliott and Mr. and Mrs. George La Tourette.

SNEAK THIEF GETS ALL HE NEEDS FOR GOOD DINNER

A sneak thief yesterday secured the necessities for a good Sunday dinner when he raided the ice box of James S. Bradshaw, 100 Park avenue. A ten pound roast, a ham and a chicken was reported missing. The police are looking for the thief but fear that by this time he has destroyed the evidence.

MISS WILSON DE MAURIAC.

Miss Wilson de Mauriac, a native of this city, died yesterday in the home of her sister, Mrs. E. A. Fairchild, 113 Amity street, Flushing. She spent her girlhood in Plainfield, but removed to Flushing about fifty years ago. Beside her sister, Mrs Fairchild, she is survived by four brothers, John Octave, of Flushing; E. A., of Allendale; Oliver W., of Chicago, and William de Mauriac, of Middletown, Conn.

STEPHEN KONOMLICWSKI.

Stephen Konomlicwski, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Konomlicwski, of this city, died Saturday. The funeral was held this morning at 11:30, and interment took place in St. Mary's cemetery.

DR. EATON TO STAY WITH CONGREGATION

Reads Statement Outlining New Plan of Activities for Church.

Dr. Charles A. Eaton, of Watchung, pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist church, who three weeks ago offered his resignation, yesterday formally withdrew this and outlined a new line of activities for the church. Dr. Eaton had planned to resign so as to give his undivided attention to the work of overcoming problems that this country must face as a result of the war, but his congregation refused to accept the resignation, and yesterday he read a statement in which he said that he would stay with the church.

Dr. Eaton's statement was received by the congregation in silence. As he ceased reading he tossed the paper on the pulpit and said, with a laugh: "I'm awfully glad to be able to read that. I'd rather be pastor of this church than any on earth. We don't always agree—no two Baptists ever did agree—but we love one another and stand together as a unit."

After the service the congregation flocked to the front of the church and gave Dr. Eaton an informal reception. Dr. Eaton's statement in part reads:

"On Sunday, February 6, I tendered my resignation as your paster. On Monday, February 7, in the annual meeting of the church, you passed the following resolution by an overwhelming majority:

"'Resolved, That the pastor's resignation be not accepted, as we believe it would be disastrous to the welfare of the Madison Avenue Baptist church to lose his ministry at this time, and that we pledge ourselves to support the pastor as individuals.'

"In addition, I have received hundreds of letters and personal messages urging me to remain in this pulpit and to do my work as your representative and spokesman.

"Your unsolicited and spontaneous action lays upon me a burden from which I cannot in honor turn aside, and I therefore withdraw my resignation, in accordance with your request.

"In taking this step I am assured that we are in full agreement as to the place and function of the pastor in a Christian church. The pastor is not the hireling of the church, nor of any members, nor groups of members. He is an ambassador from the kingdom of God, and the Church is his embassy. He does not exist for the Church, nor the Church for him. They exist together for the service of mankind in all those things that make for character, freedom, justice and peace. The Church is the conscience of the world."

JACOB W. COSE LAID TO REST AT HILLSIDE

In the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, the funeral of Jacob Winsor Cose, who died at his home on East Seventh street, Friday noon, was held in the parlor of the Crescent Avenue church this afternoon. The service was conducted by Rev. Frederic L. Greene, pastor of Hope Chapel, where Mr. Cose attended worship for many years.

The gathering present included many friends from Hunderton county, Mr. Cose having resided at Annandale for thirty years, and a delegation from Stewart lodge, F. and A. M. of Clinton, of which he was a charter member. The floral tributes included set pieces from the Masons, Plainfield lodge of Elks, in which Councilman John H. Cose, a son, is a prominent member, and from city officials. During the service the Elks' quartet, composed of Joseph C. Martin, Elmer D. Cuttig, Edward Harding and William Smith, sang two selections.

Burial was in Hillside cemetery, the pall bearers being two sons, George B. Cose, of Schenectady, N. Y., and Councilman John H. Cose, and the following sons-in-law: Joseph Brown and James Penny, of this city; Thomas Bird, of Easton, Pa., and Harry Lister, of Philadelphia.

NEW THRUST FELT

Army of Crown Prince Begins to Circle Giant Fortress—Thousands of Dead and Dying Cover Snow-swept Field.

London, February 28.—The world's bloodiest battle continues with unbroken ferocity before the heights of Verdun. French and German reports of this morning indicate that the German drive is not yet spent—that the von Hindenberg warriors are continuing to drive forward against the fire of French guns. The looked for stragetical move is as yet undeveloped and the fighting is still straight, but even French generals admit that the Germans do not hope to carry Verdun by sheer strength of numbers and fierceness of charge and a counter move is expected momentarily. It may have been started in a new thrust by the army of the Crown Prince down the Woevre Valley, that has brought fighting around Moranville and Blanzee, directly behind the great Fortress of Verdun. The French admit a retirement in this region.

Train loads of wounded, moving Parisward today, are bringing evidence of the fearfulness of the cornage north of the French fortress. Other trains laden with fresh troops and munition supplies are hurrying eastward to fill the gaps in the French ranks.

Paris is cheered by the lastest advice from the War Office indicating that the French left continues to hold firmly on the Poivve heights north of Verdun while the centre and right deliver violent counter-attacks against the Germans eastward from the ruins of Fort Douaumont.

On the eighth day of the great German offensive, accurate estimates of the casualties are still unobtainable. Thousands of the dead lie on the plain north of Poivve height under the screaming hurricane of shells.

Other thousands lie among the stumps of Caures forest, whose trees have been splintered under the most terrific hail of shells of the war. The

PNEUMONIA FATAL TO JOHN D. KIRCH

Well Known Resident of the Borough Succumbs to Ten Days' Illness.

John D. Kirch, aged 75 years, a well known resident of North Plainfield for the past thirty years, died at his home on Somerset street, yesterday, following a ten days' illness with pneumonia. His condition was serious from the time he was first taken ill and during the past few days his death was expected at any time.

Mr. Kirch was born at Meyersville, Somerset county, where he engaged in farming for a time. He was also a carpenter, which trade he followed for a number of years after removing to the borough. He was associated with A. I. Smalley, formerly of the borough, in the fruit business, the two owning valuable fruit-producing land in Florida. During recent years Mr. Kirch lived a quiet, retired life. He never held public office. He was a member of the German Congregational church at Mt. Bethel.

Beside a wife, Mr. Kirch is survived by three brothers, Freeholder George Kirch, of North Plainfield; Fred Kirch, of Clinton avenue, this city, and William Kirch, of Mt. Bethel; also three sisters, Mrs. Anna Zimmerman and Miss Matilda Kirch, of Mt. Bethel, and Mrs. Elizabeth Badum, of Dunellen. The notice of funeral will be announced later.

The funeral will be held at the late residence, 263 Somerset street, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

NEW CONSUL IS OFF TO POST IN MEXICO

Washington, Feb. 28.—James L. Rogers, recently appointed by President Wilson as special agent in Mexico, received his final instructions from Secretary Lansing today, preparatory to leaving for his new post. Consul-General Rogers probably will meet and confer with the First Chief Carranza at Queretaro, it was stated.

PHILADELPHIA R. R. WINS.

Washington, Feb. 28.—The United States Supreme Court today reversed a decision of the United States District Court at Philadelphia, denying an injunction sought by the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company to prevent a reduction in cement rates from the Lehigh district to Jersey City, ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Plains & Fanwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyer, of Stout avenue, are the parents of a daughter, born last week.

A meeting of the Sub Rosa Club will be held tomorrow night at the home of Mrs. Claude Sorenson, of Bartle avenue.

Sidney Lidgate, of North avenue, entertained Maurice Hall, a former local resident, but now living in New York, over the week-end.

Walter E. Sands, of Fourth street, left to-day for Atlantic City, where he will superintend the erection of a large amusement plant for the A. L. Thompson Railway Company.

The Rev. Frank Chadwick, pastor of the Springfield Methodist church, preached at the morning service in the Methodist church yesterday.

Although the government has asked for bids to carry the U. S. mail from the local C. R. R. of New Jersey station to the Scotch Plains postoffice, it is not expected that there will be any change from the present carrier, who has held the position for over ten years.

There are now two local girls playing on the girls' basketball team of the Plainfield High School. In Saturday's game Miss Elsa Palmer played forward and Miss Gertrude Head played guard.

Mr. and Mrs. Peidro Rigando, of Cook avenue, are the parents of a young daughter.

The meeting of the Men's Forum, held in the Parish House, yesterday afternoon, was the largest attended session of any yet held, and attracted nearly seventy-five men to express and listen to others express opinions on "Borough Incorporation." Mayor Hoar spoke on the subject, and the majority of those present seemed in favor of such a move on the part of Scotch Plains. It is probable that another meeting, when more definite steps will be taken now that the idea has been fairly launchd, will be held in the near future. Tea was served at the end of the meeting.

"Sanitation" will be discussed at next Sunday's meeting of the Men's Forum.

Miss Mildred Tomlinson has the measles.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL RALLY.

The first rally of the Dunellen and New Market Sunday School Union will be held in the First Baptist church tomorrow evening. An appropriate program has been planned for the occasion, and a rousing time is anticipated. The school which has the largest percentage of its members present will receive a banner.

A song service was conducted in the First Baptist church last evening. At intervals during the service the pastor, the Rev. T. E. Vassar, read from the life of Moody, the late evangelist.

Edward B. Ryder, of Central avenue, this city, was initiated last week in Beta Theta Pi Fraternity, with five other freshmen of Brown University. At the initiation banquet he gave a short speech for his delegation. Fred Chamberlain, also of this city, is pledged to the same fraternity, and will be initiated in April. They were both members of last year's graduating class of Plainfield Hiigh School. Chamberlain has been awarded his numerals for football, and he is out for wrestling and class basketball. Ryder is out for class basketball, and he is a member of the junior-freshman-dance committee. They are both doing well in their studies.

WILL SEEK RECRUITS FOR FOREIGN MISSION FIELD

Dr. Paul W. Harrison, missionary from Trinity Reformed church to Arabia, who is home on a vacation for a few months, has been employed as a traveling secretary for the Student Volunteer Movement during the months of March and April. He will conduct conferences and make addresses at various colleges with the object of winning recruits for the foreign mission field. His schedule for March follows:

March 1, Wesleyan University; 2-3, Brown University; 4-5, Connecticut Valley Conference, New Haven; 6-7, Amherst College; 8-10, Boston, Mass.; 11, rest; 12-13, Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Me.

CELTIC PARK PIPERS WILL FURNISH MUSIC

Arrangements are about complete for the forty-first annual ball of Division No. 4, Ancient Order Hibernians, to be held in Saengerbund Hall on St. Patrick's Day eve, March 16. If the elaborate preparations are realized this annual event will surpass all others of its kind held in former years.

The committee has succeeded in securing the services of Messrs. MacDonough and Hennessey, the Celtic Park pipers, who will furnish Irish music. These musicians are always in demand at this time of the year. For those who find pleasure in modern dancing, Halbfoerster's Tango Band, of Elizabeth, will endeavor to provide diversion. The committee in charge comprises John J. Hurley, chairman; James P. Casey, secretary; John J. Gallagher, treasurer; James Kyle, Daniel Nugent, Michael Regan, James Caserly, William Lafferty, James Golden and John Geragaty.

EVERY MEMBER CANVASS.

An every-member canvass of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church is to be made next Sunday for the benevolence fund of the church. Those who have volunteered to help in the canvass will meet at the church Friday night at 7 o'clock, when the women will serve a dinner. Afterward David McDonaughy, of New York, will tell of the best means of conducting the campaign.

Rev. F. J. Hubach, district superintendent, occupied the pulpit of the First M. E. church yesterday morning.

LEADERS OPPOSE MARTINE

American Institute of Mining Engineers, one of the eleven scientific societies co-operating with the National Government to insure industrial preparedness in the event of war. Saunders has been a student of the problem of mobilizing American industries for possible conflict.

Wherever Saunder's name is mentioned his would-be sponsors are told that the suggestion is splendid, but the trouble seems to be that Saunders himself will have nothing to do with it. He made it clear to them long ago that he would not be a candidate. Men who have sought his views recently have found that he has not changed his mind. In an interview, Mr. Saunders has again said that he was absolutely determined not to be a candidate.

Saunders is a lifelong Democrat, a former member of the Democratic state committee from Somerset county. When the name of W. L. Saunders appeared last Monday in the list of progressive Republicans who launched the candidacy of George L. Record for Governor, many persons thought the North Plainfield man was referred to. Some old-timers recalled that Saunders, then Mayor of North Plainfield, and Record spoke from the same platform in one of the Cleveland campaigns in behalf of the Democratic ticket. But the Saunders who was at the Record conference recently was not the Plainfield man.

Despite Mr. Saunders' frame of mind, the Democratic chieftains, who admire his qualifications as a possible candidate, decline to believe that he can be counted out of the race at this time. Conditions may change, they urge. Their underlying thought seems to be that a suggestion from the White House would put Saunders in the field, provided there was a demand for him from the Democratic organization in this state.

The Hudspeth boom is different because Mr. Hudspeth, according to his friends, is not averse to being a candidate against Martine. He would run if conditions were right. The drawback is that Hudson county has a condidate for the Governorship in Naval Officer H. Otto Wittpenn, and the belief prevails in that county that the rest of the state would not let the two big offices to go to the one county.

It was said that Hudspeth would get into the race if he felt certain that his candidacy would not injure Wittpenn. This point has been discussed between friends of Hudspeth and those of Wittpenn, according to the gossip among the anti-Martine men, and Mr. Hudspeth was so impressed with the argument that Wittpenn would be injured by the Senatorial candidacy of a Hudson man that he decided to have nothing to do with it.

There is still a feeling, however, that the Hudspeth boom is not entirely abandoned.

Representative Thomas J. Scully, of the Third District, is still nursing a Senatorial ambition, according to persons close to him politically, and it is just possible that the opposition to Martine may concentrate in that quarter before the September primaries arrive.

The Presidential primaries are apparently going to develop a fight that may furnish a line on Scully's strength. Pledged to vote for the renomination of President Wilson, Governor Fielder is a candidate for membership in the "big four" to represent the state at large at the Democratic National Convention at St. Louis. His petition is now being circulated.

At a meeting of state Democratic leaders at the executive office recently, it was tentatively decided that a slate containing the names of the Governor, United States Senators Martine and William Hughes and State Chairman Edward E. Grosscup should receive the support of the state organization, but Representative Scully quickly served notice that he would not recognize the plan and immediately announced his own candidacy. Apparently there is no disposition on the part of any one suggested for the "big four" at that conference to withdraw for the sake of peace.

Friends of Mr. Scully say that he is anxious to test his strength in a race in which he and Martine are both entered. The result, they add, may help Mr. Scully to determine whether or not he will be a candidate in the September primaries against Martine for the Senatorial nomination, provided the way is not cleared for somebody else to make the fight against the Senator in the meantime.

MEXICAN NOTES TO BE PAID AS AGREED

Carranza Government to Redeem U. S. Securities.

Mexico City, Feb. 28.—General Carranza at Guadalajara notified Subsecretary of Finance Nieto here that all notes issued by the Constitutionalist government must be recognized and redeemed at their face value when presented. The notes will later be taken up.

Carranza in his message declared that the notes constitute loans to the administration by the people in the darkest hour of the Constitutionalist cause and that he will recognize the great debt.

Carranza added that he will limit the amount of notes in circulation to about 500,000,000 pesos, which is practically the amount now out, and that he will gradually bring up the value of the notes to par by increasing the metallic guarantees.

He says he will raise by domestic loan $15,000,000 by mortgaging unused government properties. To this he will add gold paid in mining and customs taxes, also $5,000,000 already deposited with the administration by Yucatan henequin growers and another $2,500,000 deposit of the groves which the administration has guaranteed to certain transactions, also gold and silver bars in the national treasury, all this forming a nucleus for the metallic guarantee.

The local authorities say that the administration is forming a commission to arbitrate strikes, the board considering the rights of capital as well as labor.

WHITMAN GOING TO MONTREAL

Will Represent American and State Bar at Banquet.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 28.—Governor Whitman will leave Albany on Friday to attend the annual meeting and dinner of the Montreal Bar association on Saturday as representative of the American Bar association and the New York State Bar association.

He will be accompanied by Mrs. Whitman, Captain Lorillard Spencer and Mrs. Spencer, Frederick E. Wadhams, treasurer of the American Bar association, and Mrs. Wadhams, and Clifford E. Sims, vice president of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad company, and Mrs. Sims.

MISSING RIVAL, KILLS MAN.

Peekskill Suitor Shoots at Four Callers at Girl's Home.

Peekskill, N. Y., Feb. 28.—Firing at a rival suitor, George Hale, twenty-three, missed him, but killed Michael Cunningham, thirty years old.

Hale was calling on Miss Katherine Irvine, according to the police, when Stanley Lent and three companions visited her home. Hale, jealous of their presence, began firing into the party.

In Want Ads Do Not Use An Unnecessary Word, Nor Omit a Necessary One

A want ad may be too short as well as too long. There ought to be, always, a rational brevity—but this should not preclude a touch of "human interest"—the statement of such facts as will give the advertisements a certain DEFINITENESS instead of vagueness.

A Story

Friday, at Hahne's, there was advertised a little group of Dresses—at Special Price —$5.00.

They were dresses "unusual" for the money.

Some of Serge—some of Serge and Taffeta combinations. Good styles. Neat and comely.

Many were sold.

And then came a woman—BORN LUCKY!

On the rack—snuggling in among the other dresses—she found the prettiest little ALL-SILK dress—beautifully made—delightfully up-to-date in style—and superior in quality.

A dress that she KNEW at a glance was very, very good value at its plainly marked original price—$22.50.

But there it was—added to the group in the MONTH END Stock Adjusting—a prize, indeed, for the fortunate one who espied it—reduced to $5.00!

UNTIMELY DEATH OF LIEUT. ROGERS

Contracted Typhoid Fever in Panama and Passes Away in Washington Hospital.

HAD BRILLIANT CAREER

Was Graduated from West Point Military Academy in 1907, and Won Rapid Promotion in Army—Survived by Parents and One Brother.

A profound shock was occasioned to scores of local friends today when information came to Plainfield of the death of Lieutenant Nathaniel Pendleton Rogers, Jr., in the Walter Reed Hospital, at Washington, D. C., last night. He had been ill for three weeks with typhoid fever, and there were but few here who knew of his illness before word of his demise came by telegram. It is believed the disease was contracted in Panama, where he had been in charge of a recruiting corps. His parents had been with him from the time he was received at the hospital, and were at his bedside when the end came. The body is to be brought to Plainfield, and the funeral will be held at his late home on East Front street, tomorrow afternoon, at 4:30. Burial is to be at Hyde Park, Dutchess county, New York.

Lieutenant Nathaniel Pendleton Rogers, Jr. was born at the home of his grandfather, Nathaniel Rogers, West Seventy-second street, New York, on January 17, 1885, making his age just past thirty-one years at the time of his death. When six years old his parents removed to this city, and Plainfield had been his permanent home since that time. His preparatory education was gotten at Leais School, and in 1903 he accepted an appointment to the West Point Military Academy. His record there was one of the most remarkable in the annals of the big institution. At the time of his graduation in June, 1907, his examination papers were just below the 100 mark, the figure being taken from his averages. This is said to be the highest attained at the academy by any student previous and at his time.

Because of his general efficiency, Lieutenant Rogers was assigned to the Coast Artillery Corps, made up of the finest specimens of America's military experts. His graduation gave him the rank of second lieutenant, and two months later he was a first lieutenant. His first periods of duty were at Fort Hancock, Sandy Hook and Fort Hamilton, Bay Ridge. Later on he was assigned to recruiting duty at Salt Lake City, Fortress Monroe, Roanake, Va., and then to Panama. It was at the last named place that he became innoculated with typhus, and was recalled to Washington. Despite the numerous duties devolving upon him, the young lieutenant continued his studies after leaving West Point, and made a specialty of French translation, in which he became highly proficient. Although like all trained members of the United States military staff, he believed in strict discipline, there is no officer in service at the present time who held the love and respect of his men as did the young Plainfielder. Many privates in other corps sought transfer to his command, and those leaving to go elsewhere did so with the keenest regret. He was a firm believer in the principles of patriotism, and whether on duty or not, never lost an opportunity to inculcate love of country in the younger generation with which he came in contact. His training taught him to bear pain in silence, a fact strongly emphasized when he met with a coasting accident several years ago. He was terribly hurt at the time, and lay on a sick bed for many months, but he bore his suffering mutely and with the grim determination characteristic of a soldier.

Beside his father and mother, Lieutenant Rogers is survived by his grandmother, Mrs Octavia Garr Wotherspon, and one brother, David Ogden Rogers, all of Plainfield. He was a member of the Army and Navy Club, of New York, and the Nassau Club, of Princeton.

ANNOUNCE PLACE OF MEETINGS AND LEADERS

Preliminary Services Arranged in Anticipation of Biederwolf Campaign.

A meeting of the general committee in charge of the Biederwolf campaign was held at the Y. M. C. A yesterday afternoon, Chairman W. D. Muray presiding. Dr. S. S. Hudson reported for ushers and personal workers committee, that this class had been organized and held sessions every Monday night at the Y. M. C. A.; that from his large class of over 100, ushers and assistants would be selected. Rev. E. C. Conover, chairman of the canvassing committee, reported that the work of making complete canvass of the city would begin Sunday, March 5, and asked that these workers be assisted in getting information in each of the seventeen districts as full and complete as possible. A. C. Estes, reporting for the press committee, said both the Daily Press and Courier-News were cooperating with this committee, and publishing all the live, up-to-date news. C. M. Dolliver reported for the advertising committee that sign boards would be placed on all churches uniting in the movement and that boards were being placed about the city in conspicuous places. S. T. Carter, for the music committee, reported that C. A. Braider was doing the active work, and that a choir of 1,000 voices would be organized and drilled together, with an archestra of 50 pieces, ready for the opening of the campaign. The building committee, through F. R Stevens, reported that arrangements were being made for erecting a tabernacle, and all would be completed within the next few weeks. George E. Hall, of the finance committee, reported that $6,000 had been unedrwritten, and requested all pastors to urge a generous collection at the opening meeting of the tabernacle. Dr. P. B. Strong, reporting for the devotional committee, stated that fifteen districts out of the seveneen had been supplied wih superintendents, and that meetings would start in all districts on Tuesday evening. He urged that more homes for cottage prayer meetings be offered, as it was not advisable to hold more than one meeting in each home during the campaign. J. D. Loizeaux told of the arrangement in Trenton, where business men met at lunch time each day and had a speaker and prayers. It was moved that the chairman appoint a special committee to insestigate this report and give their opinion as to holding such noon-day meetings here.

The places where meetings will be held an the leaders for tomorrow night are as follows:

Frank Raymond, 394 Kensington avenue; leader, Howard Williams.

MANY MOURNERS AT THOMAR FLATLEY'S FUNERAL

The funeral of Thomas J. Flatley, who died in Wilmington, Del., last Thursday, after a brief illness, with pneumonia, was held in St. Mary's church this morning. The gathering of relatives and friends present included mourners from Wilmington, Newark, Princeton and other places, as well as from Plainfield. A high mass or requiem was said by Rev. Father Sciolla. The floral tributes, which were very numerous, included a large set piece marked "brother," from his local relatives. These are a sister, Mrs. Patrick Harrington, of West Fourth street; Samuel Flatley, of West Fifth street, and Martin Flatley, located at the present time in Newark.

Burial was in St Mary's cemetery, the following acting as pallbearers: Martin Flatley, Michael Harrington, Thomas Cooney, Patrick Diskin, Thomas Flatley and William Flatley. M. Flatley was thirty-four years old, and had a host of friends in Plainfield, having made his home here for a long time.

AUTO VICTIM DISCHARGED.

Fred Wagner, of 602 Washington street, one of the two men injured in an automobile accident at Westfield on the morning of Tuesday last, was discharged from Muhlenberg hospital this afternoon. His companion, Robert Kraul, is still at the institution suffering from a possible fracture of the skull and other injuries.

Miss Rosalie Mayer, who has traveled extensively through China and who taught for two years in a girl's school there, will address the Westminster Guild of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

NATAL ANNIVERSARY A LEAP YEAR EVENT

Mrs. Mary E. Smith Has Had Only Twenty-two Birthdays in Eighty-eight Years.

Mrs. Mary E. Smith, of Lyman and Astor places, is another Plainfielder who will have a birthday tomorrow for the first time in four years. The coming one will make a total of only twenty-two which she has had in her eighty-eight years of life, and because of their rarity, her natal days are always given proper observance to make up for the other ones lost because she was born February 29, 1828. Brooklyn is her native city, but she has resided in Plainfield for the past sixty years.

Mrs. Smith is the widow of Stephen H. Smith; is the mother of six children. These are Mrs. U. B. Crane, Mrs. William VanOrden, of this city; Edward Smith, of the borough; Stephen H. Smith, of Edgewater; Frank H. Smith, of Bridgeport, Conn., and Lester VanOrden, of Roseville. She also has eleven grandchildren and ten great grandchildren.

Mrs. Smith has been a member of Grace Episcopal church practically all the time she has made her home here and despite her advanced age is still one of its most active workers. She attends service regularly and feels that it is her duty to aid in the broad Christian work it carries on. She possesses all her faculties, is up to the minute through regular reading of newspapers and takes a keen interest in local affairs. Although she has a birthday only every four years, she anticipates a pleasant family reunion and is looking forward to a similar affair in 1920.

SAVAGE BULL DOG RUNS AMUCK IN SOMERVILLE STREET

Somerville, Feb. 28.—Considerable excitement was occasioned on Main street, Somerville, at 2:15 this morning, when a bulldog belonging to Dan Tarantino, ran amuck, inflicting injuries on two persons and badly scaring several others before disappearing. The animal rushed out of an alleyway adjoining the owner's bootblack parlor next to the postoffice and leaped upon David Butler, manager of the Seltzer Hardware Company. Before Butler could shake the dog off it had torn a two-inch gash in his thigh and lacerated other portions of the body. His clothing was also ruined. The animal jumped away from its first victim and attacked a man named Cohen, short of stature and physically unable to defend himself. Cohen was bitten in several places but not so badly as Butler.

"Jack" Torpey, who is well-known in baseball circles in Plainfield, was destined to be the next victim, but rushed into Gernert's store and, seizing a baseball bat, ran to the street to give the maddened animal proper resistance. The dog turned on seeing Torpey's menacing attitude and ran after another man. Both disappeared around a corner and the police looking for them. The canine is to be shot as soon as it gets in range of a bluecoat's gun.

Butler hurried to the office of Dr. Thomas Flynn, where his wounds were cauterized. Cohen also sought medical aid. Tarantino has had the dog for some time, and a year ago it came before the notice of the police through an attack on its owner's little girl. The child had one hand badly chewed by the animal before it was drivven off. At the time Tarantino said he would have it killed, but the occurrence of this morning shows that it is still very much alive.

"JACK" TODD PROMOTED TO NEW ENGLAND POSITION

John V. Todd, of West Front street, left this morning for New London, Conn where he will spend the week previous to beginning his new duties as Eastern Connecticut sales manager for the B. Fisher Coffee Company, of New York, with which he has been connected for the past year. New London will probably be his permanent headquarters, but he will have control of all the property between New Haven and Westerly, R. I. His previous territory had been Brooklyn and a portion of Long Island, and his appointment to the New England position comes as a promotion for meritorious service.

Mr. Todd has been prominent in local musical and amateur minstrel circles, and his removal from the city will be a distinct loss in this direction. He has been a member of Plainfield Lodge of Elks for several years, and has been active on several of its most important committees. The B. Fisher Company is one of the largest coffee concerns in the East, its best known brand being the Hotel Astor coffee, which Mr. Todd will handle.

BODY OF BABY IS FOUND IN BACK YARD

The body of a small baby was found in the rear of 150 East Seventh street this morning. The find was made by members of the police department, who reported the occurrence to the Board of Health office. It was said that the body was that of a child prematurely born. It will be buried by the city.

WILL MAKE A REPORT.

Supervising Principal D. Fred. Aungst, of the borough schools, who attended the National Educational Convention of Superintendents, at Detroit, last week, will deliver a report covering the outstanding features of the convention at the meeting of the Borough Board of Education this evening.

During his visit at Detroit, Mr. Aungst took advantage of his opportunity to visit the huge plants of the Ford and Packard Automobile Companies. He also spent a half a day profitably in visiting the Detroit Bureau of Vocational Guidance. On his trip home, via the D., L. and W., he stopped off at Niagara Falls.

Among the Plainfielders to attend the convention were Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Krebs and H. M. Maxson.

STUDY CLASS TO MEET.

The Home Mission Study Class of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will hold its first meeting on Friday morning March 10, at 11 o'clock in the church parolrs, under the direction of Mrs. H. R. Halloway. "The Church at Work," by Charles L. White, will be used in the study.

PISTOL VICTIMS' CONDITION.

A report from Muhlenberg hospital at noon today stated that Claude Bibb and Miss Iona Hunt, the two colored persons connected with the shooting affray on East Fourth street, Friday afternoon, were still in the same condition. Bibb is injured the worse of the two and may possibly die at any time.

PENNOCK BUYS CHATTELS.

To protect his own interests, Edward Pennock, of Dunellen, purchased the chattels of William Ward, to whom he sold his drug business in that place a number of months ago, at a public sale conducted by George W. Day this morning. Mr. Pennock is at present traveling for the Philadelphia drug house of John Wyeth & Bro. He is undecided as to whether he will re-enter the drug business in Dunellen.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, FEBRUARY 28, 1916.

ONE OF MANY REASONS.

There is a movement on foot to bring about an election for a smaller board of freeholders for Union county. In these days of commission form of government all over the country, it is really surprising that a small board has not already been established here. The people did vote in favor of such a body a few years ago, and later elected five men to serve, two of whom were from Plainfield, but the courts upset the law under which they were chosen, and the will of the people was frustrated. There is entirely too much "old fogyism" in the present management of the county, all of which would be done away with were a small board elected. This has been proven in the dozen or more counties where the old bodies have been thrown out, and the smaller ones substituted, under the so-called "Strong act."

One reason which has become apparent of the need for a change is shown in the effort which is being made by public spirited citizens, who are urging the Union County Board of Freeholders to find a method of providing work for the prisoners in the county jail. The sheriff and warden have both urged that something be done about the matter, and they have been backed up by a number of prominent citizens who make a business of studying problems of this kind.

A public meeting was held at Elizabeth a few months ago, at which representatives were present from all over the county to discuss the matter, and although all of the freeholders were invited, not a member was present. Then the same group of interested people asked for a hearing by the county fathers, and a committee was appointed for the purpose. While the arguments were presented the committee calmly sat and listened like a lot of bumps on a log, and showed that they were bored to death by the suggestion of such an important and humanitarian step, dismissing the speakers with scant courtesy. Since then no action has been taken in the matter by the whole board. The members are evidently more interested in seeing what they can get for their little sub-divisions of the county than they are in trying to benefit the whole people by reducing the expense of caring for the families of men sent to jail by putting the prisoners to work. Or perhaps they fear that some contractor now doing public work, who is a friend of theirs, may lose a little of the "pap" now coming his way.

We know of no better argument in favor of getting rid of the large board and substituting a small one in its place than is presented in the action regarding the employment of the prisoners. And this is only one of a score of arguments that can be presented in favor of the change.

WHEN YOU GET YOUR MONEY'S WORTH.

"Prosperity Dollar Day" will attract thousands of buyers to Plainfield stores tomorrow. The people of this city and the surrounding towns have awakened to realize fully that when the merchants of this city, through the Business Men's Association, arrange for a "dollar day" they are planning the biggest and best selling event of the season, and the opportunity offered is not spurned by any prudent buyer. Four or five of these events have been held in this city during the past two years, and each one has been a bigger success than its predecessor, from the viewpoint of both the buyer and the merchant. Undoubtedly hundreds of people who now purchase at the excellent stores in this city have started doing so at one of these occasions, and they would not continue to do so if they were not satisfied that the values received here are equal to those which can be found anywhere else. There is only one thing that can interfere with the success of the day, and that is bad weather, but rain or shine the bargains will be found on the counters, and the patrons of the stores will find courteous attention in every store. The dollar day idea originated locally with the Plainfield Business Men's Association, and is only one of the many things which the organization has done to stimulate trade in this city. In fact the success of these days in the past has been of such lasting benefit that even if the organization had never done anything else it would have deserved the support of every merchant in the city.

Plainfield expects to entertain some 1,500 visiting postmen on Decoration Day. The citizens' committee having the matter in charge needs $1,500 to do the trick right, and to date they have but $450. The people of this city have never failed to support anything which tended to advertise the city, and we believe that the desired funds will be forthcoming. In the meantime, if you have not sent along your share, Treasurer William M. Floersch at the Queen City Hotel would be delighted to send you a receipt as soon as he gets it. Contributions may be handed to the local letter-carriers enclosed in an envelope, but they are not allowed to solicit funds.

A meeting is to be held on Wednesday night by the Board of Trade, at which time the future of that organization will be discussed. According to a notice sent out by Secretary VanSyckel the interest in the body has fallen off a great deal, and but few attend the meetings. It seems to us that this is another splendid opportunity to take up the matter of consolidating all local civic bodies into one powerful organization. The Business Men's Association seems to be the only one that is accomplishing much at the present time, and with that as a nucleus an excellent civic body could be forced.

After many disappointments, the new home for the Plainfield Daily Press is about completed, and all departments are now located at 193 North avenue, the business office having been moved this morning. For a few days we will be busy getting "set-to-rights," and after that time we will welcome our many friends and be glad to show them through the most up-to-date and complete office of its size in the State of New Jersey. There is not a bit of waste space on any of the three floors.

Postmaster Hoagland has tackled a big job in trying to pick the best looking girl in Plainfield for that lonesome sailor boy out in the Pacific. The safest way is to let the people vote on it at one of the many fairs now being held. Even then it would be a tough job, for all the Plainfield girls are good-looking.

There will be a whole lot of Plainfield people who will look forward with much interest to that list of personal tax dodgers which Collector Townsend is authorized to advertise under the provisions of an act introduced by Assemblyman Runyon and signed on Friday by Governor Fielder.

Learning a la Mode.

In latter days whene'er a man finds that he needs the dough,
He knows that he can get it if he isn't quite a fool.
He sits him down and figures out a scheme that's sure to grow,
And then he writes an ad and starts a correspondence school.

They teach horseshoeing now by mail,
the barber trade as well,
They teach you how to run a motorcycle or aeroplane, Hairdressing, manicuring and too many arts to tell;
They even teach you how to run machines that will make rain.

Short-story writing is a thing they dearly love to teach,
Although they do not teach how to sell the stuff you write.
They tell you how to darn a sock,
or how to make a speech;
They also teach you how to breathe, to walk, to chew, to bite.

They teach you how to clean felt hats and make a lot of dough,
Or how to run a trunk railroad and make a million cool.
If there is anything on earth that you would like to know,
Just send your check and leave it to the correspondence school.

After the Microbes.

The washrag must go. The United States health service agency has so decided. It must follow the towel, the drinking cup, the hair brush and the habit of kissing. We knew it was coming. Next we expect that an embargo will be placed on shaking hands and on the straps for the stands-ups in street cars. After they have once been handled they will have to be destroyed. There might be a wandering germ that would locate on somebody's palm, you know. With all our fads and fancies, are we any healthier than our forebears were? Do we live longer?

How to Succeed.

More Spring Robin Stuff.

Ralph Hoadley reports to us that he saw two robins and a blue jay Friday. Ralph is a sober, truthful man, and no one would doubt his word in this case, especially in view of the fact that about that time the weather was very springlike.—Leroy Correspondence, Austin Times.

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

Billy Arlington, the well known tramp comedian, who is considered one of the best portrayers of the typical American hobo, and who is appearing with "The Golden Crook" Company at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow afternoon and evening, decided early in the season that if he were re-engaged for this attraction that the company would have to be the best on the Columbia circuit. He notified the producers and managers, Jacobs & Jermon, to this effect, and plans were immediately made to bring this about. Accordingly, a two act revue, which comprises the main feature of the show, entitled "The Midnight Club," is being presented, and is considered one of the finest diversions in burlesque. In support of Mr. Arlington, who also presents his famous specialty, will be seen Frank Dobson, often termed the king of character artists; Hite and Reflow, with timely and excellent presentations of modern dances; Eleanor Cochran, a vivacious soubrette; Alva McGill, a vivacious prima donna; the beau Brummel Trio, in songs that cannot but be whistled on the way out.

The history of the American stage does not record a more enduring success than that achieved by "In Old Kentucky," which comes to the Plainfield Theatre on Wednesday, matinee and night. This famous American play, fresh from its new triumphs at the Manhattan Opera House, New York city, where it played a most successful spring engagement in the big historic playhouse, is now on its regular tour of the country. The very elaborate and pretentious production provided for use in New York, will be seen here, and the company will be headed by Miss Louise Murray, who always charms playgoers with her splendid portrayal of the brave mountain heroine of the play, "Madge Brierly."

REWARD INCREASE TO $1,000 IN AMWELL MURDER MYSTERY

Flemington, Feb. 28.—The Hunterdon County Freeholders, at a special meeting here, decided to increase the reward for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons guilty of the murder of Richard J. Wyckoff and Katherine Ann Fisher, in East Amwell township, February 11.

The freeholders previously offered a reward of $250, and this amount has been raised to $1,000. Of this amount $500 is to be given to the person or persons giving information to the legal authorities of Hunterdon county that will lead to the detection and apprehension of the person or persons guilty of the killing of Wyckoff and $500 to be paid for the detection and apprehension and conviction of the person or persons found guilty of the killing of Miss Fisher.

The Hunterdon county authorities have been working diligently running down clues since the double murder, with apparently is as far from being solved as when their lifeless bodies were discovered.

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME--

WILL HE HAVE TO BEG AND BEG FOR IT?

- Proctor's Theatre -

AT PROCTOR'S THEATRE WEDNESDAY.

Since the inauguration of the policy of changing the dramatic photoplay feature each day at Proctor's theatre, that popular playhouse is enjoying greater prosperity than ever, and the management have received many notes of appreciation commending them upon their foresight in installing such a pleasing innovation. The dramatic feature appearing today is a product of the William A. Brady studios entitled "The Rack," and featuring Alice Brady, the charming ingenue favorite of stage and screen. In this wonderful artistic offering Miss Brady, assuming the role of Blanche Gordon, the well-meaning wife of a jealous husband, drinks deep of the dregs of life's dark draught, and discovers that there are modern tormentors whose cruel irons sear and scorch the whitest lives, even more cruelly than that method of torture in former times, the rack. The picture has been most ably staged by Emile Chautard, and the settings are admirable and likewise very appropriate, erected with obvious care to detail. Miss Brady's naturalness in the first scenes is charming, but when undergoing the cross-examination in court she arises to the emotional demands of the part in adequate style. The cast is a large one, and consists of the most talented artists in the profession. Chester Barnett takes the honors of the male portion of the cast, and as the swaggering braggadocio, Barnett plays with an ease and skill that stamps him a finished actor. "The Rack" is without doubt the best of recent World Film features, and will prove a big attraction to the majority of photoplay devotees in this city. Tomorrow Orrin Johnson, one of the foremost Triangle stars, will appear in a remarkable feature in which he assumes three distinct roles, entitled, "The Price of Power." This feature is full of realism in showing a modern cotton mill in full operation and a strike in which brickbats and clubs figure conspicuously. There is also a thrilling struggle between a worthless scion of an idle rich woman and a beautiful factory girl, and there is such swift action in the play and it is so lightened by touches of humor that any too intensely tragic feature is made endurable and the whole effect is appealing and worth while. On Wednesday, William Fox will present his latest production, entitled, "The Ruling Passion," with William E. Shay and Claire Whitney assuming the leads. Tropical Jamaica, with its graceful palms, broad lawns and brilliant skies furnishes a wealth of novel and pleasing backgrounds for this intensified story of Oriental passion, brutality, hypnotism and conspiracy. In addition to the above dramatic feature, the first episode of "The Iron Claw" will also appear on Wednesday, and an episode will be shown Wednesday of each week thereafter. This wonderful Pathe serial creation will grip the dormant sympathies and emotions of every spectator. It's a workaday world we live in, but the love of romance and adventure never grows old. In "The Iron Claw," a great story by Arthur Stringer, the elements of suspense thrill and hazardous happening exceed the bounds of ordinary imagination, without descending to the realm of the improbable. Pearl White, made famous by the "Perils of Pauline," heads a stellar cast, including Creighton Hale and Sheldon Lewis. The Keystone comedy feature appearing at Proctor's the first half of the week is entitled "He Did and He Didn't," and features those two strong favorites, Roscoe Arbuckle and Mabel Normand, in entirely different roles than they have heretofore been called upon to enact. The above list of wonderful attractions in addition to the polite vaudeville entertainment offered make up a bill of varied entertainment that cannot be equalled in this or any other city. The management also wish to announce that they have made arrangements whereby in the very near future they will present that wonderful Essanay serial production, "The Strange Case of Mary Page," with Henry B. Walthall and Edna Mayo in the leading characterizations. This story is appearing in the Ladies' World and other famous periodicals, and has been advertised more extensively than any other photoplay production ever manufactured.

Announcement is made by the management of Proctor's Theatre that starting Wednesday they will present Pathe's latest serial creation, "The Iron Claw," each week, that feature appearing as an added attraction every Wednesday. If you enjoy exceptional motion picture plays—if you want to read fiction of the kind that grips your interest and never lets go till you finish—take this tip. Don't miss "The Iron Claw." The cast includes the original "Elaine" cast, headed by Pearl White, Creighton Hale, the inimitable Jameson of "The Exploits of Elaine;" Sheldon Lewis, famous wherever motion pictures are shown, as "The Clutching Hand." You'll realize its significance when you see the pictures of "The Iron Claw." What is he? The bost remarkable, versatile, daring genius of adventure that has ever stepped before your eyes in print or picture. It will hold your interest from the second the title flashes on the screen until the last picture fades out.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Who Sent an Arrow Through Twelve Rings?

The Arrow Sped Right Through the Rings.

"WHEN an old beggar stepped up and asked to try to bend a bow that nobody among the hundred nobles could manage, a loud shout, laughter and mockery, rang through the palace," daddy told his children. "'Beggar that I am, I was once a soldier,' the leader of the Trojan war told them, 'and there is still some strength in these old hands of mine.' The rude nobles still shouted and jeered. Some called upon Telemachus, as host of the party, to turn the beggar out for his insolence. But Telemachus stepped forward and said, 'If it would give the old man any pleasure to try to bend the bow, I am willing.' So Odysseus took the bow and handled it fondly. He had been master of it twenty years ago, and so now, with the ease of a master, he bent the bow, tied the bowstring, picked an arrow from the quiver lying on the table, fitted it and drew the string. The arrow, true as a shaft of sunlight, sped right through the twelve rings through which the nobles must shoot to win his wife, Penelope, as he was believed to be dead.

"Then, before the hundred nobles had time to show their surprise or get their breath, he shouted, 'Now for another mark!' and sent an arrow right through the heart of the biggest bully among the nobles. Then Telemachus, Odysseus' faithful swineherd and one more servant, who had armed themselves with the weapons that Telemachus had ordered taken out of the hall just before the game began, sprang to Odysseus' side, helping him fight. The hundred nobles, surprised within an inch of their lives, looked wildly around the hall for knives and battleaxes, but found none. Even when they tried to run out the doors to escape they found them locked, for the faithful old swineherd had seen to this. Odysseus no longer left them uncertain of whom they fought, for he stripped off his beggar's ragged garments and, standing in the robes of a king, told his unwelcome guests that he was the long lost king of Ithaca, whose home they had so rudely taken, whose property they had stolen and whose wife and young son they had bothered for ten long years. So he and his three helpers fell on the nobles and did not stop until the last one of them had either been killed or driven out of the palace. Then Telemachus ran to his mother's chamber and told her the good news. And, with tears of joy running down her beautiful face, Penelope came running to greet her husband, and all three of the family lived happily together ever afterward!" cried daddy.

The children clapped their hands and shouted: "Goody for Odysseus! Goody for daddy!"

Marrying for Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Jacob Townsend's Children Learn of Their Step-Mother's Newest Whim.

"Dudley, will you see Ortrude off on the midnight train tonight? I do not feel able to stay up." Jacob was very pale and seemed hardly able to stand. They had risen from dinner, to the great relief of all. Hardly a word had been spoken during the entire meal. The children knew something had happened to greatly disturb their father, and they were not slow in guessing that it was Ortrude who had caused the trouble.

"May I ask where she is going?" asked Dudley, laying his hand on his father's shoulder and steadying him to a chair.

"She is going to Atlantic City for a few weeks." Jacob looked down, not wishing to meet Dudley's eye.

Dudley dropped onto a hassock and leaned over to look into his father's face.

"Where, father?"

"To Atlantic City," repeated Jacob.

"Where did she get the money?" asked the boy, knowing the desperate effort his father was making to meet a big payment at the wholesale house.

"She raised it on the house."

"What!" Dudley sprang to his feet as if he had heard an explosion.

"She has mortgaged the home for five hundred dollars." Jacob still looked down, his head leaning wearily on his hand. He seemed apathetic as if discussing something in which he had no interest.

"How could she! How dare she?" Dudley's voice was choked with passion.

"The house is hers. You know I deeded it to her before we were married." The dreary tone continued. "She has the law on her side."

Dudley began to pace up and down the room in great excitement. Finally he stopped in front of his father's chair.

"You wish me to see her onto the train? Why should I? Why should anybody show her any attention, I should like to know?"

"You know what remarks would be made if she went to the train alone. The whole town would be talking about it in the morning," was the low answer.

"What of it. Let them talk, I say," blurted out the boy.

"Do this for me, Dudley. I want to have time to get my bearings, to decide what is best to be done before there is any chance to talk. I cannot think tonight."

"All right, Daddy." Dudley dropped down on the arm of his chair. "I'll go to Jericho with her to help you out. In fact, I'd love to," he added spitefully. "Now, come and let me help you to bed. You are not fit to be up. A good night's rest will make you as fit as possible." "If he only could sleep," he added bitterly to himself.

"Tupper, get father's things from his room and take them to the west bedroom. I am going to get him to bed at once, and he will not be disturbed there."

When Dudley came downstairs Marian was waiting for him. She and Tupper had been vainly trying to piece together an explanation of all the misery and mystery.

Dudley put his arm around her and together they went down the walk.

"What is it? What has happened?" whispered the girl.

"That's what we came out for. I want to tell you in the open, where there is plenty of room to let off steam and not disturb dear Dad. Let's go up this path to the open fields."

"Now we are far enough away. I can't wait any longer," begged the girl.

"Well, that woman has mortgaged the home, the lovely new home that father built for her and gave her as a bridal present; has mortgaged it for five hundred dollars and she is going to blow the money in at Atlantic City."

Marian stopped and looked at her brother rooted to the spot.

"I never would have believed it, even of her. Poor Daddy. Poor Daddy. She'll kill him yet."

SEC. McADOO APPOINTS COMMITTEE TO PAY RETURN VISITS TO LATIN AMERICA

To bring about a better understanding between the business interests of the United States and the countries of Latin America, Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo has appointed the above men to serve on the "Latin American return visit committee."

"Trade-marked" articles—things sold by NAME or DISTINGUISHING and IDENTIFYING BRAND—must be kept at the highest standard of quality. The VALUE must never vary. For a maker to "cheapen" such an article would be to throw away the prestige he had fought so hard, and advertised so effectinvely, to gain.

SAYS INVESTIGATION CONFIRMS CONTENTION

State Suffragists Now Feel Sure Brewers Helped Anti-Suffragists' Campaign.

The members of the State Executive Board of the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association, at the meeting of the Board in Newark on February 25, were much interested in the latest reports concerning the investigation now being conducted in Pittsburg by the United States District Attorney, E. Lowry Humes, in his endeavor to have the Federal Grand Jury indict five large brewing concerns for wrongfully contributing various election funds last fall, especially the anti-suffrage election fund.

The Philadelphia Record of February 18, says, "The evidence which, according to government investigation, tends to show that the anti-suffrage campaign in New Jersey, New York Massachusetts and Pennsylvania last fall were partly financed by the five brewers' associations now under fire. Constant recurrence of the same items in a report of these brewery associations, it is said, indicates that large sums were advanced to the anti-suffrage organizations in the four states named, during the fall campaign."

Many of the New Jersey papers on February 24 carried an account of the commitment to jail of the Secretary of the United States Brewers' Association, the national organization of the various brewing concerns, because of his refusal to let the books of the Association be shown.

Commenting on this matter at the Board meeting, the State President, Mrs. Edward F. Feickert, said, "While we have always felt certain that much money was spent in New Jersey last fall by the brewers, the anti-suffragists have always vigorously denied it; and it is interesting to read this confirmation of our contention in the newspapers of this and other states. The National Secretary of the Brewers' Association repeatedly wrote letters to the New Jersey papers during our campaign, indignantly denying that the brewers were contributing to the fight against suffrage. He must now regret having been so ready to make such statements."

THE FORUM

Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

I, for one, wish to file a vigorous protest against the pending encroacnment and subsequent dispossession of a highly useful institution such as the kitchen and lunch counter in the High School has proven to be. In addressing you, I hope to stir the interest of other parents so that we will not face the prospect in the coming year of seeing our children eat their sandwiches in the dark corners of the basement, and resort to the lunch wagons in the street as a substitute for the kitchen which we know serves only wholesome food selected and prepared with care and intellect by helpful and experienced mothers. The present lunch quarters in the old gymnasium are really inadequate and in many ways unsuitable for their purpose; they have, however, proved the necessity of their existence, and instead of being curtained and crowded out, should be given larger, lighter and better-ventilated quarters.

The Board of Education will soon file their budget for the coming year, and I respectfully submit the above matter to their careful consideration.

O. E. MORGENSEN.

BOWLING SEASON IS NEARING END

Some Leagues Close This Week—Others Last One or Two Weeks More.

ELKS' MATCHES HERE

New Brunswick Juniors Visit Watchung Avenue Club Tomorrow Night, and Hoboken Germans Thursday Night.

Elks' Junior League.

Tonight—Newark at Rahway.

Tomorrow night—Elizabeth at Jersey City.

Wednesday night—New York at Paterson.

Thursday night—Rutherford at New Brunswick, Hoboken at Plainfield.

Wednesday night—Newark at Somerville.

Friday night—Elizabeth at Jersey City.

Knights of Columbus League.

Tonight—Olive Branch at Star of Bethlehem.

Wednesday night—Patersosn at Bayley.

Elks' House League.

Tonight—Reo vs. Chalmer.

Friday night—Cadillac vs. Ford.

Westfield S. S. League.

Tonight—Methodist vs. Episcopal.

Tomorrow night—Trinity vs. Presbyterian.

Tonight—Baracas vs. P. O. S. of A.

Tomorrow night—I. O. F. vs. O. Z. T.

Friday night—Defender Five vs. P. O. S. of A.

Gates' Individual.

Tonight—Mahoney vs. Smalley; Radin vs. Conover; Voorhees vs. Rohrs.

Wednesday night—Menzenbach vs. Jonap; Lewis vs. Smith; Judge, vs. Van Zandt.

Thursday night—Howe vs. Conover; McKenzie vs. Mahoney; Connolly vs. Menzenbach.

More evidences of the beginning of the end in local bowling competitions can be noted this week. The Paterson-Bayley match in the Knights of Columbus League is likely to settle the K. C. championship, and it is not impossible that the Elks' Senior League, which also closes within a fortnight, will end this week, so far as the fight for first place is concerned.

The Plainfield Elks will entertain Hoboken here Thursday night. New Brunswick Juniors will appear on the Elks' Club alleys here tomorrow night. There will also be two house tournament games.

No matches will take place on the Columbus Club chutes, on account of the bazaar being held at that club this week. The Westfield League will end Wednesday night.

At a meeting of the City Bowling League yesterday afternoon, it was decided to bowl the roll-off between the Eagles and Imperials, which teams closed the schedule deadlocked for first place, on the Columbus Club all Friday night, March 10.

The Columbus Club was favored for the deciding series because there is more room there for the large crowd of spectators that will be on hand, and because the longer runway and the fact that there are three alleys there and only two in the T. A. B. Club, the only other neutral alleys in the league. This will prevent the fans from balking the bowlers by leaning over the outer edge of an alley being used.

LATE SPURT LANDS S. P. P. H. SECOND QUINTET A VICTOR

A close victory was registered by the Scotch Plains Parish House second team Saturday evening over the Crescent Five, 33-27. Excitement prevailed until the last few minutes of play, when the homesters pulled ahead with a spurt. Barry and Saunders shot six and five field goals respectively, while Townley and Yates scored the largest number of points for their combination.

Newark Favored to Win Title—Speary's Average 198.39 Now.

Bowlers of Newark Lodge of Elks have only three more obstacles between them and their second Senior League championship. By winning two games at Elizabeth the other night, they hurdled the most formidable barrier in their path without coming a cropper, and now have but three more matches to roll—at Rahway, tonight; at home against Paterson next Monday night; and a postponed series with New Brunswick on the local alleys.

The Newarks are leading the league with a record of thirty-one victories and fourteen defeats. Elizabeth, in second place, has won thirty-two and lost sixteen.

Jack Speary is certain to win first individual average honors. He has traveled at a 198.39 clip for forty-five games. Newark has the best team average, a mark of 943.11. A new individual high score record was made last week, Wessell, of New York, rolling 268.

CRANFORD HIGH GIRLS NO MATCH FOR PLAINFIELDERS

Plainfield High School's girls' basketball team had an easy time with Cranford High School girls' team on the local school court Saturday afternoon, and ran away on the big end of a 27 to 12 score. But very little foul shooting was done by either team, as with a slightly changed lineup the locals gave very little chance for calling them and the visitors never played very fast.

Irma Good, Elsa Palmer and Mary Simons all did excellent shooting. Miss J. Cox did the major part of the Cranford scoring, making four baskets. She was the star of the game.

BASKETBALL TEAM IS MADE WALKING CLUB

N. P. H. S. Boys Stranded at Bound Brook—Lose Last Game on Schedule.

The dejected North Plainfield High School team met defeat at the hands of the Morristown School five, Saturday afternoon, at Morristown, the score ending 33 to 18. The boroughites played indifferently, while neither combination displayed any real basketball, the large court making the teamwork loose.

The contest Saturday will in all probability terminate the basketball season of the Maroon and Black. During the latter part of next week both the girls' and boys' team may arrange a game purely for enjoyment, nothing definite being decided as yet.

The N. P. H. S. players thought they had not had enough exercise in the afternoon, so they took a little jaunt, involuntarily. Missing connections in New York, the local players were carried to Bound Brook, from where they were obliged to walk home, when no transporting vehicles could be found, arriving home in the wee hours of the morning.

The shooting of Keck for the Morristown School was directly responsible for the victory of that team, he dropping in eleven field goals and five fouls for a total of twenty-seven points.

TRIANGLES SUCCUMB TO STRONG WESTFIELD FIVE

The Inner Triangles journeyed to Westfield, Saturday night, and fell a victim to the efforts of the strong Westfield Methodist team. The score was 39 to 26. Patterson was the Netherwood high man, and Kegan played best for the Mets. Hauser and Collora, two recruits, were pressed into service by the Triangles, and acquitted themselves very creditably.

F. O. E. ROLL-OFF HERE IS SET BACK ONE WEEK

The roll-off between the Newark and Elizabeth teams which finished the Fraternal Order of Eagles' Bowling League season, tied for first place, will not take place this week, as it was originally planned, and will probably be decided Wednesday evening, March 8. The executive committee of the league met shortly after the close of the schedule, and decided to have the extra series rolled on the Plainfield Eagles' alleys, the date being left to the managers of the two teams.

PLAINFIELD CLUB IS LEADING SQUASH PLAY

No matches were played in the Interclub Squash League Saturday, most of the members of all four teams playing in the New Jersey State championship, which started on the courts of the Englewood Field Club. The Plainfield Club is leading the league with a record of two victories and no defeats. The standing of the teams is as follows:

	W.	L.	P.C.
Plainfield Squash Club	2	0	1.000
Montclair Athletic Club	1	1	.500
Englewood Field Club.	1	1	.500

U. G. TINGLEY HIGH GUN AT CLIMAX CLUB

Breaks 44 Out of 50—Nine Events Held—Shoot at Flemington Next.

Ulysses G. Tingley was high gun at the Climax Gun Club traps Saturday. He broke 24 out of 50. A program of nine events, comprising two 25-bird shoots, three 15-bird shoots and four 10-bird sweepstakes, was run off.

The club will send a team of ten men to Flemington next Saturday, for the first of a series of inter-club matches with the Flemington Gun Club.

SECOND P. H. S.-N. P. H. S. ALUMNI GAME WEDNESDAY

The second game between teams of Alumni of the two local high schools will take place in the Plainfield High School gymnasium Wednesday night. The first game, played in Saengerbund Hall, resulted in a victory for N. P. H. S. There will probably be a girls' game also, between the Pegs and some other local team. Dancing will follow the basketball.

NEW TANK RECORD.

A world's record of 18 4-5 seconds in the plunge for distance in a 60-yard tank was made by Craig Redmon, of the University of Chicago swimming team, which won a meet last night against Northwestern University.

ONLY ONE NEWARKER TROUBLES THE HOPES

William Randolph Plays With Chapelites — Manager Leighs to Resign.

The Newark Athletic Five, which team showed on the Hope Chapel court Saturday night, proved to be a one-man team, and excepting Pivovar, a star forward, the visitors didn't trouble the Hopes very much. The Martin men won, 27 to 23, their two-basket margin being tucked away early in the game, the rival sides fighting on exactly even terms in the last twenty minutes of play.

William Randolph, a Y. M. C. A. player and a member of the Queen City Five, made his first appearance in a Hope suit. Pivovar was the kingpin of the tussle. He made 19 of his team's 23 points. The Chapelites got the jump on their rivals, and scored 11 out of the first 13 tallies that were recorded.

George E. Leighs, who has managed the Hope team for the last five years, will hand in his resignation at a meeting tomorrow night. Harry De Hart, who has been bearing most of the managerial burden recently, will probably be Mr. Leighs' successor. De Hart is now assistant manager.

THIRD P. H. S.-N. P. H. S. GIRLS' GAME TOMORROW

Plainfield and North Plainfield cohorts will gather in the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon for the first time in several years to cheer their respective teams to victory. This time it will be the third and deciding game between the girls' basketball teams of the two schools, and with enthusiasm running high at both institutions, every bit of available space will be filled and standing room will be at a premium.

Although N. P. H. S. was thought to have the strongest team, the feat of P. H. S. coming back after a defeat in the first meeting of the year and handing the N. P. H. S. girls a bad trimming on the N. P. H. S. court several weeks ago upset all the dope, and it is hard to say that either team is favored in tomorrow's fray. Joe Byrnes, the East Orange referee, who has shown up well in all his local appearances, including one of the championship games, will probably officiate. The tentative line-up for the contest when it starts at 3:15 is as follows:

CANADIANS LOSE ON CO. M COURT, 50-24

Somerville Player Strikes Moulton, and Latter is Disqualified.

A team of North Plainfield basketeers lost to Company M at Somerville, Saturday night, 50 to 24. Harry Moulton was disqualified for four personal fouls. Alleging he had been tripped by Harry Moulton, W. Wachter, of the home team, struck the local player in the face. Further trouble was prevented by a number of young men who rushed on the floor and separated the combatants. E. Wittnebert, a Somerville tosser, replaced Moulton in the Plainfield line-up.

LOCAL MEN PLAY FOR STATE TITLE

Rex Carter Semi-Finalist in Squash Tourney—Others Are Eliminated.

FINALS NEXT SATURDAY

Other Plainfield Representatives were Henry L. De Forest, T. M. Day, Jr., and Butler Duyckinck—Short Hills Man Present Holder.

Play for the New Jersey State squash championship began Saturday on the Englewood Field Club courts, most of the thirty starters being members of the Plainfield, Montclair, Morristown and Englewood teams of the Interclub League. Four Plainfielders played for the title, and one of them, Rex Carter, reached the semi-final round. The tournament will be continued this week, the finals being scheduled for Saturday.

Excellent progress was made in the first day's play, six contestants being left in the running when play ceased. The third round was almost completed.

The other representatives from this city were: Butler Duyckinck, T. M. Day, Jr., and Henry L. De Forest. W. S. Tyler had to default, being unable to play. De Forest had the hard luck of the draw to be matched against one of the best players in the tournament, and he was eliminated. Duyckinck won two matches, losing in the third round. Day played well, but after winning his first match drew Kidder, for his opponent, and the Montclair expert won. Carter will be sure to have a hard opponent in his next match, as he will meet one of the best players in the tourney.

The best squash was played by Fink, the Englewood man, who did so well in the recent national championship tournament in New York city. On his showing of Saturday, Fink is being favored by many to win the State title.

Fink yesterday defeated J. V. Onativia, Jr., of Short Hills, who won the title last year. The scores were 15-5, 10-15, 15-9.

TOWNSEND HARRIS SWIMMERS WIN EVEN EVENT AT P. H. S.

The swimming team of Townsend Harris School, of New York, defeated the amphibians of the Plainfield High School in the P. H. S. pool, Saturday afternoon by a point score of 41 to 12. The locals did not obtain a single first place, although Brower had some hard rubs with Tibbots and Rider in the short races. The work of Thuor, Townsend Harris, in the plunge was excellent. He went nearly the entire length of the pool under water.

The summary:

160-yard Relay—Won by Townsend Harris (Rider, Sherman, Miller and Tibbots); Plainfield second (Brower, Snyder, Fullerton and Field). Time 1.35.

20-yard Swim—Won by Rider (Townsend Harris); Brower (Plainfield), second; Tibbots (Townsend Harris), third.

40-yard Swim—Tibbots (Townsend Harris), first; Brower (Plainfield), second; Snyder (Plainfield), third. Time, 21-3 secs.

100-yard Swim—Sherman (Townsend Harris) first; Brower (Plainfield) second; Lehrman (Townsend Harris), third. Time 1.94-5.

Plunge for distance — Thuor (Townsend Harris), first, with 52 feet 5 inches; Broomes (Townsend Harris) second, with 45 feet 6 inches; Stevenson (Plainfield) third, with 42 feet 2 inches.

Dive for Form—Cohen (Townsend Harris), first; Merrick (Townsend Harris), second; Field (Plainfield), third.

The timers were Patch (Plainfield) and White (Townsend Harris).

MASQUERADE BALL.

BOARD OF HEALTH MUST SAVE BABIES

State Department in Circular Letter Puts It Squarely up to Health Authorities.

Trenton, Feb. 28.—In a circular which it is printing for distribution during Baby Week, the State Department of Health puts squarely up to the local board of health the work of saving babies. "Each community must save its own babies," according to the circular, and the proper agency to engage in the work is the local board of health.

'Babies die because their mothers are ignorant. The mothers must be educated,' 'says the State Department, which points out that the agencies for educating the mothers are the visiting nurse and the consultation station where mothers may obtain medical advice. In addition to these agencies, the organization of Little Mothers' Leagues to teach older sisters how to care for the babies, and the teaching of mothercraft in the schools is recommended.

It is pointed out that, while consultation stations are sometimes called "milk stations," their chief function is not to furnish pure milk. While pure milk is important, it is stated that "At least nine-tenths of their value consists in the instruction that the mothers get along with the milk."

Under the title, "How to Get a Nurse," the circular says, "The first step in baby work is to secure the service of a nurse. The visiting nurse is no longer an experiment. Local boards of health need no longer wait for private philanthrophy to demonstrate her value before securing a nurse's service. Saving babies is a public service and should be paid for by the public. Private philanthropy should be left free to explore new fields of social usefulness, the utility and value of which have not yet been so fully demonstrated as that of the visiting nursing service.

Owing to the extreme conservatism of some local health officials, or reluctance on the part of councils to appropriate funds, it may still be necessary for private philanthropy to employ nurses in order to demonstrate their value to the community. Where public funds for this purpose are available in limited amount, it may be necessary for private donations to supplement these funds to secure the proper nursing service. The nurses should be under the supervision of the health authorities when supported by both public and private funds, because a constitutional provision prohibits the state or any municipality from making appropriations to any society or organization (Par. 20, article 4, N. J. State Constitution).

Concerning the number of nurses that should be employed in each community, the circular recommends at least one nurse for each 10,000 population in the larger cities, and one nurse for each town of 4,000 or 5,000 population or more.

In conclusion, the circular says, "From the foregoing considerations the duty of each community to begin active measures for the protection of its babies is clear. The first thing to do is to institute a nursing service—preferably under the board of health from the start, and certainly under the board of health as soon as funds can be made available. As the nursing service develops, consultation stations at points convenient to the mothers should be established, Little Mothers' Leagues organized, and the teaching of mothercraft begun in the schools."

BOROUGH BOY RUNS AWAY FROM SCHOOL

Harold England Leaves Institution at Vineland and Cannot Be Located.

William S. England, of 279 Somerset street, the borough, was notified Saturday night by the officials of the Vineland Training School that his son, Harold England, aged 15, ran away from the institution last Wednesday night and despite vigilant searching they had been unable to get any trace of the boy. According to the information sent to the parent, the boy disappeared between the supper hour and 8 o'clock, when an entertainment was to have been given in the school hall. Another boy from the school accompanied England, but his name was not given.

Both Mr. England and his wife are deeply concerned and worried over their son's disappearance and are doing all in their power to locate his whereabouts. The boy had been in the institution about three years and was reported as getting along well. He was afflicted with nervous troubles, but appeared to be improving slowly. It was his father's intentions to take him from the school within a short time and find him some employment. Neither one of the boys had much money when they went away, and it is believed that they will be likely to apply somewhere for help. Any information concerning the England boy will be appreciated by the parents, who are willing to stand any reasonable expense in his recovery.

When the boy disappeared he wore a corduroy suit, brown cap and glasses. He is about five feet in height, wears a 5½ shoe and a 6⅞ size hat. He has an unusually large mouth and his teeth are widely separated, especially in front. Aside from a nervousness, the boy is normal.

DAVID C. BIGGERSTAFF DIES IN 79TH YEAR

Father of Mrs. J. Irvine Lyle Succumbs to Long Illness From Paralysis.

David C. Biggerstaff, aged 79 years, died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. Irvine Lyle, 1224 West Sixth street. For the past two years he had been practically helpless from paralysis which, with other complications, caused his death. A few weeks ago when the Lyle home on West Seventh street was almost destroyed by fire, Mr. Biggerstaff had to be carried from the second floor of the burning dwelling. At the time it was thought that the excitement and exposure to which he was subjected to might result fatally, but he soon rallied and was apparently no worse for his experience. Since the fire the family has been living on West Sixth street, while their home is being rebuilt.

Mr. Biggerstaff was born in Madison county, Kentucky, where he spent his boyhood days. Later he went to Lexington, where for forty years he was engaged in the hardware business. Upon his retirement he lived for twelve years at Ludlow, Kentucky, and six years ago came to Plainfield to make his home with his daughter. Mr. Biggerstaff was a member of the Baptist church at Ludlow, being active in Christian work while a resident of that place. He enjoyed a large acquaintance and was highly esteemed by all who knew him.

There survives a wife, one son, Edgin S. Biggerstaff, of Newport, Ky., who is connected with the freight department of the Pennsylvania Railroad at Cincinnati, and three daughters, Mrs. Lulu Dunham, of Ludlow, Ky.; Mrs. Wayman, wife of Rev. H. C. Wayman, a professor in the Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky., and Mrs. J. Irvin Lyle, of this city. The burial will take place in Hillside cemetery tomorrow, following private funeral services at the late home.

SIEGEL FACES NEW TERM IN PRISON

Bench Warrant Awaits Former Merchant on Release.

New York, Feb. 28.—When Henry Siegel, the former merchant and private banker convicted of a misdemeanor in connection with the failure of his bank, is released from the penitentiary in Livingston county Wednesday District Attorney Wheeler will cause his rearrest on twelve remaining indictments charging felonies. District Attorney Swann requested this action and asked that bail be fixed at $25,000. A bench warrant was filed with the warden of the prison.

Siegel was indicted after the failure of his bank, which had about $2,500,000 in deposits, and the indictments were transferred to Livingston county. Siegel was convicted and sentenced to serve ten months in the penitentiary.

A committee of depositors of the failed bank asked Mr. Swann to prosecute Siegel on at least one remaining count. After Siegel was convicted it was stated that he would probably make a substantial payment to the depositors of the bank. This he did not do.

Frank E. Vogel, a partner of Siegel, who was jointly indicted with him, died before his trial was called.

VERDUN BATTLE STILL IN DOUBT

French and Germans Each Claim Douaumont.

VIOLENT FIGHTING ON LINE

Germans Take Champneuville Without Resistance—Berlin Reports 15,000 Unwounded French Prisoners Taken During Five Days' Battle—Guns in Flanders District Are Again Roaring.

REPORTS DIFFER ON DOUAUMONT BATTLE.

Regarding the situation on the heights of Douaumont, north of Verdun, on which the French and German official statements do not agree, the latter said:

"On the heights of the Meuse the French attempted by means of attacks, five times repeated with fresh troops, to reconquer the armored fortress of Douaumont. They were repulsed with sanguinary losses."

The French communique said that the intensity of the fighting in this region has slackened somewhat and adds:

"To the east and west of the position of Douaumont, the slopes of which are covered with dead Germans, our troops are pressing closely from three sides the small enemy forces which were able to gain a foothold there and which are maintaining themselves with difficulty."

Berlin asserted that the Cote de Talou, west of Douaumont, is occupied by German forces. Paris announced that the position is not held by either side, being untenable owing to the withering fire to which it is subjected. Earlier official reports from Paris said that strong German attacks in this region were broken down by artillery and machine gun fire.

London, Feb. 28.—A lull in the fighting has occurred on the Verdun front. The fierce resistance of the French has prevented the Germans from gaining any ground on the Douaumont heights.

The position of Fort Douaumont—the French official communiques do not call it a fort but a "position"—is still occupied by small German forces. The French are closing in on this position on three sides and announce that the German force is maintaining itself only with difficulty.

The very unfavorable weather conditions, with a heavy fall of snow, may be one reason for the lessening of the force of the German attack. Dispatches from the front indicate that heavy losses also may have had an effect. The slopes east and west of the village of Douaumont, which has been the center of the heaviest fighting, are covered with German dead, according to the official communique issued in Paris.

Five Attacks at Fort

Five separate attacks have been made by the French in an effort to retake Fort Douaumont, the German war office says. Each attack was made by fresh troops, but all five were repulsed with heavy French losses. The number of unwounded French prisoners taken in the seven days' battle, the Berlin statement said, was 15,000.

Finding the position untenable because of the fire of the artillery of both sides, the French have evacuated the Cote de Talou, to the west of Douaumont, and the position is now unoccupied, the French say, by either side.

The official communique issued by the French war office says:

Between Soissons and Rheims a destructive fire was directed against the opposing works in front of Venizel and to the east of Troyon.

In the region north of Verdun, after the violence of the actions which marked the preceding days, there has been a certain lessening in the efforts of the enemy in the course of the day, except between the heights of Douaumont and the plateau to the south of the village of Vaux, where a strong attack made on our positions was repulsed. To the east and the west of the position of Douaumont, the slopes of which are covered with dead Germans, our troops are pursuing closely from three sides the small enemy forces which were able to gain a foothold there and which are maintaining themselves there with difficulty.

Germans Take Champneuville.

In the official statement received from Berlin the German war office announces that the Germans, pressing forward to the west of Douaumont, have reached Nave, on the southeast of Bras, taking Champneuville and the Cote de Talou on the way. The taking of Champneuville had already been announced by the Germans, but the announcement was contradicted by them as based on an erroneous report. To the east of Douaumont the Germans announce the storming of extended fortified works at Hardaumont.

The German Report.

The official statement issued by the German war office said:

On various portions of the western front there were intense artillery and mine activity.

To the south of Ypres a British attack was repulsed.

On the heights of the Meuse the French attempted by means of attacks, five times repeated with fresh troops, to reconquer the armored fortress of Douaumont. They were repulsed with sanguinary losses. To the west of the fort we took Champneuville and the Cote de Talou, advancing to Nave. To the east of the fort we stormed the extended fortified works of Hardaumont.

On the Woevre plain there was vigorous fighting from the German frontier as far as the Cotes Lorraines. The number of unwounded prisoners is 15,000.

In Flanders aeroplane squadrons attacked the enemy camp.

A bomb attack on Metz by enemy aviators resulted in the injury or death of eight civilians and seven soldiers. Houses were damaged. In the neighborhood of the fortress a French aeroplane was brought down and its occupants, including two captains, were taken prisoner.

Fort Douaumont Untenable.

"Before the attack hundreds of German engineers had been making roads for the conveyance of the seventeen inch guns. French prisoners, dazed, said, according to the German correspondent, that the terrific fire quickly made Douaumont untenable.

"As the great battle at Verdun reaches its climax sympathetic activity is spreading over the entire front. The guns in Flanders are heard on the Dutch frontier. The British made local attacks in the region of Armentieres, but the fighting is mainly confined to heavy artillery.

"Enemy flying machines are out in great numbers. A very large battle plane mounting two guns was seen leaving Zeerbrugge.

"The German newspapers received here express confidence in the result at Verdun and are enthusiastic over the bravery of the German troops.

"The Koelnische Zeitung says:

"'The renowned Brandenburg regiment has added a bloody laurel to the wreaths on its colors. Its sons have shown themselves worthy of their fathers.'"

ARMY BILL DUE TO APPEAR IN HOUSE

Chairman Hay to Present Measure This Week.

Washington, Feb. 28.—The first of the national defense bills advocated by President Wilson will receive the final approval of a congressional committee this week. At a meeting of the house committee on military affairs on Wednesday the army bill will be approved and ordered introduced and reported.

"I think," said Representative Hay of Virginia, chairman of the committee, "that the committee will be unanimous in its approval of the bill. There will be no minority report. This eliminates any party strife over it.

"It is my purpose now, and I hope that I can carry it out, to present it to the house next week. It will require a week or ten days to debate and vote upon it. I think there will be considerable general discussion on the bill, as many people wish to go on record on preparedness, but I do not anticipate any serious opposition from any large number of members of the house."

The house committee on naval affairs is still having hearings and may continue to do so for a month or longer, but it is believed now that Secretary Daniels' recommendations for the navy will be embodied in the measure when it reaches the house. There is little, if any, friction between the leaders of the house committee and Mr. Daniels. The bill will provide for a substantial increase in the navy.

TELEGRAPHER ENDS LIFE.

Man Uses Mirror to Sight Gun For Suicide Shot.

Cold Spring, N. Y., Feb. 28.—Theodore Wehrenberg, twenty-five years old, a telegrapher, had been out of work since a dispatcher's "trick" which he worked on the New York Central was abolished.

Unable to find work, Wehrenberg became despondent. He went to his home in Manitou, Putnam county, and propped a mirror up against the wall. Then he stood in front of the mirror, placed the muzzle of a shotgun against his body and pulled the trigger with a string. He was dead when relatives found his body.

BEER POURED INTO GUTTER

Indiana Farmers Watch While 1,750 Bottles Are Destroyed.

Petersburg, Ind., Feb. 28.—For two hours and a half the gutters along Main street flowed with beer.

Members of the W. C. T. U. assisted Thomas Whitney, city marshal, in breaking 1,750 bottles of beer, while hundreds of farmers and citizens stood by and watched. Two boxes of wine met the same fate.

The beer and wine were seized last August during the races.

U. S. S. PENNSYLVANIA IS FAST

Beats Her Contract Speed, Making 21.75 Knots an Hour.

Rockland, Me., Feb. 28.—The oil burning super-Dreadnaught Pennsylvania, the most powerful warship completed for the United States navy, completed her high speed tests. She made one run over a measured course at the rate of 21.75 knots an hour. This was three-quarters of a knot in excess of her contract requirements.

Charged With Arson.

New York, Feb. 28.—David Schuf, a hat manufacturer, and Hyman Kooperman, shipping clerk employed by the firm and a cousin of Schuf, were arraigned before Magistrate Corrigan in Jefferson market court on charges of arson. They waived examination and were held in $1,000 bail each to await the action of the grand jury.

Woman Is Republican Alternate.

Reno, Nev., Feb. 28.—Six uninstructed delegates to the Republican national convention at Chicago were elected by the Republican state central committee. The list of alternates contains Mrs. Thomas F. Moran of Reno.

BRITISH LINER IS SUNK BY MINE

Between 150 and 200 Are Believed Lost.

MISHAP OFF DOVER COAST

Steamer In Rescue Work Also Sent to Bottom by Explosion—No Americans Aboard Ill Fated Vessel—Passenger Grasping Refuge, Saves Two Drowning Persons.

London, Feb. 28.—Struck by a floating mine between Dover and Folkestone the British liner Maloja of the Peninsular and Oriental line was sunk. The explosion was in the vessel's afterpart and she sank within thirty minutes.

There were 149 passengers and a crew of about 300 aboard. Almost all of the passengers were reported saved.

At last accounts the number of dead was reported "more than forty." It is feared that the actual number of victims may be between 150 and 200. No Americans are believed to have been aboard.

The mine which caused the Maloja's destruction is believed to have been one of the large net spread by the British navy for the protection of England's coast against German naval raiders.

Rescue Ship Hits Mine.

While helping in the rescue work the British steamship Empress of Fort William, 1,393 tons gross, herself struck a mine within half a mile of the sinking Maloja and immediately began to settle her stern and fore part. She kept above the water long enough to enable the crew to take to the boats, then suddenly exploded and disappeared in a cloud of steam.

There was a stormy sea, however, and the rescue work was made under difficult circumstances. These were rendered still worse by the sudden explosion on the Empress of Fort William, which divided the rescue vessels and added greatly to the dramatic element of the situation.

No Panic on Vessel.

A remarkable feature of the preliminary reports is the assertion that there was no panic. The simultaneous sinking of the two vessels, both destroyed by a mine, with hundreds of men and women in the water struggling for their lives, offered one of the most spectacular scenes witnessed off Dover. The fleet torpedo craft scurrying about, aiding in the rescue, gave the spectacle a martial touch, and one might well have imagined a naval fight was in progress.

The only halfway statement concerning the loss of life came from Dover in the form of a dispatch saying that "more than forty dead from the Majoja have been landed here."

The Peninsular and Oriental line statement, after telling of the cause, time and scene of the disaster, said:

"The afterpart of the ship was blown up. There was a high sea, and the captain seeing that extensive damage had been done, tried to beach the liner, but was unsuccessful in this, the engine room being full of water. The vessel sank in about half an hour."

Survivors Land at Dover.

There were 119 passengers on board, who embarked in London. A large number were rescued from the water by the Ship's boats, by patrol boats and other craft. The survivors were landed at Dover. Their wants were attended to at the Lord Warden hotel and on a hospital ship. Almost all of the passengers were saved.

All of the ship's boats had been swung out ready for emergency. The passengers fortunately had time to put on life belts. They had been instructed on the previous evening in their use. The captain reports that all passengers and the crew behaved splendidly.

Dispatches from Dover give the details of the disaster.

They said the Maloja sank about two miles off shore. The explosion was heard and seen at Dover, and tugs and motorboats raced promptly to her aid. Patrol boats also responded speedily to the Maloja's distress calls. Crowds ashore watched the rescue work.

Steamer Sank Quickly.

The Maloja quickly began to settle. The sea was soon running over the left side of her bridge, then the liner listed greatly to the starboard, whereupon she rolled over until the starboard was submerged and the decks stood perpendicular. Soon after this the Maloja turned turtle amid a cloud of steam.

Meanwhile several dozen craft of all sorts were around the sinking vessel engaged in rescue work. Some boatloads got away. Several of their occupants were apparently injured. These were put aboard a hospital ship. Other [illegible] were towed to the shore. People [illegible] not take to the boats apparently were taken by the rescuers direct from the sloping decks of the sinking liner.

One of the survivors, whose name is Anderson, relates how he helped some women and two children into a boat. The boat capsized, throwing the occupants into the sea. He says there was no panic, but some of the Lascars (Hindu members of the crew) seemed terrified. One was felled while attempting to secure a place in a boat before a woman. Anderson believes the Maloja remained afloat for ten minutes.

One of the passengers, Dr. Avery, entered a very full boat. He was washed out and was saved by grasping a piece of wreckage. He then helped a stewardess and a woman into the same boat into which he got. The captain of the trawler on which Avery was eventually put believes some of the Majola's boats were smashed by the explosion, while others were damaged while being launched because of the liner's heavy list.

Passenger Sharpe escaped with the last boat, on which a woman and three children were jammed between davits. He and a Lascar released them, cutting four ropes with a pocketknife.

Lieutenant Meredith Hoeling, another passenger, was prevented the use of the boats on the port side. The boat which he entered was jammed in between the davits. He paid tribute to the Majola's crew and says he saw two of its members jump overboard with children in their arms. Several others of the crew, he says, swam around supporting women until rescued.

Most of the survivors were exhausted upon reaching shore. At least two children are among those who were drowned. The crew numbered about 260.

PLAINFIELD MAN TO REOPEN OLD BERKELEY BRICK YARD

The old Berkeley brick yard, at New Providence, which has been idle more than a year during the progress of litigation, will be reopened in a few weeks by Ernest T. Hand, of this city. Mr. Hand has confirmed a big tract of woodland at Stony Hill from Gustav Davies, and will send a gang of men today to cut the timber for use in the kilns. It is expected that Mr. Hand, who now owns a big interest in the brick yard, will buy the rest this week.

An effort had been made to put the plant in such condition that 75,000 bricks could be turned out of the plant every day. Expensive machinery and an elaborate oil brick-burning system was installed, which apparently has proved a failure, as Mr. Hand will go back to the old system of burning the kilns with cordwood.

WOMEN SHOULD GET THE HABIT AS WELL AS MEN

Don't eat bite of breakfast until you drink glass of hot water.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexion; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

WAR NEWS

slaughter on the plain north of Douaumont was frightful.

Douaumont Still Holds.

Paris, Feb. 28.—French war statement:

"In Belgium our batteries have bombarded German organizations before Steenestrate. In Champagne in the region of the Navarin Farm, north of Souain, the enemy succeeded in penetrating by a surprise attack into some trenches of our advanced line and our supporting trench. To the north of Verdun the bombardment has continued with intensity everywhere in the central sector and toward our right. No new attack upon the Cote De Poivre (Pepper Heights' was made yesterday. Late in the day the Germans made several attacks to capture the village of Douaumont. Their efforts were shattered against the resistance of our troops, whom the most furious assaults were unable to shake. The battle is less severe on the plateaus to the north of the village of Vaux En Woevre."

No Arms For Defense Only.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Germany today, through Ambassador Von Bernstorff, formally notified the United States that there is no such thing as a merchantman armed for defensive purposes. Her position very frankly stated at a conference between the Ambassador and the Secretary of State was that armament of any character is offensive armament as far as merchant vessels are concerned. The statement of Count Von Bernstorff represented the joint position of the Teutonic Powers.

Russian Steamer Sunk.

London, Feb. 28.—The Russian steamer Petsenga has been sunk by submarine, it was announced today. Fifteen members of the crew were saved, but several are missing.

Three British Warships Sunk.

Berlin, Feb. 28 (by wireless via Sayville).—A semi-offial statement issued today through the Overseas News Agency, says that the British cruiser Caroline and the destroyers Eden and Nith Ness were sunk by bombs during the last Zeppelin raid over England, and thirty-one members of the Caroline's crew were killed by explosion, forty-seven were drowned and fifty-eight wounded. The Caroline, it was said, sank in six minutes.

Germans Still Advance.

German war statement:

"Western theatre—Artillery engagements of an exceedingly violent character occurred at several places on the front north of Arras. There was occasional mine activity. German troops destroyed by blasting about 40 yards of the enemy's position. In Champagne the Germans, after an effective artillery preparation, began an attack on both sides of the road from Somme to Souain. They conquered the Navarin Farm and the French position on both sides of about 1,600 yards. Took prisoners; 26 officers and 1,009 men and captured nine machine guns and one mine thrower."

Kaiser's Lines Are Advanced.

In the Verdun district new masses of troops concentrated by the enemy were exhausted in unsuccessful attempts to attack German positions in and near Fort Douaumont and Hardaumont. The German troops cleared the Meuse Peninsula of enemy forces. They also advanced their lines farther in the direction of Vacherauville and Bras. In the Woevre region the foot of Cote Lorraine was reached from the east at several points.

ARREST ELOPERS IN MASSACHUSETTS

Mrs. Tetoflea Sulocka and Frank Wilchenski Finally Located at Lynn.

Somerville, Feb. 28.—Upon information furnished Chief of Police Allen B. Thorne, of Lynn, Mass., by County Detective George D. Toten, of Somerset county, Mrs. Tetaflea Sulocka, Frank Wilchenski and the woman's nine-year-old son were arrested Saturday afternoon in connection with the arrest of Felick Garginski and John Szuboy, for an alleged murder in Trumbull, Ohio.

Sheriff Burlingame, of Ashtabula county, arrived in Bound Brook Saturday morning, and after going over the evidence furnished him by the county authorities, was satisfied that in the elopement of the Sulocka woman, who is an aunt to one of the murder suspects, with Wilchenski last Wednesday, that it was best that he leave for Massachusetts at once. Detective Totten was so busy with criminal matters in this county that he could not accompany the sheriff, so Chief Brampton, of Bound Brook, went along with Sheriff Burlingame. After they had left, Totten received word from Chief Thorne, of Lynn, Mass., of the arrest of the people wanted. When Burlingame and Brampton arrived at Boston they received a telegram informing them that the people had been arrested.

Garginski and Szuboy, it is said, left Trumbull, Ohio, after the murder of S. S. Parker, a rich farmer, and came to Bound Brook, where they were arrested. Garginski, the nephew of the Sulocka woman, it is said, gave her between $600 and $800 to keep for him. This she did, and took it with her on the elopement.

Prosecutor A. M. Beekman states that there is no criminal charge against the woman so far as the money is concerned, but is of the opinion that the man might be handled in the white slave act, because he might have taken the woman from one State to another for wrongful purposes. Chief of Police Thorne has informed Totten by telegraph that the woman wants to return to her husband in Bound Brook. Sheriff Burlingame thanked the Somerset county authorities on Saturday morning for the great assistance given the Ashtabula county, Ohio, authorities in running the crime down.

Garginski, since his return to Ohio, made a statement, it is said, accusing J. H. Rockhill of the murder of S. S. Parker. Rockhill, who is a son-in-law, it is said, proved the Ashtabula authorities that he was ten miles away at a social function when the murder was committed.

DONALD WALLACE RELEASED AFTER SERVING SENTENCE

After serving six months in the county jail at Elizabeth and paying a fine of $100, Donald Wallace, of 303 West Fifth street, was released this morning. Wallace was charged with a serious offense, and many petitions were circulated in his behalf. After being found guilty, his sentence was held up for many weeks while the court investigated the case and in sentencing the defendant, Judge James C. Connolly took occasion to severely score both the prisoner and those who sought to belittle the seriousness of the crime.

Wallace is a former playwright and when taken into custody he was flashily dressed. When he walked into the cell room of the county jail to await trial he wore white shoes, a natty cap, a suit of the latest cut, carried a cane and puffed on a cigarette, all of which called for a demonstration by the other prisoners.

NARROWLY ESCAPE BURNING TO DEATH

Charles Murphy and Family Are Rescued From Home Which is Destroyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy, of Dewey Park, had a narrow escape from burning to death at 10:30 last night when the house just north of the New Jersey Central tracks and a short distance from the Hall Press works, caught fire and was quickly destroyed. The fire, it is believed, was caused by the high wind fanning the chimney, causing it to become overheated and to combust in the cellar.

The Murphys, aroused by the noise of an explosion, were barely able to get out. They didn't have time to save a thing. The flames simultaneously with the explosion, broke out through the cellar windows and enveloped the entire house. All attempts to save the place by neighbors were rendered fruitless, and in twenty-five minutes the fire had burned itself out.

The family had about $500 worth of furniture in their home, some of which was protected by insurance. The house, valued at $1,500, was fully insured. The family is stopping with Mrs. Murphy's mother, Mrs. King.

ANSONIA STRIKE IS OVER.

Ansonia, Conn., Feb. 28.—The 3,000 workmen of the American Brass Copper Co., who have been on strike for ten days, returned to their places this morning. The men were granted a 15 per cent. advance in wages, time and one-half for overtime and a half holiday on Saturday with a full day's pay.

Miss Katherine Kennedy, of New York, and Dewey Apgar, of Newark, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George La Tourette, of 203 North avenue, over the week-end.

Before you have followed the plan of reading the ads for very long you become an EDUCATED judge of values. This education must be kept up to the hour.

Don't you think, judging by the interesting store advertisements printed today, that a visit to some of the stores just now might be interesting as well as profitable to you?

THE PRESS' SPECIAL OFFER TO PLAINFIELD

THIS is one of our big achievements, of which we are justly proud. Every reader of this paper—yes, every family in the city and in its environments—can this year enjoy either of these two nationally famous magazines, or both of them, with this paper, for but little more than the price of the paper alone. These two great magazines with approximately 1,500,000 subscribers, are known and loved the whole country over. At 15 cents a copy, $1.80 a year—$3.60 for the two, purchased by the month—they are unquestioned leaders in their respective fields.

How We Did It

We went to the publishers of these magazines and told them about this city. How its population has increased! How its wealth has increased! How its trade has increased! How its bank clearings have increased! We showed them how desirable it was for them, and for their advertisers, that they should have a large circulation here! Then we showed them how this paper was the one paper in this city to make this offer, and how we knew that the citizens of this city would welcome this opportunity enthusiastically.

Woman's Home Companion

Splendid Serial Novels Woman's Home Companion is famous for the excellence of its fiction, particularly its full-length serial novels. There will be at least four novels this year, by Margaret Deland, Fannie Heaslip Lea, and others of equal power. Hundreds of thousands will later pay $1.50 each for them, when they are published in book form, but readers of Woman's Home Companion will have had them first.

Fifty Splendid Short Stories By distinguished authors whose work you are always eager to read, will fill the pages of the Companion. Mary E. Wilkins Freeman, William J. Burns (the great detective), Zona Gale, Mary Heaton Vorse, Juliet Wilbor Tompkins, Grace S. Richmond—these are only a few of the popular favorites whose stories will appear during the year.

The Finer Things of Life Inspiration, ideals, culture, the things that lift us above the commonplace and the monotony of living—these have an important place in the program for 1916. The Rev. Dr. Charles E. Jefferson has prepared a series of intimate sermons for the Companion family on the duties and privileges of family life and the real meaning of family ties.

Laura Spencer Porter will help those who love pictures and want to know the best. Anne Bryan McCall, in The Tower Room, will continue her popular department for girls.

The New Fashions Fashion's new ideas, the chic touches that distinguish the smartly dressed woman of Fifth Avenue will always be found first in the Companion. Grace Margaret Gould, the Companion Fashion Editor, keeps her readers in constant touch with the great creators of fashion in Paris and New York.

For the Little People The Cherubs are coming! The cunningest, funniest little people you ever saw—drawn and versified by Olive Rush. Also stories, puzzles and prizes, plays for school and nursery, plans for kites, aeroplanes and boats, doll dressmaking lessons—all kinds of things to interest and amuse the little Companion readers.

Helpful, Home Departments The Companion is famous for its practical departments. Every month it offers new ideas for cooking, for serving, for entertaining, for fancy work. Hundreds of ideas every month! Practical, really helpful ideas. Companion readers find these departments most valuable.

The American Magazine

aims to be, and is, a magazine for the whole family to share, each with the other—full of the new things, the interesting things, this month, next month, every month!

George Ade
William Allen White
Ellis Parker Butler
David Grayson
Ida Tarbell
John Sharp Williams
Ray Stannard Baker
Hough Fullerton
Stephen Leacock
John Taintor Foote
Walter Pritchard Eaton
James Montgomery Flagg

These, and scores of other favorites, will contribute the timely and interesting articles, the stories, the striking illustrations, the departments. You will find The American Magazine always full of the things you are interested in; the things you want to read about.

The Effect of the War on America The New industries have been created; old industries have been given new life; new cities have sprung up full sized in a month; men have become millionaires over night—these are some of the effects of the war on America. These articles tell a wonderful story of problems met, difficulties overcome, and successful achievement. They give a splendid, true picture of the war industries, the war fortunes, and the men that made them.

Being Better Business Men An intensely interesting series of practical, fact-bottom articles about the Retail Business, Real Estate, Advertising, Selling, and other important lines of business. Other articles for young men will take up the problems of young men—going into business in his own town; going into business with his father; going to the large city. It will be a very interesting and really valuable series.

Stories—Short and Long There is always a generous measure of stories in The American Magazine. Stories of city life; of country life; home stories; dog stories; love stories and adventure stories—a real feast of fiction. Important, too, no suggestive or unclean story has ever found its way into The American Magazine. Its stories are wholesome and cleverly told, that the whole family can, and does, enjoy.

The Big Saving

If you bought either of these magazines by the month you would pay fifteen cents for it. If you bought both of them you would pay thirty cents. One magazine purchased this way for the year would cost you $1.80. Both magazines $3.60. Our plan will give you the magazines each month by mail at your home, promptly on publication date for but a few cents more than this paper alone would cost. It is a big, big saving in convenience and in money.

TWO IN AUTO ARE KILLED BY TRAIN

Bodies of Victims Hurled Sixty Feet.

CAR TOTALLY DEMOLISHED

Victims Failed to See Approach of Engine on Burlington County Grade Crossing—Coroner Starts Investigation to See Whether or Not Engineer Was Responsible.

Mount Holly, Feb. 28.—Their automobile struck by the Central railroad's New York express, running through Chatsworth at a mile a minute, Joseph Lemmon, thirty-eight years of age, and Elmer Inman, Jr., sixteen years of age, both residents of this section of Burlington county, were instantly killed, their bodies being hurled about sixty feet from the crossing.

People who witnessed the accident said that the men were evidently unmindful of the approach of the train, as they ran ahead, apparently believing their path was clear. The terrific force with which they were struck broke nearly all the bones in their bodies, and they were lifeless when picked up. The automobile was completely demolished. Lemmon is survived by a wife and two children. Young Inman is the son of Elmer Inman, a farmer.

Coroner Gaskill of Mount Holly is making an investigation to determine whether the railroad engineer complied with all legal requirements in giving warning for approaching a crossing. He will hold an inquest some time next week.

JACOB SWOBODA FREED.

Espionage Charge Not Pressed Against Former Du Pont Employee.

Salem, Feb. 28.—Jacob Swoboda, a spy suspect, who was arrested for "peculiar behavior" in Penns Grove and for refusal to be photographed for his employers, the E. I. du Pont-de Nemours Powder company, was set free here after eleven weeks' imprisonment on nolle prosequi proceedings quashing indictments for larceny. He had pleaded not guilty to the larceny indictment, and the proceedings were then instituted.

The accusation that Swoboda was a spy for a foreign government was not pressed after he had produced an honorable discharge from the Forty-seventh regiment of New York volunteers after completing his service in the Spanish-American war.

RUSSIANS TESTING SHELLS.

Guns Mounted at New Range of Bethlehem Company.

Cape May, Feb. 28.—Guns were mounted at the new testing range of the Bethlehem Steel company on the Delaware bay shore, six miles from here. The shell testing is in charge of seven Russian army officers, who have had a force of 200 men getting the range in order for the testing. This range is in addition to the one established here more than a year ago by the Bethlehem company.

The Russians maintain their own office, with Russian girl stenographers, and have leased for a year two of the most commodious dwellings here. The steel company now has under lease all the land on Delaware bay from Cape May point north ten miles.

ROOSEVELT STRIKE SPREADS.

Workers In Liebig Plant Now Ask For Increased Wages.

Roosevelt, Feb. 28.—At a meeting held in Nash's hall strikers from the American Agricultural company's plant appointed a committee to confer with their former employers in an effort to terminate the strike.

There is fear, however, that the strike may not be adjusted, for while the men were in session a number of other strikers appeared before the gates of the Liebig company's big plant and made a demonstration in an attempt to make the strike general.

KRAUS MOR DEAD.

He Said His Son Would Be Trained to Become President.

Orange, Feb. 28.—Kraus Mor, a retired coal and grain merchant, who attracted attention several years ago by declaring that his son, Maurice Franklin Mor, would be trained from childhood to become president of the United States and who engaged in many legal controversies with the Lackawanna railroad and other corporations, is dead at the age of sixty-four.

To Build Orange Station.

Orange, Feb. 28.—Practically every difference that exists between the Lackawanna railroad and the city commission has been settled, and it is expected that the actual work of elevating the tracks over the twenty-one grade crossings in this city will begin inside of three months.

Fifteen Arrests In Raids.

Jersey City, Feb. 28.—Fifteen prisoners—nine women and six men—were arrested by the county authorities in four raids conducted on alleged disorderly houses.

Corrected.

"My husband tells me that he was out late last night with your husband."

"That isn't so. I want you to understand that my husband was out with your husband."—Detroit Free Press.

Put Out.

Corded Frills of Black Satin

Watteau, Directoire, Empire and Victorian Fashions Jumbled to Make Spring Modes - Elaborate Trimmings - Transparent and Untransparent Silks in the New Frock.

THE couturiers seem to have borrowed recklessly from period after period of history to achieve the modes of the moment. It is a curious but altogether fascinating hodge-podge of styles and who can say, at this stage, what will prevail? There is a hint of the stately Directoire in redingotes and hats; a soupcon of Victorian demureness in some of the little gray gowns of spring; lovely Watteau effects in dance frocks, dashing and coquettish reminders of costume ideals of the beautiful Eugenie when as Empress, she set the styles of Europe. The couturiers, themselves, seem to be at odds. Lanvin has become enamored of the flamboyant Spanish type and her Spanish dance frocks are positively thrilling in their splendor of color with artful subduing of black tulle and lace. Poiret, again the self-appointed apostle of the mode and an important factor in the fashions of spring, is all for Breton peasant effects—effects of fifty years ago rather than now when even the folk of Brittany are spoiling their picturesque dress with modern innovations in the way of ready-made raiment from the shops. Worth insists upon drapery, lifted high at the hips; Callot makes all draperies take the long lines advocated by this house. Premet and Jenny follow the wind of the mode as it bloweth. Their frocks are always chic and always charming, replete with originality and that prettiness that appeals to the feminine soul, but lacking in the subtler meanings and purposes which more serious couturiers sometimes try to incorporate in their creations.

Silk For the Spring Frock.

There is a reason apart from caprice of the mode, which makes silk woven materials so exclusively fashionable this spring. Paris can get silk a-plenty—and she cannot get much else; so perforce, silk a-plenty goes into the new frocks. Almost all the silk mills are busy, for the war has not invaded their territory; but fine cotton-woven stuffs and worsted-woven stuffs are scarce and the couturiers have compromised with necessity by making tailored suits half wool and half silk, and adding bands of cloth, here and there, to chiffon frocks—just to strike an even balance.

Silks in Paris mean silks here; so the spring afternoon frock is of silk. And after all, what else should a dainty spring afternoon frock be made of? When once silk is used by itself, elaborate trimming in the way of ruching, cording, piping or crosswise arrangement of the silk pattern gives the desired suggestion of gaiety—for all frocks are gay now and winsome and coquettish! When two fabrics are combined lines may be simpler; but the motto of fashion this spring seems to be "Variety" anything like plainness must be sedulously avoided.

"Show through" effects are the very keynote of the moment's mode. Sheer bodices of chiffon and net are imposed on underbodices laid in tucks or trimmed with metallic lace or velvet ribbon appliqued in the dignified Greek key pattern. Skirts of chiffon have ruffles or flat bands of silk placed close together from hem to belt. This horizontal trimming of the skirt is perhaps the most characteristic note of the 1916 spring. The effect will undoubtedly be overdone because it is an effect so easily copied in all materials; but in its novelty just now, it is charming.

Both Skirts and Sleeves Are Stiffened.

It is by the contrasted effect of softly draping and crisply flaring materials that Paris achieves inimitable chic this spring. For example, if a skirt flares widely, sleeves that droop limply lend the note of contrast. Sometimes a stiffly interlined tunic flares over a skirt of soft folds. In an otherwise crisp frock draped revers or a soft sash-end may furnish the contrasting note of grace. Though the spring frocks are elaborately stiffened underneath they present no suggestion of rigidity or harsh lines. This is partly due to the soft silks, chiffons and laces used in their make up and partly to the clever way they are stiffened underneath.

The bouffant styles of the season require a stiffening or "supporting" material of some kind. A very popular one is a sort of hair lace, sheer, light and flexible, yet the frock draped over it keeps its smart flare no matter how it is crushed into taxi or the narrow space of theatre boxes. A facing of this in light weight runs from hem to knee in the pictured frock of white satin, with a quaint corded basque finishing in a pleated peplum. This peplum is faced with the light hair lace also, and so is the edge of the bell sleeve. A note of softness is introduced by loose undersleeve of chiffon, the folds of chiffon in the square decolletage and the bow of black picot-edged ribbon which trails down the skirt.

The close ruche of pinked out white taffeta helps to hold the skirt in distended lines but it is the fabric facing, from the hem to the silk ruche which really gives the skirt its smart silhouette. The black ribbon around the skirt adds a smartly contrasting note and also serves to cover the line of stitching which attaches the facing underneath. This black ribbon appears again over the folds of chiffon in the decolletage. There are many quaint, old-timey features in this frock; the piped armhole and waistline, the little pleated basque—a detail appearing frequently in spring frocks—the bell sleeve with loose undersleeve, the square-cut decolletage and the pinked out silk ruche. This ruche of white taffeta is a surprising trimming on a frock otherwise entirely of satin; but doubtless Fashion, determined to have a lustrous white satin frock, remembered that satin cannot be pinked successfully, so added the pinked ruche she must have in a material less likely to betray raveling edges.

In this White Satin Frock Pinked Pleating, Piping, and a Bell Sleeve are Quaint Features of Long Ago

Nuns Tucks Added, Not Hemmed In.

Another frock that has the charm of quaintness is a model of Georgette crepe with graduated nuns tucks of chiffon broadcloth on skirt and undersleeve. These tucks are not really tucks at all, but by courtesy of the mode they have been given that name since they resemble real nuns tucks—put in by hand—so closely. In this case the deep and narrow "tucks" are doubled strips of cloth attached to a Georgette crepe skirt by fine machine stitching, the bands growing narrower toward the top of the skirt. In the three lower bands are facings of the lightest stiffening, hair lace—just enough stiffening to make the skirt stand out properly—while the upper "tucks" fall softly with the folds of the crepe skirt, gathered into a waistband.

The bodice with its square decolletage suggests the peasant style. Under it is a guimpe of the crepe with very smart sleeves and collar trimmed with stitched bands of cloth. Both crepe and cloth are in the very palest tint of gray, scarcely deeper than oyster white. Notice here again, the little pleated frill at the waistline. You cannot go amiss if you add this little frill to the bodice of your spring frock.

Gray, also, but a deeper gray in tone, is the frock combining taffeta and chiffon, with draped revers of lace to add the fairy-like touch that white lace always adds to gray. This frock is light smoke-gray in shade, but the chiffon of the bodice seems to take a lighter tone because it is mounted over flesh pink—satin under the bodice itself to the armpits, then flesh pink chiffon under shoulders and sleeves. Bands of the taffeta are stitched across the chiffon bodice, and on the chiffon underskirt: a deep band of the chiffon is set in the overskirt of taffeta. The sleeve, gathered to a low armhole and into a deep cuff, is typical of the wide silhouette of sleeves in general now. Some alarmists are prophesying that we shall soon have with us again the awful balloon sleeve of 1894 and 1895 which was lined with buckram and took [illegible] of material to make.

The Low Shoulder of 1830.

There are several 1830 features in a black and white frock which comes from Premet, notably the off-the-shoulder line suggested here by a deep bertha of black velvet. Evening gowns of the '30s fell off the shoulder in precisely this fashion; in fact the line of the decolletage followed the upper edge of this black velvet bertha and one feels there was not much choice in the way of modesty between the 1830 evening bodice and the model of today over which some individuals are making such a fuss. At any rate the 1830 style is coming back—so they say—and afternoon frocks have the off-the-shoulder line, suggested with trimmings. Black velvet ribbons are criss-crossed on this white taffeta skirt in a novel and striking fashion. The wide leg o'mutton sleeve with its deep cuff has a frill to match the tall collar. Very charming with this white and black frock is a black lace straw hat with crown of green velvet leaves and one of the little skirt veils which flutter from the hat-brim.

Corded Frills Make Hoops Needless.

A veritable love of a gown is the dainty model of black satin and tulle from Jenny. Many, many tiny frills of black satin, each run with a cord at its lower edge, make the gauzy black tulle skirt stand out as though mounted over hoops. More of these little corded frills appear on the tulle bodice, giving it the effect of a jacket, overhanging the waistline. Under the tulle bodice is a guimpe of white chiffon and satin, and very properly with this smart black and white gown are worn white silk stockings and shiny black slippers in the buckled style that Paris again [illegible]

Beauty Twixt Chin and Collar Bone

THE chin is rather a neglected feature, more's the pity. Women spend a deal of time giving beauty-attention to the rest of their physiognomy but the chin, too often gets off with a lick and a promise, as one might say. Hours—and dollars—are spent on the hair; it is shampooed, singed, supplied with tonic, burnished, curled and matched with expensive artificial tresses. Even more dollars are spent on the teeth. The complexion receives its due share, but it is the complexion above the chin that most women worry about; the chin is a hardy sort of member and seems really to demand little except ordinary cleanliness—until the day comes when long neglect becomes apparent. It may look dingy and yellowed; it may have grown flabby and shriveled; it may have developed—or show signs of developing—that loose bag of flesh called a double-chin; or it may reveal itself rough and covered with blackheads, or worse yet, pimples. All, usually, because it has been neglected.

The beautiful chin is milk-white with a dainty touch of rose at its tip. Its skin is soft and its contours rounded, even when it is a square, determined little chin. The sharp, peaked chin is never lovely, no matter how white it may be. Underneath the jaw the line of the beautiful chin blends softly into the line of the neck and the line is the line of youth. The trouble is that women do not look often enough at their profiles. It is the profile view that tells the first story about age—in the chin; from a front view the contour of the chin appears pretty much the same until the double-chin has become fairly obvious. And one should remember that it is the profile, not the full face that is presented most to critical eyes. Other people see our profiles three times as often as they do our full face presentment; yet at our own profiles we rarely look, save in cursory manner while we regard our back hair by means of a hand-glass.

The dreaded double chin, ominous sign of advancing age, does not make its appearance first in a baggy look between chin and throat; but in the angular break in the soft curve of youth between chin and throat. The flesh adhering tightly to the bone under the tip of the jaw just behind the cartilage that forms the chin, then sagging back and down into the line of the throat. In the young girl pictured as applying half a lemon to her throat, the chin has the soft sweeping line of youth. Now look at the picture of the older woman with head raised in profile view. The flesh has begun to adhere to the jawbone, giving the peaked effect which will later be pronounced as age approaches. Take a pencil and make a shadow back of the chin cartilage under either of these pictured chins and you will immediately produce an effect of middle age.

In order to keep the chin young and round as long as possible, it should be massaged with thumb and finger-tip daily; not only over the bagging flesh of what may become the double-chin but also under the cartilage at the tip, to keep the flesh and muscles under the jawbone free and flexible. Massage for a double-chin is illustrated in another picture. With head thrown back, the finger-tips are placed over the throat, thumbs up, or back. Then the fingertips are drawn firmly upward to the ears, meeting again and drawing upward again, over and over. The massage should be given with a good flesh food, after a thorough cleansing of the chin and throat with warm water. Afterward ice cold water should be dashed against chin and throat. This will harden flaccid muscles and incidentally will be a great preventive of colds and sore throat.

A double chin can be reduced measurably by the wearing of a chin bandage; but with the reducing of the superfluous flesh will almost certainly follow a shriveled, stringy look that is equally unbeautiful unless the bandage treatment be followed by regular massage and feeding of the skin with a good skin-food. A chin bandage may be made by folding a long strip of cotton cloth in two and dipping the strip in strong alum water. Tie the bandage, or pin it with a safety pin on top of the head, and have it tight enough to give firm pressure under the chin. Sleep in the bandage or wear it for several hours during the day. When it is removed, massage the flesh food into the throat and chin and then dash with cold water. This treatment if persisted in for two or three months will remove even the most obstinate double chin without disfiguring effect. If middle age brings, instead of the flabby double chin, shriveled and stringy muscles of the throat, use the skin-food and massage treatment and also take exercises for the neck. The head should be slowly bent, first to the right, then to the left, then far back until you feel a strong stretching of the throat muscles, then allowed to fall forward on the breast. Then roll the head around, first from right to left, then from left to right as though it were loose on its axis, the spine. Do this ten times, morning and evening. Follow with this excellent physical culture exercise for the throat muscles: Draw the lips back from the teeth and make a long hissing sound, as loud as you are able. You will feel the pull of the throat muscles and they will grow firmer and less flabby if this exercise is done faithfully several times each day.

After Thirty Guard Against Shriveling and Stringiness of the Throat Muscles.

Rub the Throat With Lemon to Keep it Fair and Flawless.

Systematic Massage the Very Best Treatment For an Established Double Chin.

If the chin should be anything, it should be white and speckless. Too often its whiteness is spoiled by blackheads. Few chins are scrubbed with soap and water as they ought to be. First the pores must be opened by a hot water and soap scrub, given with a flesh brush. Then scrub the chin with this solution: five cents worth of castile soap, dissolved, four ounces of alcohol, the juice of two lemons, and two drops of carbolic acid. After the scrubbing rub a little skin-food into the skin. This treatment may be given three times a week, at night. In the morning cold water for chin and throat.

It is a pity that so many throats are yellow and coarse of texture. The rubbing of the collar, particularly the coat collar of heavy cloth or fur, is responsible for this. Sweet milk and salt, a teaspoonful of salt to a pint of milk, will whiten the neck if regularly applied. Half a lemon rubbed over the throat and neck every night will keep away the disfiguring marks of high collars. If the neck, below the ears and at the back, has become very rough and discolored from the fur coat collar, bind on a thin slice of raw beef for a few hours and repeat the treatment in a day or two. And now that spring is so near I will whisper this secret to you. Nothing gives the chin and throat such lovely whiteness as fresh strawberry juice.

NOTES AND NOTIONS

A TWO-FACED AFFAIR.

THE very latest in photograph frames is the two-in-one arrangement swinging on a pivot so that either side may face the front. The two photographs are mounted, back to back, in the frame and either one may—so to speak—put its best foot foremost. The advantages of this convenient frame will readily suggest themselves. The young lady who cannot make up her mind between two swains may have either one confronting her on her writing table, the other being banished until caprice sees fit to swing the frame around. Then if you have a very precious photograph of somebody that you would prefer casual callers not to see, the photograph may be mounted on one side of the swinging frame, and another picture—say sister in her graduation frock—on the other side, and when the doorbell rings a touch of your finger sends the really important photograph 'round to face the wall while the unimportant one presents a smiling front to the drawing room. These frames are very handsome affairs, made of gilded wood, the outer frame of rococo design and the swinging frame a narrow rim which sets off the photograph to advantage.

COVER THE MAGAZINES WITH JAPANESE TOWELING.

THE covers of magazines, tossed about porch or living room, soon tear away at the inner edge and there is something particularly forlorn and uninteresting about a magazine minus its cover even though its date is that of the current month. Attractive covers may be made of printed Japanese toweling, which comes by the ten-yard strip for a dollar. One may select a soft gray-green, or white with blue printings in the ever-beloved bamboo tree pattern and the toweling is so narrow that no hemming will be necessary, the width of the fabric having about the same measurement as the length of a magazine. Cut a strip long enough to make two covers and an envelope pocket at each end into which the magazine covers may be slipped and overcast the edges of the pockets together. These covers should be laundered and very slightly starched before the magazines are inserted.

INDIAN APPROPRIATION BILL HAS OPPOSITION

Elizabeth, Feb. 28.—The Indian Appropriation Bill, H. R. 10385, now in the hands of the Senate Indian Committee, has caused quite a stir throughout the country among patriotic societies that oppose the use of government or State funds for sectarian purposes. It is reported the bill contains a provision whereby a certain religious sect will receive an appropriation of $200,000 for sectarian schools. Referring to this portion of the bill the Union County Federation of Patriotic Societies has written Senators Hughes and Martine stating its position as follows:

"We strongly oppose the use of any government fund for such a purpose and call your attention to the fact that last year when a similar bill came before your body for consideration a point of order made by Senator Lodge defeated it. We hope that your vote will be recorded against the bill, unless the objectionable feature referred to is eliminated, so that it may pass at this session with no unconstitutional clauses providing for government aid to any sectarian institution whatsoever."

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Owing to the "Service of Rejoicing," Friday night, and the rehearsal for it tonight, there will be no classes, except the Bible class, at the association on these nights. Everybody is invited to the service, and every member of the Jubilee Chorus is particularly urged to be present at the rehearsal in the First Baptist church on Monday night at 7:45.

All lessons lost will be made up, and classes will be resumed as usual on Monday, March 5.

Basketball practice for all senior gym members will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. This will be followed at 8:30 by volley-ball to which all young women of Plainfield as well as association members are invited.

RECREATION NOTES

The dancing class under the direction of Miss Snyder, will be held in the Washington school auditorium tonight.

The Athenians will hold a basketball practice in the Plainfield High school gymnasium tonight. The Recreation club will practice tomorrow night.

The Zephyrs will hold a basketball practice in the High school gymnasium tomorrow night, followed by a dance.

The Choral society will hald a rehearsal in the Franklin school auditorium tomorrow night.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

A headline in a local newspaper says that in casting about for a Democratic opponent of the renomination of Senator Martine, "Democrats see hope in Hudspeth and Saunders." "But there are some drawbacks." There are many. Hudspeth is a politician of the Hudson county stripe, and Saunders a technical engineer, and no more, so far as statesmanship is concerned. Martine is the natural heir. If the Democrats find so much difficulty in finding able men for the job, we will offer a few suggestions. Here are the names of a few New Jersey Democrats who are fitted for the United States Senatorship above any that have been suggested, who are in good party standing, who have the respect of the public and who are above the charge of self-seeking: Lindley M. Garrison, Charles G. Garrison, Richard A. Lindabury, J. F. Fielder, John R. Hardin, E. W. Walker, Frederic W. Stevens, James J. Bergen, Charles C. Black. It might be elaborated. Not one of them has any possibility of present indications.

NO! WE ARE NOT GOING TO SELL SHOES FOR $1.00 A PAIR. DON'T GET THAT IDEA IN YOUR MIND.

But we are going to save you $1.00 to $2.00 on every pair as advertised.

Saturday brought our annual Midwinter Sale to a close, and in advertising that sale no claim was made that all goods were reduced. We devoted our attention mainly to broken lots or discontinued styles, and needless to say, the advertisements faithfully represented the actual values offered, in other words, THE GOODS BACKED UP THE ADS.

And it goes without saying that the sale was a success.

Now we have gone very carefully through the stock and find the sizes very much broken, and have bunched them together in lots, so that there will be a good variety of sizes in something, and take our word for it, they will be Genuine Bargains.

Lot No. 1, Women's Shoes (values $3.00 to $5.00) $2.98
Lot No. 2, Women's Shoes (values $3.00 to $5.00) $2.43
Lot No. 3, Women's Shoes (values $3.00 to $5.00) $1.49
Lot No. 4, Men's Shoes (values $4.00 to $6.00) $3.98
Lot No. 5, Men's Shoes (values $4.00 to $6.00) $3.33
Lot No. 6, Men's Shoes (values $4.00 to $6.00) $2.98

In Lots Nos. 2 and 3 are included a lot of broken sizes in Pumps and Oxfords; white, tan and black.

Another feature of the sale will be tables of Remnants of odds and ends at prices too cheap to mention.

ENDS JOURNEY UNDER A TRAIN

Boy Traveller Crushed to Death When He Tries to Alight From Freight.

COMPANIONS ESCAPE

Three Were On Way to New York to Get Jobs—Mangled Youth Begged Friends to Get Arm From Under Wheels.

Rounse Parker, one of a party of three youthful travellers from Baltimore to New York, ended his journey at midnight last night at Skillman, when he atempted to alight from a fast-moving freight train and was thrown under the wheels. He died at Muhlenberg hospital shortly before daylight today.

The boys left Baltimore two days ago and had rode almost the entire time without sleep. Their way had been made on freight trains and, because of the incessant care necessary to elude brakemen and yard workmen, they were forced to keep awake both day and night, or lose much time on the trip.

Last night the three, all under nineteen years of age, sat huddled on the front end of a coal car that was a part of a local Philadelphia and Reading freight train bound for New York. The cold night air soothed their tired bodies to sleep, despite the danger of falling under wheels with each lurch of the train. They dozed at times and awoke from one of these short periods of sleep to find the truck underneath them smoking badly from a "hotbox." To the boys it seemed as though the train was slowing for a stop and they instantly decided to alight before trainmen coming to repack the heated axle found them. Martin Best ,aged eighteen, alighted first. The Parker boy followed him, and John Randall, smallest and youngest of the trio, jumped last.

The boys had misjudged the speed of the train, and Best and Randall were thrown several yards. All were separated in the darkness.

"I yelled and they didn't answer," Randall told a Press reporter this morning. "I was afraid they had remained on the train and I was left alone, but I walked back and soon I came on Best. He was leaning over Rounse and I heard Rounse beg him to get his arm. He thought it was still under the wheels, but the train had gone on."

The swiftly-moving train had thrown Parker back under the wheels. His head and shoulders were crushed and one arm hung to his body by a mere shred of flesh. The two boys picked him up and carried him a short distance until they could find help. Railroad men cared for him until he could be brought to Plainfield, where an ambulance took him to Muhlenberg hospital. He died shortly after 4 a. m. today.

The Parker boy lived at 4801 Chester place, in Baltimore. He is survived by a young sister and a younger brother. He was eighteen years of age, and had been out of school for four years, working at various jobs in Baltimore. The three boys had started for New York, where they hoped to get jobs. All were without money.

Best and Randall are at the police station here, although there is no charge against them. They will be cared for and arrangements made to send them home or on to New York, but the local authorities will see that they do not leave Plainfield on a freight train.

The body of the Parker boy is being held pending word from his sister in Baltimore, who has been notified by telegraph.

BURGLARS ENTER A DOWNTOWN OFFICE

Ransack Metropolitan Life Office at An Early Hour.

A bold burglary in the Woodhull & Martin building, on East Front street early last night netted the robbers nothing, but served to excite occupants of the building for a shot time. At 8:40 o'clock, someone in the Plainfield Business College telephoned the police station that two men had entered the office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company and an officer was sent at once to investigate. He found several students of the college who had seen the two men. Gustave Levere met them on the steps as they were leaving the office. They rushed by him on the stairway and he was able to get a good view of both men.

One man was short and stout, with large eyes, and wore a short coat. The other was tall and slim and wore a long black coat. The two men gained admittance to the office by removing the glass in the outer door and that in the inner door. Both jobs were neatly done and showed evidences of professionalism. A search of the office failed to show anything missing, and it is believed that the job was without remuneration for the burglars.

BAZAAR OPENS IN BLAZE OF GLORY

Capacity Attendance Marks First Night of Watchung Council, K. of C., Affair.

MANY NOVEL FEATURES

Congressman John H. Capstick Among the Guests—Attractive Program Presented—Full List of Committees in Charge.

The Knights of Columbus bazaar opened in a blaze of glory last night, a capacity number of attendants being present to join in the merrymaking and enjoy the many attractive features arranged by the large committee. The auditorium is beautifully decorated for the week, red, white and blue being the prevailing color scheme, while flowers, potted plants and streamers add effectively. Across the stage lighted Japanese lanterns were hung giving an Oriental flavor to the setting. In the sun parlor miniature electric lights were strung among the trailing vines, giving the room a picturesque appearance. The library affords a delightful resting room for those who wish to seek a moment's rest.

During the evening, Congressman J. H. Capstick visited the bazaar and enjoyed the many attractions. The Congressman spent last evening in this city and took the opportunity of visiting the handsome clubhouse. He was accompanied by William Newcorn.

Amusements, supplies and the spirit of the occasion were all generously distributed among the visitors by a commitee who work in complete unison and see to the wants of each individual. Some will stroll through the spacious clubhouse and show the many mysteries, while others will attend to your immediate wants. Probably the most interesting of the features last night was the gypsy booth, where two keepers of mysticism told the past, present and future of attendants. In order to accommodate still more, another tent will be erected for use tonight, where Princess Zingara will read your palm and tell you of the lucky or unlucky days of your life as well as answer any questions you may ask her. Princes Zaza will tell you your future from cards, while Mme. Yarum can be consulted on any subject that troubles the mind.

W. H. Schaffer, general chairman of the bazaar, had everything in working order. He was capably assisted by the following committees: Francis J. Blatz, sub-chairman; A. H. Des Noyer, secretary, and A. A. Cannon, treasurer. Chairmen of the various sub-committees are: Printing, Joseph F. O'Keefe; publicity, John J. Carty; entertainment, John Doyle; reception, J. J. McCaffey; tickets, M. L. Griffin; ice cream, Patrick Mohan; decorations, Francis J. Blatz; admission, Robert

MRS. PLA DE VILLARS RECOVERING AT NORRISTOWN

The Daily Press is in receipt of a letter from Miss Resia Pla de Villars, a former resident of the borough, but who is now living with her parents at Norristown, Pa., that her mother, Mrs. Julian Pla de Villars, is recovering in the Norristown Hospital, after a very serious operation performed on February 16. She underwent the ordeal for the removal of gall stones and the appendix and because of a weakened condition of the heart it was fearful for several days that she would not recover. She is now out of danger, but is will probably be several weeks before she is able to return home. Dr. Henry C. Welker, of Norristown, was the operating physician.

Mr. and Mrs. Pla de Villars resided at 95 Grove street, the borough, previous to their removal to Norristown. Mr. Pla de Villars was a teacher of languages in the North Plainfield High School and is now conducting the Norristown Academy. In her letter, Miss Pla de Villars states that she has been in receipt of so many letters from Plainfield friends asking the condition of her mother that she has found it impossible to answer them all and asks the Daily Press to state the facts.

BOY MAY LOSE EYESIGHT AS RESULT OF EXPLOSION

As the result of an accident between Scotch Plains and Berkeley Heights on Saturday, William Lassaso, son of Peter Lassaso, may lose his eyesight. The boy, who is six years old, discovered a quantity of fireworks in the vicinity of the Essex Specialty Company, and thoughtlessly threw them into the kitchen range at his home.

The result was an explosion that wrecked a portion of the house and severely burned the boy about the face and hands. Physicians are now trying to save the eyesight, but there in some doubt about one optic, which was badly injured.

BOROUGH COURT CASE.

James Bergen, aged 48, colored, was released under a suspended sentence when arraigned before Recorder Fred Hand in the borough this morning on a charge of intoxication. While driving to his home in New Brunswick he stopped at a local hotel and imbibed too freely, after which he was picked up by the police.

BOROUGH BOARD ADOPTS BUDGET

$30,381.37 For Schools is Set Aside to Be Used During Fiscal Year.

A SMALL INCREASE

Supt. Krebs Recommends Class for Defective Pupils—Prof. Aungst Tells of Time Given to "Thrift" by National Educators.

The Borough Board of Education adopted the following budget for the fiscal year at its meeting last evening:

Current expenses	$25,925.00
Repairs	1,350.00
Balance due on work of remodeling Somerset School	618.87
Manual training	1,375.00
Note and interest falling due for work of remodeling Somerset School	1,112.50
Total budget	$30,381.37

This amounts to an increase of $2,463.37 over last year; $1,112.50 covers amount of note and interest falling due for remodeling Somerset School, leaving the actual increase for the conduct of the school as $1,133.87.

An important communication was received from H. C. Krebs, county superintendent of public schools, in which he recommended that a special class for defective pupils be established beginning next September. He called the Board's attention to section 150 of school law, which reads, in part, as follows: "In each school district of this State in which there are ten or more children three or more years below normal, the Board of Education thereof shall establish a special class or classes for their instruction, no class, however, to contain more than fifteen children.

Mr. Krebs said that an apportionment of $500 is made if the teacher possesses the required special certificate. In continuing, he said it is thus seen that the law is mandatory, and that the State assists in the formation of these classes by the apportionment of $300 more than for a regular class teacher. If fifteen defective pupils are taken out of say, ten regular classes, Mr. Krebs said that he was of the opinion that the work of the normal pupils who remain will be improved from ten to twenty per cent.

A resolution was passed that tuition rates be raised as follows, beginning with next year: High School department from $50 to $60; grammar department from $40 to $45.

A resolution was passed to purchase a flagpole for the Harrison Avenue School. Another resolution to connect the stereopticon apparatus in the Somerset School for the showing of slides was also passed. Bills aggregating $5,285.04 were ordered paid.

Supervising Principal D. Fred Aungst, who attended the National Educational Association Convention of Superintendents, at Detroit, last week, told the members of the Board that the outstanding feature of the convention that seemed worthy of their consideration was the time and attention devoted to a national campaign for "Thrift."

GIRL IS KNOCKED DOWN BY TAXI CAB

Runs Directly in Front of Machine, But Escapes With Only Bruises.

Mary Mignge, a fourteen year old Italian girl, was knocked down and badly bruised late yesterday afternoon when she ran in front of a taxicab driven by John Kennedy. The accident happened on Richmond street. The girl started across the street and ran from behind a wagon directly in front of the automobile. Kennedy turned his machine so sharply that he ran onto the curb, and his sudden swerve prevented the girl from being run over. A mudguard struck her and knocked her to the street. The driver picked her up and took her to the office of Dr. Cregar, where she was attended. Later she was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, but she was not badly hurt. Kennedy reported the accident to the police station but after an investigation it was decided that he was blameless and no charge was made against him.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM AT SUNDAY SCHOOL SOCIAL

Under the auspices of the social committee of the First Presbyterian church Sunday-school, a pleasing entertainment and social was held in the chapel of the church, last night. There was a large attendance.

The evening's program included vocal and instrumental music by an orchestra and a quartet and games, after which refreshments were served by the committee. The affair was so successful that the committee decided to hold another one early in the spring.

WEEKS GUEST OF GEO. P. MELLICK

Massachusetts Senator Met Prominent Jerseymen in This City Last Night.

NATIONAL ISSUES TALK

Introduced by Mayor Calkins Visitor Tells of Shrtcomings of Present National Administration—Candidates for Office Present at Dinner.

John P. Weeks, United States Senator from Massachusetts, was the guest last night of George P. Mellick, of East Seventh street, at a dinner attended by about forty prominent New Jersey Republicans, including a number of Plainfielders. Senator Weeks, who is a candidate for the nomination for President, is an old friend of Mr. Mellick's, and the latter invited him to give him an opportunity to meet a number of prominent Jerseymen, so that they might know more of Massachusetts' favorite son for the highest honor in the land.

In addition to Senator Weeks, the guests included two candidates for governor of New Jersey, one for United States Senator, a former governor, several former State officials, all the party leaders in Union county, and a number of men who have never been prominently identified with politics. There was no political significance in the gathering, other than to give party leaders of the State an opportunity to become personally acquainted with the senator.

After a splendid dinner had been served, Mr. Mellick, in a few words, welcomed those present as his guests, and called upon Mayor Leighton Calkins, of this city, to extend a greeting to Senator Weeks and the other out-of-town guests on behalf of the city,

LECTURE FOR BELGIAN RELIEF NETTED $439

Local Society Reports That to Date $4,501.83 Has Been Raised for Cause.

At the meeting of the Plainfield Belgian Relief held yesterday at Mrs. F. W. Wallace's home, the members were gratified to hear that the portable house left Boston for the other side February 22, and that the talk given by the Vicomtesse de Rancougne had netted $339, which had been increased by special contributions amounting to $100. The chairman reported that two boxes containing 401 garments and 147 bandages had also been sent to the Appui Belge to be distributed by Mme. de Rancougne.

The treasurer's report showed that in all $4,501.83 had been raised by the society since November 9, and that, after the purchase of the house and its contents, and the donation of $439 to Mme. de Rancougne, there was a balance of $410.09. It was voted that the society should send warm clothing and shoes as quickly as possible to the Belgian refugees, who are suffering intensely from a lack of these things, and that bolts of uncut material should also be sent with needles, thread and buttons or hooks so that the women can sew for themselves and their children.

All gifts of new shoes and clothing will be gratefully received by Mrs. Wallace, who will pack and ship them for the next three weeks through Mrs. Lina Duryea. For Madame de Rancougne's special parcels for the soldiers razors are badly needed. It seems that the men in the trenches have suffered greatly from skin diseases caused or aggravated by the condition of their hair and beards so that each soldier begs for a razor in order that he may keep his face clean-shaven. Either new or second-hand razors, which will be disinfected, will be sent to the Appui Belge.

The memorial tablet for the portable house is to be shipped next week and it was hoped that it could be placed on exhbition here for a few days; but some errors in spelling has necessitated its return to Boston, where the corrections will be made. The panel, designed by Mr. Hicks, is very simple and very pretty. It is a soft brown with black lettering and records the fact that the house is presented to the Queen of Belgium at her request by the Plainfield Belgian Relief for one hundred orphaned children. A list of thirty-six names of those for whom beds are named follows:

Mrs. Morgensen presented the society with $22, the proceeds of the ice carnival given February 21. Among the other recent contributors are: Miss Helen Terry, Mrs. James M. Charles, Mrs. A. G. Foster, Brown Ralston, Mrs. F. G. Mead, Mrs. William E. Smith, E. Vicars Stevenson, Samuel Huntington, Miss Huntington, Miss Alice Corey, Miss Ida Foster, Mrs. Sidney Williams, A Friend, Mrs. E. J. Patterson, Mrs. H. C. White, Miss Ethel Colton, Mrs. William R. Faber, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Joy, George P. Mellick.

DR. NEILSON RESIGNS AS S. P. C. A. HEAD

Ill-Health Leads to Retirement and J. D. Loizeaux is Chosen as Successor.

Owing to ill health, Rev. W. C. Neilson resigned as president of the Plainfield Branch of the Union County S. P. C. A., at the regular meeting held at his home on East Ninth street, yesterday afternoon, and in view of his long and faithful service, was made honorary president of the society. The members then elected J. D. Loizeaux as president to succeed Dr. Neilson. The other officers chosen are as follows:

First vice president, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson; second vice president, William A. Coddington; third vice president, S. W. Rushmore; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Eleanor Dunn. Mrs. S. G. Van Hoesen is the special agent for the society.

Considerable business was transacted at the meeting and much progress was reported along certain lines of work. The next meeting will be held Monday afternoon, March 27, at 4:30 o'clock at the law offices of W. A. Coddington.

TWO MEASLE VICTIMS DIE IN THE HOSPITAL

Two children in the family of Anthony Devico, of 317 Cottage place, have died of measles since Sunday, the death of three year-old Annie Devico on that day being followed by that of an eight months' old child today. The three-year-old child was buried in Evergreen cemetery yesterday, and no funeral arrangements have as yet been made for the burial of the second victim.

ENGINE BREAKS AXLE.

A fire that broke out shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Mills building, on Front street, near the corner of Grant avenue, destroyed a bed and carpeting in the room of a man named Mead. It was quickly extinguished. On the way back to headquarters automobile hose engine No. 2 broke an axle at the corner of Gront street and Gerard avenue.

VERDUN DEFENSE BREAKING UNDER BLOODY CHARGE OF GERMANS, SAY REPORTS TO BERLIN WAR OFFICE

KAISER'S TROOPS WEARING AWAY HEAVY STONE AND STEEL FORTS BY INCESSANT HAMMERING OF FLESH WEDGES.

FRENCH ARE REMOVING BIG GUNS TO THE REAR

Germans Still Hold Fort Douaumont Where They Are Intrenched Behind Bodies of Comrades—Take Two More Fortified Villages With 20,000 Prisoners—Losses Continue at Horrible Rate.

Berlin, Feb. 28.—Human flesh is wearing away stone and steel. Against the battering of the bodies of German soldiers the heavy fortifications of Verdun are crumbling. The scattering of soldiers like sand before the rifles and artillery of the French is today bearing fruit in what promises to be victory, for correspondents at the front report that the French are removing large guns mounted on the forts of Verdun and taking them to the rear of the lines. These messages are regarded in Berlin as corroboration of the predictions of German military experts that the fall of Verdun is imminent. Evacuation of some of the inner forts on the eastern front there is also reported to have begun, owing to the steady advance of the Germans down the east bank of the Meuse river.

German troops still hold Fort Douaumont, where they are fortified behind bodies of dead piled high above the artificial fortifications that have been wrecked by the fierce artillery fire. Bloody battles for the possession of the village itself are still in progress with awful loss of life and no advantage.

Berlin, Feb. 29 (Wireless).—The German headquarters today announced the capture of two more fortified French villages on the Verdun southeastern front. In the great operations that have for their objective the surrounding of the French fortress on the Meuse, German troops have taken Manheulles and Champion The total number of prisoners captured by the Germans in their campaign against Verdun has been increased to 228 officers and 16,575 men. Manhueiles lies on the Woevre plain, about seven miles southeast of Verdun.

French Admit Losses.

Paris, Feb. 29.—French war statement:

"To the north of Verdun the bombardment has continued very violently. In the sector to the east of the Meuse, violent local attacks renewed during the night at various times in the region of the village of Douaumont and developing into hand-to-hand conflicts were repulsed by our troops.

"In the Woevre the Germans succeeded, after a violent artillery preparation, in capturing the village of Manheulles. A counter-attack immediately carried our troops back to the west border of the village, which we now have under our fire. In Lorraine, the enemy penetrated some small trench sections in the advance line, from which he was almost immediately driven."

Briand is Cheerful.

Paris, Feb. 29.—M. Aristide Briand, the Prime Minister, has informed the Deputies from the Verdun districts that the military situation there is good, the troops full of enthusiasm, their morale admirable and the reserves strong and ready for all eventualities.

Germans Pay Dearly.

Amsterdam, Feb. 29.—The German losses at Verdun, according to several correspondents, are 45,000 in killed alone. Near Hautmont are 8,000 German bodies on a two-mile front. One regiment has been constructed from the remnants of ten. Eleven thousand wounded have already passed through Metz.

Austrians Leave Durrazzo.

Amsterdam, Feb. 29.—The Austrians, after having captured Durrazzo, are unable to remain in the town, state despatches from Rome. The Allied fleet, after covering the embarkation of the troops there, bombarded the roads. The houses are also burning.

British Losses 18,000.

London, Feb. 29.—British casualties in all the war areas published during the month of February showed a total of 739 officers and 17,847 men.

Bulgars Warn Austria.

London, Feb. 29.—A despatch from Rome, issued by the Wireless Press, states that Bulgaria has notified Austria that the restoration of Prince William of Wied to the Albanian throne will be considered an act of hostility.

More Britons Are Called.

London, Feb. 29.—Groups of married men, numbering from 25 to 32, will be called to the colors the first week in April, according to a News agency. These men are from 20 to 28 years old.

Laying More Mines.

London, Feb. 29.—A daspatch from Copenhagen says that the Aftonbladt reports that a large German flotilla is engaged in laying mines south of

PAY UP, DELINQUENT PERSONAL TAXPAYERS

That is City Collector Townsend's Message and He Means Business.

City Collector William R. Townsend is on the war path, and he does not care who knows it. He has been trying for some time to collect a lot of delinquent personal taxes that have been hanging fire for four or five years and he has just secured permission to do it. Last Friday, Governor Fielder signed a bill which permits the advertising of such personal tax lists in April of each year, and Mr. Townsend wants it distinctly understood that he is going to publish such a list in about five weeks. In the meantime, if anyone wants to walk up to the counter in his office, and pay over what they owe the municipality, they will save themselves the cost of this advertising, and subsequent fees for collecting.

The city collector, in talking with a representative of the Daily Press this afternoon, said that he didn't care what was put in the paper, so long as people were given to understand that he had become a hard-hearted old miser, who was determined to start hoarding money for the city which really belongs to it, and which should have been paid some years ago. "I'm going after these tax dodgers, and I'm going after them strong. No more bluffs work with me. I've already started action in a couple of cases, and Sitting Bull, otherwise known as Constable George Yorke, has already made two or three of them come up to the office to see me with a roll of the long green in their hands. Talk doesn't go any longer, and hard luck tales will not make any difference to the tax collector. I'm not going to give a lot of critics a chance to accuse me of playing politics by letting these delinquents off easy any longer. While times have been hard, it was all well enough, but now things are better, and they all have to 'come across.'"

Mr. Townsend has been busy for some weeks getting in shape the list of delinquents, so far as personal taxes are concerned, so that he can go after them. He is not going to delay with them any longer, but will spend the time from now until April first trying to persuade them to pay their taxes, and after that will prepare the list and advertise it, under the provisions of the new statute which the governor has just signed, and which was introduced by Assemblyman William N. Runyon at Mr. Townsend's request.

MISS MAYER TELLS OF MISSION WORK IN CHINA

Miss Rosalie Mayer, who spent two years teaching in a girls' school in China, gave an interesting talk at the meeting of the Westminster Guild of the Crescent Avenue church yesterday afternoon, in which she told of her experiences in teaching the girls that came to the school. Her talk was listened to with great interest.

After the meeting all present were given an opportunity to meet Miss Mayer during a social hour, when tea was served by members of the guild.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also is the most effective way to break a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Adv.

TRAINING CAMP PLANS TOLD

Considerable Interest Aroused in Preparing Citizens for Auxiliary Army.

Already plans are underway for the military training camps, Eastern Department, U. S. A., for 1916, and considerable interest has been aroused in this important feature of the plans for a proper national defense. These camps will be held at Plattsburg, N. Y., the schedule being announced as follows:

First camp, senior division, June 5 to July 2; second camp, junior division, July 5 to August 8, provided there are sufficient recruits; third camp, senior division, July 12 to August 8; fourth camp, senior division, August 10 to September 6; fifth camp, senior division, September 8 to October 5.

The junior division comprises undergraduates of colleges and universities, graduates in 1916 of colleges and universities, students in public or private schools who have reached a grade equivalent to senior class high schools, graduates under 21 of such schools with above grade. The senior division comprises graduates of colleges and universities under 45; other citizens between 21 and 45, both inclusive, not included in above, who have qualifications or experience equivalent to such an education.

The objects of these camps are to help equip properly qualified men to fill the great deficiency in commissioned officers that would immediately arise in case of national emergency, by giving them four or five weeks of intensive military training and instruction in the field under officers and with troops of the regular army; to foster a patriotic spirit and spread among the citizens of the country some knowledge of military history, military policy and military needs; to instill in four or five weeks of healthy outdoor life the habits of obedience, discipline, command and self-control that are prerequisites of efficiency in every business or profession, and to send men back from the camps better prepared to take care of themselves and of others.

The expense is $30 for senior division and $22.50 for junior division, exclusive of uniform, which costs about $10 and railway fare. The obligation to defend the country in case of need already rests on all male citizens of military age. Attendance at a military training camp neither increases nor diminishes this existing obligation.

Major General Leonard Wood, in charge of the headquarters Eastern department, in the following statement gives some interesting information regarding the camps:

"You will note, first, that applicants are desired principally from those who have had college, university, high school (or corresponding school) education. Non-graduates are not excluded, but each case will be decided on its merits with a view to maintaining a level in the progressive scheme of development. The training given at these camps is very intensive, covering in a period of four weeks as much as possible of the fundamental education of an officer. This calls for a well-trained mind. In the second place, past experience has shown that this class of young men is the first to join the colors in time of war and many of them regardless of their skill in military matters, receive commissions. This has been the procedure in times past. It is right and necessary that these young men should be fully informed as to the tremendous responsibility which will come to them with the command of men and the irreparable loss which may be caused by unskilled leadership.

"Furthermore, as citizens of military age and as members of the unorganized militia under the constitution, it is necessary for the intelligent discharge of their military obligations that they should be as well informed as possible on these matters. The President has said in a recent message * * * "It will be right enough, right American policy, based upon our accustomed principles and practices, to provide a system by which every citizen who will volunteer for the training may be made familiar with the use of modern arms, the rudiments of drill and maneuver, and the maintenance and sanitation of camps. We should encourage such training and make it a means of discipline which our young men will learn to value.' * * *

"At these camps great stress is laid upon personal hygiene and camp sanitation and a serious effort is made to teach men how to take care of themselves in camp and at maneuvers, as well as to familiarize them with the use of arms. The conduct of the camps tends to establish habits of promptness and exactness, and to the careful observance and prompt execution of instructions. A serious effort is made through lectures to convey a sound and correct idea of the military policy of the United States as exemplified by our past wars, and particular attention is given to the general subject of military history.

"Secondary to these more serious purposes of the camp, there is to be considered the physical benefit of a healthy, out-of-doors life, vigorous exercise, discipline, good food and association with a fine lot of men from every section of the country with whom, as past experience shows, a very intimate bond is formed based on hard work in camp and maneuvers and the consciousness of serving a good cause.

"For these reasons national statesmen and legislators, famous lawyers, great bankers and merchants, and many high state and city officials have stood elbow to elbow in the ranks, at such camps, with men who labor for a daily wage, and both are proud of it.

"The whole effect of the camps has been excellent both from the standpoint of increasing the sense of each man's responsibility to the nation for service and his obligation to fit himself to render it effectively and efficiently. I believe all men who have attended these camps have left them better physically and morally, and with a higher and better conception of their duty as citizens.

"Attendance at the camp will not increase either the legal or moral obligation of those who attend. The intention is merely to equip those taking the course of training to fulfill with more efficiency and usefulness obligations which are already laid upon them as citizens of the United States."

Charles H. Frost, who was among those who attended last year's camp, will be glad to furnish any other information and answer any questions on the subject any day but Wednesday at the Courier-News office in the Frost building. It is hoped to obtain at least 10,000 men for next summer's camps. Applicants will not be required to specify any particular camp. That can be decided upon later.

HAVE WE COME TO "NEAR" PLUM PUDDING?

Colorado kiddies are facing a crisis. The old-fashioned luscious plum pudding and the satisfying mince pie have been banished from the state under the new prohibition law that went into effect on the first of the year.

Governor Carlson, in a public statement, signed the death warrant of these national dishes, introduced into America by our Puritan ancestors. The governor is upheld in his judgment by Attorney General Farrar. Their action is also justified by the chemist. An analysis shows that the ordinary plum pudding, such as the corner grocer sells, contains 3.15 per cent of alcohol and a trace of ethyl alcohol—as much alcohol as beer contains.

But the kiddies, ignoring lawyers' opinions and chemists' analysis, are asking what Christmas will be like next year without the usual double portion of mince pie and plum pudding. They even doubt whether Santa Claus will visit Colorado at all because of the hateful decree.

On the other hand, an epidemic of "melancholia infanitis," the official name for juvenile disappointment, may be expected before Santy's next annual visit. In that event physicians may be writing prescriptions on the nearest drug store for the curative plum pudding.

If all of these plans fail, there is still a way out. Colorado offers all the wealth that is stored in her hills to the culinary genius who will invent an acceptable substitute for the good old-fashioned mince pie and plum pudding. Prohibition has produced many strange concoctions, intoxicating medicinal "tonics," various caffein stimulants at soda fountains, and "near beer." Now enter "near mince pie" and "near plum pudding."

Unless something is done, Coloradoans say, old Saint Nicholas may be driven to boot-legging in order to insure the kiddies an old-fashioned Christmas with pies and puddings of "the kind that mother used to make."

Y. W. C. A. MILESTONES OR CONTRASTING YEARS

TEN YEARS AGO.

1906—1916.

"The Friend of Girls," Miss Grace H. Dodge, who, her friends said, had "a hundred year look," was elected the first president of the National Board in 1906.

The first summer conference of the Young Women's Christian Association of Japan was held in 1906. A dormitory for women students was erected in Tokyo.

The same year two Indian women were sent to represent the Young Women's Christian Association of that country to the World's Conference held in Paris.

In 1906, Miss Emma Jean Beatty sailed for Buenos Ayres to be the first secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association in South America.

The Association Monthly, the Association magazine, was inaugurated in 1907.

In 1907 the first summer conference of the China Young Women's Christian Association was held at Foochow, with representatives from fourteen cities.

In 1908 the National Training School was started in New York city and took up its headquarters at No. 3 Gramercy Park.

In 1910 the need for a pleasant home life for nurses, long since recognized, was met by opening a central residence club at 54 East Thirty-fourth street, when two houses were rented and joined.

In 1910 the National Board turned its attention to the foreign girls in this country by calling the first secretary for immigration work. The International Institute was opened in New York that year to meet their needs.

Her Majesty, Queen Mary of England, and Empress of India, visited the Young Women's Christian Association of Calcutta in 1911.

In 1912 a Council of the various Christian Student movements of North America was formed. This was made up of three representatives each from the student departments of the International Committee of the Y. M. C. A., the National Y. M. C. A. of Canada, and the student department of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A. of America and the Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions. The Council meets four times a year for the discussion of questions pertaining to student life, which are of mutual interest.

TODAY.

February 29—March 3, 1916.

Last year there were 184 present at the Japanese conference.

There are now three Association secretaries in South America.

This magazine has grown until to-Magazine has grown until to-articles on all phases of Association work and the life of women everywhere.

In 1915 there were six summer conferences in China, with an attendance of about 600.

Today it is a resident school in the national headquarters' building with a class membership of 51, but famous "Number 3" is not forgotten. Part of the initiation of each school year is held on the old stamping ground at Gramercy Park.

On the 17th of last November the corner stone was laid at 132 East Forty-fifth street for a new building, which, beginning with next May, will house this club.

There are now International Institutes in Trenton, New Jersey; Lawrence, Mass., and Los Angeles, Cal., while some Associations have a foreign branch based on International ideals. Several others are in process of organization.

The Northwestern Field, comprised of the states of New England, New York and New Jersey, is the first to vote for support of a field immigration secretary.

The North American Student Council has been most useful in promoting a greater unity amongst the various student movements. This has been achieved by frequent conferences of the leaders and by the publication of a student magazine called "The North American Student." The Council also co-operates with the national student movement of other lands which are in the World's Student Christian Federation and serves as a clearing house for various speakers and visitors who may be visiting our colleges and conferences. It also relates the various student movements of North America to federated church boards and missionary organizations. It also calls conferences for the discussion of special problems. For example, the conference of Christian social workers to discuss the problems of social service in the colleges, and the student missionary conference for negro students held in Atlanta in 1914. The Council has a committee on Voluntary Bible, Mission and Social Study, which is preparing a unified course of study to be used in the colleges and Sunday-schools in college towns throughout the country.

Miss Michi Kawai, the national secretary of Japan, now on leave of absence for one year, is taking the course for Association secretaries in the National Training School in the headquarters' building, New York city.

In 1915, nine conferences were held at Asilomar: Missionary Education Movement, Epworth League Conference, Delta Delta Delta National Convention, Gama Phi Beta, Sigma Kapp, Y. W. C. A. Employed Officers' Conference, Y. W. C. A. Employed Officers, Y. W. C. A. Student and Y. W. C. A. City Conference.

Mrs. Robert E. Speer was elected to succeed Miss Dodge as president.

March 3 is being celebrated in all Associations as the fiftieth birthday of Y. W. C. A. work in this country.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for about fifty cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color, and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

Do You Want a "Guest-Tenant?"

When you rent a room of your home to someone, you secure a "guest-tenant." Your "roomer" is a guest of your house, on a business basis—but still a guest, somewhat in touch with your home, and this makes it highly important that the person should be of the right sort.

In advertising a furnished room it is a simple matter to indicate that the tenant-to-be must have reasonably convincing credentials as to character. You will thus have applications from a desirable class of people while a door sign or window card would merely bring to you the chance passer-by.

U-BOAT ORDER TO GO INTO EFFECT

Merchant Ships to Be Warned Before Attack.

RULES ISSUED BY GERMANY

Secretary Lansing Is Given Memorandum of Instructions to Commanders by Bernstorff—Berlin Officials Surprised by Strong Utterances Made by President Wilson—Not Courting Trouble With United States.

Washington, Feb. 29.—Instructions are in the hands of German submarine commanders not to sink without warning any enemy merchant ships unless the presence of armament on such vessels is proved.

Such information, it was authoritatively stated, was contained in the memorandum laid before Secretary Lansing by Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, in response to inquiries of the American government concerning the new submarine campaign of the central powers, which begins at midnight.

Austria is prepared to stand by the same assurances. Secretary Lansing was so informed by Baron Zwiedinek, the Austrian charge d'affaires, who called, following the visit of Count von Bernstorff, to bring the response of his government to the American inquiries. The Austrian charge d'affaires told Mr. Lansing that the policy of his government would be identical with that of Germany. The memorandum containing Ambassador von Bernstorff's instructions was in writing and was left with the secretary.

Berlin's Instruction.

According to authoritative sources, Count von Bernstorff was directed in part to say:

"No enemy merchantman is to be torpedoed without warning unless the presence of armament on board of such vessels is proved."

How the proof is to be furnished in individual cases is not made altogether clear in the memorandum. It is understood from reliable quarters, however, that the German ambassador in the course of his interview with the secretary expressed the personal opinion that the submarine commanders have been instructed to look for such proof in the actual use of the armament.

The memorandum, on the other hand, is said merely to add in this connection that the German government is convinced from examination of the alleged "secret orders" of the British admiralty that all British ships which are armed are under specific directions to attack hostile submarines on sight.

The information concerning the ambassador's personal opinion, backed up by press reports from Berlin, that "submarine commanders will endanger human lives only in case a steamer attempts to escape, to fire on the submarine or to ram her" is said to have occasioned some surprise in American official quarters. On its face the German submarine declaration had given notice that the submarines will attack all armed enemy merchantmen without warning.

Mr. Lansing Keeps Mum.

Secretary Lansing refused absolutely to make any comment as to the impression made on him by the memorandum. During the interview with Ambassador von Bernstorff he is said to have sat quiet, permitting the ambassador to do all the talking.

At the conclusion of the meeting and as the ambassador rose to leave Mr. Lansing, it is said, gave him to understand that he would let him know the attitude of the American government in a few days. The same promise is understood to have been given by Mr. Lansing to Baron Zwiedinek. Before answering the secretary will confer with the president.

At no time, it was authoritatively declared at the state department, has the United States government even suggested to Germany or Austria the advisability of postponing the effective date of the new campaign from March 1 pending a further discussion. Such a request was not made by Mr. Lansing, nor did the German ambassador or Baron Zwiedinek offer a postponement on behalf of their respective governments.

Accompanying the memorandum left by Count von Bernstorff was a compilation of twenty-two cases, in which, the ambassador told Mr. Lansing, it was clearly established that British and French merchant ships, but particularly British, had used their defensive armament offensively against enemy submarines.

Warning Before Attack.

Berlin, Feb. 29.—German submarines will torpedo no passenger liners without warning even after the new order against armed merchantmen goes into effect at midnight.

Furthermore, submarine commanders will endanger human lives only in case a steamship attempts to escape, to fire on the submarine or to ram her.

This was the last word given out here with the beginning of the new U-boat campaign against armed merchantmen but a few hours off.

The statement was made while officials were still contemplating the strong utterances of President Wilson in his letters to Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee—utterances described by a high official of the foreign office as "impressive."

As the hour for the inauguration of the new campaign approaches, the question of a possible diplomatic break with the United States is receiving greater consideration here. Officials and the public alike frankly admitted that they believe America's attitude in the pending negotiations is unfriendly.

Instructions to Submarines.

In their new campaign the U-boat commanders will act under these instructions:

They will not torpedo every ship encountered, trusting to prove later that they were armed.

They will not violate instructions previously given to warn passenger liners.

They will not endanger human lives unless the ships attempt to escape, to ram the attacking submarine or to fire on her.

In short, the difference between the past and the present as regards passenger liners is that in the future armed liners will not be considered legitimate peaceful trading ships.

It can be stated definitely that Germany by the new regulations is not courting trouble with America. But if some future accident endangers Americans or causes American losses Germany will be convinced that the responsibility will not rest with her, inasmuch as she has fully warned Americans publicly and the American government officially.

Started by Wilson's Letter.

President Wilson's letter to Chairman Stone caused a sensation in government circles and in the American colony. The Wilson letter had had the effect of a bolt out of a clear sky.

Leaders were surprised that President Wilson had coupled the controversy over armed merchantmen with the question of America's national honor.

The foreign office is puzzled at the position taken by President Wilson that submarine attacks on armed merchantmen will constitute violations of international law.

"We do not know what your president means," said a foreign office official. "Surely he has not received the Woodfield proof (referring to the seizure of the British steamer Woodfield and of alleged instructions to British merchantmen to attack submarines)."

"Will Germany reply to these statements?" he was asked.

"President Wilson could not have had our data when he wrote this letter," he repeated. "Surely by arming merchantmen and instructing them to take the offensive against submarines the allies violate international law first, thereby endangering American lives."

LAWYER SHOT ON STREET.

Camden Woman Makes Attack on Her Former Attorney.

Camden, N. J., Feb. 29.—William B. Knight, lawyer and clerk of the city recorder, was shot in the hip by Celia Hoeffler, a former client. Mr. Knight's wound is not serious, and the woman refuses to tell why she did the shooting.

Mr. Knight was walking on Cooper street near Sixth when Miss Hoeffler came rapidly up behind him and with an exclamation which no person could distinguish drew a revolver from her muff and shot the lawyer, who did not know of her presence until he felt the sting of the bullet.

LAMAR'S APPEAL GRANTED.

Sentence of "Wolf of Wall Street" Delayed by Supreme Court.

Washington, Feb. 29.—The supreme court required the federal court of appeals at New York to send up for review on its merits David Lamar's conviction of having impersonated an officer of the United States—ex-Representative Palmer. The court's action postponed execution of a two year penitentiary sentence.

Bull Moose Leader Dead.

Providence, R. I., Feb. 29.—Harry L. Saunders, a leader of the Progressive party in Rhode Island, died suddenly of heart disease in a restaurant.

Belgian Kongo.

Belgian Kongo, founded thirty years ago, is still in the early stage of development. So far practically no manufacturing industries have yet been established, and, aside from the important copper mines in the Katanga district, the only large industrial enterprises are the railways and river transportation services. It may be said that all business activities in the colony are devoted to the collection of tropical products—rubber, ivory, gum copal, palm oil and kernels, cacao, etc.—and the railway and river services are in reality only accessories to these activities, having been established primarily to aid in the transportation of these products to the seaports. The gathering of rubber in Kongo has never recovered its former activity, and in all probability will never again be so rich a source of income to the colony as it was prerious to 1912.

Rutgers put another link in its lead in the P. H. S. College Basketball League yesterday afternoon, defeating Cornell by a 14 to 11 score in the last of the league games. Cornell fell back from a triple tie for second place. The tie will not be played off, and so Columbia remains in joint possession of it, after working up from last place in four games.

Rutgers had a patched line-up for the first part of the game, and Cornell nearly held the champs to a tie. As it was, they would have won but for the work of Snyder, who made all but two of the points for the winners. Fowcett did more than half of the scoring for the losers, but at that missed many chances for baskets.

Olive Branch	7	44	.137	931

Schedule.

Tonight—Newark at Jersey City, Olive Branch at Bayley.

Paterson Council has won the championship of the Knights of Columbus Bowling League. The Silk City pin-knights finished their season last night on the Columbian Club alleys in Elizabeth, losing two games to Bayley Council, last year's title holders.

Three teams finished their schedules of fifty-four games last night. Paterson wound up in Elizabeth; Star of Bethlehem Council, which has been running second to Paterson most of the season, ended by losing two games to Olive Branch, and finishing the season eight games behind the champions, while Bayonne's final series was rolled at Jersey City, the Skeeters winning two games.

Olive Finally Bowls 900 Total.

Olive Branch pinners, left far in the rear of the other nine teams, returned their first big total of their season in the secod game against Star of Bethlehem last night, the cellarites making 931. It is the first series the tail-enders have won all season.

Coen averaged 203.

Bayley Touches 952.

Bayley, which team has a chance to beat out Star of Bethlehem for second place, rolled 952 and 927 in two games against Paterson last night, winning both easily. The Elizabethans have only three more games to roll, and by winning two of them, will finish one game ahead of Bethlehem. As they will roll at home against the tail-end Olive Branch team, the ex-champions will probably hold second place, which they took last night.

P. H. S. TEACHERS AND THE SENIORS IN COURT TUSSLE

There will be excitement galore around the P. H. S. gymnasium tomorrow, when the Seniors and Faculty line up in their annual basketball set-to. And it promises to be considerable melee, too, as members of both the Senior class and Faculty declare dire things will happen.

No definite line-ups have been decided on, as about everybody on hand will get a shot at the other fellows. Principal Lindsey Best has promised to play at least part of a game, and Professors Patch, Woodman and Houck will also be seen in the line-up. The two former will undoubtedly show up at the forward berts, and Herr Houck's six feet and a half will be at center.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Adv.

Freshmen	2	4	.333
Seniors	2	4	.333

The Plainfield High School Interclass Basketball League race ended yesterday, when the Seniors handed the Freshmen a handy trimming, and by so doing pulled themselves into a tie with the first-year men for third place. The Juniors easily obtained the title for first place, while the Sophomores, after putting up a great scrap with the leaders for a time, were content to finish in second place.

The Seniors presented practically the same line-up that won them their other league games, and had an easy time disposing of the Freshies. Coudray did the largest part of the scoring for the Seniors, and was all over the floor. Snyder was the foul shark of the fracas, and missed only one attempt, while the majority of the baskets were made by Butler.

PLAINFIELD ELKS WILL NOT GO TO BRUNSWICK TONIGHT

It was announced this afternoon that the Plainfield-New Brunswick match of the Elks' Senior League, postponed from January 17, and arranged yesterday to be bowled tonight, was again postponed. The Plainfield-Elizabeth match of the Elks' Junior League, postponed from February 22 to Thursday night of this week, has been put off again.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL BOYS AND GIRLS IN HOPE CHAPEL GYM

A double-header basketball attraction on Hope Chapel's court is carded for Friday night. The boys' and girls' teams of the Plainfield Grammar School will be the visiting teams, the former meeting the Boys' Club of the chapel, and the girls the Senior Girls of Hope.

ART DEPARTMENT MEETS.

The art department of the Monday Afternoon club met yesterday afternoon in the parish house of the Congregational church. Mrs. Edmund J. Lee read a paper on "Origin and History of Russian Opera and Its Development by Glinka," while Mrs. Duncan Taylor read another interesting article on "Glinka's Successors —Dargomisky, Monsorgsky, Rimsky, Korsakoff and others."

MEMBERS OF WINNING FIVE MAY BE AWARDED TROPHIES

The members of the Rutgers team, which won the P. H. S. College Basketball League race that has just ended, will receive something to show for their work. It is expected that the B. A. A. will vote to give them watch fobs.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

Geraldine Farrar, favorite prima donna of the greatest opera house in the world, was the magnet that attracted a capacity audience to the U. S. Astor theatre, Plainfield, yesterday, when she appeared for the first time in this city in the dramatic film written especially for her entitled "Temptation." The Astor was thronged with Farrar fans, all of whom wanted to see Geraldine in pictures the first time she has appeared since her wedding recently to Lou-Tellegen. "The Temptation" is, beyond question, one of the most artistic film productions of the season, and Plainfield folk will miss much if they miss the opportunity to view it at the Astor. It will be their last chance to see the picture today. Tomorrow and Thursday the chief attraction at the Astor will be "The Masqueraders," featuring Hazel Dawn, a Paramount picture in five most engrossing parts. Friday and Saturday, Geraldine Farrar will be seen again in her first film drama, "Carmen," from the optra of the same name.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Little Kan Si Made Fans the Fashion In China.

He Told Her She Was Safe.

"AGES and ages ago," daddy told Jack and Evelyn, "when China, which is the oldest nation alive now, was very young indeed, in a great Chinese city there lived a beautiful maiden named Kan Si. She was an only child, and her father, Ho Lo, loved her very dearly.

"One of the happiest holidays in old China was the Feast of the Lanterns, when everybody went out into the streets carrying the most beautiful, the strangest or the funniest lantern he could possibly make. When Kan Si was sixteen years old she begged her father to take her to the Feast of Lanterns, and, although Chinese girls rarely were allowed to go out so late at night, Ho Lo promised to take her. Kan Si was so delighted that she got all dressed in her pretty flowered kimono two hours before nightfall.

"In China for a girl to go outdoors unmasked where any men except those of her own family could see her was thought to be improper. So, of course, Kan Si wore a little mask. The festival was charming, the lights wonderful and the lanterns delightful, and Kan Si enjoyed it all very much. But the square was crowded and the air hot, and, being in the habit of doing as she wished at home, she grabbed off her mask and used it to fan herself. Now, at this ancient time fans were unknown. Because of the law about women wearing masks on the street it was a very daring and new thing for Kan Si to unmask. But she looked so lovely waving her mask to and fro that every woman who saw her snatched off her mask and began fanning. Then the greatest fuss happened. The Chinamen were so angry at this happy breaking of an old law that they scolded the women and stopped the feast.

"Next morning the emperor heard the news. So he took his court out into the square, called his people there and read the punishment for breaking old laws, and the punishment was death. As all the women marched past him, with poor little Kan Si at their head, there were curses muttered at her for bringing so much trouble upon others. But poor little Kan Si was broken hearted that she had caused so much trouble and was so weak from sorrow that she almost fainted in the square. To get some fresh air in her lungs she reached up and snatched off her mask again, fanning herself. The women groaned, and the emperor turned to see what they pointed their finger at. Then he saw little Kan Si, so beautiful and charming that he instantly fell in love with her. He hurried to her, told her she was safe, said the law was stupid to have kept her hidden so long from him, that fans must replace masks forever and that Kan Si must love him and be his bride."

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

So many want fur on cuffs and collars. If you have a neck piece or muff or an old fur coat, they answer fine. Cut fur with the point of shears and no deeper than the skin; turn the edge and fell to cloth.

Before turning on heat cover each hot air register with a piece of cheesecloth or old lace curtain that has been thoroughly moistened. All dust will be caught in the wet cloth.

To Render Lard From Cracklings—Place cracklings back in rendering kettle two-thirds full of water; boil ten or fifteen minutes, then drain through colander placed over another kettle; let water cool and lard will be on top. Skim off. Much easier than trying to squeeze hot cracklings.

THE TABLE

Salmon and Green Tomato Dish (new)—Slice two or three green tomatoes; sprinkle with salt, let stand a few hours; drain. Make a syrup of vinegar, water and brown sugar, a little salt and spices to taste (do not make too sweet). Boil tomatoes in syrup till tender, then add one can salmon, cook a few minutes and serve.

Oysters en Casino—One quart select oysters, one-half pound bacon, two cups cracker crumbs, two eggs, one-half cup cream, one tablespoon sweet butter, one can imported mushrooms. Wash oysters well, drain on clean cloth. Beat eggs, add cream and butter (melted). Mix in oysters. Roll in cracker crumbs. Line shallow dish with bacon slices. Place oysters on this. Cover with bacon slices. Broil twenty minutes. Heat mushrooms in a butter, milk and flour browned gravy. Season to taste. Serve oysters on toast over which mushrooms have been poured. Season to taste. Serve very hot. Garnish with parsley. Tartare sauce is good if desired.

Fried Rabbit—After pelt is removed, singe with old paper, then wash in warm water and cut in small pieces. To one gallon water add one teaspoon soda; soak rabbit in this over night or at least two or three hours. Boil one hour. Have butter or lard hot, put in rabbit, slice one onion over it and fry brown.

Sponge Fingers—Measure weight of three eggs in butter, sugar and flour. Beat eggs and sugar together fifteen minutes. Melt butter and add alternately with flour to the other ingredients, stirring gently all the time. Then add half teaspoon baking powder and a few drops of vanilla or other flavoring. Bake in well-greased tin ten or fifteen minutes. Turn out, allow to cool, then split in half and spread with jam or jelly. Coat top with white, pink or chocolate icing and cut into fingers. In the summer fresh strawberries or raspberries are delicious used as a filling. Canned pineapple, pear or other fruit can be used satisfactorily.

Maryland Sally Lunn—Two tablespoonfuls sugar, two cupfuls flour, one and one-half tablespoonfuls butter, two teaspoons baking powder, one-quarter tablespoonful salt, three eggs separated, one cupful milk. Cream together the butter and sugar, add the egg yolks beaten thoroughly, and then the flour mixed with the baking powder, alternately with the milk. Fold in egg whites, well beaten, and bake about forty minutes in a tube pan.

Peppers Filled With Cheese—Six bell peppers of medium size, one and one-half cupfuls cream cheese, six eggs, one teaspoon salt, one-third teaspoon onion juice, dash red pepper, cracker dust. If the cheese is hard it should be grater, otherwise put it through a potato ricer. Beat the eggs very light and add to the cheese, together with the seasonings. Thicken with cracker dust, fill the peppers and bake a very light brown in a moderate oven.

Apple Lemon Pie—Two cupfuls chopped apples, one-half cupful ground soda crackers, grated rind and juice of two lemons, two eggs well beaten, two tablespoonfuls melted butter, one and three-quarters cupfuls sugar, pie crust. Mix together the apples, crackers, lemons, eggs, butter and sugar in the order given. Then use as a filling for pies made with double crusts, baking slowly for about thirty minutes. This makes two small pies or one large one.

Kalformor Vegetal—One large cauliflower broken and parboiled in boiling salt water; have ready some toasted bread (cut in cubes) in a deep dish; mix together equal parts of flour and butter to a cream; add to this slowly enough of the cauliflower water to make a sauce; boil this up once; put the cauliflower on the toast and pour over the sauce.

Le Blanc Whip—One can Hawaiian pineapple, one-quarter pound walnut meats, one-quarter pound marshmallows, one-quarter pound candied cherries, and one pint double cream. Cut pineapple into small cubes, chop nuts, marshmallows and cherries rather fine and insert all into the cream beaten for fifteen minutes. Garnish with Marachiria cherries.

NEWS AND VIEWS Conducted by THE W. C. T. U.

Twenty-six times greater than the fisheries industry. Although "Fisheries" comprise one of the greatest of American industries, in thirteen days time the drink bill costs America more than the sum total of all fishery products for a year.

Fourteen times greater than gold and silver production. In fifty-six days it robs America of more money than it takes to run both army and navy for a full year.

Seven times greater than cost of U. S. Postoffice. In forty-eight days the liquor traffic takes out of the pockets of the American people more money than it cost to run the entire United State Postoffice Department last year.

Makes the national debt look small.

Three and one-half times bigger than the Coal Trust.

Six times greater than the tariff.

Four and one-half times bigger than Panama Canal. Every eighty-one days the Alcohol Trust transfers from the people's pockets to its own more money than Uncle Sam will need in building and completing his greatest engineering achievement, the Panama Canal—$400,000,000.

One year of the legalized poison-trust. The nations giant waste and the chief factor in the present high cost of living is this same drink bill, which not only takes directly from the people $1,833,653,425, but by the crime, disease and poverty it breeds, compels them to pay twice as much again, or more than five billions altogether, for the most part out of the scanty savings and hoardings of the poor, with not a cent's worth of valid legitimate return. Cedar Rapids, Iowa, has the proud record of only three arrests for drunkenness in the first month of the new prohibition regime as compared with forty-three for January of last year. The number of arrests for disturbing the peace has fallen off five, while violations of city ordinances were reduced from fifty-six to twelve. The total number of arrests for Cedar Rapids is given as fifty-three in comparison with 170 for January, 1915.

After a whole month on the water wagon, the heretofore wet portions of Oregon, Washington and Idaho are taking an inventory of themselves, says the Chicago Journal. Total arrests for January, 1916, show a decrease of nearly two-thirds over the same month last year, according to the official records.

Within five days after the closing of the saloons in Iowa, the Iowa City Creamery and Produce Company, formerly the Iowa Brewing Company, has commenced operations. The plant opens for business with a capacity of 2,700 pounds of butter a day. It is to be increased in size as the business warrants.

F. W. Kemmerle and A. J. Feeney are backing the enterprise, and have completely remade their brewery into a creamery plant. They expect to draw on the country for miles around and ultimately to operate motor trucks out of Iowa City on regular routes which will pick up the cream. R. J. Saveraid, formerly of Boone, is the buttermaker for the company, and will have charge of the manufacture of Clover Dale butter, as the product is to be named. Cold storage of poultry and eggs is to be made a part of the business, and rooms are being remodeled especially for this department of the enterprise. Within six weeks the manufacture of ice cream, too, is to be begun.

Jefferson county, Pa., was made the tenth dry county in the State when Judge Charles Corbet, of the license court, refused every one of the forty-one applications for 1916 licenses. The present licenses expired on February 16.

Ready, as Usual, the March Sales---Housewares, China, Cut Glass, Artwares

HOUSEWARES

That Save Time, Money & Energy

One great cry of the age is conservation. Women are learning above all to conserve their energy and strength at home.

The day of the old-fashioned "set in her ways" housekeeper is over. She is no longer the looked-up-to-queen of woman's realm. She is out of date, inefficient, extravagant.

The modern woman can do more things in less time, with less effort and more perfectly, because she has at her command every kind of labor-saving device—often scorned by the old-fashioned housekeeper.

She has studied and experimented and knows that first of all there is no "luck" or knack about cooking. It is a matter of putting the proper exact ingredients together in the right way at the right time, into the right utensil with the right heat. There is no hit and miss about it. It is an exact science.

In general housekeeping she buys the kitchen table that folds up, with drop leaf shelves, saving space.

Her kitchen cabinet has everything handy, it is compact, useful and convenient; there isn't an unnecessary inch.

Her ironing table can be converted into a bench on days when there is no ironing to be done. The seat of the bench is a box which holds her little laundry utensils, such as wax, clothes, etc.

Her clothes racks, fold up when out of service. Even her kitchen ladder for reaching high pantry shelves is a chair when not in use.

She has knife box with every conceivable useful knife, just the right one for the right time.

And Now Comes the March Sale

offering these standard time—energy—health—saving housefurnishings at prices ranging from 10 to 35 per cent. below all-the-year prices. Such as

Enamelware	Trunks	Aluminum Ware
Japanware	Tinware	Refrigerators
Ironware	Cutlery	Wooden Ware
Dusters	Baskets	Bathroom Fixtures
Brooms	Bird Cages	Electric Percolators
Brushes	Mirrors	Nickelware
Chamois	Dress Forms	Mahogany Trays

But economy is not the big thing of this Sale.

Quality of the merchandise is more important. The serviceability, the convenience, the efficiency of the "helps to housekeeping"—all are more important than the economy.

One who does not know the helpfulness of this housefurnishing store has a great pleasure in store if she willl make this March Sale the time and opportunity of paying a visit.

Subway floor, New Building.

5c a Cake Instead of 10c Knickerbocker Hard Water Soap

Tomorrow the selling begins—to continue during March only. In all other months the price is 10c. In March it is 5c because we omit the fancy wrappings and packing and cut our profit.

It is the time to buy a year's supply.

Knickerbocker Hard Water Soap is the soap that lathers as freely in hard water as in soft; a reproduction of a famous imported soap; an all-around good toilet soap for the whole family.

Main floor, Old Building.

Our china representative—now just home from his trip reaching from Great Britain down to Naples—was the only china "buyer" of an American store on the ground.

He went abroad to make sure of our getting full supplies for this March Sale.

And he made sure—scarcely a steamer has left Liverpool or Bordeaux these last few months that has not brought goods to Wanamaker's.

The "man on the spot" secured many preferences.

It was admitted that going "to the front" instead of dallying at home—waiting—entitled him to first call on whatever stocks were ready; to lowest prices; to have his shipments pushed forward and hurried.

So, this is a story of foresight, of foresighted preparedness, not of regretable unpreparedness with apologies.

The plain facts which anyone can see who comes and inspects our stocks is that

We Are Ready in Every Way

Ready with full varieties. Ready with usual Wanamaker qualities, firsts only, no seconds. Ready with the March economies in price which make this half-yearly sale one of the great merchandise events of the Spring.

1,342 Complete Dinner Sets

—in addition to our open-stock patterns—at prices averaging a third under the market, ranging from $8 to $67.50.

One thousand of these sets are in the store now; the remainder are in transit—to keep up the assortment as the days pass on.

27,740 Pieces American Porcelain

at half the usual prices—in complete dinnerware assortment. Sets can be made up of any size or pieces can be bought separately. For example:

Tea cups and saucers, 12c each.
Bread and butter plates, 6c each.
Tea plates, $1 dozen.
Breakfast plates, $4.20 dozen.
Dinner plates, $1.44 dozen.
Fruit saucers, 60c dozen.

Two splendid border designs. All gilt and of first quality.

350 American porcelain breakfast sets of 17 pieces, complete with a fine mahogany-finished tray (as illustrated), $5 complete.

Artwares Just Received

In the art room we offer new specimens of European art, recently received from the famous factories of

BERNARD MOORE DOULTON PILKINGTON
MOORCRAFT WOOD & SONS

—all to be sold on a strictly commercial basis.

Cut Glass at About Half

Some a little more than half price; some a little less; the average is less than half—$10,000 worth for $4,675—3,000 pieces in the collection.

The assortment includes almost everything, a cut glass that is wanted.

First quality "blanks" only; deep rich cuttings in good patterns.

200 rich cut glass water sets (as illustrated)—3½-inch pint jug, six tumblers and 14-inch mirror plateau—$5 complete.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, FEBRUARY 29, 1916.

IS THIS THE LAST FEBRUARY 29.

If the calendar reformers, who abound in every civilized land, have their way, the good old custom of injecting a day into the calendar now and then to make up for discrepancies, and labelling it "February 29" will be abandoned following the settlement of the European War.

When the big war broke out, an International Congress to Revise the calendar had just been called. Many proposals had been made along the line of calendar reform, and several of the larger European governments approved some of the schemes of simplifying the method of reckoning days and months.

If the calendar is altered, and attention is sure to center upon it after the details of war settlement are adjusted, it is almost certain that the year will be divided into thirteen months, of four weeks each. The odd day will be tacked on at the end, it is believed, to form some sort of a world holiday.

There are many objections to the present plan of some months containing thirty days, others thirty-one, and one fluctuating. It is a source of error and annoyance, besides much waste of time in consulting the printed calendar at every time one needs to be certain of his days, weeks and months. Under the thirteen-month plan, every week and month starts with a Sunday, and every holiday comes either on a Monday or Wednesday.

The Bureau of Commerce of the United States has officially recognized the need for a change in the calendar, and has endorsed the thirteen-month proposal. Switzerland and Great Britain have also leaned strongly toward revision of our method of reckoning the weeks and months of the year.

It was Julius Caesar who fixed the solar year at 365 days and 6 hours. This almost perfect arrangement dates back to 45 B. C., and prevailed generally throughout the Christian world until the time of Pope Gregory XIII. The Julian calendar was defective in this particular, that the solar year consisted of 365 days, 5 hours and 49 minutes, instead of 365 days and 6 hours. At the time of Gregory this difference amounted to ten days. To eliminate the difference, Gregory ordained, in 1582, that that particular year should consist of 355 days only, October 5th becoming October 15th. And to prevent further irregularity, it was determined that a year beginning a century should not be a leap year, with the exception of that beginning each fourth century. Thus 1700, 1800 and 1900 were not leap years, but the year 2000 will have an extra day.

While this arrangement, which came down through the centuries, has supplied us with calendars that are fairly accurate, the needs of the peoples of all countries have not been met. Some countries never adopted the new style of Pope Gregory, the Mohammedans have clung to their own calendar, the Hebrews to their method of figuring the years, and there is a wide variation among these various tables of Father Time.

That the various calendars form an artificial barrier against more cordial and better understandings between the peoples of the earth is one of the claims on which revision rests. Then there is the expansion of world communication, world trade and closer dependence of one country upon another, encouraged by peaceful relations which maintain under normal conditions.

Whether we will have a brand new calendar when the next Leap Year comes around remains for the governments to decide. If we do not have a February 29, those whose birthdays fall on that elusive date will compute their birthdays as falling on March 1. The anniversaries of the 29th, 30th and 31st of other months will also have to be changed. Other confusions are bound to arise from the adoption of a new calendar. Whether these would be offset or indeed put in the shade by the advantages of a new schedule of months is the subject which is occupying the minds of many thinkers.

SLAUGHTER'S HIGH TIDE.

Civilization's high tide of slaughter is raging. The bloodiest battle of history is being fought. Men are dying faster today than ever before. On the snow-covered plains that lie before the fortifications of Verdun, in France, countless thousands of Germans lie, while behind these fiendish works of destruction other piles of bodies bear mute evidence to the fierceness of the charge and the bravery of the defenders. To those loyal sons of Germany and France who are on the firing line the battle means everything—honor and national life—but to those who stand upon the high hills of neutrality in the clear air of peace and look down upon the bloody scenes below with nothing but sorrow for the plight of war-mad brothers there comes a doubt. The drive on Verdun was ordered for its immediate effect upon a people who had begun to resent an Emperor's war. If Germany takes Verdun she may or may not strengthen her chances of ultimate success, because she is making gigantic gaps in the ranks of her soldiers; is drawing heavily on her greatest resource, and she has no more men with which to fill these gaps. A dead soldier now means a silenced rifle, a hole in the firing line. The same is true, or nearly true, of France. Her men, and even her boys, have been called and there are no more to be made into soldiers when these are gone. The dead of these two nations are counted in hundreds of thousands. Not a prince has fallen, not a king or emperor has been harmed. No matter who holds the heights when the last shot is fired, Verdun will always stand as a synonym for all the brutality, the horror of war. But all this sacrifice cannot be in vain. Somewhere there must be a great good, not for France or Germany alone, but for all men. The blood offering is too great to be made for one nation or one people. The prayer of civilization should be that the lesson will be quickly learned—that the good shall soon come.

According to Business Agent Lunger, of the Building Trades Council, a trade journal scheme, recently tried on local merchants, is nothing more nor less than a first class fake. Lunger admits that there are tricks in all trades but adds that the gent who attempted the fake did not belong to the union.

Stories of Democratic party leaders trying to locate a candidate against James E. Martine for the United States Senate come mostly from Republican conferences. Strange enough the Democratic voters seem to be satisfied with the manner in which the Plainfield representative is taking care of their interests in Washington.

Samuel Gompers declares that if the militia is "federalized" it must not be used against strikers. Perfectly reasonable. If left to James Eads Howe there would be a provision that policemen cannot arrest or otherwise annoy hobos.

Despite the high price of gasoline there are still a lot of valuable articles that can be bought for a dollar, as Plainfield people are learning as they visit the various downtown stores today.

lay up a cent;
It all goes out for the ice and gas and rent.
And you may wonder how and when and where
You're ever going to be a millionaire.
It somehow seems that your neighbor gets ahead,
And you stand still, just as though you were dead.
But if the whole truth he but would impart,
He envies you to the bottom of his heart.
Just bear in mind before you call the hearse,
There's always someone fixed a whole lot worse.

Inklings.

Watering places were popular resorts for females in Biblical times. Rebekah got her husband at one.

When a man's hair begins to turn gray he is said to have reached the age of discretion, but after it begins to turn dark again, it's a sign he has passed it.

Did as She was Told.

The teacher said before the school exercises, "Now, Mary, if you forget some of the words when you are singing your song, don't stop. Keep right on. Say tum-tum- tummy-tum, or something like that, and the words will come back to you and nobody will know the difference. Now, don't forget." On exhibition day little Mary electrified her audience with: "And she wears a wreath of roses round her tummy-tum-tum." She did as she was told.

A Regular Cuss.

A true story is always funnier than a "made up" one, and the story of a lady who had eye trouble and went to "insult an optimist" brought to light the fact that an estimable Grand Rapids lady has sued for divorce twice and is going to make a third attempt. Her first effort was on the grounds of "abusage," the second for "exertion," and her final attempt will be based on "unsupport." That husband of hers must be a regular cuss.—Coopersville Observer.

Tough Luck.

I'd sit around the billiard hall
And loaf the whole day long,
And life to me I'm sure would be
Just one long, grand sweet song.
I wouldn't hustle to the mill
Like a common lob;
I would be some aristocrat
If my wife had a job.

I would not grab the dinner pail
And start to work at 6;
I'd stick around the corner store,
And argue politics.
I'm sure I could become a boss,
In fact, a real nabob,
If I could spend the time at it,
And my wife had a job.

I would become an autocrat.
I'd just pass out advice,
I'd solve all knotty problems
Without money, without price,
I'd pose as one great financier,
With John D. I'd raise hob.
I could do all of that and more,
If my wife had a job.

I guess that I can never join
The gang down at the store.
Who have been runnin' of this world
For twenty years or more.
I've got to work and earn my way,
I'm just a common slob,
With no one to look out for me.
My wife ain't got no job.

Concerning Heavies.

I do not cough, I do not sneeze,
I've had no cold this year,
Because I wear my B. V. D.'s
All winter without fear.

Last year I changed, when it grew cold,
To heavy underwear;
I had the grip for six long months
And went not anywhere.

I do not cough, I do not sneeze,
Although I know I should—
And while I wear these B. V. D.'s
You bet I knock on wood.

- Proctor's Theatre -

The program of refined entertainment presented at Proctor's today is headed by a wonderful Triangle dramatic production entitled "The Price of Power," in which Orrin Johnson, the favorite stage star, is starred, showing remarkable versatility, for he practically plays three separate and distinct roles in this newest Griffith release. The first half of this week includes, today, an extraordinary Keystone comedy entitled "He Did and He Didn't," with Roscoe Arbuckle and Mabel Normand assuming the leads. Tomorrow William Fox will present William E. Shay and Claire Whitney, in an engrossing story of oriental passion, brutality, hypnotism and conspiracy, entitled, "The Ruling Passion," which was produced at enormous expense in tropical Jamaica, where the broad lawns, graceful palms and brilliant skies furnished a wealth of gorgeous backgrounds. In addition, tomorrow, the management will present the first episode of "The Iron Claw," Pathe's latest serial masterpiece, starring Pearl White, Creighton Hale and Sheldon Lewis. On Thursday, A. H. Wood's phenomenal stage success, "New York," will be presented in photoplay form, in which Miss Florence Reed, who created such a sensation recently at Proctor's in "At Bay," assumes the leading role. In addition to the above dramatic productions, there will be presented daily a pleasing program of comedy creations, including the far-famed Keystone comedies. The vaudeville entertainment is exceptionally varied and well-balanced the first half of the week. Next week will see the debut of "The Strange Case of Mary Page" at Proctor's, the Essanay serial production that is creating a sensation throughout the country, and in which Henry Walthall, the hero of "The Birth of a Nation," and Edna Mayo, one of the most finished of screen stars, assume the leading characterizations.

THE CONCEDED WINNER OF EVERY GREAT DRIVE

∴ Plainfield Theatre ∴

Louise Murray as "Madge, the Jockey," mounted on the Kentucky thoroughbred, "Queen Bess;" Joseph Sullivan as "Colonel Sandusky Doolittle," and Paul Hamlin as "Uncle Neb"—characters who lend enchantment to "In Old Kentucky," which will be the stellar offering at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow, matinee and night.

As usual, the managers for Jacobs & Jermon, the well-known burlesque producers, have used rare judgment and discretion in selecting the various members of the chorus and cast of "The Golden Crook" Company, headed by the invincible Billy Arlington, known the country over as an excellent tramp comedian, which is scheduled to appear at the Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight. Besides his usual funny specialty, Mr. Arlington is the Atlas upon whose shoulders rests the burden of producing the mirth in the main feature of the show, a two-act musical revue entitled "The Midnight Club." In his aid is Frank Dobson, the much-talked-of comedian; Alva McGill, the stately soprano; Eleanor Cochran, the dainty soubrette; Hite & Reflow, who are well classed with Vernon Castle; the Beau Brummel Trio ,singers with real harmony in latest numbers; and the Russian ballet troupe, headed by Sam Raskin, who are making their first appearance in the United States with "The Golden Crook" Company.

"In Old Kentucky" is the attraction at the Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night. This spirited drama, written by C. T. Dazey in the early nineties, still remains one of the standard amusement offerings of the day. It has made a name for itself as a meritorious dramatic offering second to no other play now before the public. As theatregoers know, "In Old Kentucky," with its brave little mountain heroine, its mint-julep-loving "Colonel," its amusing and musical pickaninnies and its thrilling horse-race scene affords three hours of unusual and animated stage entertainment. It abounds in breathless episodes and realistic moments, in genuine comedy and in true characterizations.

It is a deft weave of laughter and tears; and, above all, in this era of unclean plays, it is wholesome and sweet. The drama develops quickly from the first curtain. There is a cleverly-developed series of incidents leading up to a really thrilling horse race with real Kentucky thoroughbreds on the stage. The pickaninnies dance and sing in a marvelous barnyard scene and play inspiring brass band music. Altogether, the playgoer gets his money's worth in "In Old Kentucky"—and that's reason enough for its long-continued career on the American stage, reaching back over twenty-two years of continuous presentation.

BOROUGH COURT CASES.

Ceaser Taylor, 53 years old, of 239 East Third street, Plainfield, was arraigned in the borough court yesterday charged with disorderly conduct by his wife, who alleged that he came around to where she is employed and raised a disturbance. Mrs. Taylor also alleged that her husband grabbed her by the throat and struck her.

Asked by the court what he meant by such conduct, Taylor countered by making a disorderly charge against his wife. The court released them both under a suspended sentence of sixty days.

Charles Bimble, 23 years old, of 13 Jefferson avenue, was arraigned before Recorder Hand in the borough court yesterday charged with being drunk and driving his horse up and down Somerset street in a reckless manner Saturday afternoon. Officer Pope kept an eye on Bimble and arrested him after he came near running over a woman. Bimble was fined $5, and Arthur Duderstadt, 24 years old, of Mt. Bethel, who was in the wagon with him, was released under a suspended sentence.

HENRY JAMES.

Noted American Author Dies in London at Age of Seventy-two.

JAMES, AMERICAN NOVELIST, IS DEAD

Author Passes Away In London In Seventy-third Year.

London, Feb. 29.—Henry James, the novelist, died at his Chelsea residence, 21 Carlyle mansions. He had been ill for several months, but late in January his physicians reported that he was improving. The affection from which he suffered was chronic and had been complicated by two strokes of apoplexy.

About two weeks ago Mr. James' condition became grave again, and his recovery was not looked for.

Mr. James was decorated by King George with the Order of Merit, an honor held by only eleven civilians, on Jan. 2 last.

Henry James presented in his own personality and career a paradox such as in others he delighted to study and to portray. He was a New Englander, born in New York April 15, 1843, of New York parentage. He was an American who lived most of his life abroad and finished it as a British subject. He was one of America's keenest critics and best friends.

To Launch New Revolution Against Carranza Government.

Washington, Feb. 29.—Felix Diaz, who was watched for several months by department of justice agents because of suspected activities in violation of American neutrality, apparently has left the United States for Mexico, with the intention of launching a new revolution against the Carranza de facto government.

BARGAIN SEEKERS HERE IN DROVES

Publicity Given Prosperity Dollar Day Lauded by Merchants.

BUSINESS VERY BRISK

Ladies' Rest Room Supplies Long Felt Want—Shoppers Out Bright and Early—Credit Due Mr. Varley's Committee.

Credit for Plainfield's successful Prosperity Dollar Day is due the publicity and advertising the annual event has received, according to J. J. Varley, chairman of the Business Men's Association's committee in charge of the arrangements for the big one-day sale. At an early hour this morning indications pointed to a record-breaking day of business for local merchants who are participating in Prosperity Dollar Day, and as the early hours of the afternoon drew near, the throng of shoppers steadily increased in number. Noticeable among the buyers were many residents of the suburban districts, particularly from the Watchung Mountain region and South Plainfield. Trolley cars and horse-drawn vehicles of every description brought the prospective bargain-seekers to the city, and the uselessness of impressing the "shop early" doctrine on Dollar Day shoppers was evidenced by the early arrival of out-of-town guests.

At 10 o'clock this morning the crowds along West Front street resembled a Saturday night throng and every merchant reported a rushing business throughout the entire day. Up to a late hour yesterday afternoon many of the business men had not decided upon their offerings for Prosperity Dollar Day, but this morning almost every window in the business section was stocked with merchandise of every description and suitable to every need. One prominent feature in evidence this afternoon was the depleted stock in many of the show cases, this fact indicating that the store owners had been forced to draw on their display articles to meet the demand.

In an interview with a Daily Press reporter this morning, Chairman Varley said in part: "I can say nothing too good for the brand of publicity with which the Business Men's Association's committee was supported in its work. The fact that this Prosperity Dollar Day is the greatest Plainfield merchants have ever enjoyed is due largely to the fact that it was given proper publicity and a large amount of advertising in the local papers. You can say for me that it pays to advertise and every other Plainfield merchant who is benefiting by today's sale well knows this to be true. I wish to thank those who have assisted my committee in its work during the past week, and particularly the members of the committee who aided me in working out the many features for this Dollar Day. Never before has a single day's sale brought so many people to Plainfield, and when the stores close tonight it is safe to predict that the day's receipts will hover around a record. Every line of business is benefiting and the city itself is being advertised to a degree that is inestimable. Shoppers have visited Plainfield today who heretofore knew nothing of the advantages of shopping in Plainfield, and the return of many of the same individuals who purchased merchandise at last year's Dollar Day sale is indicative of the satisfaction they probably got at that time. Primarily the Prosperity Dollar Day scheme is a trade booster, but at the same time it helps to advertise the city—and that is one of the biggest and most important considerations. We have drawn shoppers to Plainfield by the promise of a bargain; now it is up to us to make them steady customers."

To Mr. Varley and his co-workers, Samuel Rothberg, George Finger, Albert F. LaRocke and A. H. Osmun, is due the lion's share of the credit for making this day's sale a big one, and little is known of the hard work this committee has put in during the past week in an effort to produce results that would set a precedent.

One of the big features of this year's Dollar Day was the Ladies' Rest Room, located at Duer and West Front streets. During the noon hour luncheon, consisting of daintily prepared sandwiches and coffee, was served to scores of shoppers, and all day the maid in charge cared for the children of the bargain seekers. The innovation of caring for children came in for considerable comment, and many visitors expressed the wish that this feature be continued at least one day a week by the Business Men's Association. Heretofore mothers desiring to secure bargains were kept at home because it was impossible to shop with children tagging at their heels, but the rest room solved the question to a degree that could be appreciated only by witnessing the large number of children in charge of the maid throughout the day. The merchants were also pleased with the rest room and it is not unlikely that efforts will be made to establish it permanently.

BASKETBALL TEAM OF N. P. H. S. IS HONORED

School Officials and Members Attend Dinner Given by Louis Z. Weiss.

The basketball players of North Plainfield High School and their friends were guests at a banquet given last evening by Louis Z. Weiss, the borough pharmacist, in the manual training building of the Somerset School.

The supper was served by members of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Speechmaking occupied part of the evening. Albert Earley, principal of the High School, was the toastmaster. D. Fred Aungst was introduced as the first speaker and selected as his topic, "Courage." He related that the present team representing the school had an abundance of that asset, while he also commended the boys for the manner in which they overcame all the numerous obstacles which presented themselves.

Dr. J. H. Cooley, president of the Board of Education, gave a short history of life in the borough school since he entered the Board as trustee. Mayor William L. Smalley and Henry C. Krebs talked about the different phases of athletic life in schools, telling of the importance of this branch of school life, and the effect on the life of the boy and girl involved. The other speakers called upon were: Mrs. W. O. Taylor, the Misses Duchesne and Barnard, of the faculty; Louis Z. Weiss, Coaches George Townley and Frank Dunning.

After the speeches, dancing was enjoyed.

The following were present: Misses Lillian Spencer, Marjorie Burtis, Lira Mobus, Elsie Van Demburgh, Agnes Griffiths, Adelaide Ricketts, Marion Blair, Theresa McCullough, Ethel Barnard, Irene Duschesne, Margaret Ewart, and Louis Z. Weiss, Mayor William L. Smalley, D. Fred Aungst, Henry C. Krebs, Justus H. Cooley, Albert Earley, John Dawe, George Townley, Frank Dunning, Oscar Dilts, Harry Kirch, Alfred Willett, Martin McDonough, William Seidel, Alfred Seidel, Andrew McDonough, and Warren Townley.

The banquet was served by the Mmes. W. O. Taylor, W. L. Smalley, J. Stewart, W. M. Townley and Frank Rowley.

CHORUS OF 1,000 FOR BIG REVIVAL

Clifford Braider to Train Voices for Beiederwolf Meetings.

A large chorus choir is being organized under the leadership of Clifford A. Braider to sing in the Biederwolf campaign. All persons 15 years of age and over who can sing are urged to join this chorus choir. The plan of the committee is to have at least 1,000 voices in the chorus and an orchestra of 50 pieces. The choir will begin rehearsals shortly and will sing at the union prayer meeting to be held in the First Methodist church, Wednesday evening, March 8. All who wish to join this choir are urged to send their names to Clifford A. Braider, vice chairman of the committee.

Considerable interest and enthusiasm was manifested in the meeting of the personal workers class conducted by Rev. Birney S. Hudson at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. Dr. Hudson's discourse was largely upon how the workers should apply the scripture in answering questions of people who are not Christians. Next Monday night printed slips will be circulated to the members of the class covering many of these questions and answers. That many Christians are anxious to take up this work is most encouraging to the campaign committee.

This class of personal workers will take an active part in the cottage prayer meetings which will begin tonight. Homes where these meetings will be held will be designated by a white flag displayed in front of each home. The places where cottage prayer meetings will be held tonight and the leaders are as follows:

Frank Raymond, 954 Kensington avenue; Howard Williams.

B. F. Hadley, 318 Franklin place; Frederick Lynn.

N. Y. Hull, 521 East Fourth street; C. M. Anderson.

J. H. Snyder, 109 Manning avenue; Mr. Pentacost.

W. D. Murray, 205 West Ninth street; Frederick Andrews.

Townsend Rushmore, 521 Stelle avenue; S. H. Voorhees.

R. Hunt, 37 Laramie road; D. M. Runyon.

N. S. Wardner, 524 Park avenue; W. D. Murray.

D. W. Taylor, 455 West Seventh street; W. C. Hubbard.

Y. W. C. A.; Miss Aller.

Edward Baker, 23 Duer street; D. I. Douglas.

F. W. Jones, 16 Mountain avenue; E. L. Bonny.

F. A. Weeks, 825 West Seventh street; Rev. Frederick Green.

Lewis Newman, 601 John street; Rev. F. St. John Fitch.

G. H. Boland, 130 Westervelt avenue; Mr. Van Sickel.

F. E. Smith, 607 Central avenue; Rev. P. B. Strong.

Colored—Dr. J. C. Anderson, 406 West Fourth street; Rev. J. W. Collier.

WILL GIVE RECEPTION TO ORIGINAL MEMBERS

Twentieth Anniversary of Teachers' Retirement Fund to Be Observed Mar. 11.

The twentieth birthday anniversary of the Teachers' Retirement Fund of the State of New Jersey will be celebrated on Saturday, March 11, at the Young Men's Christian Association, Newark, by a reception from 4 to 7 o'clock p. m., to Miss Elizabeth A. Allen and Mrs. Annie E. Moore, the two living members of the original "Committee of Three" which organized on a Hoboken street corner one noonday in 1890 to devise some plan whereby aged, broken-down and poverty-stricken public school teachers might be saved the bitter shame of the poorhouse or cold charity, and whereby the schools might be relieved of teachers of impaired efficiency. The third member of the committee, Miss Jane McCausland, has passed into the Great Beyond. Mrs. Moore and Miss Allen are now principals in Hoboken, and Miss Allen is secretary of the Fund Board of Trustees. There will be a mass meeting at 8 o'clock p. m. All members and friends of the fund throughout the state are cordially urged to attend both afternoon and evening. Refreshments will be served at the reception.

Among the speakers invited are John B. Vreeland, who introduced Senate Bill No. 69, creating the Teachers' Retirement und; John W. Griggs, governor in 1896; Governor Fielder; Edward C. Stokes, a Senator in 1896, who favored the measure, and who has championed the fund ever since; Robert H. McCarter, who, while Attorney-General, warmly supported Miss Allen's every effort to benefit the teachers; Joseph S. Freilinghuysen, president of the State Board of Education; Calvin N. Kendall, Commissioner of Education; Superintendent Henry M. Maxson, of Plainfield, who was the first prominent educator in the state to urge that all new teachers be made members of the fund "by virtue of appointment"; Superintendent Addison B. Poland, of Newark, who, in the early days, when Miss Allen and her co-workers were severely criticised and opposed, begged the teachers, at a meeting of their State Association, to "allow those to work who will, for there are very few who are willing to sacrifice themselves working for others"; and Supreme Court Justice James F. Minturn, who has always, in the Legislature and outside of it, supported the Fund.

The Teachers' Retirement Fund of the State of New Jersey has paid benefits in excess of $1,300,000.00; has shown a surplus on each and every year's business; has accumulated a reserve of above $450,000.00; does not owe a cent, and is the only long-established teachers' pension fund in America that has not come to grief financially.

ELOPERS HELD AS MATERIAL WITNESSES

Mrs. Sulocka and Frank Wilchenski Will Testify in Astubala, Murder Case.

Somerville, Feb. 29.—The final chapter in the Ashtabula county, Ohio, murder case, as far as Somerset county is concerned, was enacted this morning, when Chief of Police Stanley Brampton, of Bound Brook, returned home from Lynn, Mass. He stated that Mrs. Tetaflea Sulocka, the Bound Brook woman who eloped with Frank Wilchenski, her boarder, taking with her her nine-year-old son and a large part of the money she secured from Felick Garginski, one of the men accused of the murder of S. S. Parker, had been started for Trumbull, Ohio, in charge of Sheriff Burlingame. They will be held at the latter place as material witnesses pending the trial of Garginski and the man accused of being his accomplice, John Szuboy.

Mrs. Sulocka and Wilchenski, together with the little boy, were apprehended in Lynn, at the request of County Detective George Totten, of Somerville, who wired all information to Chief Thorn there. When Sheriff Burlingame and Chief Brampton reached Lynn they found the prisoners awaiting their coming. Wilchenski admitted receiving a large sum of money from Mrs. Sulocka, part of the amount which had been given her by her nephew, Garginski, and which is supposed to have been taken from the murdered man. The little boy stated that Garginski had given him a watch answering the description of the time-piece removed from Parker's pocket.

The watch was not recovered as the boy asserted that his father had taken it from him in Bound Brook.

Prosecutor A. M. Beekman, of Somerville, received a letter this morning from Sheriff Burlingame, in which he warmly thanked the Somerset county officials for all the help extended him in winding up the case. He declared that the services of Detective Totten had been especially appreciated and he considered the arrest of the couple at Lynn, through telegraphic communiaction, as a masterstroke of police work. It simplified matters for him to no small extent, permitting him to return to Ohio much sooner than he had expected.

YOUNG LIEUTENANT'S FUNERAL HERE TODAY

Service for N. Pendleton Rogers, Jr., to Lack Military Aspect at Parents' Home.

The body of Lieutenant Nathaniel Pendleton Rogers, Jr., whose death occurred in the Walter Reed Hospital at Washington, Sunday night, was brought to the home of his parents, at 518 East Front street, yesterday, and the funeral service will be held there this afternoon. It will be of a simple nature, devoid of any military aspect. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace Episcopal church, of which Lieutenant Rogers was a member, will be the officiating clergyman, and aside from his Scripture readings and prayer, there will be three musical numbers.

The first of these will be a violin solo, "The Swan," by Saint-Saens, played by Mrs. Noel G. Evans. "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand" will be sung by a quartet of choir boys from Grace church, composed of Irving Wiltsie, Irving Manley, Axel Oberg and Edward McCarthy. In conclusion, Mrs. Guy Bender will sing Schubert's "Adieu," with violin obligato by Mrs. Evans, S. Frederick Smith and Mrs. Guy Bender will be the accompanists for the choir boys' number and the violin selection.

The body will be taken tomorrow to Hyde Park, Dutchess county, New York, where interment is to be made. At the latter place the funeral cortage will be met by a detachment of military men and officers from the U. S. A. will act as pallbearers, in addition to extending full military honors befitting the rank of the young lieutenant.

There has been a great outpouring of floral tributes, and quantities of beautiful pieces have been sent as an evidence of the sympathy that is felt. Many of these came from class mates at West Point, fellow officers in the Coast Artillery Corps, garrison at the various military stations where Lieutenant Rogers had been on duty, and associates in New York and Plainfield.

ANOTHER AMERICAN IS KILLED BY VILLA BANDITS

Washington, Feb. 29.—Another American has been added to the list of those murdered by revolutionary bands in Mexico. Reports to the State Department today state that R. Grover C. Varn was killed by Villa forces at his farm, twenty-five miles north of Duraon Good, on February 27. No other details have been received.

Other Mexican despatches report that conditions in Mexico City are quiet, although labor conditions threaten trouble. No progress has yet been made in the campaign against Zapata.

DR. RUDOLPH B. TENSLER WILL ADDRESS FEDERATION

The Plainfield Federation of Women's Missionary Societies will hold an evening meeting at Grace Episcopal church on Thursday evening, March 9, at 8 o'clock. The speaker will be Rev. Dr. Rudolph B. Teusler, founder of St. Luke's Hospital in Tokio, Japan. The foreign committee of the federatio nextends an invitation to all men and women to attend this interdenminational meeting.

Since January, 1915, the efforts under way for the enlargement and re-building of St. Luke's Hospital have widened greatly and throughout this country strong committees are being formed to co-operate in the speedy fulfillment of the plan.

EXCEEDED SPEED LIMIT.

Eddie Heath, twenty-three years old, who drives one of Huff's taxis, was fined $5 when arraigned before Recorder Hand this morning on a charge of driving the taxi along Somerset street at a rate of thirty miles an hour on Sunday evening.

LOCAL OPTION MEETING.

A meeting in the interest of local option was held in Grace M. E. church last evening. The principal speaker was Ivan Zelchenko, of Elizabeth. His address was heard by a large audience.

DIES IN HOSPITAL.

The body of Francisco Camarono, aged 81, who died in Muhlenberg hospital yesterday, was removed to the undertaking parlors of J. J. and C. A. Higgins, on West Fourth street. Interment will be made in Staten Island from where the man came.

SOCIAL CLUB MEETING.

The monthly business meeting of St. Mary's Social Club will be held in T. A. B. S. Hall tonight. Final arrangements will be made tonight for the reception the club is to hold on Tuesday night, March 7.

Washington, Feb. 29.—Permission was given today by the State Department to Collector Malone at New York to clear the Italian liners San Gugliono and the Guiseppe Verdi. The vessels are both armed, but the Italian embassy informed the State Department that the guns are only for deefnsive purposes.

French War Boat Sunk.

New York, Feb. 29.—Reports received this morning that the steamer La Provence, formerly a transatlantic liner, but in the French navy since the beginning of the war, had been sunk in the Mediterranean, according to the reports. Nearly 300 survivors have been landed at Malta. The Provence was taken by the government in the latter part of August. She was built in 1905 and was 14,200 gross tonnage. At the office of the French line in this city no information has been received of the reported disaster.

Of those on board La Provence, 870 were rescued. No details as to any loss of life have been received. Of the survivors, 296 were taken to Malta and the balance of 574 to the island of Milo.

LOCAL COLUMBIAN WON'T ROLL FINAL

Plainfield Will Forfeit Last Match so That Season Will End Before Dance.

REARRANGE SCHEDULE

All Games Will Be Decided Before Friday Night, When Prizes Will Be Presented—Elaborate Plans Made for League Reception.

Elaborate plans are being made for the dance and reception of the Knights of Columbus Bowling League, to be held in Newark, Friday evening. Councils from all over the State have been invited to be represented, and especially large delegations are expected from the ten lodges which form the bowling league. Watchung Council, of this city, will be well represented.

Five team prizes and fifteen individual awards will be distributed. Cups will go to the teams finishing first, second and third, and to the teams having the highest average and highest team score. In addition to three individual average and two high score prizes, the high average man on each team, exclusive of the league winners, will get prizes. George Taylor will be medal man on the Plainfield team.

Newark Council, although failing to win the championship, will get more prizes than any other team. The team is leading for team average and high score prizes, and Jack Speary will get first prize for best individual average, with Barkhorn a probable second.

In order to finish the schedule before the reception Friday night, the league has set dates for all the remaining matches. The postponed series of January 18, Bayonne at Jersey City, and the match, Paterson at Bayley, originally scheduled for March 1, were decided last night. The Newark at Jersey City games, scheduled for March 7, and the Olive Branch at Bayley tilt, postponed from January 31, will be rolled tonight. The Paulus Hook at Ascension series, postponed from February 18, will be bowled tomorrow night, and will be the final rolling of the season. As the Plainfield team cannot roll its match with Paulus Hook, postponed from February 25, this week, the Queen City pinners have agreed to default the three games, so the season can wind up tomorrow night.

POTATO RACE AND A TIME SWIM AT Y. M.

Naylor Runs Four Laps in 23 Seconds; Enander Swims 11 Lengths in 2:00.

A large field competed in the four-lap potato race in the Indian League class at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, Naylor who was clocked in 2 seconds flat, winning by a margin of one-fifth second over three rivals who tied for second honors. Enander, of the Wawayanda crew, won the two-minutes' swim, going eleven lengths of the pool.

Tonight—Elizabeth at Jersey City.

Newark Elks, coming champions of the B. P. O. E. Senior League, won all three games last night at Rahway—the hardest alleys in the league. The pace-setters shot 995 in their second game, but in their other two tilts, were more than fifty pins below form, yet they won easily.

Jack Speary is now the individual average champion. All the Newark wonder had to do to clinch the Markowitz plaque was to roll in the necessary forty-eight games. He bowled his forty-eighth game last night.

Newark won the opener by thirty pins, 891 to 861. Rahway wasn't more than 266 pins behind in the second game. The third was decided by fifty-three sticks, 882 to 829.

Albright had a sudden lapse, shooting 99 in his first game. Van Ness posted 207 and 203, Wagner 204, Erler 203 and 214, Speary 202 and Kopps 215.

MORAN AND WILLARD DO EARLY TRAINING

Jess Walks, Runs and Spars—Frank Chops Wood, Skates and Hikes With Rifle.

New York, Feb. 29.—Jess Willard walked and ran over a three-mile course around Central Park during the morning, as one of the ways of getting into shape for his bout with Frank Moran on March 25. This afternoon's program for the champion calls for some shadow boxing, rope pulling and three rounds of milling with each of his sparring partners, Jack Hemple and Walter Momohan.

The sale of tickets for the bout goes along briskly, as the promoters put it. They have announced that there are plenty of all kinds of tickets left, despite the big advance sale.

The plans of those back of the match to bar smoking in Madison Square Garden on the night of the fight is not meeting with favor among the fans here. It is likely that the Rickard-McCracken folks will decide to permit smoking, even though the Garden will be freely peopled by the fair sex.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Feb. 29.—After spending a quiet Sunday, Frank Moran resumed his training here today. After making a noticeable impression on the wood pile in a few hours this morning, Frank rested until 10 a. m., when he took to the lake for skating. A five-mile hike with his rifle over his shoulder this afternoon will conclude the outdoor work for the day. Boxing will not be a part of Moran's training until he reaches New York city, where, according to the articles of his contract, he will be compelled to train for two weeks previous to the fight.

Local dealers are today helping celebrate "Bicycle Day.' The trade slogan is "A Million Bicycles in 1916."

BOYS WHO CAN SWALLOW DEFEAT—AND SMILE.

Not so long ago, a basketball team of Plainfield boys stacked up against an out-of-town team of much larger players, on the latter's court, and lost, after being compelled to play five minutes more than they should have, because the home timer, either by accident or design, failed to stop the game when time was up. Saturday night the Plainfielders played on the same court and lost again, after once more being compelled to play overtime without just cause. The second game was followed by a little unpleasantness, in which the home side later admitted itself to be in the wrong, and the visitors emerged with all the glory. Yet not one word of unfair treatment did this defeated team bring back to its home town newspapers. From their account of the games, no one could ever tell that the local boys had not played on even terms and suffered a deserved trimming, and it ws by a roundabout route that these side-lights on the games reached the Daily Press. Few teams, even those composed of older player, could resist the opportunity to come home crying with accusations and explanations. It's the rare ability to take defeats as they come, without murmuring, that is found in Life's winners, and if the boys gained a little of that ingredient when they lost those games, they've got something more than two basketball victories would be worth.

The team, by the way, is the Inner-Triangle Five, of Netherwood.

DOG SHOW PREMIUM LIST.

That the modesty of the Plainfield Kennel Club members, who planned to have their "little" show here next month, and make a big splurge in the way of an A. K. C. fixture next summer, is not shared by those offering prizes for the first show, is proved by the announcement of the premium list for the indoor show to be held in Company K's armory, Saturday. The collection of cups, medals and other awards would do credit to a much larger venture, and should attract a fat entry list—and it is the dogs that attract the people. If the success of the show depends upon the premium list, Plainfield's own little "Westminster" can be O. K'd right now.

EVEN THE PINS ARE ALL UPSET.

Interest in the City Bowling League has soared to heights far above the fondest expectations of the league organizers. Enthusiasm—more or less of it—has always attended any alley scrap between two local teams, but the down-right hallabaloo which has enlivened the league series has surpassed anything before seen around Plainfield alleys. It's no part of a prophecy to say that the occasion of the roll-off between the first place tenants will provide a setting deserving of a place with any of the championships decided whereabouts.

We came within an ace of making a lot of money last night. Yea. Held three of 'em, but needed another one.

To form hikers' club in Plainfield.—Headline.

Walking is old fashioned now. The modern adoption is footing around the golf links after a small, white ball, called by scientists a gutta percha spheroid, and by golfers all the names under the sun.

Contemporary, paying a tribute to a lawyer who is somewhat of a bowler, says: "He is just as much at home before the foul line as he is before the bar." We could say the same for a whole lot of bowlers who never heard of Blackstone.

St. Louis fans would doubtless exhibit more concern if some Marjorie Sterrett would start collecting dimes to buy an American League pennant for the Mound City.

HIGH SCHOOL TO START INDOOR WORK TOMORROW

Plainfield High School's baseball artists will get their first start for the coming season tomorrow afternoon, when Captain "Box" Apgar and Coach Ralph Patch will give the battery men their initial workout in the gymnasium. Later, batting practice and all other work that can be done indoors will be started, so as to have the fellows as far advanced as possible by the time outdoor practice is started. It is expected that a large squad will turn out for the first call, as two first string pitchers will have to be found to fill the vacancies caused by graduation, and several substitutes will also find berths. A relief man for Apgar behind the bat has to be picked also. Jack Martin will help the schoolboys until he leaves to join the Milwaukee team of the American Association.

TABS PLAY ON ST. JOSEPH'S CLUB COURT TOMORROW NIGHT

The T. A. B. S. basketballists will invade the domains of Canada tomorrow night to tackle the fast St. Joseph's club five. The T. A. B. S. team has won one game already from the Canadians and is going to make a strong bid for the second. Each club manager will have his strongest line-up on the court, and this fact alone should guarantee an excellent game.

NEXT SWIMMING MEET FOR P. H. S. IS WITH Y. M. C. A.

Manager "Bunny" Dealaman, of the P. H. S. swimming team, does not expect to schedule any more meets for the team until after the second meet of the season with the local Y. M. C. A., carded for March 19, in the P. H. S. pool.

Parks Account for Only One Point in the First Half—Winners Put up Fast Game—Athenian's Next Game in New York City.

A fast game of basketball was witnessed in the P. H. S. gymnasium last night between the Colored Athenians' basketeers and the Park Avenue Baptist church aggregation, the former winning, 43-17. Few fouls were called during the game, and the teamwork of the colored lads bewildered their opponents. The first half ended with the score 11-1.

The Athenians' next game will be played in New York city on Friday night, March 3, when they line up against the fast "Tigers" of New York in a preliminary to the Washington-New York game.

WEEKS GUEST OF G. P. MELLICK

which was done in his usual able manner.

Mayor Calkins said, in part:

"One of the pleasant things about occupying an official position in the community is the opportunity afforded on an occasion such as this, on behalf of our little city, and also on behalf of the State of New Jersey if I may presume to speak for it, to extend a very cordial welcome to the distinguished senator from the commonwealth of Massachusetts.

"Still, as I look about and note those who are gathered here today—men upon whom the Republican party, in this undoubtedly Republican State, has relied and does rely for substantial, constructive statesmanship, I feel as if this short word of welcome might perhaps more aptly be spoken by another than myself.

"However, I feel a sort of distant kinship for our honored guest, because he was once a mayor also.

"But our guest has been much more than a mere mayor. He is a graduate of the Naval Academy; was trained as a midshipman; saw active service in the Spanish War. Yet I think it has been because of his training and experience in successful business that he has been able to accomplish so much in Congress to help promote the substantial and really important material interests of this great country.

"His services have covered a wide range of subjects as you know, in matters relating not only to the navy, for which he is specially fitted to speak, but also in relation to questions of finance, the tariff, the merchant marine, and fair dealing with the great railroad interests of the country.

"As chairman of the House Committee in the sixty-first Congress, he brought in an appropriation bill carrying with it upwards of $200,000,000. And it was so thoroughly prepared, and so ably and carefully explained in the exacting debate attending it, that he had the distinction of seeing it pass the Senate of the United States without amendment! In these days, gentlemen, when we hear so much about preparedness, about all kinds of preparedness, it is refreshing to be able to point to such an example of the really right kind of preparedness.

"These are days when we are also hearing, and talking ourselves, about efficiency and business methods, for affairs of State. Our country is facing a period, I think, more serious perhaps than any other in the last fifty years. I am not speaking especially about our foreign relations. That situation is serious enough. But I have in mind, rather, the serious questions of governments as applied to the administration of our domestic affairs. More and more the people are demanding a strict accounting from public officials: not just bare integrity, but a justification for holding office at all, as shown by real ability in office. Let me speak plainly. I do not mean oratorical ability, display, or pomp. I mean business ability, pure and simple. Our affairs have grown to enormous proportions. We can no longer afford to blunder along. We are blundering along, politically. Private business conducted by some of our wasteful political systems would go bankrupt in a year. We emphatically need in public life a practical statesmanship; the antithesis of theory in government, a statesmanship which shall have in it the dominant basic element of common sense.

"Few have seen this more clearly than the distinguished Senator from Massachusets; few have so insistently pointed out one of the fundamental errors in our modern administration of national affairs, an error because of which sustained and continuous prosperity is lacking in a country so utterly favored as this, a country so entirely ready for it. There is no reason under heaven why prosperity should be jerky and intermittent, except that wise government is likewise intermittent. This error of which I speak is our passion for unnecessary regulation; our narrow, suspicious attitude towards business just because it is successful; our way of punishing the country as a whole, punishing the trade and commerce of the country as a whole, because of the irregularities, or the illegalities if you will, of a few.

"It is said that he serves his party best who serves his country best. And measured by that standard, Sir, we of New Jersey are proud of your services to your party and are glad to be here tonight to tell you so."

Senator Weeks, when Mr. Mellick introduced him "to tell something about his work at Washington," took advantage of the opportunity to point out what, in his estimation, are the shortcomings of the present Democratic administration. He said that twenty years ago he was a "mild Republican," that ten years ago he was a much stronger one, and that now he was "an intense one, after seeing the work of the Democratic party while in power." He felt that the Alaskan railway, being built by the government, was a mistake, and that private capital should have been first given an opportunity to do the work. He is opposed to the suggested merchant marine, as it will be, in his estimation, a great money loser for the government. Likewise, he said that Postmaster Burleson's suggestion that we take over the telephone and the telegraphs is a bad one, as under government ownership these had been operated at a loss in foreign countries. The telegraph in Great Britain in the last forty years has lost £35,000.000 ($105,000,000), and if it could not be made to pay there, it certainly could not in this country.

The expenditure, as proposed by the Democratic congress, of $11,000,000 for an armor plate works, would be another mistake, according to the Senator. There are now three plants of the kind in the United States, representing a capital investment of $25,000,000, and these have never worked more than two-thirds of their capacity, so that the opening of a similar plant by the government would be little more than confiscatory for private enterprises.

The speaker declared that Senator Underwood had publicly stated that the tariff had been purposely lowered so that an income tax could be created to make the wealth of the country pay the cost of running the government, and that Speaker Clark had stated that the man with an income of $100,000 a year should pay $20,000 for the running of the government. If it were not for the war, said Senator Weeks, the condition of the government today would have been worse than at any time in the history of the United States. In the present situation our prosperity is entirely due to war conditions, and in closing he predicted that all these things were about to bring the Republican party into the most wonderful success it has ever experienced.

The guests at the dinner were Congressman John J. Capstick, president of the Senate Walter E. Edge, former Governor J. Franklin Fort, former State Senators John D. Prince and Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, Mayor Pierre P. Garven, of Bayonne; former State Treasurer Daniel S. Voorhees, Republican State Chairman Newton A. K. Bugbee, Thomas N. McCarter, president of the Public Service Corporation; Hamilton F. Kean, Mayor Ruford Franklin, of Summit; Edward Ehlers, of Morristown; Augustus S. Crane, publisher of the Elizabeth Journal; Donald McLean, of Elizabeth; Charles N. Codding and Lloyd Thompson, of Westfield; Robert C. Plume and John W. Hines, of Cranford, and the following Plainfielders: Mayor Calkins, former Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, County Register Frank H. Smith, County Chairman William Newcorn, City Clerk James T. MacMurray, Eliot T. Barrows, City Chairman John J. Carroll, O. T. Waring, J. Herbert Case, J. Hartley Mellick, W. G. Besler, president of the Central Railroad of New Jersey; Noah C. Barnhart, John P. Stevens, Thomas M. Day, Frank D. Warren, Frederick W. Wallace, S. D. Lounsbery, Dr. William H. Murray, Charles H. Frost and Leslie R. Fort.

DR. GROSZMAN'S NEW BOOK ON "THE EXCEPTIONAL CHILD"

"The Exceptional Child," is the title of a new book, the manuscript of which has just been completed by Dr. Maximilian P. E. Groszman, of this city. The manuscript is a summary in 200,000 words of the author's findings after forty years of closest research and experiment in the field of science.

The book is exhaustive in range and treatment of subjects. In a sense it is also a philosophy of education. It makes a clear-cut distinction between the potentially normal child and the child of defective mentality. A feature of local interest is the unique medical chapter. No less than twenty-five medical specialists of first rank have here collaborated to emphasize the importance of medical co-operation in education. Plainfield is represented in this labor by Dr. Edward S. Krans. The book will make its appearance May 15 from the press of Charles Scribner's Sons.

SERVICE

SERVICE is building this bank.

SERVICE has made loyal friends who have brought their friends to us.

SERVICE means more than a place to deposit and check, it means a personality—a close relationship between the officers and depositors.

SERVICE means safety, convenience, accommodation, co-operation. We want our customers to avail themselves of whatever assistance and advice our officers can give them on matters pertaining to their business affairs. This is a bank of personal

WHAT IS PYRENE?

A Fire Extinguisher That Puts Out Any Kind of Fire in Its Incipient State.

You need it in your Automobile.

You need it in your Garage.

You need it in your Stable, in your Store, in your Factory.

But most of all you need it in your HOME.

How many tragedies you read of that might have been prevented if PYRENE had been used in the first VITAL FIVE MINUTES before the firemen arrived.

Why risk loss of life and property when for a few dollars PYRENE will furnish you protection.

Buy PYRENE TODAY—We can supply you.
